Fire water

Firemen from Helena are silhouetted against a wall of flames as they waded into a pond burning with motor oil, diesel fuel and gasoline. The sizzling Monday night drill was part of a basic firemanship course that volunteers from Aldrich, Shelby and Helena completed this week. The 30-hour course was taught in conjunction with the State Fire College, by Pelham deputy chief Mike Howell. The course involved eight nights of training with ladders and other equipment at Helena Elementary School, and two nights of drills at the Pelham Fire Department's new training grounds in Industrial Park. The training can be applied toward a firefighters' minimum standards certification, which is one of the state requirements for granting lower fire insurance rates. (Photo by David F. Moore)

County ranks number one in GOP support

Shelby County has become the number one Republican county in Alabama.

Emory Folmar received a larger percentage of the Shelby County vote in his race for governor, than he received in any other county.

In addition, portions of Shelby County will be represented by two Republicans in the state legislature.

Spencer Bachus will serve Senate District 17 and Don Murphy will represent House District 49.

County GOP chairman David Bradley made the announcement when an enthusiastic group of Republicans met last week.

Senator Bachus was present at the meeting to acknowledge his appreciation for the strong support he received from Shelby County.

Bachus said, "Shelby County has become the cornerstone of the Republican Party. I look forward to representing my entire district in the highest manner possible. I want to represent everybody, Democrats and Republicans."

Bradley said, "Republicans are always some of the most optimistic people around. If we had only lost one race, Republicans would have been disappointed. That is just the way we feel."

The local party members praised all candidates for the "clean campaigns" that were run.

Bradley said, "The Democratic Party was successful in the election by our politicking the Republicans. Take two major national issues-- Social Security and the economy."

He said, when the Democrats created Social Security, they made a mistake by failing to create a sound financial base.

Bradley said, politically, the Democrats "cashed in" again during the recent election by alleging that the Democrats were not to blame for the problem with Social Security. Republicans were hit hard.

He went on to say Democrats have historically created "vote buying" programs with borrowed money. This has made it next to impossible to balance the budget. The end result is our current sluggish economy.

"As Republicans, we should have done a better job pointing who was really responsible for the weak financial condition of the country. Even the Democrats could not have turned it around in 11 months."

The GOP chairman explained how Democrats utilized their power to fight Republicans.

1. Redistricting--where the Democrats controlled the Alabama legislature time after time to dilute strong Republican voting areas so more Democrats are elected.

2. Election schedule-- the Democrats have scheduled most statewide offices so that they are elected in non-presidential years because the Democrats in Alabama have to identify with the national Democrats once every four years.

3. Judicial races-- while some states have bi-partisan judicial races, Alabama continues to require impartial judges to run bi-partisan races by party affiliation.

4. Unopposed candidates-- in Alabama, unopposed candidates still must appear on the election ballot in the general election, thus bringing the strength of a popular unopposed incumbent to the remainder of the ticket.

The good thing, Bradley said, is that the people of Shelby County are not tricked by what he called the "Backdoor maneuvering" by the Democrats.

He said, the Democrats tried to divide the county into a "North vs. South" but the election results show that more than just North Shelby County voted Republican.

He pointed out that Columbian, for example, came through with a strong Republican vote.

Bradley concluded by saying, "The conservative movement is strong and it certainly feels good to win."

UM dinner honors Sen. Proctor

State Sen. Lister Hill Proctor will be honored during a dinner at the University of Montevallo Tuesday, Dec. 7. The dinner will cap the "What's Right in Alabama Public Education Today" conference at the University of Montevallo Tuesday, Dec. 7.

Relatives of Sen. Proctor and friends will join some of the state's top political and education leaders at the dinner, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in UM's Anna Irvin Dining Hall.

Lt. Gov.-elect Bill Baxley will be the main speaker at the dinner. Other speakers will include Lt. Gov. George McMillan.

Panel discussions during the day preceding the dinner will feature education leaders discussing issues related to the three segments of public education in the state: kindergarten through high school; junior, community and technical colleges; and universities and senior colleges.

Education leaders at the conference will include Dr. Wayne Teague, state superintendent of education; Dr. Paul Hubbard, executive secretary of the Alabama Education Association; Dr. Judy Merritt, president of Jefferson State Junior College; Dr. Joe Sutton, executive director, Alabama Commission on Higher Education; Dr. Thomas Bartlett, chancellor, University of Alabama System; Dr. Robert Randolph, president, Alabama State University; Dr. Hanly Funderburk, president, Auburn University; Dr. Joe Morton, Superintendent of Sylacauga City Schools; and Dr. Jim Vickrey, president, University of Montevallo.

Anyone who wants more information on the conference can phone program coordinator Dr. Joe Brindley, 665-2521, ext. 433.

$8,000 per year

Knowles gets pay raise

The Shelby County Board of Education has voted to add $8,000 to Superintendent of Education Charles Knowles's expense allowance.

This was done to make the remuneration Knowles receives higher than any other school system employee.

A state accreditation standard says the combined remuneration received by the superintendent must exceed what any other school system employee makes. And this was not the case in Shelby County.

Law dictates, that as an elected official, the superintendent's salary could not be raised. So this left him behind when other employees in the system received increases in pay from the state and local school system.

Tommie Harrison, president of the the Shelby County Education Association, protested the move.

She contended that it was not imperative to resolve the issue immediately and asked that a committee be appointed to give it further study.

It was her proposal that the superintendent's salary be adjusted rather than have his expense allowance increased.

Harrison had been against taking funds from capital outlay, as she believed would be done, to increase the superintendent's expense allowance.

But the money will come from $19,000 in earned interest the board had not anticipated receiving.

The remainder of the money will be added to the capital outlay fund.

At 106, George Kelley calls them like he sees them

by David F. Moore

At the ripe age of 106, Rev. George Kelley is hardly what you'd call a spring chicken. But, he laughs, "I've always been the New Year's baby!"

Kelley, the son of former slaves, was born January 1, 1876, between Goodwater and Alexander City on what is known as the R.E. Garrett Place. ("Like Garrett's Snuff," Kelley explains.)

For the past 80 years, he's lived in and around Helena. He lives there still with his second wife, Cerci, who is a spring chick -- only 96 years young.

Complications with a problem foot waylaid Kelley for two weeks at Shelby Medical Center. Before his release last Friday, the Reporter took the opportunity to interview this former "gofer hole" coal miner and preacher -- while he was sitting still enough to talk...

Reporter: As you get older, does time ever slow down, or does it continue to rollercoaster faster and faster?

Kelley: It gets easier to count, but it keeps going faster. Christmas comes so quick. The years just zip, zip, zip by.

Reporter: In 106 years, you've seen the passing of a lot of history. What's the single biggest historical event you've seen?

Kelley: You can start at the space shuttle and go back to the airplane. I've seen it all. But the worst destruction ever put on by the United States was that atomic bomb when they bombed Japan. I think it's the worst destruction when you split that atomic bond.

Reporter: What's the single biggest personal event you've lived through?

Kelley: I'm going to tell you, and I'm sure, too, Man's trying to get ahead of God. Man's trying to run with the hound and stay with the hare, and that's impossible.

Reporter: George, the question...

Kelley: In my life...the biggest thing in MY life happened in Walker County. I was 48 -- or 58 -- years old, and I'd been just like the rest of them, but I found Jesus.

Reporter: Do you think people get any wiser, or just older?

Kelley: You have a blank with so much to be filled out. For some people, the blank is all filled out in the end. All the business is filled out with bad things. It's going to fill up with something. That depends on you.

Reporter: If you had 106 years to live over again, would you do anything differently?

Kelley: I don't think I could have done any better, but I could have done a lot worse.

Knowing what I know now, I couldn't have made it. I'd taken up with some of this new fancy religion and lost my soul.

I've got a message from heaven. I was able to preach and I had a good wind and could remember more by heart than you could write down. I preached 52 Sundays a year, for 52 years, all around here. I've lived to preach and tell someone about the Lord and how good He is.

There's not a whole lot I'd do different, because I've enjoyed my life. The one thing I'd do over would be to get more education. But this education you're getting today, I tell you, won't do tomorrow because the computer's going to be teaching you in your home.

Reporter: For centuries, people have claimed the world's in truly bad shape. Is it really that bad?

Kelley: It's in worse shape now than it's ever been. Some folks have been pulling some dirty tricks. That's why it's in the shape it's in.

Reporter: Is there any hope for today's younger generation?

Kelley: Well, they can be saved. But a lot of them are hooked on marijuana -- they're like boiled eggs, they're idled and won't hatch.

Reporter: If you wrote a book on your life, what would you say to people?

Kelley: I'd tell them something beneficial. Something that if it worked back then, it'd work now -- go to bed early. Don't be no midnight Rambler.

I'd tell them, "Love ye one another," like it says in the Psalms. We need to teach love.

And to always be honest. Stay straight in the road. And you've got to have a smile. Good people smile a lot.

Reporter: You must hear this question a lot, but what's your secret for living to be 106?

Kelley: Just righteous living. I always stayed away from all sin -- all that I could help. If any man -- and I don't care who -- has an objective in view, and you'll work to that end, then the good Lord'll let you stay to see that pass.

And I always worked. I didn't allow myself to get stiff. There ain't no ripping and running. When you work, always keep a steady gait.

And I've always been sporty.

I'm sort of a ham bone, too.

Reporter: Are you really 106 years old?

Kelley: I never tell lies.

Reporter: What are you planning for your NEXT birthday?

Kelley: If the good Lord don't want me to go out anywhere, he'll send someone over with a birthday dinner for me.

Woman from Vincent charged with murder

A Vincent woman has been initially charged with the murder of her husband in a Thanksgiving Day shooting.

Willie Gene Dates, age 49, was shot four times with a .22 calibre handgun, according to sheriff's chief investigator Reed Smith. Dates was pronounced dead on the scene.

His wife, Alice Faye Dates, apparently shot herself in the leg during the shooting, Smith said. Authorities took her to Shelby Medical Center for treatment, then later that evening to the county jail for booking.

She was released from jail Friday on $25,000 bond.

According to sheriff's reports, the couple had been out visiting and were driving home about 6 p.m. when they got into a heated argument. Several family members were in the car at the time.

Mrs. Dates, who was driving, stopped near an intersection on highway 85/62. Her husband was in the back seat at the time of the shooting.

No date has been set yet for the trial.

Christmas shopping planned by Jaycees

The north Shelby Jaycees will make this holiday season a bright one for at least 25 children in need.

But with additional donations, the number of children who see a bright Christmas could increase.

According to Ray Kirby, vice president of the organization, current plans call for the taking of 25 children to Kmart December 18 for a shopping tour from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m.

The children, who were located by Jaycees by contacting many unnamed sources in the county, will be fitted with shoes and clothing. They will also receive Christmas toys.

After the shopping tour, the youngsters will be taken to the YMCA in Alabaster for lunch. Santa Claus will be on hand to make their day even brighter.

Kirby told this newspaper that 20 Jaycees and their wives, Jayceettes, will be involved in this project.

While some money has already been budgeted and donations have been received, additional donations could lead to the inclusion of at least five more children.

According to club president Steve Alversons, a minimum of $1,250 will be spent on the children with $50 being spent on each child.

Donations may be made by contacting any member of the north Shelby Jaycees.

Video thief zapped

A video game bandit's apparent replay at Powell's Mart in Alabaster has led to a burglary confession.

Alabaster police said the store on 11th Ave. SW was broken into November 21, and an undisclosed amount of quarters taken from video games there.

The next night, the store was broken into again. This time 34 quarters were taken.

The same night, acting on a tip, Lt. Leroy Davis and Wayne Holcombe picked up Tony Harold Carden, 22, of Alabaster, for questioning in connection with cases.

Sgt. Larry Rollan said Carden confessed to using a hammer to break in through a boarded air-conditioner hole.

Rollan told the Reporter, "He told us where he had put the hammer and quarters beside the train track."

Carden was charged with burglary and was still in Shelby County jail Tuesday in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Restaurant caper cracked

by David F. Moore

A 12-string guitar and a muddy footprint have led to two arrests for two burglaries of an Alabaster restaurant.

Alabaster police have charged Mark Randall Johnson, 18, formerly of Alabaster, and more recently from Cullman, with two consecutive burglaries of Meadowlark Farms Restaurant. He is in Shelby County jail in lieu of $100,000 bond.

Shannon D. Hockaday, 19, of Pelham, has also been charged in connection with the November 20-21 burglaries, and is being held on $5,000 bond.

Alabaster police Sgt. Larry Rollan said Monday that more charges may be forthcoming in the case.

According to police reports, the rear window of the restaurant was broken out on the 20th and a bottle each of Jack Daniels and Old Forester was taken. The following night, the same window was entered and four turkeys and 15 pounds of bacon were stolen.

Johnson was picked up last week while trying to pawn a stolen electric 12-string Gibson guitar, Rollan said.

The guitar was reported stolen November 19 from a Helena resident's truck. When Johnson tried to hock the Gibson at O.K. Pawn Shop in Alabaster, shop owner Roy McMahan called the police.

While police were charging Johnson with receiving stolen property, Rollan said they noticed that Johnson's tennis shoe print fit a muddy print left on broken window glass inside Meadowlark Farms.

According to Rollan, Johnson confessed both restaurant breakins to him and Sgt. Stanley Oliver. The officers later arrested Hockaday and charged him with one count of burglary.

Johnson had reportedly been staying with Hockaday for a week at the time of the arrests.

Alabaster plans parade

Alabaster will be the scene of a major parade Saturday, with over 70 floats and exhibits in the line up.

The parade is assembling at Wal-Mart at 2 p.m. and will travel down U.S. 31 to the Alabaster Shopping Center.

The Alabaster Jaycees, the Suburban League and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are all cooperating with the city in sponsoring the pre-Christmas spectacle.

Overall coordinator of the parade is S.R. Peacock.

The Thompson High School band will be the key music maker in the festivities. Santa Claus will be on hand in the Alabaster Shopping Center where a photographer will be available to take pictures of the children talking with him.

Wilsonville alters meeting time

The Town of Wilsonville has changed the hours of its council meetings.

Wilsonville Town Council now meets on the first and third Mondays of each month at 6 p.m.

The council previously met at 7 p.m.

According to Town Clerk Edith Hallmark, the change was made to benefit residents who would like to attend council meetings.

She said that the new hours will help prevent residents from having to be out so late at night.

Church bonds sell quickly

It only took 22 hours for the First United Methodist Church of Alabaster to sell $300,000 in bonds.

According to Rev. Tom Hammons, about 60 percent of the bonds were purchased by members of the church when they went on sale Sunday, November 21. Nearly all the other bonds were purchased by persons who live in the Alabaster - Shelby County area. Rev. Hammons expressed great pleasure that the money was raised so quickly to fund the construction of a new sanctuary and adjacent offices.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

From my house to her house it is 1,002 sweetgums, 1,346 oaks, 88 maples, 22 hickories, and a little hillside with sweetgum bushes running up the sunny side.

There was a little wind blowing, running away like a bird flying. A little hurrying wind that didn't have time to wait. A wind that paused in a sycamore tree and rustled the leaves and chased after tiny shivers of bark that had fallen from a dead pine log.

Maybe there was more gold than a guy had ever seen, and enough brown to make a thousand tents, and red and purple and green scattered everywhere, in almost every tree and on almost every bush; and maybe if a fellow waited long enough he could see it all. But at my age a man didn't have time for waiting. A redbird lit in a haw tree. He was redder than the haw berries. The sunlight mixed with his feathers and made a crimson glow.

In a little hollow two jaybirds hopped about in a tall oak. One found an acorn and turned it over in his bill before he flew away. Far off, town way, a dog barked. A little dog that made a jerky, whiney sound. Another dog answered, closer by, his loud bass voice sounding like a bell clanging.

I crossed a little branch, with a log bridge, where tiny minnows swam in the clear water. Little minnows that looked afraid and tried to hide where leaves had made dark spots along the bank.

After a little I came to her house, a small shack on top of a high hill, with big hickory trees in the front yard. Sumac and sweetgum bushes grew along an old fence. She was on her front porch. When I came through a half-open gate she looked up. She put a book on the floor by her chair.

"You brought a beautiful day with you," she said.

"Almost too beautiful. In every tree and on every bush."

An old cow crippled by. She shook her head to scatter a swarm of flies and stopped to nibble on the dry grass before she wobbled on, heading for a lean-to on the side of the barn.

"It's Thanksgiving," she said. "A time to be thankful."

I waited a minute before I asked: "What are you thankful for?"

"A lot of things," she answered. "Among them that God found time to make November."

Scrambled Eggs

By Bert Seaman

I guess I need to back up. Last week I was writing about Christmas before I even sat down to eat my Thanksgiving turkey and pecan pie.

When December 25 rolls around, I hope we'll have our act together a little better than we did on that fateful day last week.

Our first error was in getting our signals crossed which resulted in two birds in the hand - both frozen solid.

I don't know who made the mistake, but I was sure my main assignment for the feast was to secure the turkey.

So, on a last minute shopping trip Wednesday evening, I bought my bird, hoping that it could do a fast thaw.

My oldest daughter didn't remember that anyone had been designated to purchase the turkey, so she bought one too.

Now we both knew that her sister was going to be the one to somehow get the frozen creature unthawed and baked to a golden brown by noon the next day.

That was because the biggest of our double ovens is on the blink.

Since the turkey bakers van was parked at our house while she accompanied her husband on an out of town trip, unbeknownst to each other, we both deposited our frozen birds inside.

Of course it didn't take us long to discover the mixup, so I removed my bird to the freezer to preserve it for the next feast day.

And talking about freezers, the kitchen resembled one when we came straggling in Thanksgiving morning to prepare for the noon-day meal.

Our heating unit refuses to come on and we haven't discovered why yet. So, the cooks donned jackets and caps to keep warm as went about fixing the goodies.

My daughter-in-law got the makings of her mother's famous pecan pie recipe assembled and poured it into a store bought crust.

After it had been in the oven a short while, we noticed smoke beginning to seep out.

But we decided, after a quick check, that the filling had just run over the top a little.

When it continued dripping in the bottom of the oven, I began to wonder if the pie shell had sprung a leak.

And would you believe it - it had.

We remedied the situation by putting it on a cookie sheet.

No one thought to get sweet potatoes, and no one liked my new recipe for cranberry congealed salad.

But our turkey was beautifully baked, we had two kinds of dressing and a choice of vegetables.

There wouldn't have been room for a centerpiece on the table, even if we'd had one. The lace cloth from the Virgin Islands added a nice touch, though.

And a fire crackling in the fireplace near our eating area also added to the Thanksgiving atmosphere.

It also made it possible for us to eat without wearing overcoats.

As I observed earlier, hopefully we'll have everything squared away by the time Christmas rolls around.

I wouldn't count on it though. It's never happened yet!

Senator reports

Bad debts plague federal government

by Senator Howell Heflin

The federal government has become a credit institution. In fact, it has become the world's largest credit institution with $175 billion in outstanding loans. Of the staggering amount owed to the federal government, more than $25 billion of those loans are delinquent or in default.

The federal government's record in protecting the taxpayer's investment in federal credit programs is shocking—it is a slap in the face to the taxpayers of this country.

The Congress has passed a strong measure, the Debt Collection Act, which I jointly sponsored, to assist in the collection of debts owed to the federal government. The Debt Collection Act, which would tighten the federal government's debt collection efforts, passed the Senate just prior to the end of the current recess.

The measure provides for the tracking from one government agency to another of debtors who have become delinquent or are in default. It provides the debtor with an incentive to pay while protecting honest creditors and the objectives of the program loaning the money. The bill extends the statute of limitations on federal debts and makes provisions for the federal government to collect the real costs of carrying a past due debt in interest rates and administrative costs.

Losses from uncollected loans are increasing by 23 percent a year. In the last year on which we have data, more than half of what was due to be repaid was not collected.

Many times the attitude of the federal government has been to loan, with little concern for getting the money repaid. I am confident that this situation can be turned around. It can be solved with this type of legislation to put some teeth in the federal government's collection of its debts.

There is one other consequence of allowing so many debtors to simply ignore their obligations to the federal government. That is the loss of respect for their government. We must be mindful of the example we are setting.

What do you say to the straight A student at the University of Alabama who is losing his or her student loan? Why should that student sacrifice while those delinquent in paying back their old student loans—an incredible 81 percent nationwide—are not?

The record of the federal government in protecting the taxpayer's investment in credit programs is very poor. If we do not crack down on those defaulting on a government loan, how can we justify asking our constituents to make sacrifices to cut federal spending?

The savings to the federal budget from the enactment of this legislation. Immediate savings from the Debt Collection Act becoming law is estimated to be near 3.5 billion dollars over the next three years. These significant savings can result from only collecting what is already owed.

The federal government must improve the stewardship of its credit activities. We cannot continue to loan millions of dollars and make only weak efforts for its repayment. The taxpayer, who provided that money in the first place, deserves better. I think this legislation is a step in the right direction in getting the taxpayers' money back.

Under The Courthouse Dome

Thefts ranging from a Kenworth truck to a car tag were reported to the sheriff's office last week. In all, seven thefts and two burglaries were listed on the sheriff's daily blotter for the seven-day period ending November 25.

A cabin at Glasscox Camp was burglarized but nothing was reported missing. The other burglary involved saws stolen from Leeds route in Shelby County.

A woman leaving a Montevallo store reportedly dropped a ham she had hidden under her clothes. No charges were pressed.

A trucker reported the theft of his 1978 Kenworth truck from his Wilton residence on November 19.

Other thefts include: roll of net wire from TennCor Co. in Dogwood; three metal windows from a house in Calera; a tag from a car parked on highway 26 near Camp Branch; various hand tools and parts for a 350 Chevrolet engine were reported stolen from Rt. 2, Columbiana shed; 60 gallons of gas from a Vincent farm (suspect).

A Columbiana store clerk is suspected in a forgery case involving a personal check from a Wilsonville woman. No charges have been pressed, yet.

Also, deputy Gene Hamby hit a baby doe that bolted in front of his patrol car on U.S. 31, south of Alabaster. The windshield of the car was broken.

Arrests registered through the county jail during this same period include:

DUI: John Lee Thomas, Jr., Alabaster; also charged with attempting to elude and failure to yield to an emergency vehicle.

Where were principals at Junior Miss show?

Letter to the Editor:

On behalf of every 1982-1983 Shelby County Junior Miss Contestants, I question each participant's principal, "Where were you on the nights of this event?"

This program is the only one of its kind in Shelby County which honors its outstanding senior high school girls. It is a scholarship program which involves scholastic achievement, creativity, community involvement, and many other admirable qualities... yet does not involve the participation of our principals.

Charles Horton, Wilsonville. Dennis Gladden, Cordova, alias; also charged with driving while revoked and VAUCSA. Jack Isbell, Chelsea; also charged with running red light.

Theft: Laura A. Blackwood, Birmingham, court order to serve time on theft charges. Kerry Wayne Seale, Pelham, grand theft warrant from Brevard Co., FL; also contracting and practicing without proper license.

Spouse abuse money loosed

Now that the marriage license fee bill has been ruled constitutional, the funds it provides have become available to the Family Violence Program.

A check for $19,467.94, which will benefit Shelby County families in need of help, was recently turned over to the FVP's acting director Angie Bradley.

She said that the money would make it possible for the spouse abuse shelters in the state to continue operating.

The bill which added $5 to marriage license fees in the state was passed unanimously by the Legislature in October, 1981.

However, the money was tied up in a lawsuit until last month when the bill was ruled constitutional by Macon County Circuit Judge Howard F. Bryan.

A total of $110,000 has been turned in so far by Probate offices. Unless probate judges appeal Bryan's decision, another $140,000 should be turned in to the central fund for distribution by the Office of Prosecution Services in Montgomery.

Shelby County's Probate office, reports that $2,990 collected between October 1981 and October 1982 was turned in from that office on Nov. 1.

According to Bradley, the marriage license money will supply about a third of the FVP's budget for next year. She said the rest of the funding would have to come from donations.

The Family Violence Project, which now serves Shelby as well as Jefferson County, offers abused spouses and children 24 hour admission to a shelter at an undisclosed location.

Counseling for the abused and abuser are also being provided without cost as an expanded service of the project.

No definite plan for transporting those who need to go to the shelter has been devised as yet. But those involved with the project hope that an arrangement can be worked out with the sheriff's department and municipal police departments.

In an effort to cut down on domestic violence, the project provides speakers who will address church groups, civic organizations, schools and others interested in the cause and prevention of this type behavior.

For details about FVP, the number to call is 322-1915.

The Alabama scene

by Bob Ingram

While you eat leftovers from the turkey, we'll share some political leftovers with you...

When Fob James moves from Montgomery to Baldwin County early next year, he plans to spend the first few months putting down on paper his reflections on the past four years. If he ever decides to publish what he puts on paper, it should make for interesting reading. The retiring governor insists he has made no plans for the future...

The new Alabama Legislature... at least a lot of them... got their first official look at the Capitol last week. They were in town to be briefed on the problems of reapportionment, find the location of their parking places and the restrooms. They need to know both. What is striking about the newcomers is their youth. Some of you are probably wearing socks older than some of the legislators. The youngest -- Phil Poole of Moundville. He's 22 and still in college.

Lots of rumors, but only that as to the make-up of the Wallace Cabinet. Sources close to the Governor-elect insist there will be so many new faces that a printed program will be needed to identify them all. Perhaps so, but it is mostly old faces who make up the transition team and the inauguration-planning team...

The Auburn presidential situation is about to reach a boiling point. Sadly, it appears the affair on the Plains will get worse before it gets better...

And while this is not a column on sports, we will pass this on for what it's worth. Pretty good sources now insist that if and when Alabama Coach Paul Bryant steps down, the front-runner to take over the coaching reins is not a member of the Alabama Coaching staff.

According to these sources the leading contender is former Tide star Ray Perkins, now head coach of the New York Giants in the NFL. If it happens, be sure to remember you read it here first. If it doesn't happen, forget it.

Libraries set film schedule

For the months of December, January, and February, the Shelby County libraries will be presenting 'afternoon at the movies.' The weekly films are cartoons and comedy packages ranging from the 'Little Rascals' to 'Heckle and Jeckle'. All programs will start at 3:30 p.m. at each library.

As a special Christmas treat, the Walt Disney movie, 'Mary Poppins,' will warm the heart of all library patrons. The film will be shown the week before Christmas to get everyone into the spirit.

The schedule for weekly movies is as follows: Vincent Public Library, Thursday, December 2; Columbiana Public Library, Friday, December 3; Alabaster Public Library, Monday, December 6; and Calera Public Library, Tuesday, December 7.

The movies will run on the same day each week for the next three months.

Mary Poppins will be shown at the following public libraries: Vincent, Thursday, Dec. 16 at 3:30 p.m.; Columbiana, Monday, Dec. 20 at 9 a.m. 12 noon, 3 and 6 p.m.; Calera, Tuesday, Dec. 21 at 10 a.m.; and Alabaster on Tuesday, Dec. 21 at 2 p.m.

All programs are free and open to people of all ages.

Columbiana Kiwanis gears for blood drive

"Be a Holiday Miracle...Donate Blood!" is the slogan being used for the Columbiana community blood drive which will be held Thursday, December 9.

The drive, located in the Fellowship Hall of Columbiana Methodist Church, will be from noon until 6 p.m. It is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Columbiana.

"The Circle K Club at Montevallo University will assist us in sponsoring the drive," said blood drive chairman Hugh Strickland. "Our members are phoning people to encourage them to attend the drive. The local churches are handing out blood drive notices and one of our members is working with the Shelby County high schools in getting potential high school donors."

The Junior Civitan Club will also assist the Kiwanis Club the day of the drive by working as volunteers.

"Last year we collected 123 pints. This year we hope to collect 200 pints of blood at the drive," Strickland said optimistically.

Blood supplies traditionally decrease during the Christmas season as people are busy with shopping, traveling and other holiday plans. But blood needs are constant, especially during the holidays when blood donations annually meet a slump.

The Columbiana drive is depending on the support of community members to accept their responsibility to donate blood. The entire process, including medical screening, usually takes less than 45 minutes. Healthy adults between 18 and 66 are eligible to donate blood. With parental permission, 17-year-olds can become blood donors.

Riverchase Cubs pit racers on pinewood derby tracks

The champions of pinewood derby racing have stepped forward in Riverchase.

Claiming top honors in the competition, which pitted one Cub Scout and his block of carved wood on wheels against another, was Jefferson Parker.

Parker won the race for Pack 9 sponsored by Christ the King Lutheran Church, on November 23.

Second place went to Dan Belcher and third place went to David Brubaker.

Best design recognition went to Sean Lindsey.

Individual den winners were: Den 1, Jefferson Parker first, Shannon Hughes second and Brian Huss third.

Den 7, Ban Belcher first, Herbie Jeffcoat second and Patrick Anderson third.

Weblos, David Brubaker first, Ryan Stegall second and Tom Richardson third.

Peavine man charged

A Peavine Trailer Court resident has been charged with stealing $1,000 worth of items from an Alabaster storage shed.

Ricky Wayne Medinger, charged with the November 24 burglary, was still in the Shelby County jail Tuesday awaiting a bond hearing.

Megdiner is charged with breaking into a storage shed at a residence on highway 68. According to Alabaster police reports, a food processor, china, silverware and cube steaks were stolen.

Sgt. Larry Rollan said a clerk at Frankie's Grocery called police because she was suspicious about a food processor she said Medinger had sold her.

Police subsequently picked up Medinger and found most of the stolen property hidden in the woods near his mobile home.

SMC benevolence fund aids Attention Home

So you think you've seen some wild basketball games in your day, right? Well, baby, 'could be you ain't seen nothing, yet...

Monday, December 6, in the Thompson High gym, you can watch employees from Shelby Medical Center do the roundball tangle with the country DJ's from WZZK radio. Gametime is 7:30 p.m., and there's no telling when it'll be over.

The game is being sponsored by the newly formed SMC Employees Benevolence Fund Committee. "We're going to win the game, of course," predicted committee chairperson Peggy Tillery, an admissions office worker at SMC. "But mainly we're going to make lots of money for the Shelby County Youth Attention Home.

The Benevolence Fund Committee, organized two months ago, has already signed up 315 of 350 salaried employees at SMC.

The employees have agreed to donated a portion of their paychecks to the committee, which in turn helps support the following service organizations: King's Ranch in Westover; Sheriff's Girls Ranch in Harpersville; Shelby County Department of Pensions and Security's Christmas Fund; Heart Fund; United Way; and the SMC Employees' Crisis Fund.

In its first service project, the committee earned $466 with a November 20 parking lot flea market. "We'd have done better if the day had been nicer, but we did have fun," Tillery said.

Charter committee members Tillery, Jetty McKnight, and Mary Gaiters, with volunteered help from Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tillery, ran the flea market. Other charter members on the committee are James Hall and Jerusha Hamm.

Wilton flasher draws six months

Philip Smith of Randolph was sentenced to six months in the Shelby County jail after Wilton's municipal court judge Eason Mitchell found him guilty of indecent exposure.

During a trial at the town's Nov. 1 court session, several witnesses testified that the defendant had exposed himself on more than one occasion as they drove past him on the highway.

The judge set a hearing on the case for Dec. 6.

Only two other cases were on the November docket. Timothy Staffney pled guilty to no driver's license and was given five days at hard labor for the town with the sentence suspended provided he pay the $67.50 fine within 14 days.

Hershel Eugene Byrd pled guilty to DUI. His sentence of 20 days at hard labor was suspended provided that he pay a $327.50 fine within 60 days and also attend DUI school.

Calera Masons, OES will hold open house

An open house is on the Christmas schedule at the Calera Masonic Hall.

On Sunday, December 12, Calera Masonic Lodge 445 and Tom McKibbin Chapter 499, order of Eastern Star, will be hosts at the open house between 2 and 4 p.m.

According to Johnnie Tidwell, "This is a good opportunity for all members of the lodge and Eastern Star, as well as the general public, to come and visit with us and see the beautiful lodge hall which is located above Cowart Drug Company, on the main street in Calera.

"This is one of the old historical buildings in our county which has recently been completely renovated and decorated.

Make your plans now to be with us on the above date, and let us be a part of your holiday outings."

Columbiana park lit for holiday

Columbiana's mini park has been decorated for the holiday season with lights donated by Harold Harlin.

The clear Christmas tree lights strung among the branches of the trees which border the area, were placed there in memory of Harlin's wife Melville.

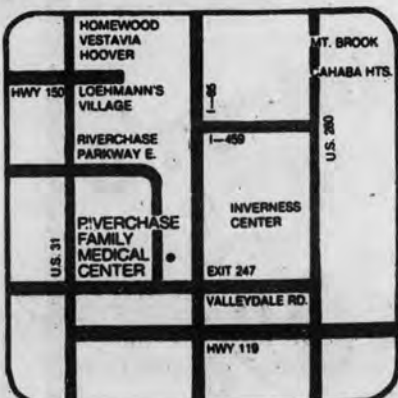

Mrs. Harlin, who died in July, was appointed to the first beautification board by the late Mayor Dick Ozley.

She served as the board's first secretary-treasurer and was an active member until her death.

Donna Morris, who represents the Vignette Club on the board, was responsible for securing the donation for the lights.

Save time and money: come to our Minor Emergency Room.

If you live anywhere near the Riverchase area, The Minor Emergency Room at Riverchase Family Medical Center is the closest place for quick emergency help. And it's less expensive than emergency room service at a full scale hospital. Since we're open 7 days a week, 365 days a year, 8 to 10 weekdays and 8 to 8 weekends, we're here when your doctor's office is closed. Isn't that nice to know?

Santa comes to Montevallo

The 1982 Christmas season will be ushered into Montevallo Friday afternoon when Santa Claus arrives by helicopter.

A welcoming program featuring the Montevallo High School Band will be on hand at 4:30 p.m. at the high school football stadium. Santa will then travel on to the Montevallo Elementary School aboard one of Montevallo's fire trucks.

A Christmas gala has been planned at M.E.S. It will include a chili supper, Christmas bazaar booth and photographs with Santa.

Many of Montevallo's retail stores are featuring special Christmas discounts all day Friday in honor of Santa's arrival. Some of the stores will remain open until 9 p.m. Friday night.

The event is being sponsored by the Central Garden Club. Proceeds will be used to buy equipment for the new Montevallo Elementary School gymnasium.

Alabama tour guide published

Alabama's first touring guide to state historic sites is in the bookstores in time for Christmas giving.

Compiled and written by Dr. Virginia Van der Veer Hamilton, Professor and University Scholar in History at the University of Alabama in Birmingham is entitled 'Seeing Historic Alabama: Fifteen Guided Tours.'

Aimed toward automobile tourists or armchair travelers, the guidebook outlines 15 routes through the state and describes historic sites along these roads.

Numerous places open to the public, such as museums and house museums, are listed. "But," explains Dr. Hamilton, "this is also a touring guide in the sense that it directs travelers along city streets, back roads, and to small hamlets for the pleasure of glimpsing antebellum homes of architectural interest, locating the deserted scene of a battle between Indians and whites, seeing some other site of historic interest, or simply getting a feel for the past."

Auto theft on the increase

The sale of used parts makes auto theft the only increasing crime in Alabama.

According to Don Clements, president of the Alabama Dismantlers and Recyclers Association, "The only form of crime on the increase in Alabama is car theft." All other forms of crime from murder to rape are substantially down.

Clement feels that the "lack of enforcement of the current laws on the books regarding the sale of used parts is the primary reason for the increase."

He further states, "When the state of Alabama begins to crack down on insurance pools who sell salvage cars to unlicensed or fraudulently licensed buyers; when the local and state police take a real interest in closing down and penalizing unlicensed used parts sales; when the officials begin to look into where the cars and parts come from... then, and only then, will this crime begin to decline."

Pelham youth gridders end well

The 75 lb. Pelham Panthers finished the regular season with 7 wins and 1 loss. The only loss was to the conference champions and Pelham went on to finish in second place. In the Alabama Youth Football League Championship playoffs, they won their first game before losing in the semifinals.

At this point the 75 lb. Panthers were extended an invitation to play in the state youth football championship playoffs. In the first round they defeated Calera 12-6, an 80 lb. team with an 8-0 record. They were defeated 12-6 in the semifinals by another 80-lb. team with a 10-0 record.

Coaches Mike McKinnis and Marc Neas said they were extremely proud of their team, especially since this is the first Pelham team ever to win a state playoff game.

The 75 lb. team was led on offense by Eric Kendrick, who ran for 930 yards and scored 130 points. Back Brian Young ran for 247 yards and Mike McKinnis for 239.

The defense was led by Brian Young with 85 tackles. Five other players had over 50 tackles each; Mike McKinnis 73, Tracy Bishop 69, Joel Rye 64, Max Mitchell 59, and Eric Kendrick 59.

Other outstanding players were Randy Burke, Blaine Davis, Greg Godwin, Shane Lutz, Jeff McPeters, Brandy Martin, David Neas, Danny Nivens, Kevin Rogers, Beau Scott, and Eric Wilson.

Civic club

sponsors tour

The women of the Indian Springs Civic Club are sponsoring a holiday house tour this season.

The tour is for the purpose of raising funds for various projects the club undertakes, according to Martha Knight, spokesperson for the club.

The homes that will be open on the tour are those of: Mr. and Mrs. James Estes of Windwood Circle; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Church of New Hope Mt. road; and Mrs. Marvin Narz of Wildwood Lane.

The tour will take place over a three-day period from December 10 to 12.

On Friday, the 10th, the homes will be open from 10 to 2. On the following Saturday and Sunday, they will be open from 1 to 4.

Crafts and baked goods will be on sale at the Estes home as a further fund raising event for the club. Tickets are available at the homes.

Library buys equipment

With contributions from the Vignette Club, the Culture Club and Friends of the Library, the Columbiana Library is purchasing a projector and screen.

A check from the Vignette Club this week added $226.76 to the kitty for the new equipment.

The library is one of the club's community projects, noted President Nena Bentley, as she made the presentation to librarian Barbara Roberts.

Bentley also mentioned that the Vignette Club was instrumental in establishing the Friends of the Library.

Other club officers are: Frances Sloan, vice-president; Lisa Davis, secretary; Sherry Morton, secretary.

Montevallo adjusts license fees

The City of Montevallo passed an ordinance Monday night, adjusting license fees for several types of businesses that operate within the city. Some fees were left unchanged, but several were raised.

Apartment owners, for example, will pay a license fee of $15 per apartment after January 1, as compared with $10 per apartment in the past.

The city, however, did not increase the license for contractors or for building permits.

Retail merchants will pay a minimum license of $50 per year on gross sales of $60,000 or less. They formerly paid $38.

The full text of the ordinance appears on the legal page in the front section of this week's Reporter.

Chelsea man considers time well spent during 93 years

Ellis Ferguson has done a lot of living in 93 years. And his thoughts may have drifted back over those years last Tuesday, as he listened to Rev. Wayne Crumpton speak on making the best use of time.

Crumpton, who is minister of the First Baptist Church of Alabaster, delivered the message at the annual Community Thanksgiving service for senior citizens and retirees.

Ferguson was honored as the oldest man, and Mineola Barker, who celebrated her 94th birthday Nov. 29, was recognized as the oldest woman.

Both are residents of Briarcliff Nursing Home. Barker had previously lived in Birmingham and Ferguson had made his home in Chelsea for more than 50 years.

In his message, Crumpton mentioned that, "we must be careful of our opportunities will pass us by."

That nearly happened to Ferguson, who had not had much schooling because his father needed him to help with the work on their farm near Stewartville in Coosa County.

When he was 24, Ferguson began studying with a man who lived near Stewartville.

It was a four mile walk to his home, but worth every step of it, Ferguson said.

Talking to the Reporter in his room at Briarcliff, Ferguson pointed out that what he did should show any young person who has dropped out of school that, "it's never too late to learn."

Crumpton's message also brought out the need for every person to use the talent God has given them.

Musical talent ran in his family, Ferguson reported, adding that his mother had taught him to sing when he was a small child.

Developing his talent in adulthood, Ferguson told of teaching himself to play the organ and attending singing schools taught by noted musicians.

He also wrote a number of gospel songs, two or three of which were published. The one he remembers best was entitled, "Leading the Way."

During the day he'd work on the farm and sometimes at a sawmill, and at night, he would write music, Ferguson recounted.

Many hours of his time were also used in Bible reading and study, and Ferguson said he later began preaching and was instrumental in organizing several churches.

Originally a Methodist, he later became a member of the Church of God. One of the Shelby County churches that Ferguson reports starting, is the Hickory Hills Church of God.

After his marriage at the age of 32, Ferguson and his wife had a family of six children, four of whom are still living.

His wife, Ailen, has been dead

40 years, Ferguson said.

"Take advantage of the time you have," Crumpton said.

"In my situation, I think I did the best I could," Ferguson told the Reporter.

Rev. Roy Griggs, host pastor, presented flowers to Ferguson and Barker.

Ministers participating in the service were: Ron Cox, Assembly of God; Tom Hammons, Central Methodist; Terry Maynard, Ellitoville Cumberland Presbyterian.

After the service a Thanksgiving dinner was served by the women of the church.

Oldest honored

MAKE YOUR MONEY COUNT

Money market funds carry with them the risk of default as they are really no more than mutual funds. Those who participate in money market funds hold partial interests in many different types of investments. A large part of these investments often consists of commercial paper. With this comes the risk that the obligation will not be paid at maturity. Most important, unlike a thrift institution, there is no government insurance for these funds. The participant bears a share in all risks. Consider saving where your money is insured in full.

For the safety of your funds, the peace of mind and the knowledge that your comfort and convenience and need for financial services will all be met, come to the FIRST AMERICAN BANK, 3600 Hwy. 31 So., Pelham. We offer a wide ranging list of services including savings and checking plans, bank by mail, Travelers Checks, 24 hour night deposit facilities and much more. So come to the FIRST AMERICAN BANK, the bank where you can "count on every dollar" working for you. Tel. 663-4750. Hours: 8:30-6 Mon.-Fri., til noon Saturday.

HANDY HINT: Instill good savings habits in your children. It will encourage financial responsibility.

Do not stand at my grave and weep.

I am not here. I do not sleep. I am the thousand winds that blow.

I am the diamond glinting on snow.

I am the sunlight on ripened grain.

When you awake in the early morning hush.

To the swift uplift sound of the wings.

Of birds in circle flight.

I am the soft star that shines at night.

Do not stand at my grave and cry.

I am not here. I did not die.

Home Health Care Week named

Help available for sick, disabled

The week of November 29 has been proclaimed National Home Health Care Week.

The need to care for a sick or disabled person in the home arises in every family from time to time. If this is the case in your home, you can obtain professional help from the health department. The Shelby County Health Department's Home Health Care Program provides care which enables persons who are homebound because of illness or disability to receive the health care they need while at home.

Home Health Care is recognized as an increasingly important alternative to hospitalization or care in a nursing home... a less expensive and a more effective means of providing health care to those persons who do not need or no longer need twenty-four hour a day professional supervision.

To become eligible for the Home Health Care Program, a person must be certified by a physician as in need of home health care. Whatever the case, a public health nurse will visit in the home and determine the patient's needs. This evaluation is done in conjunction with the physician's plan of treatment.

Home Health Care services are provided by public health nurses, home health aides, physical and speech therapists. The services that are provided include: teaching the families care of the patient, changing of dressings, catheterization and irrigations, tube feedings, diabetic instruction, colostomy care, range of motion exercises, diets and restorative care.

Home Health Aides provide personal care such as bathing the patients, linen changes and help with rehabilitative services.

Anyone interested in obtaining these services are encouraged to contact their physician or the Shelby County Health Department 669-3117.

Fifth in a series on communities

Vandiver shows pride

-WRITER'S NOTE: Random stars painted the night, flickering in the dark sky over Coosa Mountain. One here, one there, a couple scattered in the vastness to the south.

Below, to the east, random lights painted the dark expanse of Coosa Valley. Most of them radiated from Vandiver. The night winds bent the trees there, causing the lights to flicker from behind them like stars.

Stars and lights. All seemed randomly scattered with no binding rhyme or reason...

All afternoon I had kicked around Vandiver. I took a few pictures and talked to folks, listening for a pattern -- a rhyme or reason -- to emerge that would bind together all their seemingly random comments. It was hard to put a finger on.

From Coosa Mountain it's hard to see the pinwheel pattern of the stars. It's also hard to see the power lines that tie together the lighted homes down in Vandiver. And, from the mountain top, it's hard to see the pride that binds together the community. But in the days following that visit, as I talked with more people from Vandiver, the pride factor became bigger and more obvious to me, so that in the end I wondered that I had not seen it sooner.

Then again, despite its vastness, the spinning pinwheel of the universe is pretty hard to see, too...

by David F. Moore

There's nothing fancy about Vandiver.

It's a small community in north-eastern Shelby County, known as "home" to about 1,500 people who live there.

In the early days, pioneers carved lives out of the surrounding mountains. Like Dunnivant on the other side of Coosa Mountain, Vandiver grew up with the railroad, logging, and farming.

Today, "town," as such, is centered around the intersection of highways 25 and 43. Situated on three corners of the intersection are Watson's Grocery, Vandiver Trading Post, and the "new" brick building that houses Kut & Kurl, Vandiver Auto Parts and the post office. Behind Watson's is the woodyard belonging to Shelby County Logging, Inc. and west on 25, towards the mountain, is Vandiver Grocery.

Vandiver also has a volunteer fire department, community center, and two softball fields. In years gone by, there was a hotel and even a "highrise" two story masonic lodge.

There are several cemeteries. As for churches, there's Davis Chapel, Brasher Chapel, Union Hill Baptist, Pleasant Grove Baptist, Pleasant Site, Lawley's Chapel, and the Vandiver Church of God.

But it's the Vandiver Post Office -- zip code 35176 -- that's the focal point of identity and pride. It has apparently been that way since James L. Vandiver was appointed as its first postmaster in November of 1888.

Jerry Ball ambles into the post office to mail a letter. After a dozen years of living in Vandiver, what does he think of the place?

"The only place I'd like better would be Gulf Shores," Ball grins.

Becky Watson, filling in that day for postmaster Margie Brasher, takes Ball's letter, drops it in line for a Vandiver post mark.

"When I moved here from Vincent in 1967, I was surprised and impressed that so many people worked together for common causes," Mrs. Watson says.

Maybe, in part, that's because so many residents are kin to each other, Ball suggests.

Valid point. After all, Mrs.

Watson notes, there are numerous Whitfields, Isbells, Weldons, Perrys, Baileys, Kidds, Finleys, Watsons, Brashers (pronounced with a long 'a'), Brashers (pronounced with a short 'a'), and others.

"Most everybody knows everybody," Ball says. "But very few people know where Vandiver is unless they live close by. Still, people are proud of Vandiver."

Those who traveled outside the area find Ball's words true.

"I say I'm from Vandiver," says 15-year old country singer Tina Aldridge, who appears Tuesday mornings on the Country Boy Eddie Show, and has signed a five-year writing contract with Mancho Music in Nashville.

Tina continues: "There's people who actually don't know about Vandiver. They say, 'Where?' like, maybe you live so far back in the sticks you have to swing by a vine to get to the road! But I'm country and I'm proud of where I'm from. I was born here."

Pat Brasher, another local vocalist, sings a similar song of pride: "The main thing I've got pride in is the country here -- the mountains. And the people. Most of them have pride in Vandiver, too, but it's something you can't explain in twenty-two words or less."

Pat, along with Joan and Corinne Brasher, sing around Central Alabama with "Country Wonder." They're backed up by Pat's daughter, Lannett, on drums, husband Clifford on steel guitar, Mike Blankenship on lead and Gary Osborne on bass. (All but Blankenship and Osborne are from Vandiver.)

"It's like saying you're from a foreign country, but we tell people we're from Vandiver, Shelby County," Pat says. "Where else?"

If some people in Shelby County don't even know where Vandiver is, it's no wonder the classic baseball announcing team of Pee Wee Reese and Dizzy Dean had a problem with it, too.

Vandiver native Fred Whitfield, who spent 13 years playing first base for St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Montreal, tells the story of batting one day while Reese and Dean were broadcasting:

"Vandiver? Where's Vandiver?" Pee Wee asked in the press box.

Came the Dizzy reply, "Partner, I don't believe I know..."

"I let everybody know where I was from," Whitfield explains, adding details for those in the dark over Vandiver's EXACT location. "I'd tell them it's about eight miles south of Harry Walker's home!"

Dennis Murphy rides horses. In 1975 he rode in the Pan American Games. In '76 he was on the four-man U.S. Olympic equestrian team that rode in Montreal, and in '78 he rode with U.S. team in World's Show Jumping Championships in Aachen, Germany.

Murphy placed fifth at the 1979 World Cup in Sweden, and 13th the following year in Baltimore. He would have been the alternate rider on the 1980 Olympic team, but the Moscow games were boycotted.

Even if it isn't always enlightening, "I usually tell people I'm from Vandiver," Murphy chuckles. "I'm quite happy here and I hope this is where I end up."

"There's some awfully nice people from here," he continues. "It's hard to make it in the world on your own. Here, there's a 'good neighbor' policy. The little things people help you with make all the difference in the world."

"Vandiver's strictly home to me," says postmaster Margie Brasher. "I was born and reared here and wouldn't live anywhere else. This is a close knit community and the people are good to work together."

"The pride all boils down to the fact that we'd like to have something here, even if it's just a little."

Pride has been part of Vandiver to varying degrees for a long time. Marion Watson, whom many residents consider the voice of the community, says the latest resurgence of pride came in 1976.

"When they tried to close the postal route and post office here, three or four hundred people showed up to block it," Watson recalls. "We took it to federal court and since then, you can tell the community closeness has been lots stronger."

Mrs. Brasher agrees: "Trying to close the post office didn't suit any of us. That was one of the major things that opened people's eyes here. They thought they'd lose the town's identity."

Vandiver volunteers

"This is the best little community for doing things together I've ever known," says Mrs. Mignon Howard (upper left). "Our fire equipment's not much, and it's old," adds volunteer Chief Marion Watson (right). "But we're proud of it. There's 33 of us signed on for fires, but we've got a lot more we can count on for anything." Among the volunteers are (also pictured) Don and Robert Ellyson, Paul Northcutt, Phil Whitehead and Cliff Brasher.

Bazaar held

An annual Christmas bazaar will be held Saturday at Spring Creek Cumberland Presbyterian Church beginning at 9 a.m.

Items for sale will include quilts, aprons and Christmas decorations.

The church is located on County Road 12 near Montevallo.

The Shelby County Junior Miss Board of Directors extends their appreciation to Barbara Connors and Annette Hughes of Connors Family Hair Style Shop for the workshop on hair styling and make up which they provided the contestants in this year's program. Barbara and Annette also worked backstage in the dressing room during dress rehearsal and during both nights of the show.

Thanks once again to two fine ladies for a job well done.

AFRAID TO DIE?

"Nothing is surer than death and taxes," goes the old adage. But, for all its familiarity, thousands die daily, and all us have experienced the loss of loved ones. Death remains a dreaded enemy, not a friend. What is death? What happens when you die? Do you have an immortal soul that goes either to an ever-burning hell or up to heaven? It's time you saw the Bible answer. For your FREE copy of this eye opening booklet, print clearly your name & address below.

Vandiver:

'It's all just a big family'

and it sure would have closed, too, if no one had done anything about it."

Two years after the post office standoff, Watson says interest grew in building a fire department. Fund raisers were launched with enthusiasm. Under the direction of Leo Parker, Dorman Lynn, civil defense director Bill Tucker, Watson and others, a fire station was built, four engines were eventually bought and restored, gear was obtained and some 33 volunteers were trained.

The result is a class "9" rating and about a $40/year savings on fire insurance. Currently the department is restoring a vehicle from Leeds for emergency medical purposes.

Similar work is being done to restore the old school house for use as a community center. Funds are raised by the annual border collie dog trials, which are organized by Richard and Edda Karrasch and draw international crowds. Another big fund raiser is the annual Vandiver Bluegrass Festival, sparked on by the plucking of the Brasher Brothers (Willie Earl, Clifford, Kenneth and Roland).

Yet another community project which has improved the quality of life in Vandiver has been the organization of the citizens CB patrol. According to chief deputy James Jones the patrols have greatly reduced the number of property crimes in the area.

Alice Ellyson, Pat Brasher and others were instrumental in forming the patrols, and now volunteer their time to monitor base stations and cruise the neighborhood.

If they all work hard together, they also play hard -- especially during softball and deer season.

Support for the Mean Machine and the other five softball teams is evident by the $2,000 the community raised to buy uniforms and equipment. (For instance, Leo Parker and others donated their "ugly legs" to the cause...) "The women take the softball more seriously than the hunting," says Parker's daughter, Debbie Whitfield, from behind the counter at the Trading Post. "When deer season's here, we only see the men in passing."

"Shoot," says her husband, Teddy, "ninty percent of the people you ask here are big deer hunters. We've got quite a few turkey hunters, too."

"Quite a few turkeys, too..." Debbie adds. "If you want to be famous around here, you have to hunt deer, I'll tell you that, please," says Earl Messer, while hanging out at the woodyard with some cronies.

"Me, Darrell Dawson and Harold Dawson, we're the best deer hunters in Vandiver. And Harvey Perry, too," Messer says. Since everyone in Vandiver might not agree with that, Leo Parker and the Trading Post are sponsoring this year's Big Buck Contest to see who's tops with the deer.

"It's all just a big family here, a good close community," Parker comments.

"It's hard to put you finger on," agrees Marion Watson, "but there's a lot of people in Vandiver that care about each other and want to make something of this place. It's a good place."

Mockingbird on Vandiver:

"Vandiver has been a pretty good, progressive little town -- if you could call it a town," shouts Elmer "Mockingbird" Falkner from the porch of the log cabin which has been in his family three generations. "Oh, they're all pretty intelligent people around here, even if there's a few that go off to the side. You see, feller--like the building we're doing--it's supposed to be the Vandiver COMMUNITY Center. Not a bunch of little 'me's' and big 'I's' running around..." (Photos by David F. Moore)

BMC buys Chilton County hospital

The former Chilton County Hospital in Clanton, has been purchased by Baptist Medical Centers (BMC) of Birmingham.

According to BMC president Emmett Johnson, the sale has been approved by the Chilton County Hospital Board, the BMC Board of Trustees, and the Chilton County Commission. The purchase of the facility will be final when the State Health Planning and Development Agency gives its approval.

Baptist Medical Centers has operated the Chilton hospital under a lease agreement since September, 1981.

The decision to sell the hospital was made by the Chilton hospital board after the completion of a long range planning study that projected health care needs of county residents for the next five years.

Three down

Thompson charges toward crown

Coming through

Title hopes fade but Eagles are winners

by David F. Moore

When it was over, all the cheers were on the wrong side of the field house.

All the tears were in the wrong side of the field house.

Because during the game, all the mistakes -- the costly mistakes -- were on the wrong side of the statistics column.

The Calera Eagles controlled the football most of Friday night against the Sweetwater Bull Dogs, but gave up the big plays to lose 14-7 in the semi-finals of the class "A" state football championship.

In a case of haunting history creeping in to repeat itself, Sweetwater's Darryl Landrum blasted open for touchdown runs of 63 and 42 yards, and added salt to the Eagle wound with a two-point conversion.

Ironically, in the only other match between the schools, Landrum's brother was the major executioner in 1978 as Sweetwater beat Calera 40-22 in the semi-finals. Both the '78 and '82 losses left Calera with 10-3 records.

Although it was Landrum's scores that sent the 'Dogs from Sweetwater to the finals tomorrow against Akron, the Eagles beat themselves with mistakes.

Trailing 14-7 with 4:34 to play, Calera quarterback James Blanchard on fourth and goal from the five, threw for John Campbell in the end zone. Sweetwater intercepted.

Again, with about a minute to play, Blanchard threw long for Edward Wilson in the end zone. Again, Sweetwater picked it off.

"We should have won," Wilson commented as he walked off the field after the game. "We had too many mistakes. We killed ourselves. Yeah, it feels tough..."

* * * *

Sweetwater took the game's opening kick. A tough and ready Eagle defense forced the punt, but roughing the kicker call took a little early momentum away from Calera.

The first quarter turned into a string of possession swaps, with Calera gradually gaining an edge, thanks mostly to the up front blocking by the line and the running of Wilson and Blanchard.

Then, at 9:12 in the second quarter, Wilson headed the left of center, spotted a new hole, cut back right, sustained several hits, and finally crash-spun over for a 26 yard touchdown. Ricky Posey hit the point after and the "War Eagles!" went up from the packed bleachers on the home side of the field.

Sweetwater returned a short kick to the 40, and on the following play Todd Killingsworth racked the 'Dogs for minus three. Then, just as Calera appeared to have a corner on the momentum market, Landrum broke up the middle for 63 yards and a TD.

The PAT inched wide to right and the Eagles held to a slim 7-6 lead.

Runs by Blanchard and Tony Faucett got the Eagles' offense rolling again. However, on a 23-yard keeper, Blanchard tried to spin for extra yardage, fumbled, and lost it on the visitors' 35.

Blanchard made up for part of the loss on the next play when he nabbed a Sweetwater aerial at the Calera 38 with 3:20 in the half. But the offense stalled after four downs and four yards.

Sweetwater went back to the air for two quick completions, but with :20 left in the half, Blanchard again made a big interception, this one at the 10, and returned it 20 yards.

"Touch this rag!" fan John Campbell, Sr., told the Eagles, holding out a fist full of a good-luck blue shirt for the boys to touch as they filed into the field house for halftime. But apparently the shirt is wearing out.

Head coach Danny Alverson, more emotional than usual, addressed his Eagles -- Eagles who had already flown to the honor of an area championship, a regional championship, and were now, apparently, only a step and half away from a state title:

Edwin Milstead, Mike West, Blanchard, injured Mark Jones, Bobby Spence, Killingsworth,

Friday night's battle was played in an atmosphere of tension equal to that felt by any fan at an Auburn-Alabama contest.

So the importance of the game with Greenville had been established. Thompson had the chance to make the final match a year ago and blew it.

They did not want to falter again.

The Difference

What made this year different?

Thompson trailed 6-7 with 11:15 remaining in the first half. Greenville held the ball with a third down and nine yards to go at the Thompson nine yard line.

A touchdown pass was tossed by the Tigers which would have given them a 13-6 lead in the first half.

But a yellow flag or flags flew. Greenville was called for two penalties...ineligible receiver down field and offensive pass interference.

The result was a 15 yard penalty and loss of down.

A fourth and 24 Greenville pass fell incomplete and Thompson took over possession at its own 24 yard line.

Was that penalty play against Greenville the difference between a loss against Eufala in 1981 and a win against the Tigers in 1982?

Or was it something or someone else?

Could the difference have been a 205 pound senior fullback named Demetrius Threatt who gained 112 yards on 22 carries and who scored all three Thompson touchdowns?

The answer to those questions depend upon where you are from. If you happen to be from Alabaster, it could be nothing less than Threatt, Threatt, Threatt.

The Game

Thompson began its semi final match in a less than planned manner.

The Warriors drove from their own 25 yard line to the Greenville 45 when a pass reception was fumbled and returned by the Tigers 60 yards for a touchdown.

The bonus boot was good and with 7:04 remaining in the first period, Greenville led 7-0.

But the Warriors did not lose their cool and a fumble recovery by Gordon Kenney set Thompson up for a touchdown drive of its own at the Greenville 46 yard line.

The Warriors scored just six plays later on a five yard, second down run, by Threatt with 11:55 remaining in the second period.

Max Brown aided Thompson on that drive by getting two big first downs in addition to the hard running, first down and score by Threatt.

A two point conversion pass from Richard Brasher to Brown was good but Thompson was penalized for illegal procedure.

The bonus boot which followed was not good and the Warriors trailed by one point.

Thompson found itself on the ropes again late in the second period as the Tigers threatened at the Warriors' nine yard line.

But a penalty play set the Tigers back and Thompson's defense held for the Warriors to take over possession at their own 24 yard line.

Behind the running of Threatt, Luvel Bivens, Arthur Johnson and Brasher, as well as pass receptions by Tim Smith, the Warriors moved to first and goal at the Greenville three yard line.

Johnson punched the ball down to the Tiger one yard line and Threatt took it in from there.

A two point conversion pass was caught by Jeff Willis to put Thompson on top to stay 14-7 at the end of the first half.

What followed was a defensive struggle with two teams hitting each other with vengeance until late in the fourth quarter.

The Warrior defense held Greenville and gave the Thompson offense the ball at the Tiger 39 yard line.

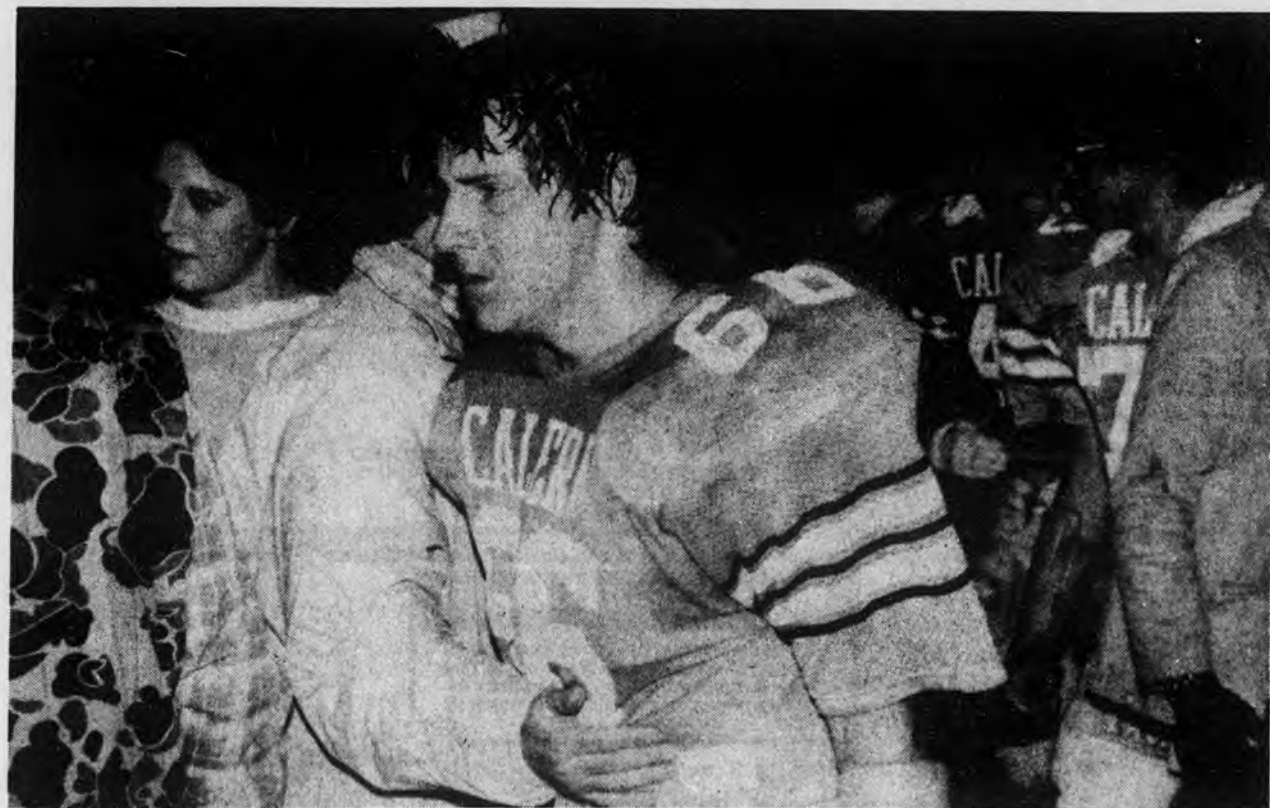

Brasher gained three to the 36. Threatt carried the ball twice to advance to the Tiger 20. With second down and four yards to go, Threatt rambled 20 yards to pay dirt.

The point after failed but Thompson led 20-7 and that was good enough to put the Warriors in position to go for the gold, the crown of 3A football tomorrow night.

The big man

Still champs

Ken LeSueur (66) shows the heart break felt by his Calera team in their semi-final loss to Sweetwater Friday night. But the Eagles have no reason to feel sorrow. Calera is still the Champion of Area 8, Region 4 in Alabama Class A football. (Photo by David F. Moore)

Big play kills Calera dream

Edward Wilson (33) breaks away from Sweetwater defenders as a jubilant Lovis Giddens cheers his success in the semi finals of Class A football Friday night. Wilson was a shining star for Calera this entire season. (Photo by David F. Moore)

Ellison, Joey Killingsworth, Kenny Wilson, Steve Bearden, Chuck Holcomb, limping Ronald Byrd, Ken LeSueur, David Phillips, Dan Anderson, Barry Pickett, Lovis Giddens, Russell Crowe, Calvin Cohill, John Campbell, Posey, Eric Carver, Scotty Wells and Shane Schroeder -- all the Eagles listened.

"The best team's ahead," said Alverson. "But you gotta believe we're going to win when you go out there the second half. If you don't, we're in a heap of trouble. A heap of trouble."

"We let them score on the big play," he continued. "We can't let them do that again. Don't let them come back on Calera..."

The Eagles failed to move on their first possession of the second half and punted away to midfield.

Then it happened again. In a streak of white and gold, Landrum took off on a 42 yard sweep to score. The conversion left Calera down 14-7 at 8:14 in the third quarter.

Calera's offense continued to plow up yardage, but a wild pitch to Wilson ended on drive with a fumble at the 42.

The interceptions killed other shots at salvaging the win.

"This was the hardest working Calera team in a long time," Alverson told the Reporter after the game. "I hate to see us shattered in the end after coming this close."

"It was a hard working bunch of seniors, too -- they know what it takes to win," he continued. "We got tremendous leadership out of Blanchard, Wilson and Steve Bearden. It's just been a great honor for me to be associated with such a fine group of boys."

"We lose 11 of our seniors, so next year will be a complete rebuilding season. But two more years..."

As the fieldhouse emptied, Alverson picked up a piece of chalk and wrote on the green board: B-I-G P-L-A-Y.

"Yep," agreed assistant Gary Griffith. "They made them. We didn't."

Then the field house was empty. The dream was over. And the lights went out in Calera.

Abrams hands THS first basketball loss

The Thompson Warriors suffered their first loss of the 1982 basketball season Wednesday night.

Playing in the Holiday Classic at the Thompson gym, the Warriors lost the championship contest to Abrams 66-72.

Abrams defeated Charles

Henderson High School 72-55 in the opening game of the event Tuesday night.

Reginald Leond lead Abrams by scoring 28 points for the Blue Devils.

The Warrior took on Bibb County Tuesday and won that hoop battle 66-55.

Leading scorers for Thompson were Chris Thomas with 17, Tony Hale with 14 and Terence Hale with 10 points.

The top man for the Choctaws was Willie Stone with 20 points. He was followed by Darrell James with 13.

In the final contest which went to Abrams, top scorers for the Warriors were Chris Thomas 20, Lester Gaiters and Terence Hale with 14 points each.

Adding to the 72 points posted by Abrams were Reginald Leonard with 18, Marvin Birchfield with 15 and Antonia King with 10.

Charles Henderson defeated Bibb County 72-60 in the consolation match-up.

All tournament players were Tony Hale and Chris Thomas for Thompson; Darrell James and Michael Rutledge for Bibb County; Robert Pinchard and Reginald Leonard for Abrams; and L. R. Hooten and Bennie Thomas for Charles Henderson.

Abrams Reginald Leonard was named the tournament's most valuable player.

In other county basketball action, Vincent defeated Shelby County 64-55 at Shelby County.

Warriors win title shot on paper and on the football field

by Fred Guarino

Thompson will play Oxford in Alabaster for the state championship of 3A football tomorrow night.

But just how did the Warriors accomplish that feat?

A look at the statistics from Friday night's semi final match with Greenville might shed some light on the situation.

Arthur Johnson ran ten times for 33 yards. Demetrius Threatt carried it 22 times for 112 yards and three touchdowns. Max

Brown carried it four times for 26 yards. Stevie Hawkins carried it twice for 14 yards and Richard Brasher carried it six times for eight yards.

but passing yardage and even there the percentage of completion went to the Warriors.

But some people say that yards and first downs don't mean a thing. They feel what counts is the points you earn and the amount of time you control the ball.

A look at the statistics shows Thompson won that analysis as well.

The Warriors made 57 plays Friday night and munched up 25 minutes and 18 seconds of the game time.

Greenville made 47 plays and held the ball for 22 minutes and six seconds.

That means Thompson had ten more snaps of the ball and three minutes and six more seconds to do something with it.

Add Threatt's three touchdowns and Jeff Willis's two point conversion catch and Thompson wins on paper and on the field.

For those who are interested, Thompson has averaged 359 yards per game total offense this season.

Threatt has gained 1,594 yards rushing, including Friday night's action, and has scored 28 touchdowns and two two point conversions for a total of 172 points this season.

And that's how Thompson managed to be 13-0 this season and is playing for the state championship crown.

All the way

The 1982 Thompson Warriors will play for the state championship of 3A high school football tomorrow night. To reach the finals Thompson went 10-0 in regular season action and defeated Stanhope-Elmore, Demopolis and Greenville. Basketball coaches lay it on line

Part II

by Fred Guarino

Last week the Reporter began a thumbnail sketch of basketball teams in Shelby County.

This week we pick up our sketch with a look at Pelham, Chelsea, Thompson, Briarwood, Montevallo and Vincent.

Pelham balanced

The Pelham Panthers, champions of Shelby County in 1981, opened the 1982 season win a big win over Shelby County 94-63.

They followed that contest with a heart breaking 65-63 loss to Bibb County which came on a lost second shot by the Choctaws.

But the Panthers came back Tuesday, November 23 to beat Childersburg in an away game 72-68.

Seniors on this year's squad are: Dave Toner, forward center; Bob Patrick, guard; Geoff Keenum, guard; Ray Higdon, forward center; Devin Tubert, forward guard; and Ken Hansen, forward.

The starting line-up this year is Toner, Tubert, Keenum, Brian Hughes, a junior guard and Kyle Hutchison, a junior center.

Coach Tony Taylor said his team's strength lies in experience. He said, "I think we are well balanced. Most all of the boys have varsity experience and they all can play two or three positions."

Weakness?

The coach says his squad is not as quick as some teams.

The Panthers posted a 16-10 record in 1981.

The schedule:

As this newspaper went to press, the Panthers were taking on Mountain Brook in an away game.

December 4, Stanhope-Elmore away; Dec. 7, Vincent at home; Dec. 9, Childersburg at home; Dec. 14, Thompson away; Dec. 17-22 Shades Valley Tournament; Dec. 27-30, Berry Tournament; Jan. 4, Thompson at home; Jan. 7, Berry away; Jan. 11, Shelby County at home; Jan. 14, Vincent away; Jan. 18, Montevallo at home; Jan. 21, Elmore County away; Jan. 24-28 Shelby County Tournament at home; Feb. 1, Berry at home; Feb. 5, Stanhope-Elmore at home; Feb. 11, Elmore County at home; Feb. 15, Montevallo away; Feb. 18, Mountain Brook at home; Area Tournament Feb. 21-25.

Hornets are fast

The Hornets, coached by Mike Sims, posted a 9-13 record last season.

Friday, November 19, the Hornets fell to Moody 45-59 and Tuesday, November 23, Chelsea lost to Fayetteville 57-61.

Sims' squad has no players over 6'2" in height which might be a disadvantage. But his team will be one of the fastest the Hornets have ever put on the court.

The coach told this newspaper that predicting how his team will do will be much easier after a few more contests are played.

The Hornets boast seniors Greg Conkle who plays forward; Ken O'Shields who plays guard; Tony King who plays forward; Jock Efferson who is out of action with a broken collar bone and Alan Cooper who plays forward.

The starting line-up for the team is:

Conkle, O'Shields, junior center Jason Wiggins, King, and freshman guard Steve Shelton.

Johnny Sands is a junior forward for the squad.

The schedule:

Tonight the Hornets face Springville at home; Dec. 3, Indian Springs away; Dec. 7, Montevallo at home; Dec. 9-11, Fayetteville Tournament; Dec. 13-16, Calera Tournament; Jan. 4, Winterboro at home; Jan. 6, Fayetteville away; Jan. 7, Saint Clair County away; Jan. 10, Calera at home; Jan. 14, Briarwood away; Jan. 18, Vincent at home; Jan. 20, Shelby County at home; Jan. 24-28 County Tournament at Pelham; Jan. 31, Calera away; Feb. 3, Shelby County away; Feb. 4, Indian Springs at home; Feb. 8, Montevallo away; Feb. 10, Moody at home; Feb. 11 Vincent away; Feb. 15, Winterboro away; Feb. 18 Saint Clair County at home; and Feb. 21-25, area tournament.

THS together

Coach Thomas Johnson's squad posted a 17-12 record in 1981 and finished the season in second place for county honors.

The Warriors opened the 1982 season on November 16, defeating B. B. Comer at home 64-54. They followed that game Nov. 19, with a 49-41 win over Shelby County also at home.

Playing in a holiday classic at the THS gym, the Warriors defeated Blount County 66-55 but fell to Abrams 72-66 for their only loss this season.

Seniors on this year's squad are Anthony Edwards, Terence Hale, Lester Gaiters, Darryl Ward, Donald McKnight, and Arthur Johnson (playing football in state playoffs).

Coach Johnson said of his team's strength, "We have played real well together as a team and rebounded well. Free throw shooting is better than it has been."

Weaknesses?

The coach said, "We are not shooting as well as we are capable. I think turnovers are going to hurt us if we are not careful. We like to run the ball and again, if not careful we will make mistakes."

The schedule:

The team is participating through Dec. 3 in the Mid State Tournament in Sylacauga. Dec. 6, Bibb County away; Dec. 7 Vestavia away; Dec. 10 Montevallo at UM; Dec. 14, Pelham at home; Dec. 16, Berry at home; Jan. 4, Pelham away; Jan. 7, Vincent at home; Jan. 11, Childersburg at home; Jan. 14, Berry away; Jan. 18, Sylacauga away; Jan. 21, Shelby County away; Jan. 24-28 County Tournament at Pelham; Feb. 4, Montevallo at home; Feb. 5, Eufaula at AUM; Feb. 8, Childersburg away; Feb. 11, Bibb County at home; Feb. 12, Sylacauga at home; Feb. 15, Vestavia at home; Feb. 18, Vincent away; Feb. 21-25 Area 8 Tournament in Sylacauga; Feb. 26, Region 4 Championship in Sylacauga.

Lions tough inside

The Lions coached by Steve Franklin posted a 11-9 winning season in 1981 and finished in second place in the northern division of Christian High Schools.

Against county schools, the squad earned a record of four wins and five losses playing Indian Springs, Chelsea, Calera, Montevallo, Shelby County and Thompson.

The Lions opened the 1982 season with a 51-28 win over Hayden in an away game.

Seniors on this year's squad are Jeff Nelson at wing; Ashton Milam at point guard; Scott Engle at the other wing position; Peter Clemens at post; and Brad Byers at the other post position.

The seniors also comprise the starting line-up for the Lions.

Coach Franklin sees experience, a good inside game and

Let's Talk.

Talking. It's the best way to find out what's happening. To understand.

South Central Bell believes in talking things over. And there's never been a time when talking was more important. You may have heard about changes coming in the way you'll be getting your phone service. We want to talk with you about these changes. And answer some of the questions you may have been asking about South Central Bell.

Questions such as these:

Q. I've heard stories about "divestiture," and the telephone company splitting up. It's all very complicated. What's happening?

A. Simply put, AT&T has agreed to separate itself from the local operations of its 22 Bell operating telephone companies. So in the future, South Central Bell will no longer be affiliated with AT&T.

Q. If South Central Bell doesn't have AT&T behind it, won't the quality of my telephone service be affected?

A. You can expect the same dependable service you have now. And you'll have the same dedicated people standing behind it. You'll also have more options than ever before in terms of equipment, services and suppliers.

Q. What will happen to my local rates? Is it true they're going to skyrocket?

A. Your rates are not going to skyrocket. They may continue to go up, but not because of the separation from AT&T. Increases in our costs are the main reason. For example, inflation causes increases in the cost of services and goods we use to provide phone service. And new technology in telecommunications makes it necessary for us to replace some equipment faster than in the past. Local rates will have to go up to cover part of these increased costs.

Q. Will South Central Bell be allowed to charge whatever it wants for local calls?

A. No. Local rates will still be regulated by the state's public service commission. And at South Central Bell, we will continue to do everything we can to keep these rates as low as possible.

Q. Where will I get my telephone in the future? And who will fix it in case something goes wrong or it breaks?

A. At some time in the future, you will be able to get phones from an AT&T subsidiary, other phone suppliers or possibly South Central Bell. Repair of phone equipment likely will be provided by the company that supplies the equipment. South Central Bell will continue to maintain your local telephone lines.

You may have more questions about the changes at South Central Bell. And we want to make it easy for you to get answers.

So give us a call toll free at 1 800 555-5000*, 10 a.m. - 11 p.m., Central Time, Monday through Friday. We're ready to talk.

Or send in this coupon. You'll get an answer. And a free booklet, "Let's Talk About Change."

Hoopers ready for action

Four of Franklin's seniors played under his leadership. Weakness?

According to Franklin, the squad is not a real good shooting team now.

He says, "We are not where I want us to be as far as the full court pressing game and the fast break are concerned. But we are a pretty good half court squad."

The schedule:

Briarwood faces Montevallo away tonight, Dec. 3, Hayden at home; Dec. 7, Gilmore-Bell at home; Dec. 10, Trinity away; Dec. 13-16, Calera Christmas Tournament; Jan. 4, Gilmore-Bell away; Jan. 7, Shelby County at home; Jan. 14, Chelsea at home; Jan. 18, Indian Springs away; Jan. 21, Trinity at home; Jan. 24-28, Shelby County Tournament; Feb. 1, West Blocton away; Feb. 8, Pelham away; Feb. 11, Shelby County away; Feb. 15, Thorsby away; Feb. 18, West Blocton at home.

Dogs are big

The Bulldogs posted a 9-15 record in 1981 which they would like to improve this season.

Seniors playing ball for Kurt Pnazeck are J. J. Moore, Michael Grayson, Mark Jones, Alfred Green and Kekita Bolling.

The starting line-up for the Bulldogs includes six players who must fight for positions. They are Moore at forward; Grayson at forward; junior Rick Dobson at center; junior Taylor Blackwell at guard; Jones at guard; and junior Tyrone Bell at guard.

Pnazeck said of his team's strong points, "I feel strengths will be experience and good size. We have the best size in three years."

Weakness?

"We don't have a very quick ball club."

The Bulldogs opened the 1982 with a loss to Vincent but rebounded to defeat West Blocton and Clanton. As this newspaper went to press, the squad was playing Holy Trinity away.

The schedule:

Tonight, Briarwood at home; Dec. 7, Chelsea away; Dec. 10, Thompson at UM; Dec. 14-17, Calera Invitational Tournament; Jan. 4, Maplesville away; Jan. 7, Bibb County at home; Jan. 11, West Blocton away; Jan. 14, Shelby County away; Jan. 18, Pelham away; Jan. 20, Vincent away; Jan. 22, Calera at home; Jan. 25-28 County Tournament at Pelham; Feb. 1, Bibb County away; Feb. 4, Thompson away; Feb. 8, Chelsea at home; Feb. 11, Pelham at home; Feb. 15, Shelby County at home; Feb. 18, Calera away; Feb. 22-25 Area 7 Tournament; Feb. 26 Region 4 playoffs.

Jackets have height

The Yellow Jackets posted a 15-12 winning season in 1981 under the leadership of Coach Richard Crumpton.

They crumpled to the semi finals of area competition and finished in third place among Shelby County teams.

This year the Jackets opened with a 52-72 loss to B. B. Comer on November 18, but November 19 the Vincent squad zapped Montevallo 50-39. November 23, Vincent defeated Shelby County 64-55.

Crumpton's squad was participating in the Mid State Tournament in Sylacauga as this newspaper went to press.

When asked about his team's strength, Crumpton simply responded, "Reynolds, 6'1", Robertson 6', Hamilton 6'4", Benny Joe Keller 6'5" and Veron Keller 6'6". What would you think our strength would be?"

When asked how he managed to recruit such tall players, Crumpton said, "We just grow them like that here."

Weakness? Vernon Keller is the only returning starter.

The schedule:

Dec. 7, Pelham away; Dec. 10, Winterboro at home; Dec. 16, Childersburg away; Dec. 20-21 Christmas Tournament at B. B. Comer; Jan. 4, Lincoln away; Jan. 6, Comer at home; Jan. 7, Thompson away; Jan. 10, Moody away; Jan. 14, Pelham at home; Jan. 18, Chelsea away; Jan. 20, Montevallo at home; Jan. 21, Lincoln at home; Jan. 24-28 County Tournament at Pelham; Feb. 1, Shelby County at home; Feb. 8, Moody at home; Feb. 10, Childersburg at home; Feb. 11, Chelsea at home; Feb. 14, Winterboro away; Feb. 18, Thompson at home; Feb. 21 area tournament at Winterboro.

UM takes championships

The University of Montevallo Falcons used a balanced scoring attack to win the 13th annual UM-Lions Club Tipoff Tournament at Montevallo, November 19-20.

The Falcons, with four players in double figures both nights, defeated Miles College 69-60 in the opening round and then whipped Georgia Southwestern, 80-68, for the championship.

Three Montevallo players -- Anthony Glaude, Clint Stewart and Emory Wells -- were named to the All-Tournament Team.

Other members of the All-Tournament Team were Zac Cooper of William Carey, John Braswell of Georgia Southwestern and William Bolden of Miles.

William Carey won the consolation game Saturday night, edging Miles, 73-72.

First round games on Friday night saw Montevallo defeat Miles and Georgia Southwestern take William Carey by 74-69.

In a high school preliminary game Bibb County defeated

Pelham 65-63 on a last-second field goal by Willie Stone. Stone had 17 points and Michael Rutledge had 19 for Bibb County. Pelham was led by Devin Tubert's 21 points. Bryan Hughes and Dave Toner chipped in 10 points each for Pelham.

In Saturday's preliminary game, Montevallo defeated West Blocton 49-37. The Bulldogs were paced by J.J. Moore's 22 points. Keith Moore was also in double figures with 10 points. Ed Brown was West Blocton's high scorer.

Next up for Montevallo was Livingston and Anthony Glaude sank two free throws with no time remaining on the clock to give the Falcons a 83-81 victory.

The Falcons then beat Tennessee Wesleyan 76-52 and North Alabama 55-53 to win the North Alabama Classic.

Montevallo beat North Alabama for the Classic's championship when Glaude sank two free throws with 37 seconds left to play. Glaude was the Falcons top scorer with 14 points followed by Alonzo Williams at 11.

ANNUAL REPORT

CONSERVATION HIGHLIGHTS OF 1982

SHELBY COUNTY SOIL & WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT

A most valuable resource - Help Us - protect it for us all.

SOIL EROSION

We know that some conservation practices cost a great deal of money to install, and we know times are tough for farmers. And many farmers say I would like to control that erosion problem but I just can't afford it. "Can you afford not to"? Erosion of our productive soils is the worst enemy of the rowcrop farmer. Severe erosion of our cotton land, such as pictured here, cost cotton farmers thousands of dollars each year in lost production, equipment repairs and time. Much of this erosion can be controlled with inexpensive conservation practices such as grassed waterways and outlets, contour farming, terracing or strip cropping.

"NO TILL OR MINIMUM TILLAGE"

New, but in many ways very old, methods of farming are catching on in Alabama and other parts of the country. We now call it "no till" or "minimum tillage" farming. It is in many ways as old as the country. It works very well in soybeans, corn, and small grain, and several landowners are making it work on cotton acreage. It is called no till or minimum tillage because you disturb very little soil when planting. Weed control is accomplished with chemicals and you save soil, time, fuel and money. As pictured here, soybeans are planted in wheat stubble which aids in weed control, moisture retention and erosion control. It must work, acreage planted by this method have more than tripled over the past 5 years here in the state of Alabama.

GROWING TIMBER

Site index is a very important tool in timber management. Here SCS Woodland Specialist Jerry Johnson left and Soil Scientist Cleo Stubbs check pine tree growth to establish a site index for one of the 44 different soil types here in Shelby County. Site index is an expression of how tall a tree will grow in a certain number of years on a particular soil type. The lower the site index number the poorer the soil for growing trees.

Pictured left to right, Lawrence Garrett, Chairman, John L. Cates, Vice-Chairman, Rex O. Perry, Sec.-Treasurer, Wayne Archer and James E. (Jim) Braden. We five Shelby County landowners bring with us a total of over 150 years experience and know-how in agriculture and agri-business. We comprise the Shelby County Soil & Water Conservation District Board, organized and chartered by the State of Alabama, to direct a local effort in conserving, improving and developing the natural resources of Shelby County. "Our primary concern," is a well balanced, progressive conservation program to serve the needs of a changing Shelby County. Ideas and needs have changed greatly since most of us became supervisors and to serve these needs, we have had to change. We now must look at land-use from a very diverse view point. Even though we are still considered a rural county, a great deal of our effort is now with urban and industrial land-use problems. However, during 1983 we are concentrating our efforts in helping our few remaining rowcrop farmers solve some land-use problems on the 26,000 acres of rowcrop land that we have left. We feel that these landowners and this acreage is a vital and very important part of Shelby County, and we want to help them protect and improve this acreage of our county. We the Shelby County Board of Supervisors serve in an advisory role without pay or compensations, except for the joy of knowing that we are serving our fellowman in a small, but we feel, very important way. We thank you the landowners of Shelby County for your continued support and trust in our program. We especially thank the County Commission, Soil Conservation Service, Extension Service, ASCS Office, State & County Highway Departments, Health Department, Planning Commission, Forestry Commission, Board of Education and FFA Chapters, The Shelby County Reporter, WBYE and Farmers Home Administration for their assistance and support of our program. We are publishing this Annual Report to let you know about some of our work, through the Soil Conservation Service, to assist you in protecting and improving the land, water, and other natural resources of Shelby County.

Lawrence W. Garrett,
Chairman

WILDLIFE

Wildlife is a very important resource for many landowners. Here Mr. H.M. "Bub" Gordon discusses wildlife management and food plots with Wildlife Specialist Robert Waters of the Soil Conservation Service. SCS provides landowners with many alternatives in management ideas for deer, turkey, quail, doves, squirrel, rabbits, or any other species of wild game in which you might be interested.

LAND-USE PLANNING

Here District Conservationist Robert Kelley discusses land-use decisions with property owner Richard Scott. Land-use problems and decisions are as different as the landowners themselves and requires face to face knowledge of the individual as well as the property he is working on. Planning is continuous and forever changing as needs, resources and desires of the individual changes.

RESOURCE CONSERVATION & DEVELOPMENT

RC&D, a good way to solve community resource problems. Pictured left to right, Brice Nist and Don Presley, SCS representatives discuss erosion control and beautification of Pelham High School campus with Principal Dr. Ed Belue, Probate Judge Tommy Snowden and Assistant Superintendent of Education Jimmy Bice. Field information has been gathered and plans are being drawn up to provide federal cost share monies to solve problems on this school campus. Preliminary work has also been completed on problems existing on all board of education owned property in the county.

POND CONSTRUCTION

Ponds are getting more costly, but still being built. Most of them are being constructed for stock water rather than for recreation. ACP cost share funds were available until recently but it appears at present that no cost share money will be available for ponds during 1983 fiscal year. Dug, stock water ponds - 70 x 100 feet are costing approximately $1,400 while recreation ponds with a dam, pipe, valve and etc. will cost approximately $4,000 per surface acre of water for 1 acre ponds, 2 acre about $5,000 to $6,000. Pictured here contractor begins earth moving for a stock water pond.

As a team, our District Board, SCS personnel and the many landowners with whom we have worked this year have accomplished a great deal. As depicted in the pictures and articles above we have worked on a wide array of land-use activities including erosion control, engineering surveys and designs of ponds, providing soils information, land-use planning, management information on pasture and woodland and community RC&D Projects.

In providing these services we worked with 761 landowners, provided 979 technical services to these landowners on over 90,000 acres of land. We thank all of you for your interest and support! Call us at 669-7136 if we can be of service to you.

MAST LELAND MAST DIRECTORY COMPANY
SUBURBAN OFFICE
3928 MONTCLAIR ROAD SUITE 216 BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA 35213
205-879-4810

Dear Residents and Business People:

A little over one year ago MAST introduced a new advertising concept in your community—THE SOUTH BIRMINGHAM NEIGHBORHOOD YELLOW PAGES. From the very beginning you realized the advantages of our cost-efficient approach to yellow pages advertising. Your willingness to try a new product and your faith in the strength of MAST and our proven advertising concept have resulted in a successful first year both for you and for us.

We're very pleased that we have been able to save you thousands of dollars by "streamlining" your yellow pages advertising through targeted marketing.

And "thanks" to all the residents of South Birmingham for realizing the advantages of using your local neighborhood yellow pages. You really can find it faster and closer to home in your SOUTH BIRMINGHAM NEIGHBORHOOD YELLOW PAGES! And you have obviously noticed and been saving real dollars by using the valuable coupons included in the back of the directory!

Now, we are excited to announce that we are beginning work on the second issue of the SOUTH BIRMINGHAM NEIGHBORHOOD YELLOW PAGES. We plan to build on our first year's success by reaffirming our commitment to save money for our established advertisers as well as making certain that all South Birmingham businesses understand the cost-effective advertising alternative available to them in the SOUTH BIRMINGHAM NEIGHBORHOOD YELLOW PAGES.

THANKS FOR YOUR SUPPORT SOUTH BIRMINGHAM! We are looking forward to making our second issue bigger and better than ever.

Sincerely,

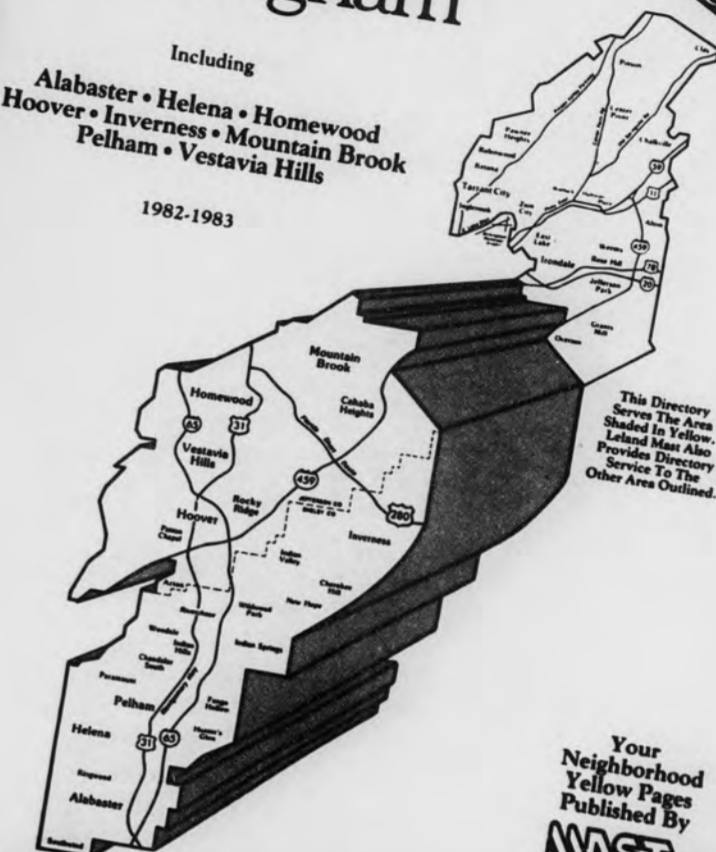

Peter Brandsma

COMING SOON... FEDERALLY INSURED MONEY MARKET CHECKING WITH A HOME ADVANTAGE!!!

LIQUIDITY, MONEY MARKET RATES & FSLIC INSURANCE!

Our investment account will soon give you all three!
Congress has passed and President Reagan has signed a bill destined to give local investors a grand opportunity never before enjoyed. The power to invest hard earned money in a Federally insured account WITH CHECK WRITING PRIVILEGES - NO WITH-DRAWAL PENALTIES AND A YIELD COMPARABLE TO UNINSURED MONEY MARKET FUNDS!

AVAILABLE SOON!
A Federal Committee has developed specifics of this new investment instrument. This we expect on December 14th will enable you to invest as little as $2,500 in a liquid, no risk account.

GET THE FACTS, EARLY!
We would like you to be among the very first to have the complete details of the grand opportunity, when available. It will mean much to our local economy, as unlike some money market funds, much of the deposits will be invested locally.

So fill out the coupon below and we will make sure that you will have every early opportunity to take full advantage of this breakthrough.

Phone All Offices 322-5601

I would like to be among the first to know more about the new Money Market Account.

ADD CABLE AND MULTIPLY YOUR CHOICES.

If you're still watching network television, you're really missing something.

Today, with cable TV you can see something you want to see no matter what time of day you turn on the set. You can watch movies whenever you want; news whenever you want; even sports whenever you want.

A simple cable hook-up automatically gives you lots more channels to choose from. With a terrific range of programs.

If you like variety specials and theatre, Showtime is just your ticket.

THE PLEASURE OF HAVING MORE THAN ONE.

On some days, you may be able to choose between 2 or 3 showings of a current movie. Or watch a major sports event, a special and a movie on the same evening.

So before you settle down in front of your television to watch the same old stuff, call your local cable operator. Chances are, you'll never have to settle for anything again.

'Shoes from Santa' needs your donation

Jamie Lynn can hardly remember the last time he had new shoes. The old scuffy hand-me-downs were okay, he thought, but lately he noticed the hole in the bottom getting bigger. And every time it rains the water seeped in when he walked to school.

But when he asked his mom if he might have a new pair of his very own, she cried. There was no money right now to buy shoes, she told him. The bills had to be paid so they could keep the electricity and gas heat going.

Someday, she promised, things would get better. She'd find a job and make enough money to buy new shoes for all the kids. Maybe for Christmas.

Jamie smiled at that. It was a promise he wanted to believe. But then his mom started crying again.

And somehow he knew, with a child's peculiar understanding, that life can be hard and things like new shoes are not something to take for granted. At least not for him and not for other kids in his school who wear hand-me-downs and scuffy old shoes every day.

There are many kids like Jamie who go to school in Jefferson County. They come from families who have a hard time making ends meet. When there's never enough money for the basic necessities, things like new shoes seem like luxuries. And luxuries have to wait for better times.

But this time of year there's a ray of hope for these kids, the innocent victims of a hard life. Once again the Salvation Army reaches out a helping hand to lessen the struggle that has become a way of life — to help the kids like Jamie who are not able to help themselves.

This is that time of year when the Salvation Army appeals to kind-hearted citizens to help make the "Shoes from Santa" drive a success, as it has been every year. Sponsored by The Shades Valley Sun as a way of helping needy families, donations will go toward buying over 1,300 pairs of new shoes for these kids.

A new pair of shoes would bring happiness to every boy and girl, not only as a Christmas present but as a necessity badly needed for the cold months ahead. The Salvation Army identifies the kids in need through teachers at school who knew them and know the family circumstances. The teachers then submit a needy child's name and the Salvation Army issues a certificate for shoes to be purchased for that child. This year, each child will also get a new pair of socks, thanks to the generosity of Bargain Town in supplying all the shoes at a special discount.

The Salvation Army each year hears testimonials about the happiness of a new pair of shoes brings to these youngsters. It's such a simple thing yet the pride of ownership means so much.

Donations are welcome in any amount. Many kind-hearted people have been giving to his cause every year because they believe in sharing with those who have less.

Anyone who wants to make a contribution should send it to:

From a decorating point of view, foliage plants make lovely accents for most rooms. A plant grouping sets a serene and green mood. For contemporary use, these lovely green-leaved beauties can be displayed en masse to give an exciting texture to a room. It puts the "living" into a living room. Whether set up as an eye level oasis, or displayed overhead, they respond to a breeze in a way that reminds one of a tranquil outdoor setting. Consult your florist about the correct foliage plants for your indoor environment. Light, humidity and traffic flow are important factors.

Foliage plants make excellent long-term gifts. We add the decorative holiday touch with festive bows, ribbons, and containers. Our showroom is stocked with beautiful and unique gift items for that special someone on your list.

Consult with us for all your plant, flower and gift needs. A wide variety can always be found at HOOVER FLORIST, 1960 Braddock Dr., just around corner from Western Super Market-Center of Hoover Shopping area, 823-5273. We specialize in turning random selections of flowers into exquisite works of art. Custom designing is available for decorators and individuals.

CHRISTMAS CHEER COMES IN TWO INTERESTING SHAPES

The Morgan greenhouse is durable on the outside to protect your plants on the inside. It brings life and color to your backyard while protecting your valuable plants from insects, pets and unpredictable weather. Enjoy fragrant, fresh flowers year 'round. Your local Morgan representative has a greenhouse on display. He'll deliver one that's fully assembled and ready for immediate use.

8' x 12' shown.
Also available in 8' x 16' and larger.

The Morgan gazebo adds a beautiful new dimension to your backyard. It's a perfect focal point in your "outdoor living room." Others say the gazebo is great for potted plants and hanging baskets. It's also ideal for an outdoor entertainment center. Two can assemble the gazebo in a day with just simple tools. For a modest extra charge, Morgan will erect and paint white.

10' x 10' octagonal shown.
Also available in 8' x 8' hexagonal & 12' x 12'.

Beautiful Music is Such a Vital Part of Christmas

Because of this, we have built our worship services in December around lovely Christmas music, hymns we have all loved for years, and sacred anthems to thrill and inspire.

We would like to invite you to come and thrill with us to the inspiration of familiar songs and stirring messages by our pastor, Dr. Edgar M. Arendall.

Our Christmas services December 5, 12, and 19 at 8:40 A.M., 11:00 A.M. and 7:00 P.M. will include beautiful Christmas music by our Church Choir with orchestra on December 5 at 7:00 P.M., a Candlelight Service at 5:00 P.M. on December 19 with 2,600 candles aglow, and special music at all services. For instance, each morning service will begin with a processional by our choir singing "Prepare A Way For The Lord" by Burl Red.

Thompson thrills county with title

I F. Moore
g, 117 football with a goal: to e 3A Football
p 0 young men part of the all team in the high school Athletic Association. Only one team -- in this case 45 young men -- would do all it takes to reach that goal.

Work, work, work...
Some of those individual dreams fell apart during the 18-day strain of spring training. Others dropped by the way as weightlifting drudgery dragged through the summer.

Work, work, work...
And while others vaca-tioned, football teams padded out August 2, began baking their brains inside gritty helmets, sweating under the sun and the heated shouts of demanding coaches.

By the time the season kicked off at the end of August, many spring dreams had already faded into the smell of stale locker rooms. Others fell every week for the next 11 weeks, as teams duked it out on football fields across the state.

Work, work, work...
By the first of November, only 16 dreams still lived.
Only 16 area champions remained to compete for the same 3A goal.

Thompson High School in Alabaster was "one of them."

Work, dedication, talent, a bit of good luck, and then more work earned the Warriors the Area 8 title with 10 straight wins: Pell City, 42-20; Bibb County, 27-6;

Chilton County, 27-0;
Montevallo, 21-14;
Vestavia, 11-7; SCHS, 35-6;

Childersburg, 35-13;
Pelham, 31-0; Sylacauga,
14-7; Vincent, 28-8.

A 35-6 stunner over Stanhope-Elmore gave them the Region 4 crown in round one of the playoffs.

A 22-14 win over Demopolis kept the dream alive through the quarterfinals.

Then it was 20-7 over Greenville, and the dream was alive for only two teams -- Thompson and Oxford.

In the end, 116 dreams lay by the way.

But not Thompson's.

The Warriors, coached by Larry Simmons, Ellie Glasscox, Dennis Cobb,
Donnie Kennedy, Thomas
Jackson, Billy Woodham and Roddy Stamps, stand on the pinnacle of 3A football.

They did all the work it takes, and then did some more. They outdistanced opponents 4,847 yards to 1,821. They outscored them
362 to 118. And through it all, the defense was a stubborn wall.

In 14 games, no one ever beat them.

In case you haven't heard, Thompson beat Oxford 14-11 to claim the first ever AHSAA State Football Championship for Shelby County.

Work, work, work...

"The same lesson high school athletics teaches can be taught on a 5-5 team as well as a 14-0 team," Simmons said after the win. But from the gleam in his eyes, the beam on his face, it was obvious which win-loss record he liked best.

In 1982 the Thompson
Warriors are the best 3A football team in Alabama.

They did what they had to do.

They worked for it.

They're #1.

They deserve it.

Best in the business

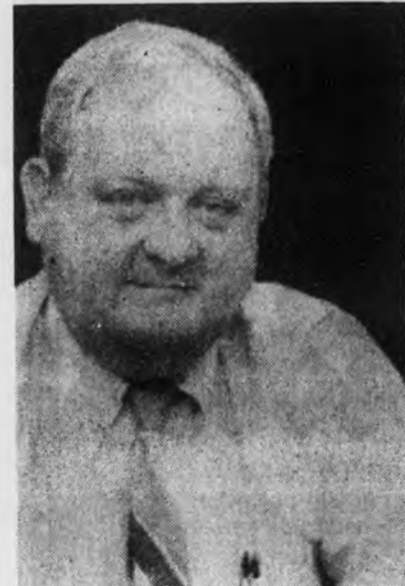

They run. They pass. They kick, block and tackle. They're the Thompson Warriors and they're the best 3A team in Alabama. Friday night, before a record crowd in Alabaster, they won the State 3A Championship. Some of their ample talent comes in the form of quarterback Richard Brasher (12), All-State Demetrius Threatt (33), line anchor Jeff Bentley (76) and, Max Brown (28), blocking above.

For all the championship action, see the Reporter sports section.

Fob names new commissioner

by Fred Guarino

A Democrat will fill the unexpired term of Republican County

JOHN W. AMES

Commissioner Don R. Murphy.

John W. Ames was officially appointed to the post by Govern-nor Fob James Wednesday afternoon.

Murphy was elected in November to represent the people of Shelby County in the newly formed House District 49 of the state legislature.

Ames, age 45, is a 1961 graduate of Auburn University with a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering.

He is the co-founder and president of Hydromatics Incorporated, a company which is a distributor of industrial air compressors and pumps.

He is also president-elect of Riverchase Country Club.

The new county commissioner makes his home on High Gate

Hill between Valleydale Road and state 119 in north Shelby County.

When asked how he came to be a candidate for appointment to the post held by Murphy, Ames said:

"I had some thoughts about getting involved when the election went like it did, and I called the governor's office to find out the procedure of appointment.

"They told me to send a resume and some references. I'm sure they called the references.

"I went for an interview with Justin Salter, who told me that he thought they had the most qualified people on paper seeking appointment than ever before. I didn't think I'd get it then."

Ames said that Salter told him that he would make a comparative analysis of the candidates of appointment and send it to the governor.

Ames said he was really surprised to get the appointment.
"Most of the candidates were attorneys or people with political experience."

The new commissioner said he expects to be present for the next commission meeting.

Ames says he is in favor of some sort of courthouse branch office in the north end of the county where people can conduct routine business.

But he qualifies that statement by saying, "From the standpoint of the budget, I don't know. If funds are not available, we should explore the possibility of borrowing space from a municipality in the area."

Ames went on to say, "I think because of growth, Shelby County has some special problems. It is apparent that the population density differences create situations that do not require the same solutions all over the county. I followed the recent campaign. I think too many people pit one

Drug dealer roundup begins

Deputies and undercover agents are in the midst of rounding up 11 alleged drug dealers.

At press time, six arrests had been made. The other arrests were expected later this week,
Sheriff Buddy Glasgow said Tuesday.

The arrest warrants were issued in conjunction with the October 29 grand jury session, and culminated six to nine months of undercover investigations, Glasgow said.

The arrests were made Monday evening between 5:45 and 9:00.

Charged with violation of state drug laws are:

Michael Henry Brasher, 27, of Double Oak Mountain, two counts, $50,000 bond.

Carmen Lynne Brasher, 19, also of Double Oak Mountain, three counts, $70,000 bond.

Mike Davis, 27, Rt. 1, Helena, one count, $20,000 bond.

David Teer, 23, Rt. 3, Alabaster, one count, $35,000 bond.

John Carl Rooks, 32, Bolee Trailer Park, two counts, $70,000
bond.

Jeffery Scott Reynolds, 19, Rt.
1, Chelsea, one count, $35,000
bond.

According to sheriff's reports, the two Brashers and Davis have been previously arrested on drug related charges.

Carmen Brasher and Reynolds were both out on bond Tuesday evening.

Glasgow said that pending arrests involved two people from Marshall County who allegedly sold drugs to undercover agents at the small outdoor musical festival in South Calera over the July 4 weekend.

Two other pending arrests will be made in Jefferson County, and one will be made in Shelby County, Glasgow said.

"All these people were selling drugs," Glasgow said. "We either received information or complaints on them, then we opened investigations which eventually resulted in undercover buys."

The drug buys reportedly involved either marijuana, cocaine or quaaludes.

Making the arrests were UN-DO Sgt. Tom Barnes, chief investigator Reed Smith, Pelham
Lt. investigator Tommy Thomas, deputy Lt. Wayne Lucas, deputy Sgt. Tom Smitherman, investigator Richard Fox and deputy Larry Doss.

Pelham argues over zoning

by David F. Moore

There may or may not be any difference between a warehouse and a storage area. But either way, it apparently makes no difference to the Pelham City Council.

Jim Walter Homes, Inc. made a second effort Monday to persuade the Pelham Council to make the zoning change necessary for a model homes display complex that would include "office and storage space."

The facility is proposed for 2.4 acres of grassland at the foot of Oak Mountain Estates, fronting U.S. 31. It's zoned B-2 (general business) but because of the "storage" area, city zoning laws require a M-1 (manufacturing) classification.

Three weeks ago, partially swayed by a petition from area residents, the council denied the rezoning request.

Council members told a Jim

Walter representative at that meeting that they didn't want an open warehouse on the site.

Monday, district manager Wayne Hornsby told the council his company was eager to relocate in Pelham. He said the facility was more for offices and display than storage, and asked that it be considered as general business.

Hornsby also said the company made changes in the entrance road to help prevent any traffic or delivery problems to residents.
He also said deed restrictions could be imposed to help insure exactly what went on the land.

"I'd love to have you in Pelham," said Councilman John Tanner. "But I remain opposed to rezoning that parcel of land."

Tanner said even without the storage or warehouse area, he would not want the land to be rezoned to the necessary M-1 classification.

Mayor Burk Dunaway said there was a "no-man's land" gap in city zoning classifications that necessitated M-1 zoning for developments such as this.

To fill that gap, Dunaway said he would introduce a new classification to the planning and zoning board Wednesday.

Tanner said he still opposed rezoning the property from B-2, even to a newly created classification.

In other council action:
•The 85-pound state championship Pelham Panthers and coaches were recognized by the city.

The 15 players are the winningest team to come out of Pelham, and have not lost a game since October 1980.

•A 15-foot drainage easement was approved for King Valley Estates. Dunaway said that backhoe work could now begin on the problem ditch there.

Calera elects Farris

The City of Calera has a new council member.

Monday night, Calera businessman Larry Farris was elected by the council as its newest member. Farris received three votes, and the other two went to Arthur Davis, a former mayor.

The vote was a runoff between the two men who received two votes each from council members at the November 1 meeting.

Councilman W. B. Watts had wanted the city to call a general election so the citizens of Calera could vote on the council place.

However, Mayor Carl
Prichard pointed out that the city council was legally responsible for filling the council seat, left vacant when Bob Loftin resigned to take a position with an insurance company.

A motion to let the election be handled by the members of council passed with Councilmen Roy Hadaway, Jeff Pilgreen and Doug LeSueur voting in favor.
Watts expressed the only negative vote.

Arthur Davis received favorable ballots from Prichard and Pilgreen, and Farris received votes from Hadaway, LeSueur and Watts.

Hadaway moved that the election of Farris be made effective immediately and the measure was approved.

As Farris took his seat at the council table, City Clerk Lemoine Payton told him, "You need to get all of that mail out of 'your' box."

Farm-City Week

Columbiana forms board to oversee new museum

A new board was formed in the City of Columbiana Thursday evening to assist with the operation of a museum which houses Mount Vernon memorabilia.

Although everyone on the council agreed the Edmund Law Rogers Smith Harrison Museum would be a drawing card for the city, they were uncertain of where the money for its support was going to come from.

Pointing out that "there's not a cent in the budget for it," Finance Chairman Lewis Walker said the city could probably get a bank loan.

Karl Harrison, who was instrumental in securing the memorabilia for the city, presented a $14,534.34 budget for the operation of the museum at Thursday's council meeting.

He explained that the city could contribute to the museum, which is a private corporation, by passing an ordinance establishing a three member board.

The council unanimously approved the motion made by Councilman Harold McCord to establish the board. And Mayor Buck Falkner said that he would call a special meeting to discuss how much money the city would contribute and to decide where it would be obtained.

The museum is temporarily located in the conference room of the Shelby County Library. However, it cannot be housed there for longer than three years.

Items in the museum's budget include $6,000 for a curator, $1,800 for an administrator, $1,400 for utilities and another $1,400 for insurance, telephone and miscellaneous.

One time expenditures are: a movable wall, $980; draperies, $475; installation of a burglar alarm, $1,320.

Some welcome news regarding spending came from a representative of the Birmingham Regional Planning Commission who was present at the meeting.

Alan Creel reported that the BRPC would print, at no charge, the ordinances which they codified for the city.

The only charge, he noted, would be for the binder.

If a private firm had done the work, the cost would have over $1,000.

Fuel costs add to farm pinch

Albert McDonald says, "We've got to find a way to save fuel costs on the farm."

U.S. now beginning to play 'hard ball' in World Trade negotiations, to reduce the subsidies other nations give their farmers. He said "The only way we can get prices up is to control our production," but he did not elaborate on how we would carry out such a control project.

The newly elected state Commissioner of Agriculture made the statement at last week's Farm City Week Banquet, to a crowd at the 4-H Center near Columbiana.

McDonald stressed that the cost of gasoline and oil products has been one of the many factors hurting the farmer in recent years. He mentioned several experiments that are underway to substitute other types of energy for gasoline on the farm.

Calling agriculture, "the most important business we have in the state," he painted a gloomy picture of the farmer's status this year.

"We've had a good yield, but agriculture is not in any better shape this year than ever, because costs are higher than the value of production."

He called for additional price supports and government loans. "We could have another early 30's depression if it weren't for the programs already in place."

He noted he is glad to see the Calera gets housing grant

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has approved the City of Calera for 50 new low income housing units.

Brenace Birdsong, executive director of the Housing Authority, made the announcement during the regular Monday night session of Calera Council.

Birdsong appeared before the governing body to seek city support in providing utilities.

She told council members, "I am going to need cooperation from each of you."

She also reported that she would need letters from the city and various departments, promising that gas, water and sewer facilities would be extended to the location of the housing units.

Birdsong indicated that she would like to keep 34 of the units together on one tract of land.

She said she was currently looking at six acres of land owned by Bill Schroeder off Second Street near Southern Foundry.

The executive director said, "I'm still searching, contacting everyone who has property. But that (the Schroeder property) is the best."

However, she said she would look at any land from five and a half to six acres in size.

Also considered by Birdsong was land owned by Frank Alverson near Highway 20.

But she told the council that Alverson does not want to sell part of his land, and HUD will not approve a purchase that includes more land than is needed.

Calera resident Howard Hughes suggested that the executive director consider land owned by R. C. Hall close to the Alverson property.

Councilman Doug LeSueur agreed the Hall property would be closer to existing sewer lines and could be annexed into the city by petition.

Councilman Roy Hadaway said that he would be glad to find out how far sewer lines would have to run and get a cost estimate.

Birdsong pointed out that HUD would spend no money to extend utilities to site of construction.

Mayor Carl Prichard pointed out that the project shows how clearly a sewer system escalates the value of property.

Birdsong told council members that she has until the end of this month to provide a package of proposed sites to HUD.

When questioned about the package deadline, she told the Reporter optimistically, "We'll have it together by then."

No official action was taken by the council concerning the matter.

Alabaster bridge nears completion

"This will be a wonderful Christmas present for the city," declared Alabaster Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin as he announced the near completion of the bridge project on Hwy. 119.

Rubin told council members at Monday night's meeting that the highway should be open within two weeks.

Motorists, businesses in the vicinity and homeowners along the detour route have all anxiously awaited the completion of the work.

The $50,000 project, which provides a new bridge over John Allen Branch and the widening of the highway, was funded by the state.

A report on the city's second Christmas parade was not such a welcome piece of news. The parade was called off Saturday due to the rain.

Even though there will only be as third as many units when organizers give it a second try, parade chairman S.R. Peacock is determined the show will go on.

The new date is 11 a.m. this Saturday.

Because of the holiday season and the state of the economy, Councilman Glen Naish reported •Some discussion was held on the city's proposed fireworks ordinance. But at the request of Councilman Ray Hamilton, no action was taken.

•Councilman Ken Maynard recommended and received approval for three new park board members: Dan Davis, Melinda McCoy and Don Jones. Maynard acknowledged the good work done by the members they replace.

•Rob Trautwein was introduced as the newest member of the Pelham fire department. He spent three years with the Center Point department and is already a paramedic.

•Firemen answered 49 alarms in November, including 16 fire calls and 33 rescue runs. Four-hundred ninety class-hours were spent in training.

•Police answered 263 calls in November, including: 29 accidents, two deaths, one assault, one burglary, 31 thefts and one robbery. One-hundred ninety-nine municipal court cases were made including 174 traffic violations and 19 DUI's. Forty-one people were jailed.

•The library circulated 1,250 volumes, obtained 79 new publications, issued 25 new library cards, and had an average attendance of 31 children at story hour.

•A quarterly report from the alcohol center showed that 24 DUI's had been screened. Twelve of them were referred to AA, two referred for treatment, two completed the course, and 18 are still active.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly "Good Morning" column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

He came to Main with electric lights and paved sidewalks and running water. He was a barber and a good one and he cut my hair for years and years. He and Garvin Baker and Houston Bradley. One day last week Leon Dorrough sold his barbershop and retired. He's not only a good barber, he's a good man, maybe as good as has passed this way.

Roche Gould and his lovely wife stopped by for a little while one day last week. Roche is the oldest living Gould, a family that lived along Walksie Creek years ago. He talked about his daughters and how life was treating them, the way a fellow will talk about something close to his heart. Roche, the same as Skillet, is 39 and still holding.

They keep slipping away, one at a time, leaving their names behind: Morris Watson, Bruce Alverson, Hubert Reeves, Meadow Mooney, Vincent Gaydon. They had been my friends for years and now they were gone. I'm just glad our paths crossed.

At a time when No Trespassing and No Hunting signs are on almost every tree, there was always a place to hunt on his farm outside of town. Tonight, John Cates, is seriously ill at Shelby Medical Center. There are a lot of folks, including me, who'll say a little prayer for this man tonight.

I guess you could say they are two of my favorite folks, she and her husband, who live on the Shelby road just out of town. And because I'm sure you'll want to know: Francis Stinson is better at Shelby Medical Center.

She is past 90, the mother of 13, and has been married, she and her husband, for 74 years. Tonight she is seriously ill at Briarcliff Nursing Home. I'm sure she's a tired lady, maybe too tired, after so many years. But they're my friends, Sadie and Charlie Foster, and tonight, from the bottom of my heart, I'll ask him to take care of both of them.

Good news for Amy and Skillet Bird and a lot of other folks we know: George Foster tells us they'll have a singing this Sunday at Union Church the second Sunday night of this month, according to Bill Walton.

Calera FD elects heads

A new slate of officers will lead Calera's fire department this year.

During Monday night's regular meeting of city council, the following officers, elected November 18, received confirmation:

Assistant chiefs Terry Snow and Don Garrett; captains H. Shirey and B. Austin; lieutenants Charles Murphy and Ronnie Ellison; secretary treasurer Robert Thompson; and assistant secretary treasurer W.B. Watts.

In addition to the confirmation of fire department officers, council members heard a favorable report from fire chief James Miles concerning a recent Alabama Insurance Office inspection of the city.

Miles said that he felt the inspection went very well and stated he expected at least a one step improvement in the city's insurance rating.

Calera currently holds a rating of six.

However the fire chief reported that it will be at least three months before the official results are known.

Miles also put in a plug for future funding of his department. He told council members, "We've gotten every nickel's worth of service from our equipment. Our next rating reduction will have to come from the council with new equipment."

In other matters: Mayor Carl Prichard received verbal approval from the council to sign a mortgage on 46.8 acres of land to be added to Oliver Park.

The city purchased the land from Joseph Jeffers, Jr. and Eleanor Jeffers Nall.

Prichard said, "The terms allow us to insure the city will have land for many years to come and one of the best park programs in Alabama for a city our size."

A license tax ordinance was passed by council members increasing the license fees for video games from $20 to $25, increasing the fees for wholesale beer licenses from $200 to $250, dropping the fees for off premises beer licenses from $75 to $50, excluding beer sales from the gross receipts of merchants, and establishing a demolition permit fee of five dollars per structure.

Maintenance supervisor David Jones was granted approval to purchase $1,125 worth of tools from Southeastern Tools of South Carolina.

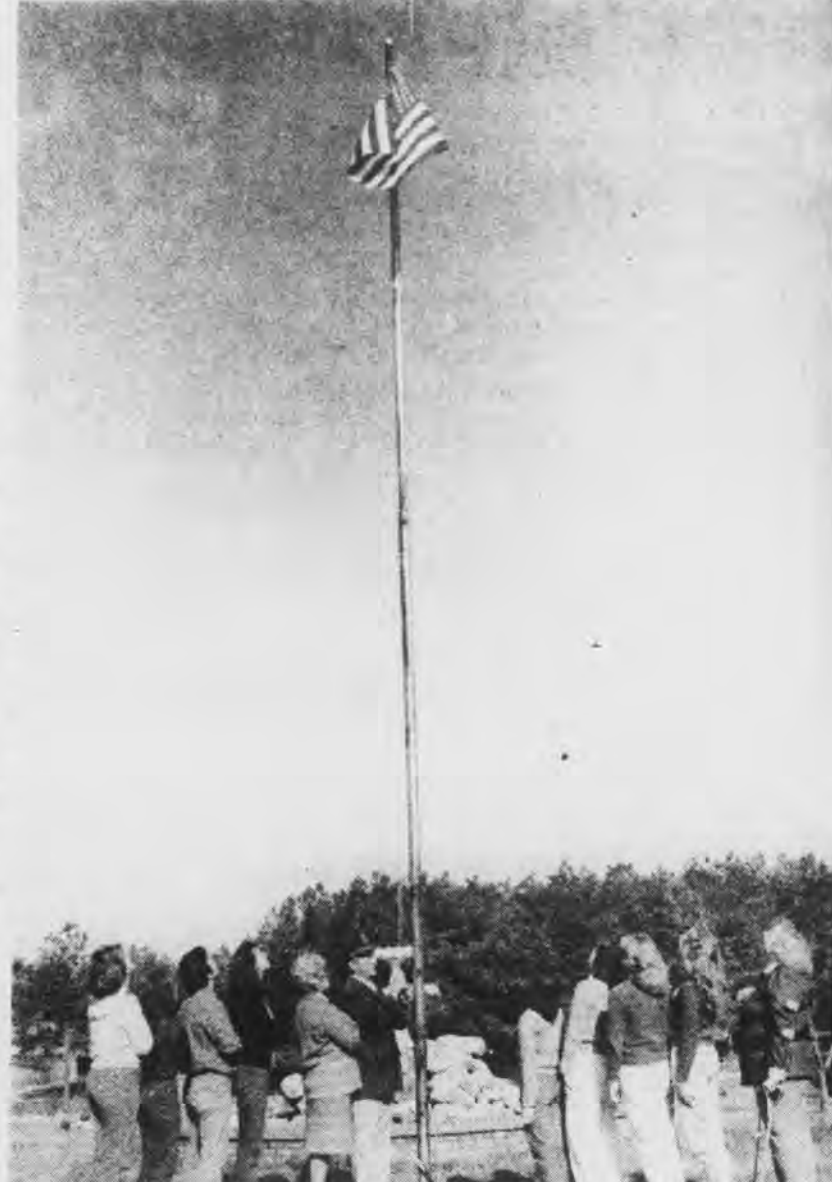

The new tools include two 2½ ton floor jacks, one 60,000 pound press, a cherry picker hoist, and a six inch vice.

Jones was also given permission to purchase $640 worth of gravel to work on a road in the newly annexed section of town.

The council voted to reimburse the water board $1,554 for the relocation of a two inch water line on Pilgreen Drive.

Lamont Franklin was approved $360 for her services as coordinator of the Calera Community Education program. The council also agreed to support the program up to the $1,000 set up for that purpose in the city's budget.

Police chief Harry Deal reported that 81 misdemeanor arrests were made and six felony arrests were made during the month of November and one road tractor recovered.

Better late...

There was no flag flying on Veterans Day in honor of the soldiers buried at Pine Lawn in Columbiana. However, in response to a Reporter editorial on behalf of Dean Weldon from Wilsonville, three flags were eventually made available to honor national holidays at the cemetery. The Shelby County High School Junior Civitans were the first group to respond, and Monday a flag that once flew over the U.S. Capitol was raised into the blue morning sky. Present were, from left: Fran Niven, Tricia Jones, Jason Head, Stacy Alverson, Mrs. Weldon, retired Capt. Ross Bryan, Melanie Morris, Cheryl Covington, Rhonda Smith, Shelia Rasco and club sponsor Dell Moody. (Photo by David F. Moore)

Scrambled Eggs

By Bert Seaman

I guess everyone knows this past weekend was a really big one. And due to a shortage of competent help, I was pressed into service.

Need I tell you readers that a football game for the state championship was being played?

I thought I'd ended my stint on the gridiron for the season when the last regular game was played.

However, one staff member who would normally have gone, claimed to have a prior engagement he could not get out of short of getting a divorce.

So there I was - my back to the wall.

"Get there early," were the final words I heard from the reporter-photographer who was going to be directing our frenetic activities for the evening.

Well, to me, 7 p.m. was pretty early for getting to a game.

During the regular season, I thought I was doing well to arrive at 8:45 for a 7:30 game.

But when I came rolling up at 7 p.m. feeling smug about my early arrival, I had a rude awakening.

There was not a parking space to be seen as far as the eye could see. And I found there was no place to dispose of one's car even further than the eye could see.

And I had been instructed to interview a random sampling of the crowd before the game began.

"Please, please, please," I implored a policeman standing at the gate, telling motorists there wasn't any place to park, "just squeeze me in somewhere!"

He claimed he would if he could - but he insisted there wasn't a space left.

So on down the road I went. And on and on and on.

Finally I came to the last car parked on the shoulder and I pulled in ahead of it.

As I trotted down the road, trying to fit between the parked cars and the ones coming in both directions, I thought about the hole in the paper where my interview story would have gone.

Before I was anywhere near the stadium, I heard the announcer making remarks signaling the beginning of the game.

And I still had the task of getting through the gate without a ticket.

"Just bring some identification," fellow reporter had told me. So I'd stuck my press card and driver's license in my pocket.

But as it turned out, I had no need of them. My entry, in fact, was as easy as pie.

Just as I arrived, the out of town football team was ambling through the gate. And I just fell in line.

So I did get there in time for the kick off, and except for going around the fence a time or two to get some crowd shots, I romped up and down the field for the entire game.

And guess what? I even got my interviews.

During the half time hubbub, I managed to collar a few folks and shouted some questions in their ears. They screamed back an answer, and in my mind's eye, I saw the hole in the paper fill up.

After all the shouting and the tumult died at game's end, I wearily hiked back to my car, thankful that this really was the last game.

The rain may have been responsible for the large number of defendants who didn't put in an appearance at Alabaster's municipal court Wednesday.

There were 22 no shows on the docket.

One of the absentees had good reason for not being present. Geraldine Powell has been confined to the Shelby County jail where she will spend the next 15 years. Judge Joel Watson decreed that the 18 days she was to serve for the city on a NWN (bad check) charge, could run concurrent with the county time.

Pleading guilty to two of the five charges against him, David Hoxit paid a total of $641 in fines. He entered guilty pleas to DUI and resisting arrest. The city dismissed charges of reckless driving, and two counts of driving while suspended.

Randy Wayne Cox was fined $119 for reckless driving and ordered to attend defensive driving school. James Edward Lee also pleaded guilty to that charge and was sentenced to work 13 days for the city.

Nathaniel White was fined $319 for DUI and $49 for no drivers license. He was also ordered to attend DUI school. Others pleading guilty to a DUI charge and paying the fine were Randall Neal Thompson, Mack Pruitt and Thomas Anderson Posey. An expired tag charge against Posey was dismissed.

Nancy McGee Chappell, Ronnie Dale Hicks, Lorenzo Ramsey were fined $79 for failure to stop for a school bus. Joseph Edwin Wharton was fined $24 on that charge.

Alexander Ulius, Roy Lee Christian paid fines of $82 for public intoxication; Jimmy Ray Green was fined $97 for disorderly conduct.

Guicy Wesley Horne paid a $44 fine for switched tag and another $29 fine for failure to stop at a stop sign. Lisa Darlene Burnett was fined $172 for possession of marijuana.

An expired tag charge was dismissed against Pamela Massey Walters; Betty Yearber was found not guilty of harassing communications.

Cases were continued on Robert Lee Burnett, Thomas H. Fortenberry, Alonzo Dandree Griffin, George Washington Payton, Billy Wayne Poe

Deputies get hunting complaints

Four thefts and two burglaries were listed on the sheriff's department daily blotter report for the week ending December 2.

Four hunting complaints were also listed, including the shooting of several dogs. Two arrests were made for illegal hunting (see arrest listings).

Saddles and bridles were reported stolen in the November 28 burglary of a riding stable on Cahaba Valley Road. Guns were reported stolen from a Columbiana residence during a November 30 burglary.

The thefts included: two wire wheel covers taken from a car parked at Camp Branch Methodist Church; timber illegally cut from a Birmingham man's property in Chelsea; a utility trailer taken from a car that was broken down on Cahaba Valley Road near Old Mill Trace; and $8 worth of gas taken from Pickett Grocery in Maylene.

A member of Spring Creek Hunting Club reported that a man shot several of the club's dogs. A warrant may be forthcoming in the case.

A Sterrett man reported that someone spotlighting, came on his property and shot his dog.

Complaints of hunting too close to houses and roads were filed by residents in Dogwood and Montevallo.

Arson was listed as the cause of a fire in an empty house in Maylene. However, the only damage was to a couch.

The Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

Both Gov.-elect George Wallace and Emory Folmar, his Republican challenger, have confirmed they spent approximately $2 million during the 1982 elections.

As expensive as this might seem, the '82 election was not nearly so costly as the governor's race four years ago in which the combined expenditures of Fob James, Albert Brewer, Bill Baxley and Jere Beasley has been estimated at close to $10 million.

Wallace's financial disclosure form indicated he came out of the battle in reasonably good financial shape. He raised $2.2 million and spent $1,913,000. Folmar was not quite so fortunate. He raised $2 million and spent $2,028,000. Included in Folmar's funds were very sizable loans from four wealthy Montgomerians. He was loaned $50,000 by Winton (Red) Blount; $100,000 each from industrialist Ben Collier and Folmar's brother, Jimmy; and a whopping $537,500 from Jim Wilson, a Montgomery shopping center developer.

On their list of contributions, Wallace reported he received $25,000 from the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, while Folmar's largest single contribution was $40,000 from the Republican National Committee.

One of the eye-catching expense items on the Folmar disclosure was $19,000 paid to Opp pollster Ray Evans, who became the major issue in both the primary and general elections.

The 1982 Legislature passed a law requiring that children under three years of age not ride in motor vehicles unless they were riding in a safety seat. A recent statewide survey by the Department of Public Health turned up the distressing report that only 11 percent of the parents are complying with the law...

Make of this what you will--a major "Wallace Appreciation Dinner" is scheduled soon in North Alabama for George Wallace. George Wallace Jr., that is, not the father. Could this be an early kick-off of the younger Wallace's own political career? Don't bet against it, or, to put it another way, it wouldn't be a bad investment to buy some stock in young Wallace's political future, if the stock were available.

Principal says thanks

Champions support Thompson

An Open Letter to Thompson Football Fans:

The students, teachers, administration, and especially the football team from Thompson High School are gratified and humbled at the support our football program received during this football season and especially during the Playoff games.

This support was demonstrated to an even larger degree during the championship game last Friday night. That football is a community sport was demonstrated by the involvement of so many individuals during this past season.

This support was not limited to just Alabaster and the Thompson community supporters, but it is good to see that as strong as county and area rivalry is on the field, that when our team had this ultimate opportunity for success we were joined in this effort by other schools and other communities who had been rivals on the field.

It is impossible to thank everyone who played an individual part in our winning the state championship, but we would like to point out a few very special groups: the Thompson Athletic Booster Club, the Thompson Band Booster Club, the City of Alabaster, the Shelby County Sheriff's Department, WQMS Radio Station, the Shelby County Reporter, our magnificent band, our award-winning cheerleaders, and especially our championship-caliber young men of the football team.

Welders certified

David Cupp, Montevallo, and Dan Anderson of Calera, received certified welding status from their instructor, Othar Denard, at the Area Vocational Center in Columbiana recently.

The senior welding students, passed the American Testing Lab certification November 15.

Denard says, "Most students are not tested for certification until after graduation. However, occasionally there are some who are ready for the test early, during the second year of welding. Certification is a big help for welding students when applying for jobs."

Toys for Tots donations top $9,000

Contributions now top $9,000 in the Shelby County Fraternal Order of Police Toys for Tots Campaign. This year's campaign was boasted by a shootout at the FOP Lodge in Camp Branch, where over 30 members competed in a pistol tournament.

This year's total more than doubles last year's total output with two weeks still left in the campaign. According to tournament organizer Tom Carter, next year's tournament is already in the planning stage with sights on the $10,000 mark.

Anyone interested in donating toys or money can contact Wayne Holcombe at the Alabaster Police Department or any law officer in Shelby County.

Winners in the pistol tournament were: in the Open A Division Mike Shaw captured first place with a round of 586, Frank Formby second place with 585 and Tom Carter third with a 582. In the Police A Division Formby walked away with the first place trophy with a 588. Jimmy Walters finished second with a 585 and Carter third shooting a 579. In team competition in the A Division Formby, Shaw and Larry Doss won top honors with a combined score of 1738. Billy Thomas, Phillip Walker and Buddy Wilkerson took first place in the B Division with a 1509.

County courthouse and museum opens Sunday as historic site

On Sunday afternoon, December 12 from 2-4 p.m., a goal will be reached that history buffs have wanted for years.

After years of dedicated work on the part of many people in the Shelby County Historical Society, the old Shelby County Courthouse and Museum will open at that time, according to Ken Penhale, society president.

Two rooms have been restored and will be furnished with displays for the event.

A historical marker outside the building will be unveiled and refreshments will be served.

The public is invited to attend this event.

4-H Center serves entire state

The State 4-H Center served 1,500 young people from 37 counties during the past summer.

The figure comes from Terrell Guthrie, manager of the center, which is located on the Coosa River east of Columbiana.

Guthrie estimates that the total number of adults and young people served by the center will reach 6,000 for the entire year of 1982.

The center has one dormitory which houses 56 persons, and Guthrie calls that a "limiting factor." However, plans are almost complete to break ground for a second dormitory, he said last week.

The center has a variety of sports activities, as well as access to the river and woods for groups of all kinds to enjoy. With complete dining facilities, the center has attracted attention throughout the state.

Groups that plan an overnight stay usually schedule them for weekends. The center charges $21.50 for an overnight stay with three meals, per person.

Calera council gets in hassle over water board pay cut action

Calera Councilman W.B. Watts went to bat for a water department employee who suffered a cut in pay, Monday night.

Although Watts eventually voted along with the council to turn the case of Jimmy Peters over to the water board, he brought the matter to the attention of the city's governing body.

Peters' pay reportedly fluctuated from $5.95 per hour to $6.30 and down to $5.70.

Watts brought the issue to light saying, "I invited Jimmy Peters to come. He has been with the town ten years. I can't understand why this man was cut in wages."

"I don't see cutting a man who gets out in all hours and all kinds of weather."

Mayor Carl Prichard said, "In no way do we like to make changes in a man's livelihood." But he said firmly, "This is the water board's prerogative. He is assigned to the water board. In no way do we want to hurt anyone, but this was a management decision that had to be made."

Councilman Roy Hadaway asked J.C. Rowe, chairman of the water board, if the water board approved the wage cutting action. He said, "If so, it is not an issue of this council."

Watts urged that in the ten years Peters has served Calera that he has worked for all departments.

Prichard entertained a motion that the council vote to determine whether or not to continue a discussion of the matter.

Hadaway moved that the issue

be turned over to the water board and Councilman Doug LeSueur seconded it.

But the issue did not die as Watts kept the discussion going before a vote could be taken on the motion.

Peters spoke up for himself saying, "I'm not running the backhoe until something comes to an agreement."

Prichard asked that the statement be made part of the city's record.

Watts asked that the fact Peters is not receiving operator's pay also be included in the record.

Rowe agreed that the matter would be taken under consideration by his board.

The measure to turn the issue over to the water board then passed with a unanimous vote of all council members.

A Christmas tradition will be continued in Helena this holiday season.

Saturday, Dec. 18, the twelfth annual Helena Christmas Parade will get underway at 3 p.m.

According to chairman Linda

Wolfe, the parade will begin at Joe Tucker Park and will continue past Main Street to the school on Second Avenue.

She stated that a reviewing stand will be set up in front of the Baptist Church.

Participants scheduled for the 35 minute parade are:

The Pelham High School Band, a combination of three Birmingham area bands (Patterson, Calloway and Moore), the Shelby Academy Band, the Shelby County YMCA Band;

Tammy's Twirlers, Santa Claus in a replica of an old Mercedes Benz, Riverchase cheerleaders, Helena Cub Scouts; The Fox Haven Ladies Club who will feature a "walking float", miniature floats so that children can participate, the Shelby County Sheriff's Department;

The Riverchase drill team, Riverchase majorettes, the Riverchase queen and her court, the Thompson High School homecoming queen, the Pelham High School homecoming queen, Miss Thompson High School, Miss Pelham High School and other beauty queens.

Participants will gather at Joe Tucker Park between 2:15 and 2:30 p.m. and the parade will begin promptly at 3 p.m.

Wolfe said that the annual event is sponsored by the Town of Helena to foster community spirit and to give children something to look forward to.

Girls to get softball field

Teenage girls in Columbiana will be able to play in a softball league this year because the city has promised help with a new field.

A shortage of fields in the city was going to eliminate the older girls from the program. So Bill Dobbins and other parents interested in the program have been working to get a new field.

Dobbins reported their progress at Thursday's Council meeting, saying that most of the material and labor is being donated.

But he asked the council for help with $5,000 worth of fencing around the area which is between the Girl Scout Hut and the tennis courts.

"If we can find money for the museum, I think we can come up with money for a softball field," declared Councilwoman Jessie Jones.

Finance Chairman Lewis Walker also agreed that the funding should be provided.

According to his schedule, Dobbins said that grading will be done between now and Dec. 15. The next step, he noted, would be to start work on the lighting.

If everything goes according to plan, the field should be ready by Feb. 1 Dobbins said.

He mentioned that the side of the Girl Scout hut facing the field would be remodeled for a concession stand with a pressbox to be built above.

Reminding the council that the league would benefit the city in the long run, Dobbins said that the group would apply for all the games and tournaments for which they are eligible.

Lawyers elect new officers

Jim Pino is the new president of the Shelby County Bar Association.

A new slate of officers was elected Monday when attorneys held their monthly meeting at the Shelby County courthouse.

Other officers elected were:

Bob Williams, vice-president; Joel Watson, secretary; Bill Justice, treasurer.

The next event on the bar association calendar is a Christmas social.

It will be held next Tuesday at Inverness Country Club.

He added, "When needs exceed services, it requires a business approach, which is why I was appointed."

The new commissioner said that he would update himself on the actions taken by the commission, "I'm planning on trying to obtain minutes for 1982, the revenue and budget and get all that before the next meeting..."

New dates set for registration

The county YMCA youth basketball scout night will hold another registration period on January 3 and 4.

On the 3rd, youths aged 6, 7, and 8 may register. On the 4th, youths from the age of 9 through 14 may register. The program will be held at Riverchase Middle School. League play will begin the following week.

Calera council gets in hassle over water board pay cut action

Calera Councilman W.B. Watts went to bat for a water department employee who suffered a cut in pay, Monday night.

Although Watts eventually voted along with the council to turn the case of Jimmy Peters over to the water board, he brought the matter to the attention of the city's governing body.

Peters' pay reportedly fluctuated from $5.95 per hour to $6.30 and down to $5.70.

Watts brought the issue to light saying, "I invited Jimmy Peters to come. He has been with the town ten years. I can't understand why this man was cut in wages."

"I don't see cutting a man who gets out in all hours and all kinds of weather."

Mayor Carl Prichard said, "In no way do we like to make changes in a man's livelihood." But he said firmly, "This is the water board's prerogative. He is assigned to the water board. In no way do we want to hurt anyone, but this was a management decision that had to be made."

Councilman Roy Hadaway asked J.C. Rowe, chairman of the water board, if the water board approved the wage cutting action. He said, "If so, it is not an issue of this council."

Watts urged that in the ten years Peters has served Calera that he has worked for all departments.

Prichard entertained a motion that the council vote to determine whether or not to continue a discussion of the matter.

Hadaway moved that the issue

be turned over to the water board and Councilman Doug LeSueur seconded it.

But the issue did not die as Watts kept the discussion going before a vote could be taken on the motion.

Peters spoke up for himself saying, "I'm not running the backhoe until something comes to an agreement."

Prichard asked that the statement be made part of the city's record.

Watts asked that the fact Peters is not receiving operator's pay also be included in the record.

Rowe agreed that the matter would be taken under consideration by his board.

The measure to turn the issue over to the water board then passed with a unanimous vote of all council members.

Helena gears up for 12th annual parade

A Christmas tradition will be continued in Helena this holiday season.

Saturday, Dec. 18, the twelfth annual Helena Christmas Parade will get underway at 3 p.m.

According to chairman Linda

Wolfe, the parade will begin at Joe Tucker Park and will continue past Main Street to the school on Second Avenue.

She stated that a reviewing stand will be set up in front of the Baptist Church.

Participants scheduled for the 35 minute parade are:

The Pelham High School Band, a combination of three Birmingham area bands (Patterson, Calloway and Moore), the Shelby Academy Band, the Shelby County YMCA Band;

Tammy's Twirlers, Santa Claus in a replica of an old Mercedes Benz, Riverchase cheerleaders, Helena Cub Scouts; The Fox Haven Ladies Club who will feature a "walking float", miniature floats so that children can participate, the Shelby County Sheriff's Department;

The Riverchase drill team, Riverchase majorettes, the Riverchase queen and her court, the Thompson High School homecoming queen, the Pelham High School homecoming queen, Miss Thompson High School, Miss Pelham High School and other beauty queens.

Participants will gather at Joe Tucker Park between 2:15 and 2:30 p.m. and the parade will begin promptly at 3 p.m.

Wolfe said that the annual event is sponsored by the Town of Helena to foster community spirit and to give children something to look forward to.

Girls to get softball field

Teenage girls in Columbiana will be able to play in a softball league this year because the city has promised help with a new field.

A shortage of fields in the city was going to eliminate the older girls from the program. So Bill Dobbins and other parents interested in the program have been working to get a new field.

Dobbins reported their progress at Thursday's Council meeting, saying that most of the material and labor is being donated.

But he asked the council for help with $5,000 worth of fencing around the area which is between the Girl Scout Hut and the tennis courts.

"If we can find money for the museum, I think we can come up with money for a softball field," declared Councilwoman Jessie Jones.

Finance Chairman Lewis Walker also agreed that the funding should be provided.

According to his schedule, Dobbins said that grading will be done between now and Dec. 15. The next step, he noted, would be to start work on the lighting.

If everything goes according to plan, the field should be ready by Feb. 1 Dobbins said.

He mentioned that the side of the Girl Scout hut facing the field would be remodeled for a concession stand with a pressbox to be built above.

Reminding the council that the league would benefit the city in the long run, Dobbins said that the group would apply for all the games and tournaments for which they are eligible.

Lawyers elect new officers

Jim Pino is the new president of the Shelby County Bar Association.

A new slate of officers was elected Monday when attorneys held their monthly meeting at the Shelby County courthouse.

Other officers elected were:

Bob Williams, vice-president; Joel Watson, secretary; Bill Justice, treasurer.

The next event on the bar association calendar is a Christmas social.

It will be held next Tuesday at Inverness Country Club.

He added, "When needs exceed services, it requires a business approach, which is why I was appointed."

The new commissioner said that he would update himself on the actions taken by the commission, "I'm planning on trying to obtain minutes for 1982, the revenue and budget and get all that before the next meeting..."

New dates set for registration

The county YMCA youth basketball scout night will hold another registration period on January 3 and 4.

On the 3rd, youths aged 6, 7, and 8 may register. On the 4th, youths from the age of 9 through 14 may register. The program will be held at Riverchase Middle School. League play will begin the following week.

New Eagle

Roy Pickett shows his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pickett, his Scout record which led up to the Eagle award he received Monday. Pickett is a member of Alabaster troop 548.

THS student receives Eagle scout award

"He's been a real asset to our troop," declared Alabaster Scoutmaster Danny Goggins, speaking about the latest Eagle award recipient from his troop.

Now an assistant scoutmaster in troop 548, 18 year old Roy Pickett was presented Scouting's highest award at a ceremony Monday evening.

Pittman Wingo, a member of the council's advancement committee, made the presentation.

A six year member of the troop, Pickett belongs to the Order of the Arrow and has earned the Historical Trail award for clearing a trail at Brierfield Ironworks Park.

His Eagle Scout project was also done at the park where he supervised 12 members of his troop in clearing out a reservoir. Although he's been on most of the campouts, hikes and canoe trips the troop has taken, Pickett still vividly remembers his first camping experience.

"It was in 1976 at Camp Chickamauga in Tennessee," he recounted, "where it was so cold I kept leaning over the dishwater to keep warm."

At Thompson High School, where he's a senior, Pickett is a member of the National Honor Society and has played the tuba in the marching band for the past four years.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pickett.

Two roads see improvements

Two highway projects in Shelby County will be among several up for contractors' bids on December 17.

Sealed bids for the projects will be opened at 10 a.m. in Montgomery.

One county project involves the grading and drainage of U.S. 280 southeast of Harpersville to near the Coosa River. The 4.09 mile project is to be completed in 360 calendar days.

The other is for widening and resurfacing Alabama 70 and Alabama 25 in Columbiana, and on Alabama 25 from Columbiana to county road 61 in Wilsonville. The 9.83 mile project has a completion period of 30 working days.

The projects will be financed from proceeds of bonds sold following Alabama's receipt of a $449 million oil and gas lease windfall.

Keller named director of APA

Bill Keller has been named executive director of the Alabama Press Association (APA), according to an announcement by Don Woodard, APA president.

Keller, who currently serves as director of information services for the University of Montevallo, will assume the APA post January 3.

Keller joined the University of Montevallo in February, 1977. He previously worked as reporter for The Tuscaloosa News and managing editor of The Sand Mountain Reporter in Albertville.

He and his wife, the former Jeanetta Corbett, of Montevallo, will move to Tuscaloosa as soon as they can make housing arrangements.

North Shelby homes featured on tour

Mary Ellen and James Estes say their three level home atop Good Hope Mountain is a rustic Swiss design.

The home on High Gate Hill done over by Julie and Marvin Narz when they moved in, is ultra contemporary with Oriental accents.

Both of those homes and another contemporary home off New Hope Mt. Rd. are on the Holiday Home tour being sponsored by the Indian Springs Civic Club this weekend.

The home of Norman and Shirley Cousins is decorated to resemble a Christmas cottage complete with a Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus seated beside the hearth.

All of the north Shelby County homes are within a two mile radius and should provide decorating inspiration to all who go through them during the three day event.

On Friday the three homes will be open from 10-2 and on Saturday and Sunday the hours are 1-4.

Signs will be up to direct visitors to the three locations. For ticket information, call 987-8624.

Trimming the box

James and Mary Ellen Estes and their daughter Julie decorate the mail box at their home on Good Hope Mountain in preparation for the Holiday Homes tour being sponsored by the Indian Springs Civic Club.

Criminal impersonation tops Montevallo municipal court

Terry Worthey was ordered to pay fines on three charges when he appeared before Judge Eason Mitchell in Montevallo's municipal court Wednesday.

Found guilty on the charge of criminal impersonation for using his brother's drivers license, Worthey was fined $227.50, and received a 180 day suspended sentence provided he pay all costs and fines within 30 days.

The judge further placed the defendant on probation for a year and also ordered that he not drive for that period of time.

A fine of $67.50 was levied for no drivers license and the defendant was fined $37.50 for having an expired tag.

Andrew Anthony Cathey gave notice that he would appeal a guilty verdict on a criminal trespass charge. He was fined $37.50, given probation on a 180 day jail sentence, ordered to pay all fines and fees within 30 days and to stay off University of Montevallo property.

A DUI charge against Mark Lee McDowell was dismissed at the request of the arresting officer. But the defendant pled guilty to running a red light and was fined $227.50. A 15 day jail sentence was suspended provided he pay all fines and fees within 14 days. McDowell was also ordered to take the defensive driving course and attend the DUI counterattack program.

Jerry Joe Gordon was fined $37.50 for running a red light; Ollie Dee Stone was fined $327.50 for DUI and ordered to attend DUI school.

Shelia Darlene Wallace and Joseph Whitfield Blake were only charged $27.50 court costs. Wallace had been charged with no drivers license; Whitfield's charge was speeding.

Alvin Swift paid $37.50 for having an expired tag. The case of having a switched tag, was dismissed against David Lester Barnes.

Teresa Langston and Rickie Lee Richey were fined $47.50 for NWN and ordered to make restitution.

Oscar Leon Peoples Sr. was sentenced to 30 days in jail for DUI with the time he's already served being credited.

Alias warrants were issued for: Robert B. Stamps, David Wayne Johnson, Dereck Stewart, Edwin Doyle Miller, Patricia Kay Woodley.

The City of Wilsonville holds its council meetings on the second and fourth Mondays of each month at 6 p.m. Last week the Reporter had an error, giving the incorrect days of the month.

Doggie Christmas

Dorothy Abele, Lynne Edgemon and Ed Felton, hold puppies whose names may be put on the Christmas tree at the Humane Society next year if they're adopted. The money raising project is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary.

Humane Society Xmas tree decorated with pet names

The white tags hanging on the Christmas tree outside the Shelby County Humane Society bear the names Cricket, Hamlet, Suzy Wong and Big Foot.

There are a lot of other names, too, written in red on the tags which decorate the tree along with ceramic ornaments.

Maybe Fido and Tabby will get a stocking filled with animal goodies from their owners, but they're also being remembered at Christmas this year with a donation to the Humane Society.

The project was initiated by the Womens' Auxiliary which was organized in September.

Pet owners are donating $2 to have the names of their pets, both living and dead, put on the tree.

One of the tags bears the inscription, In memory of a brown dog. Another tag says simply, a hamster.

Dorothy Abele is president of the auxiliary which now has 35 members.

Other officers are: Connie Felton, secretary; Lynne Edgemon, treasurer.

Westover firemen elect officers

The Westover Fire Department is holding a public election Dec. 16 at Union United Methodist Church.

The meeting to elect fire department officers and members of the board of directors will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A slate submitted by the nominating committee includes the following WFD officers:

Robert A. Wanninger, chief; Perry Willingham, assistant chief of support services; Steel Hodges, assistant chief, administration.

Flynn Gerald has been nominated for training officer; Pete Patmalnee, lieutenant for Co. A; Sammy Arledge, for Co. B; Marge Patmalnee, rescue unit lieutenant; Steve Bentley, head of the disaster assistance team.

J. Claude Smith was nominated to be chairman of the board of directors; Gene Ihas, treasurer; Bryce Collins, secretary.

The following were nominated as board members: Bruce Jones, W.B. Suggs, Steve Bentley, Sammy Arledge, Ed Galloway, George Egler, Steele Hodges.

Low income, families of disabled aided by Red Cross, Alabama Power

The Shelby County Red Cross and Alabama Power are joining forces to help counter engery costs to the disabled and to lower income individuals.

Signup for SHARE (Service to Help Alabamians with Relief on Energy) begins Wednesday, December 15, at the Red Cross chapter house in Alabaster.

Red Cross is doing the paper work on the project, APCO is cranking it off with $50,000 (the contribution, APCO says, will not be passed on to power consumers), and power employees are donating $1 per monthly paycheck. Power customers will also be asked to make donations with their monthly payments.

Verified SHARE recipients will be eligible for one monthly payment each summer and winter. The following household categories are eligible: 62 or older on fixed incomes; permanently or temporarily disabled or handicapped so sufficient family income can't be earned; medical verification of health hazards aggravated or caused by heating/cooling deficiencies; insufficient family or community resources to meet heating/cooling needs.

For more information, call the Red Cross at 663-4290.

United Way raises $9.6 million; local drive falls short of goal

Shelby County fell $50,000 short of its share of the United Way Drive. But overall, the 1982 Jefferson-Shelby-Walker County drive raised $631,000 over its $9 million goal.

According to Shelby chairman Carl Grimes, the local drive was hampered by the power company strike which affected the Gaston Steam Plant in Wilsonville, and the general economy.

Nonetheless, Grimes said some firms actually showed an excellent increase in donations.

Moore Handley employees, for example, increased their contributions 33% over 1981, while Specification Rubber showed a 20% increase.

Abex Corporation, despite a loss of 100 employees and reduction of the work week, managed to give the same they gave last year, Grimes said.

The chairman said contributions would continue to be sought and he anticipated reaching the $275,000 goal by mid-December.

The United Way helps fund 48 various service organizations in the three-county area.

Family at Girls Ranch invites local visitors

A Harpersville family showed off their home to the public Sunday.

Gay Nell Cook, one of Mom and Pop White's eight girls, gave her Vincent school teacher Sammy Arledge and his family a guided tour of the 12 room house.

The Arledges were among the hundred or so visitors who stopped by the home where Terry and Debbie White look after girls who are unable to live with their own families.

Girls who make up the ranch family, moved into the facility operated by the Alabama Sheriff's Association, a year and a half ago.

The Harpersville ranch is one of the six facilities in the state supported by the Sheriff's Association.

Tony Birchfield, Director of Boys Ranch Central, related that all of the facilities hold open house in December to make the public aware of the ranches and to let them visit with the boys and girls who live there.

It costs approximately $7,000 a year to maintain a youngster in a ranch home, Birchfield reported. The annual operating expense for each home, he added, runs between $65,000 and $70,000.

Visitors from several counties were present at the Harpersville event Sunday. Members of the Xi Alpha Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi from Gadsden furnished punch and served as hostesses at the refreshment table.

Mrs. White said that women from several local churches provided the cakes and cookies for the Christmas festivity.

"But I do the cooking for the gathering we have here every third Tuesday," White said.

She and her husband Terry have initiated the monthly luncheons to get as many people as possible interested in the ranch and involved with the activities.

"We invite anyone within a 50 mile radius to drop in any third Tuesday at noon and have lunch with us," White remarked.

Warm weather or not seniors feel Christmas

With the temperature hovering near 70 Saturday, the weather didn't give away the fact that Christmas is only three weeks away.

But the sound of caroling in the hallways reminded residents of Briarcliff Nursing Home of the approaching yuletide season.

Making their annual Christmas visit to Briarcliff, members of the Montevallo Evening Garden Club brought along music, decorations to trim a tree and a bountiful supply of homemade cookies.

"We look forward to doing this every year," remarked garden club member Lauris Stewart, who told the Reporter that the club has paid a Christmas visit to the nursing home since it opened.

"As early as September," she noted, "the folks here start asking if we're coming again this year."

Since illness had confined a number of the residents to their rooms this time, carolers sang up and down the hallways before presenting their program in the dining hall.

The carolers were University of Montevallo students in Dr. John Stewart's conducting class.

As garden clubbers began putting ornaments on the artificial tree they've purchased for the home, they were joined by residents Ruth Hughes, a former school teacher from Columbiana and Evelyn Folmar from Cahaba Heights.

This year's slate of officers for the evening garden club are: Pat Byrd, president; Sara Cairns, vice-president; Martha Connell, treasurer; Charlotte Foley, secretary.

Firemen lead Explorer post

Being a secondary fireman in Montevallo has its rewards.

Besides lending assistance at fires, members of the group also visit other fire departments. And, one of those departments is located at Disney World.

The secondary unit of Montevallo's fire department is an Explorer Scout post which is open to both boys and girls.

There are now several openings in the post which can take 12 members. Anyone who is age 14 through their senior year in high school may apply.

Secondary firemen are under the supervision of MFD regulars Lt. Ray Argo, Greg Winslett and Chief Mike Mahan.

The post meets twice a month on Sunday afternoon at the Montevallo fire station.

For further information call Mahan during the day at 665-1214, and in the evening, Argo can be reached at 665-1555.

What Does Jesus Teach About - Acceptance?

Acts 10:34-35 "Peter opened his mouth, and said, of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is acceptable to him."

To reduce the thought, may it be said; reverential fear plus working righteousness equals acceptance to God.

Peter's statement is of course general in nature, however, he mentions 3 specific thoughts: fearing God, working righteousness, and then being acceptable to God.

Lord willing we will examine these one at a time.

Let's all prepare ourselves. I Pet. 4:17.

Homemakers dine on French cuisine

Coq au vin, navets au jus, and ratatouille were some of the items appearing on the luncheon menu at Pelham United Methodist Church Thursday.

The event was an international

Food stamp fraud

Faye S. Baggiano, state Pensions and Security commissioner, today encouraged people to call the state's welfare fraud hotline if they see evidence of abuse in the food stamp program.

The hotline -- 1-800-392-8048 -- is a toll free telephone number for people to call from anywhere in the state to report suspected fraud in any welfare program. The hotline was installed two years ago and receives an average of almost 300 calls a month.

"We remind people to call if they know of grocery stores that abuse the food stamp program," Mrs. Baggiano said. "Legally, grocery stores can allow recipients to use stamps to buy only food or seeds to grow food."

tasting party which the Extension Homemaker clubs in the county put on each year.

Members decided to focus on French cuisine this year and the fellowship hall of the church was decorated to resemble a French cafe.

Each of the eight clubs which participated were assigned a dish for the four course meal.

Two UM students also took part in the program. Sarah Ethridge and Nina Kelley showed club members how grapes could be used to create centerpieces.

The group learned about French Christmas customs from club member Dolly Hodges and saw a demonstration of clay modeling given by Grace Hayes Davis.

The paintings on the wall were done by Montevallo artist Charlotte Condry, the daughter of Montevallo Extension Homemaker Virginia Condry.

Recipes for all of the dishes served at the luncheon were published in a booklet which each member received.

Scrumptious

Gift money

Frances Shaw, president of the county Extension Homemaker clubs, presents a $350 check to Maureen Kelly to help foster parents in their Christmas preparations for children in their homes.

Inside Shelby Medical Center

After four years as a member and leader of the Shelby Medical Center Auxiliary, Lou Janeway is moving with her family to her home state of Kentucky.

"Like most people in this kind of work, I like patient contact the best, but the need was in the leadership area," said Janeway.

"The Auxiliary had begun to dwindle," said Janeway, "organizing was the biggest challenge I faced."

Her first step in that direction was to acquire office space. "We just had a drawer in the switchboard room to work out of. They were able to clean out a closet for us, so we moved in right away," said Janeway. Once office space was provided, the Auxiliary began to grow. "We had a lot of hard workers, and hard workers are much more valuable than just large numbers," said Janeway.

In her four years of service, projects such as the annual Christmas bazaar, the annual garage sale, the scholarship fund for senior high school students in the county who plan a future in health care, and the teenage Volunteer Program, have been established. Janeway is particularly proud of these projects because they are ongoing.

The Shelby Medical Auxiliary raised about $500 at the Annual Christmas Bazaar, Friday, Nov.

19, in the hospital lobby.

"We had a very good response for such a rainy day," said Charlene Seibert, the new Auxiliary president replacing Lou Janeway. "We plan to return Dec. 14 and 15 and put up a tree in the lobby and cafeteria; we then hope to sell the remaining items."

Proceeds from the sale and the chances go to the Auxiliary scholarship fund and the hospital's general fund, said Seibert.

Registered Nurses Becky Tow and Myra Muse, represented SMC at Jacksonville state University's Career Day on December 22.

They answered questions from students about the hospital, employee benefits, departments and the need and future need for nurses.

The SMC booth attracted a steady flow of nursing students and the representative RNs said they were pleased with the response the hospital received.

Patients, employees and visitors at the hospital participated in a special Thanksgiving service on Nov. 24, at the hospital.

The Rev. Terrel Maynard of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Elliottsville delivered a brief inter-denominational sermon entitled "Our Attitude of Gratitude."

The service was offered through the hospital volunteer Chaplaincy Program.

Helena police seek toys for tots

The toy drive for Helena tots is underway until Wednesday, December 22. The annual drive is sponsored by the Helena Police

SMC Nativity

Employees of Shelby Medical Center are working on a Nativity scene.

Administrator R. Roland Bradford, Corporate Planner Norman Price, and Director of Respiratory Therapy Harry Hunt put in extra hours designing and building the stable which will house Mary, Joseph and the baby Jesus.

Choirs from participating churches will sing carols to enhance the scene.

The Nativity Scene is scheduled to open for the public Thursday, Dec. 16. It will be located in front of the hospital in the north-west parking area.

Department, and toys for the drive can be left at the police station.

Chief Ray Rollan said he already knows of at least ten families in need of Christmas aid. Because of the economy, Rollan said he expects that number to increase as Christmas nears.

"It's hard when people come and tell you they don't have enough money for Christmas," Rollan explained. "So we're looking for any new or good, used toys, or maybe money for a Christmas dinner."

Police personnel will deliver the toys Christmas Eve day. The toy drive is not part of the annual drive put on by the Fraternal Order of Police.

"We'll still work with the FOP on their drive," Rollan explained, "but this is for the people in this area that we know need things."

Warriors win state championship

Johnson, naturally

In the fluid, powerful style that is all his own, senior Arthur Johnson flew 37 for what proved to be Thompson's winning touchdown in its first ever state football championship. Though a lot of college scouts were on hand to see just such action, Johnson said after the game, "It's hard to think about college. I'm still enjoying high school." (Photo by Bert Seaman)

State title tops perfect year

by David F. Moore

It would have killed many lesser teams... Thompson senior quarterback Richard Brasher, looking to open up an 8-3 lead over powerhouse Oxford, dropped back to pass from his 20 on the second play of the second half.

He rifled the ball into the left flat. Oxford's Craig Akin took an easy sidestep, made the interception, and scooted 27 yards for a turnaround score.

Then, on a perfectly executed pitch from QB Keith Taylor, Oxford's Gerald McRath pranced around the right side, untouched, for the two point conversion.

Suddenly: 11-8. Oxford.

A major turnover. A sudden score. In the hands of a worthy opponent like Oxford, that kind of break can rip a game open at the seams. It would have killed many lesser teams.

"I saw he was going to score," Brasher said later, "and I take all the blame for the interception. But I never had a doubt that we would win the game..."

Thompson is not a lesser team.

Thompson has Brasher. Thompson has All-Stater Demetrius Threatt, who stepped in to fill a man-sized job and set a new school record of 29 TD's in a season. And yes, Thompson has two-time All-Stater Arthur Johnson, unleashed from the sidelines after a frustrating knee injury. Then there's Max Brown and little speedster Luvell Bivins. More backfield talent than most any three schools together.

There's a sure winner in John Steele at offensive center. There are good hands on Tim Smith, Bivins, and Scotty Hawkins.

Then there's the muscle of Gregg Snell, Jeff Bentley, Threatt, Johnson and others who make up a defense that has allowed only an amazing three touchdowns rushing all year.

All of this is coached by Larry Simmons and crew. And coached. And coached...

And -- significantly -- Thompson High School has one of the strongest athletic winning traditions in the state.

No, Virginia.

No, Alabama.

No, Oxford.

Thompson is not a lesser team.

The Thompson Warriors from Alabaster are indisputedly the best

(at least 3A) football team to take the field this year in the entire State of Alabama.

Fourteen wins.

Zero losses.

Perfectly awesome champions. Period.

To be certain, the Oxford Yellow Jackets of coach Bill Burgess are an excellent football team, too.

Before being introduced to Thompson, their only loss of the year was a squeaker to neighborhood rival Anniston, a 4A semifinalist. They beat the ever strong Emma Samson 21-20. They beat previously top-ranked Gardendale 24-14. They beat Hartselle 20-7 in the semifinals.

And judging by the way they played for the state title Friday night in Alabaster, Oxford fully intended to beat Thompson.

The first quarter was defense dominated. Neither team mustering much yardage. But eventually, mostly behind Threatt's bulldozing, Thompson duked its way to a first down at the 22.

But with fourth and a foot, on what should have been a sure play against a lesser opponent, Oxford snared Brasher for no gain. The Warriors, accustomed to outscoring opponents more than than 3:1, were left sitting on a first quarter goose egg.

Two-thirds of the way into the second quarter, Johnson, playing in the defensive secondary, was faked off on a play-action pass, and a Taylor-Shun Adams aerial nearly landed Oxford a touchdown.

"I came up too soon and he just got behind me," Johnson acknowledged after the game.

But Adams didn't keep his advantage long. Johnson quickly recouped and caught him from behind at the nine. (It was Oxford's only completion of the night.)

Serious tackles by Chris Green and Johnson tamed any TD notions, however. With 4:19 left in the half, Oxford settled for a 21-yard field goal by Eddie Dempsey.

Warriors talent takes team to record breaking heights

by Fred Guarino

The senior football players of Thompson High School have much to brag about this season.

They have been part of a football program under head coach Larry Simmons which went further than any Thompson team has ever gone.

They can also be proud of the fact that their coach says the 1982 Warrior squad was the best he has ever had.

But now that the 1982 football season is officially over, those 19 Warrior players will put up their football uniforms, helmets and shoulder pads for the last time. For all of their glory, the following names will never appear on a THS football roster again:

Simmons, in an interview with this newspaper said, "This has been an outstanding senior class."

If there was ever an understatement made, that was it.

Look at the record books (complete through the semi final contest against Greenville which put the Warriors in the state championship contest).

Senior Arthur Johnson and former player James Tanniehill were tied through 1982 for the most touchdowns (22) scored by a Thompson player.

This season senior Demetrius Threatt blasted that record with 28 touchdowns.

Threatt also led the senior squad in rushing.

After the final horn sounded against Greenville, Threatt had piled up 1,594 yards.

Richard Brasher gained 198 yards, Johnson gained 263, Leach gained 8, and Willis gained 14.

Joiner took in three pass receptions for 201 yards and Leach returned one kickoff for ten yards.

In the interception category, Leach led the seniors with four, Joiner followed with three and Johnson snagged one.

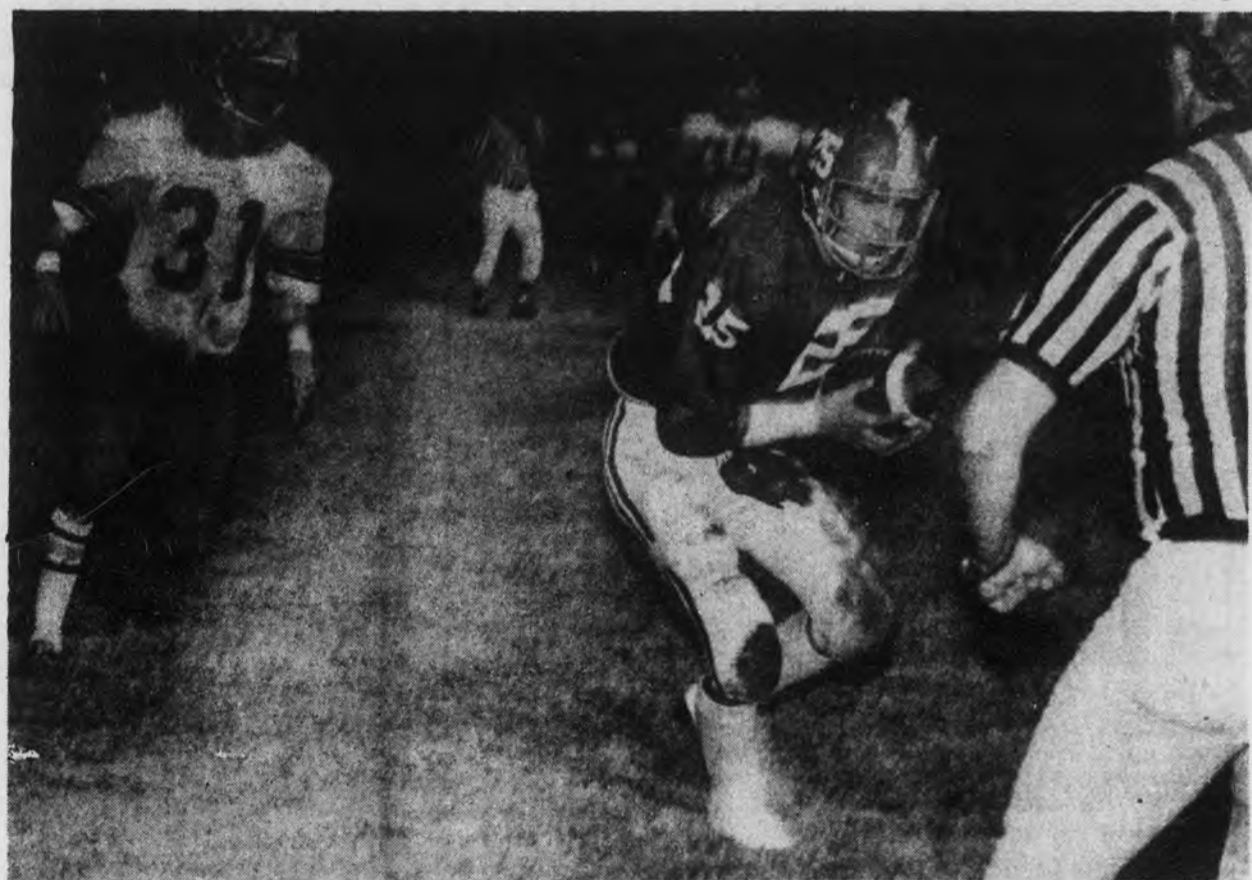

Steele led in senior offensive grades with an average of 67.33 percent. He was followed by Bentley with 63.31, Cofer with 62.44 and Snell with 59.85.

Snell led the senior defensive point getters with 75. He was followed by Bentley with 63, Threatt with 60, Leach and Cofer with 42 each, Johnson with 23, Pace with 20, Willis with 14, Hyde with 7, Steele with 4 and Brothers with 1.

Coach Simmons called Cofer an outstanding lineman, especially on defense.

While Johnson has not played much this season, the head coach appreciated his return to the team even though he was not 100 percent well from knee surgery.

About senior quarterback Richard Brasher, Simmons said, "He has been an ideal quarterback. The kids have a lot of confidence in him. He is mentally a tough football player. The team knew he could do the job and he was an above average passer."

Two points

When Thompson needed a two point conversion in the second quarter, QB Richard Brasher went for the sure hands of his leading receiver Tim

Smith (25). Prior to Friday's state championship, Smith had 23 receptions for 296 yards and 14 points. (Photo by Bert Seaman)

Leach reach

Determination by Jimmy Leach (19) and the rest of the Warrior offense thwarted Oxford's running attack, as it gave up only 97 yards rushing. (Photo by David F. Moore)

Main course

Demetrius Threatt (33) -- known as "The Meat" -- has been the main course served this year by quarterback Richard Brasher (12) and the championship Warriors. "The Meat," good for 135 yards against Oxford, finished the season with 1,729 yards behind the blocking of Jeff Bentley (76) and others. (Photo by David F. Moore)

Thompson stands at the top

Oxford took the edge on first half momentum. But it was short-lived.

Bivins, averaging 18.5 yards on kickoff returns, ran the ensuing kick 15 yards from inside the end zone.

On second down, Brasher pumped a pass out to Threatt at the 35. With his usual disregard for life and limb, Threatt thrashed out 25 additional yards to the Oxford 40.

Again Brasher passed.

Smith jumped for a high catch at the 10, but managed only to tip the throw into the air. But as 12,000 hearts skipped a beat, Hawkins went up in traffic for an incredible rebound reception at the seven.

Three plays later Threatt tunneled from the one for the touchdown. Brasher drilled Smith in the left corner for the two-point conversion, and Thompson had an 8-3 halftime lead.

Thompson's scoreboard edge was backed by a yardage edge of 157 to 121 -- thanks primarily to 76 yards in 4-7 passing from Brasher.

The Warriors also had an edge on momentum, and there was a hint that the second half would see more offensive artillery from both teams.

It was the bombshell interception by the Oxford defense that fired off the third quarter, however. But it takes more than a 3-0, or 11-8 lead to fall a Warrior.

To this point, Thompson had loaded its backfield primarily with Threatt the "Meat" and Brasher. Now it added Johnson. And if there's anything worse than trying to stop Brasher, and Threatt or Johnson, it's trying to stop Brasher AND Threatt AND Johnson.

"Meat" banged off five. A.J. gained 8. "Meat" came back with seven.

Thompson was on its way, but Oxford bit the bullet and dropped Threatt for no gain on third and one from the 44.

On fourth, Brasher apparently pulled Oxford off sides when he shifted into punt formation, but no flags flew. Brasher fielded the snap on a scary bounce and booted away to the 18.

Three plays against the Warrior defense netted Oxford -4. Punt three again.

Again THS started driving with aid from a 15-yard pass to Jeff Willis. But the drive ended at the Oxford 37 after two short gains and two incompletions.

Oxford moved to near midfield, but tough defensive plays by Gordon Kenny kept the visitors at bay. They punted to the 10.

Then, with 2:33 in the quarter, the Warriors turned on the charm. A.J., plus three. "Meat," plus six. A.J. plus six. "Meat" plus 30. Max plus nine, then again for no gain. Beginning the fourth quarter, "Meat" smashed for four more.

All that adds up this: first down THS at the 33.

Then it happened. The left side of the line opened the door and out stepped Mister Arthur Johnson, doing what he does best:

Legs stretched and flashing, graceful power in motion, the most exciting runner ever to come out of Shelby County RAN. Thirty-three yards. Touchdown.

It was so natural it looked almost easy.

"The line did it," Johnson said on the sidelines after the PAT sailed wide. "It was open. I ran."

At 6:03 in the game, Bivins sped 36 yards for an apparent score, only to have it called back by an illegal block.

That callback, too, might have killed a lesser team. With fourth and 15, Oxford was looking at another chance to score.

But Oxford wasn't counting on the best punt Willis ever sent sailing -- 40 yards and out of bounds at the one.

The ever tough Warrior defense, led by Brown and Johnson, kept Oxford buried for four downs.

Thompson took over on the sevep. The clock ticked down on the end of fourteen games. And sweet pandemonium broke loose in Thompson stadium.

In 1982 there are many lesser 3A teams than Thompson. There are none better.

Hunting accidents lead to warning

Conservation Department officials are gravely concerned over the three deaths resulting from six hunting accidents occurring since the opening of the gun deer season on Nov. 19.

Game and fish director Charles D. Kelley pleads, "hunters should exercise extreme caution; no deer is worth injury or the threat of injury to any other individual in the field." Kelly emphasizes that deer hunters should wear fluorescent orange when hunting and positively identify their target and be absolutely certain of what lies in their line of fire, in front and behind their targets, before squeezing the trigger on their firearms. Kelly added that hunters using tree stands should use only recommended hunter safety procedures and be extra vigilant.

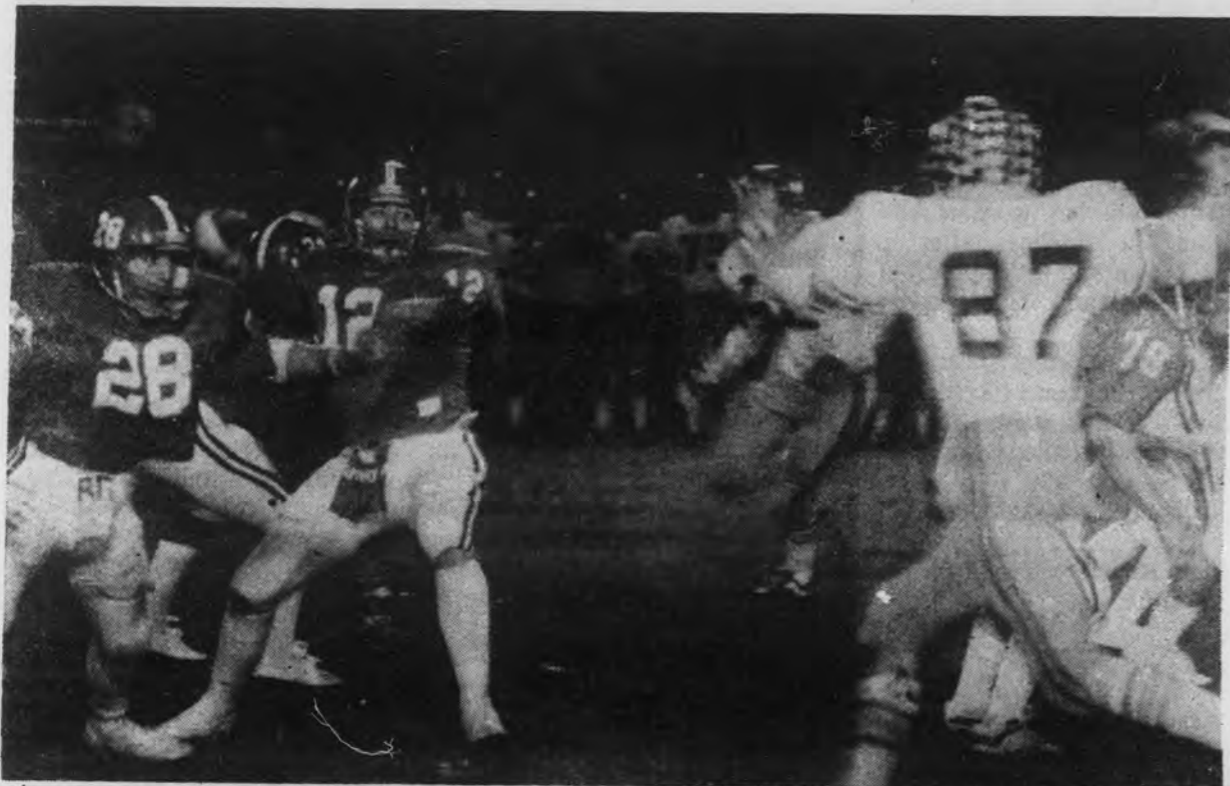

The three fatalities can be directly attributed to basic hunter safety rules being unheeded.

In Perry County a hunter was watching a deer scrape when the 27 year old victim walked up to the scrape and was shot. The shooter was heard to repeat several times, "I thought he was a deer."

In Lowndes County a joyful hunt turned into disaster when a 36-year old hunter left his 26-year-old hunting companion standing by a pine tree. The hunter had walked 60 yards into the woods when two deer ran between the hunters. The one hunter turned toward his companion and shot at the deer, fatally wounding his companion.

The death resulting from the improper use of a tree stand occurred in Washington County. The victim, evidently, fell from a tree stand, and his gun discharged, fatally wounding him in the chest.

The flagrant violation of hunting safety rules accounted for all three of these needless deaths.

Crowd history

The massive crowd of 7,000 people that packed into Thompson stadium Friday night was reported to be the largest ever to see a Shelby County football game. Although thousands of folks visited from Oxford, most people said "THOMPSON" was their team. (Photo by Bert Seaman)

THS rated "best" with fans

by Bert Seaman

Thompson High School football fans came to the stadium Friday evening believing they had the best 3A team in the state.

And everyone in the jam packed stadium knew they were right as the game ended with the scoreboard proclaiming the Warriors 14-11 winners.

With a 14-0 record for the season, no one could doubt the team's proven ability.

But what makes this year's team so good?

The Reporter asked a few of the fans who lined the fence and sat in the packed stands at Friday's game for the state championship.

"They've had some great players like Arthur Johnson and Demetrius Threatt," was the ready answer Mary Glasgow gave.

"I don't think the team has had as many standouts before," she added.

"This is the best team Thompson has ever produced," declared Mayor "Doc" Rubin, "because they're dedicated to the basic premise of winning and you can't beat that."

Jack Pickett related that he has known most of the team since they were youngsters.

And his feeling that "they're the greatest," he explained, stems from the feeling that they're "like sons to me."

Another fan the Reporter chatted with had a very personal reason for thinking this year's team is tops. It's because her son Max is a player, Mrs. Pat Brown pointed out.

Although Friday's game was only the second one Betty Crumpton has attended this season, the Warrior's performance last week and during the first half that evening left no doubt in her mind about their caliber.

"You could go home now," she asserted. "They've already got it won!"

Recalling the words on one of the banners that was up at last week's game, Linda Nadler agreed with the slogan "They're totally awesome."

It was the view of Joe Carrier, who sat next to Nadler, that "The team is good for the community and they deserve our support."

Dillard Baldwin admitted being a little partial to Thompson since he's had five children graduate from the Alabaster school.

"They're a fine team and I love 'em," he declared, adding in a fatherly fashion, "I'll beat the stew out of 'em if they don't win!"

His reason for thinking the team is so good, Bobby Hawkins said, is because of so much talent. One of the players he mentioned was number 33.

When injuries sidelined him for part of the season, that player rooted his team on to victory from the sidelines.

And when he was asked what school has the best team, Arthur Johnson was quick to answer - "THOMPSON HIGH!"

Basketball moves from football's shadow

by Fred Guarino

With the big win by Thompson over Oxford for the state 3A crown, high school football is finally on the shelf in Shelby County.

Basketball is the sport of the season now, although it came in this year with a whisper.

Indian Springs

Coached by Greg Van Horn, Indian Springs got its season 1982 off to a slow start.

The squad fell to Weogufka 49-58 on December 1st and took its second loss, Friday night, at the hands of Chelsea 53-70.

Indian Springs played Fayetteville Tuesday night and will face Altamont away tomorrow night.

Shelby Academy

The Raiders opened with roundball action Monday, November 29 in the Berney Points Tip-Off Tournament.

In the event Shelby Academy was handed a first round loss by Bessemer Faith 55-42. Casey Day was the top scorer for the Raiders with 20 points.

Coach DeWayne Kervin's team played Morgan Academy, Monday night; played Bessemer Faith again Tuesday night; and will play Berney Points away, tomorrow night.

SCHS

The Wildcats got off to a dismal start this season, dropping their first four games.

The Wildcats lost to Pelham 63-94; Thompson, 41-49; Vincent, 55-64; and in the Mid State Tournament fell to Pell City 50-55.

Don Phillips scored 12 points to lead his team in the Pell City match.

Shelby County High School played Chilton away Tuesday night and will play Jemison at home tomorrow.

Calera High School

Calera High School opened with Altamont Tuesday night and will play in the Fayetteville Tournament tonight.

Coosa Vallae Academy

The Rebels coached by Bruce Breland, lost their season opener to Berney Points 46-55 in a tip-off tournament played there.

The squad then dropped its consolation match to Bessemer Faith 50-53.

Larry Hill was the top scorer for the Rebels in both matches with 13 points against Berney Points and 16 points against Bessemer Faith.

The squad will play Minor Christian at home tonight.

Pelham

Tony Taylor's team opened the season with three wins and one loss.

The Panthers rolled over Shelby County 94-63, lost to Bibb County 63-65, beat Childersburg 72-68, and Saturday night defeated Stanhope-Elmore 77-43 on a long road trip.

David Toner was the top scorer against the Mustangs with 33 points.

The Panthers played Vincent Tuesday night and will face Childersburg at home tonight.

Chelsea Hornets

Mike Sims' squad lost to Moody 45-59 and Fayetteville 57-61 before getting its first win of the season against Indian Springs Friday 70-53.

Ken O'Sheilds was the top scorer against Indian Springs with 33 points.

The team played Montevallo Tuesday night and is participating in the Fayetteville Tournament tonight.

Thompson

The Warriors began the 1982 season with two losses against four wins.

Thomas Johnson's five defeated B. B. Comer 64-54, beat Shelby County 49-41, stopped Bibb County 66-55, fell to Abrams 66-72, beat Childersburg 54-50 and fell to Sylacauga 56-59.

The contests against Childersburg and Sylacauga were in the Mid State Tournament played in Sylacauga.

Due to the state championship football game between Thompson and Oxford, the Warriors were unable to participate in the consolation game of the basketball tournament, Friday.

Chris Thomas led the squad with 21 points against Sylacauga.

The Warriors played Bibb County, Monday night and Vestavia Tuesday night. They will face Montevallo at the UM gym tomorrow night.

Briarwood

Steve Franklin's squad opened 1982 with a win over Hayden 51-28, lost to Montevallo 33-55 and beat Hayden again Friday 48-28.

Peter Clemens had 10 points in the second Hayden match.

The Lions played Gilmore Bell Tuesday night, and will play Trinity away tomorrow night.

Montevallo

Coach Kurt Pnazeck's Bulldogs posted three wins against two losses to start 1982.

The Dogs fell to Vincent 39-50, beat West Blocton 49-37, beat Clanton 43-38, lost to Holy Family 44-63 and defeated Briarwood 55-33.

Taylor Blackwell led the team with 13 points against the Lions. Montevallo played Chelsea Tuesday night and will face the Thompson Warriors at the UM gym tomorrow.

Vincent

The Yellow Jackets posted a 2-2 record to begin this season.

The Jackets fell to Comer 52-72, beat Montevallo 50-39, beat Shelby County 64-55 and fell to Sylacauga 56-84.

The Sylacauga contest was in the first round of the Mid State Tournament. Benny Joe Keller led the Jackets with 10 points in that game.

Montevallo played Pelham Tuesday night and will play Winterboro at home tomorrow.

Winning is nice but

Simmons remembers no - pressure seasons as his favorites

by Fred Guarino

Larry Simmons thinks his 1977 and 1980 football seasons were his most enjoyable.

If you happen to know who Larry Simmons is, the above statement might seem very odd.

It is especially odd when you consider that in 1977 his team went 6-2-1 and in 1980 his team went 9-1 and was defeated in the first round of state playoffs.

In case you didn't know, Simmons has been the head football coach at Thompson High School since 1971. He was assistant coach there three years before that.

This season, his Warriors put together 13 straight wins to reach the state championship contest of the 3A football.

Not counting Friday night's game against Oxford for the state title, Simmons won 99 games in his career at THS, lost 26 and tied one.

Squads under his leadership won the Area 8 football title six times and the regionals twice.

With that information, the oddness of the first statement becomes even more evident.

But if you take the information and look at it through the eyes of the Warrior mentor, you might find that it tells you a little something about the man and the rigors of being a head football coach.

Simmons makes no bones about the fact that this year's Thompson team is the best he has ever coached.

He answers the almost daily asked question comparing this year's team to those of days gone by saying, "Well, there is a lot more talent on this team than some in the past. The kids are bigger and stronger and there are several college prospects."

COACH LARRY SIMMONS

Player chalks up 33 for Pelham HS record

The Pelham High School Panthers were victorious Friday night, Dec. 3 over Stanhope-Elmore at Millbrook, by a score of 77-43.

The Panthers led at half time 38-15.

The scoring was accomplished by the shooting of Dave Toner, with 33 points, establishing a new

"They are the best football team we've had here."

"They have the ability and size. A lot of kids have ability but no size."

"Major college prospects on the team are tailback Arthur Johnson, tackles Jeff Bentley and Greg Snell and fullback Demetrius Threatt."

But what about 1977 and 1980?

According to Simmons, "Some years you don't have much (talent on a team) and you know your kids are giving 100 percent."

"In '77 after three games we were 1-1-1 and didn't think we'd win another ballgame. But during the last part of the season we went 5-1."

"I enjoyed that because we came out without a lot of pressure and played good ball."

The coach continued, "In 1980 we didn't think we would have a good team and went 9-1, reached the state playoffs and got beat in the first game."

It seems obvious then that the difference between an enjoyable season and a season in which everything goes your way is pressure.

Simmons said, "When you lose a bunch of players and rebuild, you don't worry. When you think you're going to have a school record for a single game. Bryan Hughes scored 14 points, Bobby Patrick 9 points, Devin Tubert 8 points, Ray Higdon with 7, and Ken Hanson 2 points.

The Panthers record is now 4-1.

Coach Tony Taylor said he was very pleased with the rebounding and the team effort of his players.

History is recreated in heritage celebration

The West Jefferson County Historical Society will attempt to re-create the images of local history by a three day annual Christmas Heritage Celebration.

Events will begin with a carol sing at 7 p.m. on Saturday, December 11 at the First United Methodist Church in Bessemer, followed by a tour featuring historic homes on the following Sunday and Monday.

On the tour for the first time is the Charleston styled house owned by Hal Hodgins. Located at 1709 3rd Avenue North in Bessemer, it is the last remaining Charleston house in the city.

The Woman's Clubhouse is included on the Christmas Tour again this year.

The McAdory House located on Eastern Valley Road in Bessemer will feature a 100 year old pump organ recently purchased by the West Jefferson County Historical society.

The Owen House, built prior to the Civil War will be decorated in the manner of the pioneer period.

Further down the road at the Sadler house twin fiddlers, Glen Andrews and Charlie Atkins, backed by George Shepherd on the guitar will be performing in the parlor.

The houses will be opened for the tour Sunday, December 12 from 1-5 p.m. and for school groups on Monday, December 13 from 9 a.m.- noon. For ticket information call 426-1633.

6,045 fans pay

Ticket sales top $17,800 at big game

by David F. Moore

The Thompson Warriors and Oxford Yellow Jackets drew the largest crowd ever to see a football game in Shelby County. According to tickets tallies from the state title clash, 6,405 paid fans packed into Thompson Stadium Friday night in Alabaster.

THS principal Allen Fulton said tickets sales totaled $17,802.

Among those attending who weren't required to fork over two or three bucks for a ticket, were a few familiar names from the world of sports: Auburn head coach Pat Dye and Alabama offensive coordinator Mal Moore.

A number of scouts from other colleges also came to see the Thompson talent parade.

Also on hand was former Shelby Countian Jim "Peanut" Davenport, now coach of the San Francisco Giants.

Auburn defensive back coach Bobby Wallace, who attended the game with Dye, said the War Eagles had a hunting eye on "three or four" of Thompson's seniors. (Recruiting policies prohibit him from name dropping at this point.)

"They have a lot of great players here," Wallace said during halftime. "We're recruiting them as individuals, but if we get all three or four of them to come -- great!"

The way fans swarmed over Coach Dye in the pressbox at halftime, one would have thought he'd just toppled a team like Alabama.

"This is fine football game," Dye told the Reporter. "A very even match (at 8-3, halftime)."

"The impressive thing about the game," Dye continued, "is that neither team has had a turnover, and both are hitting hard. It should open up some the second half."

Dye reportedly visited the Thompson players in the field house prior to kickoff.

The University of Tennessee's assistant coach Phillip Fulmer was asked at the half if he just happened to be in the neighborhood and decided to drop by Alabaster for a game.

"I've been following Thompson all year," Fulmer said, "and I've been down to see them play several times."

Fulmer said he had his eye on two Thompson linemen and one back, as well as a player from Oxford. He requested the Reporter not to print their names.

Scouts from Southern Mississippi, Livingston, Alabama State and Troy University also signed the list at the pass gate Friday.

THS principal Allen Fulton estimated a total of 7,000 people attended the game, counting the bands, visiting coaches, members of the press and others.

Fulton said it was the largest crowd ever to see a football game in Shelby County.

Although the seating capacity of the stadium is already the largest in the county, Fulton said additional bleachers were brought in from city parks to hold the expected overflow.

Additional seats were lined across the west endzone, two sets of bleachers were added to the home side, and three sets were added for the visitors.

Still, there weren't enough seats. Fans lined the fence around the field, three and four deep.

Fulton said there had been some consideration given to playing at Legion Field in Birmingham, especially because of the astro-turf and threatening weather.

"But we felt like the people of Alabaster deserved to have the championship game here," Fulton told the Reporter.

So they came from Oxford, they came from California, they came from Vincent, Montevallo and Siluria -- they came 7,000 strong and saw the Thompson Warriors win the state championship.

There's an old saying (Ralph Waldo Emerson gets the credit) that if you build a better mousetrap, people from miles around will beat a path to your doorstep to buy it.

From the looks of Thompson stadium Friday night, if you build a better football team you can expect the same thing to happen.

"Peanut" comes home

San Francisco Giants coach Jim "Peanut" Davenport (right), who graduated from Thompson in 1952, returned Friday to see the Warriors and people like his cousin, Sonny Davenport.

MAKE YOUR MONEY COUNT

With all the publicity over IRA's, many taxpayers have overlooked a tax-cutting device that could be a better deal than an Individual Retirement Account. In 1978, Congress enacted the salary-reduction plan. It allows you to shelter even more of your income from taxes by putting it into your employer's profit-sharing fund if one has been established. The IRA allows an individual to shield no more than $2000 from the IRS while your employer decides how much you can contribute to its profit-sharing plan often up to 10%. Check with your company to see if it has set up a salary reduction plan in conjunction with its profit sharing plan.

Retirement plans highlight a national concern for financial need in later years. In conjunction with such plans one should consider all types of savings and evaluate those that will provide the best answers to one's immediate as well as future needs. At FIRST AMERICAN BANK, 3000 Hwy 31 So., Pelham, we have a number of savings plans and are available to explain them to you and suggest those that will best serve your interests. At FIRST AMERICAN BANK savings makes "cents." Tel. 663-4750. Hours: 8:30-6 Mon.-Fri., til noon Sat.

HANDY HINT:
It is perfectly legal to contribute to both an IRA and a salary reduction plan.

Youngsters rally

Go Warriors! That was the cheer of over 1,200 Thompson Elementary School students at a special pep rally, Friday. The rally included the

Chelsea honors grid stars

A record attendance of approximately 294 people attended the Chelsea football banquet last Saturday night where this year's football players and cheerleaders were recognized and honored.

Joe White, captain of the club, served as master of ceremonies for the evening, and Rev. Lynn Terry, pastor of United Methodist Church was the speaker.

The Most Valuable Player award was given to Larry Cork and Tommy White. Greg Conkle was awarded the Varsity Most Valuable Back, and Keith Brasher took the Most Valuable Lineman award.

Jeff Carter was recognized and awarded as the Most Improved player and the Stug Award was presented to Tommy White.

Permanent squad captains for the year are Larry Cork and Tommy White.

The Student Athlete Award, given each year to the athlete with the highest grade point average, was presented to Tim Rich by principal Brad Stephens.

Junior varsity football players honored by assistant coach Richard Conkle were: Kerry Shaw, who took honors as Most Valuable player and Most Valuable back; and Jimmy Montgomery, recognized as Most Valuable lineman.

Varsity cheerleaders were presented a trophy and a gift by their sponsor Mary Ann Moore. Tammy New was honored with the Most-Spirited cheerleader award. Head cheerleader Pam Moore and co-head Celeste Melton gave their sponsor an arrangement of red roses on behalf of the entire cheerleading squad.

Junior varsity cheerleaders were recognized by their sponsor, Cheryl Beckham and also presented with a trophy and gift from her.

Coaches Roger Hibbs, Bobby Statum and Lee Hibbs recognized the volunteers who helped with the varsity squad during the year and presented them with plaques of appreciation. They are: Randy Rich, T.L. Richey, Coach Richard Conkle, Larry Sampson, Michael Culpepper and Rose Jones.

COMPARE

Your Homeowners and Auto Insurance To Personal Comprehensive Protection

PCP Gives More

Protection For Your Insurance Dollar

	Your Insurance	PCP
Auto Liability	?	✓
Auto Loss of Use Due to Collision	?	✓
Auto Towing & Labor	?	✓
Dwelling	?	✓
Replacement Cost on Personal Property	?	✓
Theft of Personal Property from Unlocked Auto	?	✓
Bank Cash	?	✓
Machine Card	?	✓
Safe Deposit Box Coverage	?	✓
Renewal Guarantee	?	✓

When you compare both your auto and homeowners policies to PCP—Personal Comprehensive Protection—you'll see that PCP gives you more protection than any other single policy, more than several policies combined.

And that's not all. PCP provides high-limit protection for your property and liability, and replacement cost coverage for personal property losses. Your PCP coverage is automatically adjusted once a year—or at the time of loss—to make sure your protection is always up-to-date with rising repair costs. And PCP offers valuable options, to help tailor your policy to your specific needs. PCP—from Continental Insurance—is the single policy that gives you more protection for your insurance dollar.

Come see us or call today to find out how you can get the best insurance value—PCP.

Getting crazy

With less than a minute to play, the crowd in the end zone got a little crazy -- but then again it's not everyday a Shelby County team wins the state championship. (Photo by Bert Seaman)

Guitar legend holds concert

Chet Atkins, the legendary guitarist, will be in Birmingham to perform with the Alabama Symphony Pops on Friday & Saturday, December 17 and 18, along with guest conductor, John Covelli.

The concerts will begin at 8 p.m. each evening in the Civic Center Concert Hall. Tickets are available at the Symphony office or by calling 326-0100 for information.

dit faults k Mt. Park

by David F. Moore

Recommended changes at Oak Mountain State Park have turned up in a four-year audit of the Alabama Department of Conservation.

The audit, made public last Friday by the state Department of Examiners of Public Accounts, lists two and half pages of recommended changes in management and accounting procedures across the state's park system.

Problems listed with state's largest park, Oak Mountain, deal primarily with the demonstration farm, according to chief auditor Ronald Jones.

The audit spans four fiscal years, from October 1, 1977, to September 30, 1981.

During that period, John Meredith was superintendent of Oak Mountain. The demonstration farm was managed by Bill Martin, who stayed on after Meredith was transferred a year ago to the state's smallest park, Chewacla, located near Auburn.

Former Chewacla superintendent Phil Easterwood replaced Meredith last December as superintendent at Oak Mountain. "There was almost a total lack of accountability of the animals" at the demonstration farm, Jones told the Reporter by phone from Montgomery. "It was the belief of the farm and park managers that most of the animals don't belong to the state. In fact, a few of the animals did belong to the farm manager."

"Since the state is paying for the medical needs and the feed for the animals, it should seem that all the animals should belong to the state," Jones said.

Easterwood was out of state Tuesday and was not available for comment.

Assistant Oak Mountain superintendent Phil Robeson said the park had not received a copy of the audit. Other than that, he said he was not at liberty to make any comment.

Jones said the audit showed "failure to comply with good accounting and management practices," but that no monetary or legal charges had been pressed.

He said the audit had been forwarded to Conservation Department Commissioner John McMillan. McMillan, quoted earlier as calling the audit "helpful" in correcting department problems, was unavailable for comment Tuesday.

Spanning the Coosa

The piers and abutments of a new bridge are slowly shaping up next to the old steel structure that has spanned the Coosa River at Childersburg for over half a century. When it opens a year and half from now, the new bridge will shuttle U.S. 280's westbound traffic across the river. The old span, built originally as a toll bridge, will continue to carry eastbound traffic. State surveys show the old bridge handles about 8,000 vehicles daily. (Photo by David F. Moore)

New York firm eyes Columbiana move

A new industry could be moving to Columbiana.

Monday morning, the Shelby County Commission voted to negotiate the sale of ten acres of county land to a New York company which manufactures paper mill machinery.

The commission took the action upon a request from Virginia Dare McKenzie of Birmingham's Montgomery Real Estate & Insurance Company. The realtor has been employed by National Standard to sell its front building, called the Cheney-Bigelow building, and 6.54 acres of land.

National Standard plans to continue in business in its back building.

McKenzie told commissioners that before the New York company would even look at the building, she would need ten additional acres of land to sell them for possible expansion.

The ten additional acres McKenzie wanted is that parcel located immediately behind the Humane Society shelter.

Appearing with McKenzie to make the request was Boyd Robinson of the Birmingham Metropolitan Development Board.

The company, whose name was not revealed, will send representatives to Columbiana at 9:30 a.m. today.

Robinson told the commission that the company would like to open in Columbiana with 20 employees and in 12 months increase their employment to 60 or 90 persons.

He said, "They would like to move their entire manufacturing plant from New York to the South. The plant there (New York) employs 400 people."

But Robinson pointed out that the company is also considering a site in Jackson, Miss.

He said that the company is prepared to move rapidly and gave as its reason for coming to the South the closeness to existing customers in Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia, and Alabama.

Commissioner Harold Davenport moved that the sale of coun-

Progress continues on new Coosa bridge

by David F. Moore

Despite the high flowing Coosa River, work on the new bridge at Childersburg is on schedule. Furthermore, first phase contract bids will be let December 17 for the addition of two lanes to U.S. 280 from the river to Harpersville.

Right-of-way through Harpersville is being acquired, and contracts for four-laning there may be let this spring. The proposed total of eight miles of upgrading will complete the four-laning of 280 in Shelby County.

But don't make any plans yet for a Sunday drive.

At the very earliest, the bridge apparently won't be open for at least 15 months -- and that's if contract letting and construction are able to stay on schedule. Completing the 280 hookup with the four-lane west of Harpersville will take even longer.

All that's absolutely concrete at this point is what's being poured into bridge footings on the Shelby County bank of the Coosa.

According to project engineer Steve Haynes, the $3.3 million bridge project is actually ahead of construction schedule, despite recent rains which have raised the Coosa five feet above normal levels.

The prime contractor for the project is the Harbert Corporation, internationally headquartered in Riverchase. Wilson Brothers Construction Co., of Childersburg, is subcontracting the two quarter-mile approaches to the bridge in Shelby and Talladega Counties. The footings in the river and the cofferdams for them are being built by F&W Contractors of Ozark.

Haynes said last Thursday that workers are 80 days into the 450 calendar-day contract. The job should be complete December 17, 1983 -- one year from tomorrow.

The contract for paving the bridge approaches has not yet been let, however, and Haynes told the Reporter that so far there is no target date for opening the two-lane bridge traffic.

The new bridge will handle westbound traffic only. It is 100 feet downstream from the present, steel girder bridge, which will be designated for eastbound traffic when the new structure opens.

The new concrete girder bridge is similar in design to the I-65 bridge over the Cahaba River, but will be 1,470 feet long and 40 feet wide. From road surface to normal river level, it will stand 60 feet high -- 34 feet higher than the old bridge.

Haynes said the design will accommodate barge traffic if and when the river is made navigable to the Gulf.

Other long-range plans call for a second concrete girder bridge to replace the old, narrow bridge which has been in use there since the 1930's.

From the state highway department's Division 4 headquarters in Alex City, assistant engineer William Jones told the Reporter that the right of way has been acquired for adding two westbound lanes along the 4.1-mile section of 280 from the bridge, west to near the Harpersville limits.

An estimated $960,000 contract for grading and drainage only on this section will be let tomorrow (Friday). That phase of the project is expected to take 360 calendar days, Jones said.

Right of way is still being acquired along the four miles of two-lane through Harpersville. Upgrading that section will also include building two bridges over the train tracks near highway 434, Haynes said. The first contract on the project will possibly be let this spring.

Haynes said some federal money may be available for upgrading 280. Money for the bridge and approaches came from Governor Fob James' oil lease bond sales.

Pelham company beats recession; climbs to top '500' listing

by Marcia M. Sears

He found a need, and he filled it.

That classic route to business success is the one Roger M. Hansen followed in catapulting his Stratabolt Corporation to the list of the "500 Fastest Growing Private Companies in the U.S."

Hansen started Stratabolt in Pelham just 7 years ago from scratch. By 1981 the company's net sales had reached $2,433,000 and over the preceding five year period, the growth rate was an astounding 342 percent.

This record was enough to place Stratabolt on the list of INC. magazine's prestigious 'INC 500' list this year. Among the 500, Stratabolt ranks number 392.

What led to the spectacular rise of Stratabolt, when many long established companies have seen their businesses evaporate in the recent recession period?

The story goes back to 1971 when Hansen, a structural engineer, came to Alabama as the division manager of a large corporation in Cullman that was looking for new products to make. He found that one company had a monopoly in making roof bolts for the coal mining industry. When his company was not interested in that product, Hansen and some friends decided to set up their own business and make better roof bolts.

Hansen went to work on the design, and found he could make a stronger bolt that was half the length of the type currently in use. He set up the manufacturing plant to make them. (The friends did not go to work with Stratabolt, but remain as stockholders.)

Hansen personally called on mine superintendents, demonstrating his model, and promising prompt service.

Word began getting around among the mining companies, that Stratabolt came through with a good product, and fast service.

At first, all of his customers were in Alabama. Now the business has grown so much he ships all over the eastern United States.

Not only that, but he has added new products of his own design during the years in between.

He developed an expansion anchor to go with his original anchor bolt, and it was successful.

Next came a replacement resin point anchor bolt. Next came a replacement resin point anchor bolt. The idea behind it was to eliminate some expensive roof bolting. His was the only such product on the market at the time, and now there are other companies "trying to find a way around our patents," Hansen smiles.

Because he was in the mines so often, he noticed there was often a need to repair parts of a mine after disasters such as fires or cave-ins.

This led to his designing a new type of arch that could be installed quickly to support the opening while clean-up crews went to work.

His arch is 1 1/2 times as wide at the top as at the base, which was a new concept for mine arches. With Stratabolt's arches in place, the clean-up can proceed at 30 to 35 feet per shift as opposed of 5 feet per shift with the older types of arches.

Hansen's first arches went into the Adger mine in Alabama.

After the arches became successful, he and his staff designed and started manufacturing a new prefabricated ventilation overcast to separate clean new air from polluted air in the mines.

The system works with arch supported overcasts that are light weight but strong. Stratabolt's can be erected in two hours by four men.

The company purchased a location in Frankfurt, Illinois last spring, with a building large enough for manufacturing and warehousing. From that site Stratabolt can serve the entire Illinois coal basin in short delivery time. Recently the company delivered a full truckload of arches to a mine there within four hours after a fire.

Now underway are new designs for new portal entries to mines.

And how is business going in 1982? Hansen says it is 30 percent ahead of last year. The versatile entrepreneur holds civil engineering degrees from Marquette and Lehigh Universities.

His plant in Pelham works four ten-hour shifts per week.

Growing fast

Roger M. Hansen, president of Stratabolt, often uses a computer (at left) to work out new product designs in his Pelham plant. The structural engineer came to Shelby County seven years ago, bent on making better mine roof bolts. His firm has since shown 342% growth, a feat which landed it national recognition. Schools ready to plug into computer age

by Marcia Sears

Computers are on their way into Shelby County classrooms—and not a minute too soon.

Urged on by parents and industrial leaders, the Shelby County school system has set in motion steps that could put Shelby County children on a par with children from other states.

A committee has been studying instructional computers for several months, and Monday the chairmen, Principal Brad Stephens of Chelsea School and Principal Henry Clark of Riverchase, turned in their report to School Superintendent Charles Knowles. The committee recommends the Apple computer or the Radio Shack system as the most useful for local schools.

Evan Major, county curriculum coordinator, told the Reporter that his office expects to act on the recommendations at once and place orders. "Immediately after Christmas" he predicted, "there will be additional computer hardware in the schools." Individual schools will have to pay for their own computers, from local sources he said, although some federal funds could be applied.

The committee of 25 teachers and principals have studied, listened to vendors, seen computers in use, and studied the ways computers can be used in instructing. An important part of their study involved what kinds of software were available for the different brands of computers. Some are strong in teaching remedial work. Others have different advantages.

Stephens told the Reporter he has a "very positive feeling" about the need for computer study. "Several people in our community have them or work with them every day." He sees the need for youngsters of all ages to learn how to use them.

Stephens says that two of his faculty members, John Ritchie and Phyllis Roberts are taking a course at the University of Montevallo now in computers, and his assistant principal and secretary bookkeeper Bobbie Rich and Marilyn Stutz are working on the computers at the vocational center now. The idea is for them to be prepared to guide students when the computers arrive at Chelsea School.

The Chelsea PTO voted $2,000 for the initial purchase, Stephens said.

Henry Clark at Riverchase Middle School told the Reporter his school will form a committee of lead teachers and counselors to decide how Riverchase could use computers in each subject area.

"We do not have the space for a computer lab, so we will probably recommend buying mobile units." One use he foresees is that the mobile units could be used in pre-Algebra classes for a week or two so the children could practice their work and tutorial skills on them. Then the units might be moved to an enrichment class, where students could proceed, possibly, as far as programming.

Clark said Riverchase would probably start slowly and increase their use into other areas as the opportunities arise. He said most schools start by using computers in math and enrichment.

As for financing the computer units, Clark said the Riverchase PTO has already voted certain funds and there is some set aside in the school's general fund.

On the subject of purchasing, Evan Major told the Reporter that the county school system will put out requests for bids on the computer units. He hopes to get a basic price so that each school could then buy through the county system at that price.

County commission

ty land be carried out by Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden and the county attorney. The vote to negotiate the sale of the land was unanimous.

Davenport pointed out that the sale of property behind the Humane Society Shelter was exactly the reason he did not want the shelter approved to run a sewer line across the land in question. Such a request was made two weeks ago and was turned down by the commission.

Davenport said of the shelter, "We will work with the Humane Society about coming down Industrial Road (with its sewer line)."

According to McKenzie, the National Standard land is being negotiated for sale at $3,000 per acre.

She reported to the commission that the company to whom the contemplated sale could be made has been in business for 100 years.

However, the realtor told the commission, "You've got to show them we want them here."

She told the Reporter that the company was interested in the National Standard building because, "There are very few buildings you can set up a 40 foot crane inside."

She said that the sale of the National Standard and county land will "take a lot of selling on all our parts when they come in Thursday (today)."

North Shelby fire dues lagging

About half the residents in the North Shelby County Fire District face late fire due penalties unless they make the December 31 deadline.

NSCFD accountant Jim King told the Reporter Tuesday that over 1,500 of the annual accounts were still unpaid. The notices were mailed out in October.

being right here close to Christmas."

The late fee goes into effect midnight, December 31. At the same time, according to law, a lien is placed against property in the district that has not had dues paid for it.

If fees still aren't paid, the law provides fire district trustees with the power to put such property up for public auction. Such auctions would not be made until repeated attempts to collect the $100 fee and $15 surcharge had failed, King said.

"We've got a lot of money to collect in 10 (working) days," he said.

BMC builds in Riverchase

The Baptist Medical Centers Health Services Corporation, an affiliate of The Baptist Medical Centers of Birmingham, has announced the construction of a $1.3 million medical arts building in Riverchase to serve South Jefferson and North Shelby Counties.

Site grading for the two-story, 37,000-square foot building began Thursday, Dec. 9, on six acres of a 40 acre Riverchase land parcel owned by Baptist Medical Centers since 1973.

Construction of the BMC Riverchase Medical Arts Building is scheduled to be completed about July, 1983. The building will accommodate about fifteen physicians when it is opened.

King said nearly all of the accounts are residential.

At $100 per residence and more for businesses, the uncollected annual fees add up to over $150,000. The district operates on a $400,000 budget, and King said it usually collects about 80% of its charges.

"They've been considerably slower than last year in paying their dues," King said. "I'm sure it's related to the economy and it

Sunday sales going great guns at Pelham stores

by David F. Moore

Sunday store hours for the Pelham Wal Mart and K mart are going great guns. But despite the state blue laws --which outlaw non-essential business on Sundays -- local and store officials have had no complaints on the openings.

K mart in Pelham opened its doors three weeks ago to Sunday shoppers. The example was followed the next week by Wal Mart. But Pelham K mart manager Frank Kirk takes no credit for an original idea.

Opening for business on Sunday "has been done for years in Shelby County," Kirk told the Reporter. "It's been so common here for so long, there's really no reason not to open. The (Birmingham) Post-Herald and News have made it appear this is something new."

Big B and Eckerd drug stores, which also sell a variety of merchandise, have been open for some time to Sunday shoppers in Shelby County and elsewhere. Pic 'n Pay shoes in Pelham and Bargain Town in Alabaster, and some Montevallo drug stores also keep Sunday hours. Some grocery and nearly all convenience stores open on Sunday, as well.

No exact sales figures for last Sunday were available from the Pelham K mart, but according to Kirk, business exceeded even that of the grand opening sale on November 4. "For per-hour business, last Sunday was the busiest day we've had so far," Kirk said.

And so far, Kirk said the only complaint he's received is from a man who drove 40 miles to shop last Sunday, only to arrive early and have to wait for the doors to open.

Kirk said his store will keep its 1-6 p.m. Sunday hours through the Christmas season. Afterwards, regular Sunday hours will be 1-5 p.m.

Kirk said K mart stores in states without blue laws open for business on Sundays. Later this week, area K mart officials plan to discuss possible Sunday openings for other Alabama K marts.

Pelham Wal Mart manager David Gullion said his store has done very good business the last two Sundays, but it didn't add the extra sales day by choice.

"I can't stay closed on Sunday as long as my competition is open," Gullion told the Reporter. Wal Marts in other states try not to open on Sunday, he said, "but we do what we have to when our competition makes us."

According to Gullion, the extra day does not create any more jobs, or even extra hours for employees since they now get a day off during the week.

Furthermore, he said Sunday sales are offset by the cut they cause in business on Saturday and Monday.

"It doesn't really help anyone, but possibly the customer," Gullion said.

But the customers indicate they like Sunday shopping, and so far Gullion said he has had no complaints.

Pelham Mayor Burk Dunaway and Shelby County Sheriff Buddy Glasgow both told the Reporter they have received no complaints on the unenforced blue laws.

Dunaway and Glasgow were notified by Wal Mart and K mart managers before the Sunday openings were put into effect. Neither official saw any problem with the proposals.

"I called each councilman and asked them if they had any problem with the Sunday openings," Dunaway said. "Since everyone else has been opening anyway, the council didn't see any reason to prevent it. And apparently a lot of people like it or they wouldn't be there shopping."

"If you enforce the blue laws, you should enforce them to the letter," Dunaway said. "And if you do that, there's not going to be much open around here on Sunday."

Glasgow said "We're not planning on getting involved in it unless the state makes the blue laws more clear."

To try and enforce the blue laws the way they're written would open a "Pandora's Box," Glasgow said. "Where would you stop? We'd be flooded with letters about service stations being open on Sundays."

Glasgow indicated a court ruling or legislative action is needed on the blue laws.

In 1973, a federal judge in Birmingham ruled that the state's long-standing blue laws were too unclear to enforce.

Two couples face bank charges

Two husbands and their wives will be arraigned Thursday in federal court in connection with the November 12 bank robbery in Wilsonville.

Billy Joe Montgomery is scheduled to appear before federal magistrate James Reddoch, Jr. at 9:30 a.m. in Birmingham, according to FBI special agent Don Byron. Montgomery was arrested at home on highway 333 south of Chelsea the day after the robbery.

Montgomery, 54, will be formally charged with the robbery of the First National Bank of Columbiana's Wilsonville branch. Byron said Montgomery also faces federal charges for allegedly using a sawed-off shotgun in the holdup.

Montgomery's wife, Loraine, is also expected to be indicted as an accessory to the crime and arraigned on those charges, Byron said.

A second couple -- Jasper Herbert Peal and Wylene Peal, both of Columbiana -- will also be formally charged at the hearing, Byron said.

Mrs. Peal, 28, was arrested November 15 for allegedly driving the Cadillac used as one of the getaway cars in the caper. She has been out of jail on $25,000 bond.

Her 35-year old husband was arrested in connection with the case on December 6 by Byron and sheriff's investigators.

"He (Peal) helped dispose of some of the loot," Byron said.

If found guilty of bank robbery, Billy Joe Montgomery faces up to 25 years in a federal prison.

The maximum penalty for accessories to a bank robbery is 12½ years.

Child restraint program started

The Shelby County Health Council wants to make it easier for people to observe the new law on car seats for children.

The council hopes to obtain several of the child restraint seats and loan them out to parents who need them, for a small fee.

After a specified period of time, the parents can return the seat and receive their initial deposit.

The council is asking for donations to put this 'Child Restraint Loaner Program' in action.

The average cost of an approved seat is $50. Checks can be made payable to the Shelby County Health Council, P.O. Box 976, Columbiana, AL 35051. Donations are tax deductible.

The program is to help compliance with Act 82-421 of this year's legislature.

The law requires children three years and under to be in an approved child restraint device while riding in a car. Parents who do not obey the law are inviting injury to their young children, and are committing a misdemeanor.

Officers of the Shelby County Health Council are: T.L. Hammons, Alabaster, chairman; Sherry Wilson, R.N., vice chairman of the child restraint program; Gail Reagan, secretary; and Linda Goodson, programs.

Susan shines for radio club

Susan B. Anthony was the smash of the Shelby County Amateur Radio Club's Christmas party -- all 2,300 of her.

The club's offshoot -- an emergency radio service group called SCARES -- was given a $2,300 donation by IBM last Saturday. The donation was presented by John Anderson, a club member and a manager for the company.

"Paul Craft, our treasurer, likes to deal in cold, hard cash," said club president Carl Weeks. "So before the party, John cashed in the donation check for 2,300 Susan B. Anthony silver dollars. He told Paul that was as cold and hard as you can get."

Weeks explained that the money would go towards replacing the ancient, tube-type repeater on top of Double Oak Mountain that SCARES now uses to re-transmit weak emergency signals. During no-power emergencies, the repeater requires someone to man it and run a 120-volt generator.

"We need a reliable, foul-weather friend," Weeks said. "We definitely appreciate the donation. Now we can get a solid-state machine that runs off 12-volt batteries."

The group's next project will be to raise money to establish an emergency radio station in the Red Cross chapter house in Alabaster, Weeks said.

The 36-member amateur radio club held its first Christmas banquet Saturday in Alabaster.

MEMBER FDIC

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

We were on his lake, Leon Kelly and I, fishing for bluegills along the cat-tail banks. A blackbird, with his red wings shining, was raising a racket and hopping from one cat-tail to another. He had a nest where leaves and straw had settled among the cat-tails, and little ones with their mouths open, and a Mr. Blackbird further down the bank making a racket too.

On a little hill that ran out of sight town way, W.L. Cox's dogs were bellowing down a rabbit trail. But the trail was cold as an iceman's leg and there was more racket than anything else. One dog, with a bass voice and ears that drug through the clover, led the way, back and forth, hunting and losing a scent the wind had blown away hours before.

"They should've been here yesterday," Leon said.

"Or the day before." My float went under and I pulled out a bluegill. He had swallowed the hook and I looked at Leon without saying a word.

"I know," he said. He took his long-nose pliers and got the hook out. "You're more trouble than my money," he fussed.

The blackbird was still fussing. A snake doctor flew by and she nabbed him and divided him between the open mouths and started fussing again.

"April was made for blackbirds," Leon said.

"And bluebirds," I said, "with nests in old fence posts."

W.L.'s hounds picked up the scent and started over. The big dog with long ears scooted down a gully. The other dogs waited, watching him with their tired eyes.

We paddled on down the bank, past another cat-tail patch, with another blackbird fussing at us from her perch on a bent-over cat-tail. We went around a little bend and came in sight of the hill where the hounds were. They were still moving and still barking and still dashing back and forth.

"They've been here since daylight," Leon said. He started to go on and stopped. He looked at the bank and then he looked at me. "You see what I see?" he said.

"Nope."

"Under that sweetgum bush next to the big oak."

I saw it then. The rabbit was sitting there with his big ears cocked. Like maybe he was listening to that crazy racket on that hill up there.

Scrambled Eggs

By Bert Seaman

Here I am folks - a two time grammy winner.

Now, let me give you a clue. I have not recorded a hit record, although some music was involved in the event.

What I was presented with on this nippy, sunny December day was a second grandchild. I'm proud to announce that it's another girl.

Of course, I didn't have much to do with this production, but I'm as proud as if the whole thing was my idea.

This little darling, who was more than a week late arriving, set a weight record in our family.

"I'm gonna have a whopper," my daughter predicted during labor. And she was right.

Miss Whitney sent the scale needle soaring to number nine. She can claim another difference by being born in December.

It's not a bad month to be born, if you don't mind getting gyped on Christmas presents. However, I don't know of another family member with a December birthday.

My daughter's timing wasn't too good as far as I'm concerned since deadline day demands that I be glued to a seat at the paper - at least part of the day anyway.

But for her husband's schedule and the doctor's, a mid-afternoon delivery worked out fine.

I did get in on some of the action though, and was amazed at how different it was from the first time around.

Since a birthing room was chosen as the delivery site, I was allowed to sit in on the proceedings.

And I even got to snap some shots of the baby's heartbeat being monitored and of the poor expectant mommy plodding up and down the hall with her husband.

I was told my grandchild could have been the star of a local TV show. However, my daughter and her husband had decided they weren't up to playing their supporting roles before the TV cameras.

But the still shots I took before I left and that my son-in-law snapped after the birth will fill the bill I think.

The circumstances of this birth were as different as day and night from the birth of my first grandchild six years ago.

While the birthing process was underway, a tape player brought from home provided background music. A picture on the wall, also from home, gave some comfort too, I guess.

When the doctors appear to see how their patients are doing, I imagine they always wear a pleasant smile.

A Santa Claus figure pinned on the jacket of one doctor and a Christmas stocking hanging from the jacket of another, made me feel there was an extra spirit of cheerfulness in the air.

I'll tell you what: I'm convinced December is the best month to be born.

And I want you to know that I got my Christmas present early this year.

Under The Courthouse Dome

Newly appointed Shelby County Commissioner John W. Ames attended his first commission meeting Monday morning.

He told the Reporter following that meeting, "I didn't expect not to find a lot of problems and they are here. But as long as you go about solving them within the funds available, that is all you can do."

In one of his first actions, the new commissioner moved to deny a liquor license request for an off premises package store off Highway 280.

The application had been filed by the Thrifty Petroleum Company.

Ames reported that the description given for the location of the store was inadequate. He also stated that the store would share the same parking lot with a Meadow Brook church.

He said, "Basically, I don't feel we should grant it being that close to a church."

Ames described the location as near Lloyd's Restaurant at the Parade Service Station.

The motion was seconded by Commissioner Alpha Lowe and approved.

Along the same lines, Commissioner Harold Davenport requested that a copy of the questionnaire recently adopted by the commission for the investigation of liquor license applicants be sent to Sheriff Buddy Glasgow.

Commissioner Jake Morris moved that a lease for a civil defense vehicle with Sherman Holland Ford be extended for six months. That motion was approved.

County engineer Gary Ray received approval to close the county landfill for Christmas and

New Year's Day. The landfill will be open all other days.

Other reports given by the engineer were:

A sign has been erected identifying the unpaved Old Keith Road off Highway 119 near Broken Bow subdivision in north Shelby County.

That action was taken following confusion which arose during an emergency medical run to the road.

Topographical surveys are also being run by the county highway department for Chelsea, Inverness, and Riverchase schools. The surveys are being done to help those schools with site improvements for playgrounds and athletic fields.

Ames was appointed to the county cable television committee.

Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden reported that by January 1 all county business should be on computer.

He said of the prospect for complete computer service, "I'm real excited about it." He added that maybe mileage meters and speedometers should be placed on all county equipment so that the county could know when equipment should be junked.

A resolution was introduced by Davenport commending the Thompson High School football team and coaches for winning the state 3A football championship. That motion was seconded by Lowe and approved.

Davenport said, "A Shelby County team has never done this before. I think that is really something."

Hunters find stolen vehicles in woods

Some hunters run across deer in the Shelby County woods. Others find stolen vehicles.

The sheriff's daily blotter reports for week ending December 8, list three incidents where hunters found stolen vehicles stashed in the woods.

Last Wednesday two stripped pickup trucks were discovered by hunters in different areas off highway 13 in the western part of the county. Both trucks were Fords.

Chief investigator Reed Smith said the trucks appeared to have been stripped elsewhere, then towed to the woods and abandoned.

In late November, a hunter found a 1964 Ford off highway 11 in the Simmsville area. The vehicle was not stripped or burned, and the hunter assumed it belonged to another hunting party.

A week later, when he saw the car there again, the hunter called the sheriff's department. The car had been reported stolen from a Birmingham man.

"Hunters find a lot of stolen vehicles during hunting season," Smith said. "They get in there in four-wheel drives where we can't go."

A '75 Mustang reported stolen from Eclectic was found by deputy Jim Roper, December 7, abandoned on the side of U.S. 280. Investigations are continuing on a '77 El Camino stolen from a Crestwood Trailer Park resident December 5.

Investigations are also continuing on a kidnap/rape/assault incident reported December 4.

A Birmingham woman told authorities she was raped and her companion was assaulted by a white male. After a drive, she said the man put them out of the car at a store on Cahaba Valley Road.

Shots were fired into several Aldrich homes during a week of arguments involving several families there. Deputies made several calls to the area, but the involved parties did not press charges.

Among 10 thefts and four burglaries listed on the report, was the heist of $1,300 cash from Harpersville Gulf. No signs of forced entry were discovered following the December 7 theft, and investigators say they have a suspect in the case.

Investigators also have suspects in the December 2 thefts of a Camp Branch house and a Sunrise Trailer Park residence.

Hollis Smith was arrested December 6 after he reportedly stole a gun from a Columbiana resident. Other arrests listed on the report include:

Assault: Timothy Scott Lowery, Maylene, 3rd degree. Bertha Blocker, Alabaster, 2nd degree.

Theft: Molly Raye Andrews, Montevallo, 3rd degree. Earl Booker, Alabaster, 3rd degree. Laura Lee Leonard, Columbiana, 1st degree, arrested for Jefferson County.

VAUCSA: Debra Ann Payton, Patricia Dianne Payton, Wendell

D. Pless, Deborah Ann Pate, Richard Anthony Roper and Ray Archie Payton, all arrested by Calera PD. Roger Dale Griffin, Thorsby. Johnny Randall Lucas, Sylacauga, indictment.

Menacing: Mary Faye Cox, Shelby.

Bad checks: Alfred Michael Jenkins, Bessemer, arrested for Jefferson County. Lorraine Montgomery, Chelsea.

Public intoxication: Gloria J. Sanders, Vincent. Johnny Lee Young, Brierfield. Floyd Earl Prentice, Montevallo. Maxwell Kim Matthews. Olan Junior Wade, Montevallo. James Riley Wallace, Harpersville.

Disorderly conduct: Gordon Lee Ward, Montevallo. A juvenile; also charged with disorderly conduct.

Paternity: Willie Washington, Columbiana.

Hunting violations: Sayward Prince and Lester Anderson, both of Birmingham, for shooting a doe in Lake Purdy.

Court order: Elton Lee Humphrey, surrendered.

New leaders hash over kindergarten issue

Agreeing with a group of mothers who believe kindergarten should be available to every child in the county, newly elected Representative Don Murphy said he didn't think more taxes were the answer.

"There's enough tax coming out of this now," Murphy remarked as he pulled a dollar bill from his wallet. "I think we need to make better use of our tax dollar," he declared.

Murphy, and fledgling Senator Spencer Bachus, were asked to meet Wednesday, with mothers disturbed about the lottery system which determines which five year olds will attend school.

One of the mothers, Myra Davis, has taken the matter to court to have the system declared unconstitutional.

Her suit was filed in District Federal court last month.

Murphy passed on a remark made by State Superintendent of Education Wayne Teague regarding a determination in the courts.

According to Murphy, Teague told participants in a University of Montevallo program that next year, "All the children will attend kindergarten or not any of them will go."

Shelby County has used the lottery system since the necessary funding from the state has never come through.

To provide a statewide kindergarten program, it would cost $41 million, Murphy reported.

It amazed her when she moved here, one mother remarked, that a child's name had to be drawn in order to attend public kindergarten.

"I thought they were kidding," exclaimed the mother.

The school system's coordinator of elementary education, Rebecca Nail, told the group that Alabama is one of only three states in the nation which doesn't have a totally funded public kindergarten program.

Noting the state's low standing on the education ladder, Bachus said that counties aren't required to give enough support to schools.

With seven mills being the minimum amount, Nail reported that the Shelby County school system receives 12 mills from the 17 mills the county collects in ad valorem taxes.

She also informed the group that state law now makes it possible for an additional five mills to be levied without the necessity of any special legislation.

Telling the mothers he was committed to having one of the best educational systems, Bachus said he would work toward having counties collect more money for their school systems.

The group was advised to make their voices heard. "You've got to attend board of education meetings," one of the mothers admonished the others, who admitted they had not been to any.

"People who make the most noise get looked at first," observed another member of the group. Anxious to get a program which will include every eligible child, Nail called kindergarten, "an idea whose time has come."

At the present time, only one third of the approximately 1,000 children in the county are served by the program.

The money from the state provides for 15 classes, each with 20 students.

The board has studied other alternatives to the full day full year program, but have determined that none are feasible.

Proration is going to create a further problem in funding a program which will include everyone, Murphy noted.

But he and Bachus agreed that everyone would benefit if the various levels of education would work cooperatively instead of fighting for the available funding.

The Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

The terms of office of three members of the Auburn University Board of Trustees expire on Dec. 31--R.C. (Red) Bamberg of Uniontown, Charles (Mister) Smith of Montgomery and Bob Harris of Decatur.

Under normal conditions, these three appointments would not attract much attention or interest, but these are not normal conditions on the liveliest village of the Plains these days.

Because of the turmoil surrounding the administration of President Hanly Funderburk as Auburn's president, an enormous amount of interest centers on these appointments.

One question yet to be answered is what action, if any, outgoing Gov. Fob James will take regarding the appointments. He will of course still be governor when the terms expire, and legally can fill the vacancies, either by reappointing the three incumbents or naming three new members. However, since the appointments must be confirmed by the State Senate, and the Senate will not meet until after James leaves office, any appointments he makes likely will be meaningless.

This is precisely what happened when these three Trustees were appointed 12 years ago. Outgoing Gov. Albert Brewer named three trustees of his own liking, but the new Senate did not confirm them. Subsequently Gov. Wallace picked Bamberg, Smith and Harris for the slots.

There are some indications--but no confirmation--that Gov. James will take no action at all regarding the vacancies, and let incoming Gov. Wallace name who he pleases. The incumbents continue to serve until their successors are appointed, so there will be no vacancies if James goes this route.

Who Gov.-elect Wallace names to the board could decide the fate of Dr. Funderburk. Bamberg and Smith have been staunch supporters of Funderburk. Harris has been his chief critic.

Christmas seals will appear on gift tags

There's a break occurring in the tradition of Christmas Seals this year...but it's an exciting departure: For the first time in the history of the American Lung Association's Christmas Seals, there are matching gift tags included on the 1982 Christmas Seal sheet.

As traditions go, the Christmas Seal is a youngster. In just 75 years, this tiny symbol of hope and health has become an integral part of the holiday scene. Yet on December 9, 1907, when the first Christmas Seal was issued in the U.S., many scoffed at the idea of fighting disease with a piece of paper.

The first Christmas Seal was created by Emily Bissell, a social worker, to keep open a small tuberculosis hospital in Delaware. She designed and produced the seal herself, hoping to raise $300. Her drive netted $3,000.

Good ideas spread rapidly. For the next few years, the American Red Cross helped the fledgling voluntary health agency now known as the American Lung Association sponsor a nationwide Christmas Seal Campaign. By 1920 the new agency was able to carry on alone, and red cross on the seal was replaced by the red double-barred cross.

United by this emblem, and the support of generous, concerned Americans, the Christmas Seal People now work to control emphysema, asthma, chronic bronchitis and other lung diseases, while continuing their efforts to eliminate TB from those areas where it still is a threat.

The Jefferson-Shelby Lung Association, with its new Christmas Seal designs featuring gift tags as well as the red double-barred cross, expects the 1982 Christmas Seal Campaign to raise about 75% of the Association's operating funds for the next year.

For more information on Christmas Seals, contact the Jefferson-Shelby Lung Association at 933-8821.

Bridge opened

Montevallo motorists found the road to Alabaster easier Friday. After six weeks, the new Alabama Highway 119 bridge to U.S. 31 was opened. Marking the occasion on a rainy afternoon are from left to right Jack Zuiderhoek, Alabaster street superintendent; Jim Braden of the state highway department; Alabaster Mayor H. A. "Doc" Rubin; and Alabaster Police Chief C.E. "Bull" Carter.

'Bottleneck' bridge reopens

The way from Montevallo to Alabaster is a little safer and quicker now.

At 1 p.m. Friday, a new Highway 119 bridge which joins that road with U.S. 31 was opened to traffic.

The original structure, which was constructed some time in the 1930's, had been closed for six weeks while it was replaced at a cost of $50,000 by the state.

The detour from U.S. 31 to 119, which was forced by the construction project, plagued motorists with slow moving traffic jams through otherwise quiet subdivision streets in the morning and afternoon hours.

But Alabaster Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin called the structure which the new bridge replaces, "frightening."

Police Chief C.E. "Bull" Carter reported that the old bridge with its narrow roadway had been the site of numerous accidents over the years.

According to Jim Braden of the state highway department, the old bridge was 20 feet wide and afforded a road only 18 feet in width.

He said that the new bridge is 36 feet wide and includes a roadway 24 feet in width.

A new feature that the former bridge did not have is pedestrian walkways on each side of the present structure.

On hand for the official opening of the new bridge, Friday, were Jack Zuiderhoek, street superintendent for the city of Alabaster, Braden, Rubin, and Carter.

State highway department paving crews were busy resurfacing Highway 119 just in front of the bridge only minutes before the bridge was opened.

Financing scam leads to charges of theft

Pelham police are charging a Birmingham man with theft after an apparent creative car financing scam.

Eddie Lee Smith, 25, of 17th Avenue South, was charged with first degree theft of property last Thursday by Pelham police. According to Lt. Tommy Thomas, however, Smith has so many charges against him in Birmingham, "It may be a year before we get him down here."

Thomas said Smith's apparent scam worked this way:

On November 23, he went to Strickland's Chevrolet and rented a car. He was given a white, 1977 four-door Aspen -- supposedly for one day.

The next day, instead of returning the Aspen to the Pelham dealer, Smith took it to Royal Oldsmobile in south Jefferson County.

"He told them he wanted his car tuned and would they be so kind as to rent him one while they tuned it," Thomas told the Reporter. So Smith left Strickland's Aspen and drove away in a 1983 Cutlass -- again, supposedly for one day.

Neither car dealer heard from Smith again.

A week later, Strickland's notified Pelham police, who checked with Birmingham lawmen and discovered that Smith was wanted there on five charges, including escape and bad checks.

Working with Pelham and Vestavia police, a Birmingham investigator located Smith and arrested him last Thursday.

Thomas said Pelham added theft charges to Smith's other charges.

Last confederate space studied

Over 130 years, the neoclassical interior of the Alabama State Capitol has been used, revered and periodically refurbished.

Now for the first time, as part of the $14 million interior rehabilitation of the building, a major effort is underway to determine precisely when and how the inside of the Capitol has changed across the decades. William Seale of Alexandria, Virginia, an authority on 19th-century American interior furnishing and design, has been retained to make long range recommendations.

Seale has called the interior of the Alabama State Capitol "the last remaining space of Confederate America." The Senate chamber, where delegates from six seceding states convened on February 4, 1861, to organize the Southern Confederacy, remains fundamentally intact. Discovering as best as can be determined, the "feeling" of this historic room on the eve of the Civil War -- its architectural flavor and its furnishings -- is one of the chief aims of current research. Other major antebellum spaces will come under the same scrutiny, including the House of Representatives, the Rotunda, and the 1861 Governor's suite.

Another objective is to learn as much as possible about such "lost" spaces as the handsome old Supreme Court chamber on the first floor of the Capitol, and the lofty, now-subdivided room in the 1905 South Wing which housed the Department of Archives and History until 1939. The Supreme Court chamber was done away with in 1940 when, following the Court's removal to new headquarters, the East Wing of the Capitol was renovated for office space.

A thoroughgoing paint analysis will also play an important part in the Capitol research project.

The interior of the Capitol was extensively redecorated during the Reconstruction period. Not until 1884-85, however, was a major addition made to the original building, with the extension of the rear wing. During the early 1900s, the Capitol was again enlarged by the addition of wings to either side.

Charles Follen McKim of the prestigious New York architectural firm of McKim, Mead and White was called in for advice. He counseled that the historic central portion of the Capitol be left largely alone, and that the wings be designed so as not to overpower the 1851 section. Since then, the outside design of the Capitol building has remained virtually unchanged.

Operations could change with new mining laws

Changes in Alabama's coal surface mining laws may make a considerable difference in mining operations, according to a monograph published by the University of Alabama office of energy and environmental law.

Under the new Coal Surface Mining Act, the operator must supply water to the owner of the real property if the mining operation disturbs his water supply. The new section also authorizes the use of experimental techniques if adequate environmental protection is available, according to Sarah Kathryn Farnell, director of the office of energy and environmental law.

The new law requires the regulatory authority to establish a planning process for determining areas which are unsuitable for surface mining. Any party with an interest in the land may petition to have an area declared unsuitable or have the designation removed, as explained in the monograph.

To obtain a copy of the monograph, write to the Office of Energy and Environmental Law, Box 6004, University, Ala. 35486.

Shirley Church shows visitors one of the trees that decorate every room of her home on New Hope Mt. Road which was on the Indian Springs Civic Club's Holiday Homes tour.

Civic club home tour aids Attention Home

Neither rain nor cold weather kept the public away from the three North Shelby County homes that were opened over the weekend for a Holiday Homes tour.

As a result of the interest shown, the Attention Home will receive over $1,000 from the Indian Springs Civic Club which sponsored the event.

The homes featured on the three days of the tour were those of Mr. and Mrs. James Estes on Windwood Circle, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Church on New Hope Mt. Road and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Narz on Wildwood Lane.

In addition to ticket sales, proceeds from the event came from craft items and baked goods which were sold at the Estes home.

Montevallo United Methodists plan live nativity scene

The First United Methodist Church of Montevallo will hold its annual live nativity scene next Sunday, December 19.

The youth of the church have produced the reenactment of the birth of Christ for many years, and it has become part of the traditional Christmas festivities in Montevallo.

Special efforts have been made this year to make the production better and more beautiful. New costumes for all actors will be adorned, and the Christmas story will be read according to the gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke as the nativity scene progresses.

Boulevard the donkey of Brierfield; Max the sheep of Calera and Wez the cow of Dogwood, as well as goats, geese, rabbits and chickens will make their annual appearance in the scene.

The church invites everyone to come see and visit this year's live nativity scene. It will be presented from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m.

Pelham seeks zoning change; plans hearing to discuss issue

Pelham is seeking a zoning classification to bridge the gap between general business (B-2) and light manufacturing (M-1).

Mayor Burk Dunaway suggested the change Wednesday at a meeting of the city's planning and zoning board. The board agreed that some change is needed and a public hearing on the issue has been set for the January 12 council meetings.

An amended B-2, or a completely new classification is needed because office/warehouses -- generally considered to be "cleaner" businesses than manufacturing sites -- are required to be built on M-1 land.

The B-2 classification allows most types of business sales, offices, and pickup and delivery. But any time storage or warehouse areas are involved, the laws call for M-1 zoning.

In theory, M-1 zoning is stricter than B-2 because it limits possible manufacturing eyesores from being developed in "clean" business areas.

But "there are some things permitted in B-2 that are, in my opinion, more offensive than M-1," Dunaway told the Reporter. For instance, a building supplies center can store stacks of lumber and other materials in a B-2 zone, if those materials are sold on site.

"We've also had times when someone comes in with a pretty picture of an office/warehouse and asks for M-1 zoning," Dunaway said. "But we've had a few times when nothing was built after we changed the zoning to M-1."

This creates land zoned for manufacturing in an area that may be surrounded by "clean" businesses. But once it's zoned M-1, any type of light manufacturing can legally build there.

"There's a big span or gap between general business and manufacturing," Dunaway said. We need something to handle strictly storage and office developments similar to those being built on Oxmoor Road in Jefferson County."

Dunaway said the need for such zoning has arisen several times since the city drew up zoning in 1973. The classification gap was brought to light most recently by Jim Walter Corporation's attempt to build a model home/office/ storage area on U.S. 31.

The city tentatively turned down a zoning change for that half-million dollar development.

'Wouldn't take no'

Courthouse museum opens

A building constructed in 1854 was dedicated Sunday as a museum for the Shelby County Historical Society.

"They wouldn't take no for an answer," emphasized Probate Judge Tommy Snowden, as he spoke about the society's efforts to secure funding and support for restoring the old Columbiana courthouse.

A crowd estimated at 500 attended the official opening of the building in which remodeling has been completed in two rooms.

Members of the society had refused to give up on their efforts to restore the building despite some setbacks which included the replacement of a new roof which leaked.

According to information contained in a brochure handed out at the opening, contributions of $35,000 have been received from individuals, companies and grants.

The new wood shingle roof, plumbing, rewiring, plastering, painting and the completion of the two rooms used up $30,000 of that amount.

So $5,000 is all the society has on hand to begin the next phase of the work which is the restoration of the building's exterior.

The cost of that project is estimated at $20,000.

Those who attended Sunday's opening previewed what the outside of the building will look like when it's finished. The front section of the courthouse now wears a coat of Historic Tan paint.

A major fund raising drive to complete the restoration will begin in January.

The memorabilia on display for the opening included the bell from the locomotive Alabama, a bow and arrows which had belonged to famed archer Howard Hill, and photographs of notable county figures.

After examining an old tin-type, one youngster who visited the museum exclaimed, "I sure am having fun learning!"

In addition to its use as a museum, the building is also to be a depository for county archives, will serve as a meeting place for the society and other organizations and will include an art gallery.

Montevallo cop is tops with tots

Montevallo police officer Bill Gray was the top money raiser in the Toys for Tots campaign.

With 96 sponsors and a total of $1,500 for his effort, Gray was awarded a first place trophy at Thursday's Fraternal Order of Police meeting.

Deputy sheriff Larry Doss earned a second place award with 75 sponsors and $1,375; Alabaster police sergeant Larry Rollan was third with 30 sponsors who gave $365.

Sonshine Company

Cast members of the Sonshine Company's production of a Christmas play being staged at Pelham United Methodist Church are: Eddy Fogle, Bill Currie, Jean Pryor, Richard McCoy, Kathy Shuleva and Brandon McCoy.

Alabaster Red Cross office takes SHARE applications

Applications for the Project SHARE (Service to Help Alabamians with Relief on Energy) will be accepted by appointment only.

Beginning December 15 the schedule is Monday through Thursday during the hours of 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Shelby County Branch Red Cross office in Alabaster.

The weekly blood collection operation at the Alabaster Red Cross office on each Friday makes it impossible to take SHARE applications on that date because of the limited parking facilities and office space, according to Emily Rabren, director.

London drama cast in Pelham

A drama set in London at the turn of the century will be presented at Pelham's First United Methodist Church Sunday.

Old English carols are woven through the drama and the cast wears period costumes in the R.S. Charlton play entitled, "One Clear Star."

The church's drama group, known as the Sonshine Company, will begin their performance at 6 p.m.

As the play unfolds, several guests pay a Christmas eve visit to an old man whose life is changed by the experience.

Eddy Fogle and Yonna Nobles have the leads in the play which has a cast made up of children, youth and adults.

Jeffrey Todhunter is directing the play with Mary Martin in charge of the music.

Relic of past

County paving crew gets up early to ...

by Fred Guarino

A day in the life of a Shelby County highway department crewman begins early.

The sun is still slumbering when he gets up at 5 a.m. on a December morning.

That bright ball of fire is barely beginning to show its face as the crewman makes his way to the highway department shop on Highway 70 in Columbiana.

And at 6:30 a.m. when he hits the road to perform his daily work it is pretty cold outside.

Thursday morning I joined four members of the county's road patching crew to follow them through what I believed would be a typical day.

We motorists often curse under our breaths or at least complain to ourselves when we drive along a road and unexpectedly hit a pot hole.

"Why don't THEY fix those things", we ask as we imagine that our recent automobile front end alignment was all for naught.

The simple fact is that roads in Shelby County are repaired every day.

Just like the television hit "Hill Street Blues" crewmen and foremen crowd into the county shop to get their daily assignments.

There is some laughter and some kidding around but by 6:30 everyone is on the job.

Thursday began as a cold damp morning. Not one in which work could be done very quickly because potholes must be swept free of water and dried before they can be fixed.

Also, the colder it is outside, the longer it takes to heat tar to the required 150 degree working temperature.

County engineer Gary Ray and assistant engineer Hilry King told Lewis Embry Gowers that they wanted his crew to go the Three Mile Hill near Chelsea to heat up their tar.

They wanted the crew to go along county 47 to Highway 280 filling in potholes and repairing edging.

From there, the crew was to cut through county 14 and go down county 29 to the intersection of Indian Crest Drive and Valleydale, and along Coshatt Road doing whatever needed to be done.

Outside the county shop I met Marvin Mizzell, who served as driver of the gravel truck. I learned that I would be riding with him.

I also met Chris Holsomback who would be the flagman, and George Watson who shoveled gravel as they prepared to board the tar truck.

Gowers would select the spots to be fixed and after they were filled with gravel would pour a bucket of tar over them.

Watson and Mizzell would apply more gravel.

The patching crew has a varied responsibility, King said. He pointed out that they not only fix potholes but repair road edges and alligator cracking in pavement.

I was surprised when I learned that before the day's work could even begin Mizzell had to drive 11 miles to Calera to pick up a truck load of gravel from Vulcan Materials.

On the way there I learned that he had been with the county for the past ten years and that he really preferred chert hauling to patching potholes.

Mizzell told me that the men would work from 6:30 until 3 p.m.

He said of patching work, "It wouldn't be so bad if you didn't have to do it every day, but it gets old."

I also discovered that while the truck we were riding in did run, it was certainly not in the best of shape.

Everytime we slowed down I could hear the banging of backfires from the exhaust.

When I dropped my pen on the floorboard, I discovered that in some spots there was no floorboard.

At Vulcan Materials, Mizzell pulled under a large shoot and loaded 15,200 pounds of gravel.

Before we left the site, he pulled his truck over and removed excess gravel from the edges. He commented, "A boy a while back said I broke his windshield (with flying gravel) but I don't believe I did."

He also told me that the truck we were riding in had been a good one for the past two or three years and that it was 12 years old.

"It needs a new distributor cap. Maybe it will come in tomorrow," he said as we headed to Three Mile Hill.

Upon arrival at the spot near Chelsea, I was surprised to see something like a flame thrower lying on the ground.

It in fact was a kerosene torch used to heat the tar pump.

As we waited for the tar to reach its 150 degree temperature, Gowers told me that it normally takes 30 to 45 minutes to heat up the 700 gallons used in a day's work.

I learned that the tar truck was about 17 years old and was the oldest highway department vehicle still in use.

About using hot tar, Gowers said, "If you don't let it out right, it will get on you."

If it does?

"You had better let it cool before you peel it off or it will take your hide."

Holsomback who had been quiet most of the morning said of his work (he usually sprays tar) "It's a messy job but it is one of them" (a job at all).

I noticed as we stood in the cold morning that the crewmen had no barrel to heat wood in to keep warm.

Gowers told me to sit in the truck if I was cold but that he and his crew were used to working in even cooler weather.

He said, "We don't have room for a barrel on the truck. When it gets real cold we eat our lunch in the trucks."

Conversation ranged from the takeover of the Washington Monument to the arms race between the U.S. and Russia as we waited on the tar to heat.

By 8:35 a.m. fully loaded with gravel and a hot supply of tar, we were off.

Mizzell set up a man at a work sign near Chelsea which stayed in place until county 47 was completed.

He said that county does that so that people will have fair warning that work is being done on the road.

In Chelsea, Holsomback waved traffic around the trucks as the gravel and tar were applied.

One car ignored his signals and pulled in front of another. He just shook his head.

Holsomback told me, "There are some crazy people on the highways."

"In Alabaster one time I had three cars stopped, and the middle car came on out around the first and barely missed an oncoming truck I had flagged on by."

"That beats anything I've seen."

The flagman said, "He just didn't pay attention, he was in such a hurry. A lot of people see and just ignore you."

County 47 was completed by 9:36 and we moved on to county 14 where a couple of dug out spots in the road were fixed.

At the intersection of county 29 and Indian Crest Drive the crew repaired several potholes in a cluster.

A large hole in the middle of the road was left because Gowers decided we didn't have enough flagmen to handle the traffic.

Usually the highway department assigns a prisoner to serve as flagman.

While we were in the area, Gowers decided to do a little work on Bailey Cemetery Road.

We broke for 30 minute lunch at a local grocery store, looked at a few Christmas trees for sale, then then went right back to work.

At 11:30 we arrived at Coshatt Road and at the first stop, something went wrong.

The chain broke on the tar pump and efforts to fix it with wire failed.

To top that off, the sprocket on which the chain needed to go had broken as well.

Watson, who hadn't had much to say all day, spoke up at this point. He commented, "These trucks are made for working not for mechanical repair. When they break down we've got to call a mechanic or take them in."

Holsomback, who helped me look for the missing parts of the broken chain said, "The trucks aren't properly repaired."

There were no tools on the tar truck or any spare parts which would do the job.

After all efforts to save the day with the wire were exhausted, Gowers suggested that the crew go in to see if the truck could be fixed.

Watson had spoken earlier of the tar truck, "You see all of that smoke coming out of it on the road. There is just as much inside."

At the county shop it was learned that the truck could not be fixed in time to go back out on the road.

Gowers gave Holsomback some cases of oil to keep the trucks running smooth and suggested that the men go ahead and gas them up and fill the tar truck for the next day.

While the crew with which I worked did not get to put its full eight hours on the road, the work they did was well performed.

Every hole was properly filled with gravel and leveled. Gowers took great pains to see that tar was coated over them evenly. And the crew made sure each got a good second coating of stone.

We had done what we were assigned to do until we reached our last destination on Coshatt Road.

Anything after that would have been gravy as Gowers had planned to fix what he could on the way in.

Normally a paving crew goes out at 6:30 and gets in at 2:30 to prepare for the next day's work with gas and tar.

Thursday they got ready for tomorrow early but the men had earned their pay.

Highway crewmen work on a salary which is paid every two weeks...not hours.

Marvin Mizzell revealed that he makes $325 every two weeks.

Sweeping

Filling potholes after a heavy rain adds extra work to that of county paving crew members. Before gravel and hot tar can be applied, the hole must be swept clear of water. George Watson found himself having to do this often Thursday. He did this work at the intersection of Indian Crest Drive and county 29 in North Shelby County.

Patching

Embry Gowers applies a hot coating of tar to fresh gravel applied by Marvin Mizzell and George Watson. The chore is repeated many times a day by Shelby County paving crew members.

Alabaster tries again; parade rescheduled

Alabaster's second annual Christmas Parade will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday, December 18, according to spokesperson, Doris Peacock.

The parade, first scheduled for Dec. 4, was postponed because of rain until Dec. 11. Then on that date once again the 'rains came tumblin' down.' So, the parade was again postponed.

This Saturday, however, the parade is scheduled to begin at Wal Mart and feature several Shelby Countians. Among those scheduled to appear are: Shelby County officials, various groups of Girl Scouts, the sheriff's department, beauty queens, antique cars, floats, clowns, and a special appearance by Santa Claus who will arrive on a firetruck.

Frills and fun for everyone are expected, and the public is urged to attend.

Top fireman

Montevallo Councilman Grady Parker congratulates recipients of fire department awards.

They are: Claud Elledge, Tony Hall, Alan Blackmon, and Dr. David Martin.

Firefighting experience adds up

Two hundred fifty eight years of service add up to a dedicated fire department.

But the 35 Montevallo volunteer firemen whose years with the department add up to that total, took time out Saturday night to celebrate the Christmas season and honor one of their number.

UM faculty member, Dr. David Martin, was named Fireman of the Year.

In presenting the award, Chief Mike Mahan referred to the qualities of leadership displayed by Martin as well as his outstanding attitude.

"From the day he walked in, he acted like someone who had been here 20 years," Mahan observed.

Five year plaques were presented to Allen Blackmon, Claude Elledge, Clarence Stone and David Webb.

Although it's seldom done, two Montevallo men were made honorary members of the department as an expression of appreciation for their service.

The honor was bestowed on Tony Hall for giving firemen instruction on how to drive the fire trucks. Chuck Moyer, from the University of Montevallo, was given honorary membership for his help with the annual fish fries and with other events where food is served.

What Does Jesus Teach

I appreciate the attention all of you have given these articles. I am looking forward to continuing the series and hope you will tell more people about it. I would like to show you a 5 part film strip, or if you prefer simply start a Bible study with you in your home, or mine, or if more convenient at the church building.

We also have a Bible correspondence course available. Each of the 5 film strips can be conveniently shown in your home, or mine, or at the church building as well. If you are interested in seeing the film strip series, each one about an hour long, or the Bible study, or the correspondence course, won't you please call or write me.

A warm welcome awaits you at the Church of Christ at South Columbiana.

Gundy to receive UM award

The President's Award for Distinguished Public Service at the University of Montevallo will go this year to Dr. Howard Gundy, chancellor of the Alabama State Postsecondary Department.

Gundy will receive the award during UM's fall commencement Saturday, Dec. 18, beginning at 3 p.m. He will also be the commencement speaker.

The first chancellor of Alabama's junior colleges and technical colleges has been in Alabama since 1966, when he was named dean of the School of Social Work at the University. The deanship was the first of a number of positions he held at Alabama until he became special assistant to the governor for education in September 1981.

Lister Hill Proctor

Concerned legislator receives UM honor

State Sen. Lister Hill Proctor combines the best qualities of a legislator and votes for what's best for the state, Lt. Gov.-elect Bill Baxley said at a testimonial dinner in Proctor's honor.

"He's not a Baxley man, or a McMillan man, a Wallace man or a Fob James man," Baxley said during the Lister Hill Proctor Day dinner at the University of Montevallo. "He's going to do what he thinks is best."

Baxley said few legislators are as knowledgeable in a number of important concerns — education, health, state budgets and law.

Proctor's agreeing to co-chair the legislative reapportionment committee, Baxley said, "also speaks of what kind of person he is."

Lt. Gov. George McMillan said that no member of the Legislature is more highly respected than Proctor. McMillan also praised Janice Proctor, his wife, for her involvement in a number of public issues. "In honoring Lister, we honor Janice, because their involvement in public life is a joint endeavor."

Proclamations declaring Lister Hill Proctor Day were presented to the honoree by Montevallo Mayor Ralph Sears, by Shelby County Probate Judge Tommy Snowden and by Jacksonville State University President Theron Montgomery, on behalf of Gov. Fob James. Proctor is a JSU alumnus.

A desk set of Sylacauga marble was given to Proctor by the University. Montevallo lawyer Steve Sears gave the Proctors a portable color television and gave Mrs. Proctor a string of pearls as a gift from members of the community.

The dinner capped a "What's right in public education in Alabama" program all-day on campus — a program that brought top educators and politicians from around the state.

In addition to Baxley and McMillan, other elected state officials who attended some of the day's events included Sen. Spencer Bachus, Rep. Don Murphy, Sen. Bill Menton, Sen. Hinton Mitchem, Rep. Sonny Moore, Rep. Curtis Smith, Sen. Roger Bedford, Sen. John Teague and Rep. Jim Preuitt. Former legislators at the day's events included former Sen. Paschal P. Vacca and former Sen. Charlie Britnell.

Some financial institutions, like Supermarkets and Department stores, use advertising leaders to get you in their doors by offering you exceptionally high interest rates on MONEY MARKET ACCOUNTS. While this is not illegal in most cases, they fail to inform you that within a few days the rate will probably drop considerably (perhaps 50% or more). You should consider opening your accounts where the bank is going to furnish you with all the information you need to make a decision without gimmicks or deception.

For straight talk and concise, clear information, come to First American Bank, 3000 Highway 31 South in Pelham. We too offer the NEW MONEY MARKET SAVINGS PLAN at competitive interest rates. Making your F.D.I.C. Insured Monies accessible and letting your monies work for you are just two more new ways to make your money count. Call our Investment Hot Line 663-4750 everyday except Sunday.

NICHOLAS MORGAN
Nicholas William Morgan, son of Mike and Sharon Morgan of Maylene, celebrated his first birthday on Saturday, December 11.

This special event was highlighted by a Mickey Mouse birthday party at the home of his maternal grandparents, Jimmie and Clifford Bradford of Huntsville.

The birthday boy had another party that same evening at the home of his other grandparents, Alice and Bill Morgan, also of Huntsville.

TIFFANY NOBLE
Tiffany Paige Noble celebrated her first birthday on Tuesday, December 14 with a Strawberry Shortcake birthday party in Pelham with several friends.

Tiffany is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Noble of Alabaster. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Noble of Sweet Home, Oregon.

by Iris F. Smitherman
The adult choir and children's choir of the Wilsonville Baptist Church will present a Christmas cantata entitled "An Old Fashioned Christmas" on Sunday night, December 19 at 7 p.m.

The cantata was written by Don Wyrzten and Phil and Lynne Bower, and the songs and narration tell about Christmas as it was in the past.

Solos will be presented by Connie Morris, Susan Johnston, Bill Thompson, and Tommie Ann Edwards. The narration will be read by Rev. Vellie Biddle, pastor of Wilsonville Methodist Church and by Suzanne Carder.

Rev. Etzel Riddle, pastor, and Chuck Johnston, minister of music, extend a cordial invitation to everyone to attend.

A nursery will be provided.

Seniors citizens of Vincent were entertained by the Dixieland Band of Calera on December 11 for their annual Christmas party.

The menu was a covered dish supper and the event was held at the recreation hall.

Congratulations to Lydia Austin of Wilsonville and Sharon Davis of Chelsea, who passed their licensure exam for practical nursing recently.

Both are 1982 graduates of N.F. Nunnally State Technical School in Childersburg.

La Petite Academy on Valleydale Road, has a replica of Santa Claus riding with the children when they are transported to and from elementary school, and field trips from now until Christmas Eve day.

On Christmas Eve morning the children will have their morning snack with Santa, and all children 6 weeks to 12 years accompanied by an adult are invited to attend.

If you have any news of social interest please call Iris at 669-2731 during office hours. Deadline: noon Mondays.

Mrs. Matel O'Conner celebrated her 80th birthday on December 11 with a party.

Attending were sisters, brother, nieces, great nieces, nephews, great nephews, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Happy Anniversary to Gerald and Connie Grier of Columbiana who will celebrate their first wedding anniversary tomorrow, December 17.

The Busy Bee sewing club of Vincent recently held their Christmas party and enjoyed an evening of good food and fellowship.

The club prepared and delivered 16 Thanksgiving baskets to shut-ins in the Vincent area last month.

Happy birthday to Joe Smitherman of Wilton on December 18.

Charles and Terry Crawford hosted a housewarming at their new home in Oak Mtn. Estates, Pelham.

Approximately 35 people visited the couple on the evening of December 11.

"The First Christmas" a cantata written by Joe Parkes will be presented this Sunday, December 19 at 7 p.m. by the adult choir of Calvary Baptist Church.

The musical is under the direction of the church minister of music, Jimmy Gill.

Everyone is invited to attend. The church is located on Hwy 231 just north of Vincent.

Union Hill FWB Church ladies auxiliary have scheduled a craft and bake sale for December 18. Handmade gifts for Christmas will be on sale from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. rain or shine.

The church is located one mile north of Watson Grocery on Hwy 25.

Mrs. Gladys Lawley of Pea Ridge celebrated her 80th birthday December 11, with her grandson, Dane Lawley of Chelsea, who also had a birthday on Saturday.

The two were honored with a small party at the home of Mrs. Lawley's son, and Mr. Lawley's father, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Lawley of Pea Ridge.

LESLIE ATTAWAY
Clanton girl receives scholarship

Leslie Attaway, granddaughter of Mrs. Vernon Attaway and Mrs. Flora Nelson of Alabaster, has won a scholarship to Huntingdon College valued at $1500. The scholarship is renewable each year.

She plans to pursue the dual degree program which permits her to attend Huntingdon for three years and Auburn University for two years. She will earn a BS degree at Huntingdon and ultimately a BS in science and engineering from Auburn.

Miss Attaway is a senior at Chilton County High School where she is active in several organizations. She lives in Clanton with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Attaway.

Bulldog bite gives Thompson scare

by Fred Guarino

Storied basketball matches between the Bulldogs of Montevallo and the Warriors of Thompson are no longer buried in antiquity. Thoughts of such games between the county rivals had to be revived Friday night.

Playing at the University of Montevallo gym, the two teams duked it out to a hair raising 50-46 finale.

The UM gym had been the site of such battles in past years because high school facilities were not large enough to hold the crowds that came to see them.

Friday night the gym was being used simply to afford players the opportunity to play on a college floor.

But something was in the air before the modern day battle got underway.

Thompson came to the UM campus with a brilliant 6-2 record, losing only to a super Abrams squad and barely falling to cross-river power house Sylacuaga.

Coach Thomas Johnson pointed out that prior to the game Arthur Johnson would be returning to action Tuesday night and Luvell Bivins is already working with the squad.

Johnson was the leading scorer and rebounder for the Warriors prior to last season.

Johnson indicated proudly that in coming weeks, his team should be growing stronger to an unstoppable pitch.

However, Montevallo, which was not given much chance to win Friday, brought a 4-1 record to the floor.

Considering that the Bulldogs had played two less games than Thompson, their record was technically even with that of the Warriors. Each team had won 75 percent of their 1982 contests.

The Warriors quieted a large band of Bulldog supporters by winning the B team game 48-27 and girls basketball contest 41-29.

The varsity teams gave Bulldog fans even less to cheer about as the Warriors scored ten points before Montevallo ever put a single basketball through the hoop.

Thompson upped its lead by as much as 14 points in the first period 18-4 before the Bulldogs began to bite their way back.

The first stanza saw Thompson lead 18-9.

The Warriors held on to a 15 point lead at one point in the second period and took an 11 point advantage into the dressing room at half time.

The tempo of the contest and the mood of the crowd did not change much through the third period.

The Warriors still led by 14, 44-30. But the fourth period would prove a shocker.

The Bulldogs only allowed Thompson four points as they closed the scoring gap to six points 48-42.

Each team suffered turnovers until 53 seconds remained in the battle and the Warriors led 48-44.

The Warriors and the Bulldogs fought each other with vengeance until the final horn sounded and Thompson led 50-46.

In one entire period, the Warriors had been allowed only six points and the Bulldogs had scored 16.

The top men for Montevallo were J. J. Moore who put 13 points on the board and Taylor Blackwell who pushed ten points through.

For the Warriors who had escaped with only their skin, Chris Thomas made 14 points.

The match up left the Warriors 7-3 on the season and dropped Montevallo to 4-2. But the contest will not be one soon forgotten.

Chelsea wins first tourney

The Chelsea Hornets have won their first basketball tournament in history.

After losing to Montevallo 36-50 Tuesday a week ago, the Hornets took the title in a tournament played in Fayetteville, Friday and Saturday night.

Chelsea beat Donoho 67-44 Friday and Saturday defeated Fayetteville in the finals 82-74.

Ken O'Shields led his team in scoring both nights with efforts of 24 and 27 points.

He was followed by Greg Conkle who scored 21 points Friday and 17 points Saturday.

Steve Shelton scored 14 points Friday and 12 points Saturday.

Jock Efferson contributed 10 points to the squad in finals action.

Named to the all tournament team for Chelsea were O'Shields and Conkle.

The team is coached by Mike Sims.

The Calera Eagles are hosting a basketball tournament this week.

The Calera Classic got underway Monday night and will wind up with final action Thursday.

Teams participating are Calera, Montevallo, Shelby County, Briarwood and Chelsea.

Rain or shine...Oak Mountain is great place for fishing

by Fred Guarino

County fishermen who have not tried their luck at Oak Mountain State Park are missing a very good deal.

A fisherman can go to Oak Mountain empty handed and come back with a stringer full, as well as with all the equipment it takes to participate in the sport for life.

He or she might also qualify for some pretty good benefits.

But before getting into what is available in the way of supplies, equipment, licenses and facilities, let's look at the fishing itself.

The two fishing lakes at Oak Mountain are called simply, lower lake and upper lake.

The lower lake is stocked with bream, bass and crappie. The upper lake is stocked with bream, bass and catfish.

Frank Holler who serves as facility operator of the park's fishing center, said Wednesday, "The fishing has been real good."

"Crappie are hitting in the middle of the lower lake on minnows and jigs, and bream are hitting along the banks on mealy and red worms."

Holler admitted that fishermen have not been doing quite as well with bass.

However, he pointed out that bass must be at least 16 inches in length before they can be kept.

Barbara Campbell, who serves as fishing center account clerk, reported that no particular depth could be revealed for crappie fishing.

She said, "You just throw your bait out and they hit."

She added that catfish have been doing very well in the upper lake.

According to Campbell, two Oak Mountain regulars always take home big cats every time they go fishing.

It was not that I did not trust Barbara and Frank but Wednesday was a gloomy, rainy day and I just had to see some fishermen reeling in those big ones for myself.

Seeing only a few people braving the weather, I really did not expect to confirm the glowing fishing reports.

But I was in for a surprise! The first man I walked up to was Edwin Lusk of the Indian Springs area.

Lusk was fitted out with a rain suit and had two rods firmly planted in the lower lake bank. At his feet was a stringer with some four or five frying pan sized bream on it.

He told me that he wasn't having too much luck, but on Friday he had caught the limit of 20 bream.

After seeing Lusk throw back a few fish I would have kept, I was beginning to believe Holler and Campbell's stories.

But I started having my doubts again when Chuck Byars and E. A. Dyer, both of Birmingham, pulled up in a boat with no fish.

Dyer told me as the rain fell, "This was an ideal day for fishing but they were just not biting."

Ideal day? According to Dyer, "On a rainy kind of day I'd rather be fishing than when the sun is shining."

However, my doubts about fishing at Oak Mountain disappeared again when Byars said that on Friday he and Dyer caught 50 crappie and eight or ten bream.

The next fellow I met, I just could not believe.

The rain was beginning to fall harder and Frank Nettles of Birmingham was just getting started.

He was wearing a rain suit, holding an umbrella and a can I thought was full of crickets.

I soon learned that the can contained large evil looking roaches.

I turned to Lusk, who was still holding his ground in the rain. He just smiled and told me that not too many years ago he too fished with roaches. He said they would probably work pretty well as bream bait.

At that point, Nettles, who had been quietly putting a large roach on his hook turned and said, "Fishing is relaxing to your mind. All of your problems are out there." He pointed in some direction which I took to be the rippling waters of the lake.

As I stood by, Nettles began to haul in one bream after another. And, instead of putting them on his stringer, he caught them so fast that he just tossed them on the ground behind him.

He later volunteered, "A bream is a fascinating fish. He likes to throw his weight around."

I learned from Nettles that he does not like to eat fish but catches them to sell. He also told me that he raises his own roaches.

"What do you feed them?" I asked.

He responded matter of factly, "Bread, tomatoes and lettuce. They eat anything, including each other."

If the bream catching results Wednesday were not enough to convince you that the fishing is good at Oak Mountain, consider this...

Inside the fishing center is a wall which holds five large mounted bass and one giant mounted bream. All were caught at Oak Mountain.

Two of the bass are over 10 pounds in weight each. Three of them are over eight pounds each and the bream is nearly two pounds.

One of the ten pounders was caught by Oak Mountain golf pro Tommy Truss.

What about the benefits?

To fish Oak Mountain lakes, a fee of $1.50 per day is charged for adults and 75 cents for children ages 6-11.

Boats which include paddles are $2.40 per day; life preservers are 50 cents each; and boat launching is one dollar.

No gasoline engines are allowed.

If you are a senior citizen, you can fish for 75 cents and rent a boat for $1.25.

Just by proving you are 65 or older, you get a lifetime card for price breaks as well as 50 percent off the cost of camping, golf green fees, swimming and tennis.

The card also allows free admission to any state park in Alabama and 50 percent off comparable activities.

The benefits are also provided for disabled veterans.

A disabled non veteran can qualify if he or she is confined to a wheel chair.

The discounts also apply toward monthly or annual fishing permits for the lakes.

The annual and monthly permits are a bargain for anyone. However, the prices for them cannot be revealed as they are subject to frequent change.

Campbell said, "If we told everyone, they would buy them and we would lose money."

It took THS 50 years but trophy arrives

A half-century ago, Thompson High School put together its first ever football team.

This year, THS put together its best ever football team. The 1982 Warriors captured the state 3A crown by beating Oxford 14-11 in the championship finals December 3.

Both teams will be honored at 1:30 p.m., Friday, in the school gym during the presentation of the State Championship trophy.

The public is invited to share in the celebration.

The trophy will be presented by Bubba Scott, executive director of the Alabama High School Athletic Association.

On hand will be J.T. Greene, coach of the first Warrior teams in 1932, '33 and '34. Greene now lives in Lanett.

THS principal Allen Fulton said a number of Greene's players will also be recognized. Anyone who played football for Thompson during Greene's three years is urged to attend Friday, Fulton said.

Numerous county dignitaries will also be on hand to help celebrate 50 years of Thompson football.

County teams see hoop action

While Chelsea was winning its first basketball tournament and Thompson was defeating Montevallo, other county teams saw action this weekend.

In contests played through Monday afternoon:

Calera defeated Altamont

50-47 and lost to Alabama Christian 48-52.

Coosa Valley lost to Minor 44-67.

Briarwood beat Gilmore Bell 56-33 and lost to Trinity 51-52.

Pelham defeated Vincent 69-42 and lost to Childersburg 54-57.

Shelby Academy lost to Berney Points 39-40 and lost to Bessemer Faith 40-49.

Shelby County defeated Clanton 52-49 and beat Jemison 68-48.

Indian Springs fell to Fayetteville 49-71 and lost to Altamont 51-53.

Montevallo defeated Chelsea 50-36 and lost to Thompson 46-50.

Vincent lost to Pelham 40-69 and defeated Winterboro 64-42.

Oak Mountain has fishing deal

In addition, a pavillion for company picnics and family reunions can be rented for $35 per day, complete with restrooms.

Thirty-six outdoor picnic tables are available free of charge.

Inside the fishing center fishing permits can be purchased as well as regular hunting and fishing licenses, fishing tackle, fishing equipment, snacks and soft drinks.

A regular Alabama fishing license is required for fishing at Oak Mountain.

The lakes are open seven days a week from 7 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Considering that Oak Mountain is located in Shelby County, it is strange to note that 95 percent of the fishing patrons are from Birmingham.

Seems like somebody is missing out on a very good deal.

Trapping is way to earn hard cash

How would you like to enjoy the great outdoors and earn some hard cash at the same time?

If this sounds too good to be true or like a ploy to trick you out of something, it is not.

Even better, Shelby Countians can participate.

Bobcat and otter trapping and hunting season is open and pelts from these animals can bring anywhere from $45 to $80 each, depending on market demands.

In Shelby County, the trapping season will remain open for bobcat and otter until February 20, 1983 and the hunting season, which corresponds to that for deer, will remain open until January 18, 1983.

But there is a catch.

Before a bobcat or otter can be trapped, a trapping license, which costs $7.40, must be purchased.

And before they can be shot for sale, a regular hunting license must be purchased in addition to the trapping license for $10.25.

But that is not all.

Before a bobcat or otter pelt can be sold, it must be tagged by the game and fish division of the Alabama Department of Conservation.

If you think this is ridiculous information and believe the animals cannot be found in Shelby County, you are wrong.

Last year three bobcat pelts were tagged from Shelby County and they were sold for $45 to $50 each.

The pelts are used for the making of fur coats.

According to game and fish director Charles D. Kelley, trappers can have their pelts tagged in the Montgomery area.

The tagging will be done in room 737 of the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources in Montgomery between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. each Wednesday.

December 22 is the only exception for the period of December 8 through March 16, 1983.

Arrangements for pelt tagging should be made by contacting the locally assigned conservation enforcement officer. For Shelby County they are Doyle Wood and Richard Atkins.

Speedway schedule announced

Alabama International Motor Speedway General Manager Don Naman has announced the 1983 race schedule for the 2.66-mile superspeedway in Talladega.

Heading the list are the two NASCAR Winston Cup races, the Winston 500 on May 1st, and the Talladega 500 on July 31.

"We want all of our fans to be aware of a slight change in our scheduling," said Naman.

"In years past, we have run our two Winston Cup events on the first Sunday in May and the first Sunday in August, and people have gotten used to reserving those dates well in advance. This year, the Talladega 500 will be run on the last Sunday in July, not the first Sunday in August."

For the second year in a row, ARCA late model stock car races will be on the same weekend as the Winston Cup events. The Talladega super car series will be a AIMS for the ARCA 500 (500 kilometers) on Saturday, April 30, and for the ARCA 200 (200 miles) on Saturday, July 30.

"The Talladega super car series is growing by leaps and bounds, and is quickly becoming the most popular Saturday racing we have ever had here at Talladega," declared Naman.

Leading off the 1983 schedule will be the Honda Pro-Am Motorcycle Championships on March 19-20, sanctioned by AMA and featuring some of the top cycle racers in the nation.

The other event on the '83 calendar will be the World Karting Association's Enduro Paint race on April 23-24.

"Racing at Talladega is the most exciting in the world, whether it be cars, cycles or karts, and we feel that our 1983 schedule is appealing, with something for every type of racing enthusiast," concluded Naman.

Montevallo hosts World Series

A World Series is again coming to the University of Montevallo's Kermit A. Johnson Field.

The 1983 Dizzy Dean Juniors World Series, with teams from Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, Maryland and Alabama, will be played here July 23-28.

Dizzy Dean Juniors Baseball includes 15 and 16-year-olds. The state juniors tournament will be played here, also, July 15-20. The Alabama winner will represent the state in the nine-team double elimination World Series. The ninth team is the host team, and Hoover will be the official host team for both tournaments.

Hueytown is the defending World Series champion in the junior division.

That championship game was played here last year during the seniors World Series because of heavy rains in Jackson, Miss., the site of last year's juniors tournaments.

The seniors state and World Series tournaments were at UM last year, with the Hoover seniors team (17 and 18-year-olds) winning the championship.

The University of Montevallo's athletic booster organization, the Falcon Club, is sponsoring the tournament, according to UM baseball coach Bob Riesener.

"The Montevallo field is one of the finest fields I've ever seen for college play, E.C. 'Buttermilk' Johnson, said.

Johnson, of Huntsville, is treasurer and administrative assistant to the commissioner of Dizzy Dean Baseball Inc. "We had three tournaments in Starkville, Miss. (Mississippi State University), and we always thought Starkville was the greatest until we came down there (Montevallo). Coach Riesener and the whole bunch just do a great job on everything."

Basketball game has no losers

A basketball game has actually been played in Shelby County in which there were no losers.

No, the game was not stopped with a tied score. Basketball doesn't work that way.

But the object of this game was not to win. It was instead to raise money for the Shelby County Attention Home.

To achieve that goal, a Birmingham radio station squared off its team against the Shelby Medical Center "Shots" at Thompson High School, Monday, Dec. 6.

When the scoreboard went dark the radio station held on to a 48-46 win. But more importantly, $119 had been raised.

Coaches for the Shots were Gene Deal and David Carter.

Team members were: Gary Martin, Mike Dozier, Robin Demass, Perry McClain, Scott McKinney, George Burns, Harry Harris and Jeff Hassett.

Falcons set new school record

The Falcons basketball team set a school record when it posted its ninth straight win by beating David Lipscomb College 83-74.

The old record was eight set during the 1980-81 season.

The win over the Bisons came in the first game of the AUM Senator Classic in Montgomery as Montevallo dropped the championship game to host Auburn-Montgomery 57-55.

Montevallo (9-1) had its best shooting night of the season against David Lipscomb hitting 59% (30-51) from the field including a sizzling 67% (16-24) in the second half.

The Falcons were paced by seniors Joe Hall 31 points and Clint Stewart 12, sophomore Alonzo Williams 12 and senior Emory Wells with 11.

Montevallo outrebounded David Lipscomb 36-25 with Hall grabbing a game high eight.

Freshman Kennedy King came off the bench and scored six points (3-3) and pulled down seven rebounds in the second half.

In the championship game against Auburn-Montgomery the Falcons shot 48% (24-50) and were outrebounded 32-24 but the difference in the game was the charity stripe. AUM was 13-24 from the line while Montevallo was 7-11.

Junior Anthony Glaude with 12 points and Hall with 11 led the Falcons while junior Richard Dorsey had six rebounds.

Montevallo co-captain Joe

Hall playing in his hometown of Montgomery turned in a fine tournament and was tabbed to the All-Tournament team. He scored 42 points, shot 65% (12-17), grabbed 11 rebounds and dished out three assists.

The Falcons return to action January 3 when they travel to Georgia Southwestern followed by conference games at Alabama-Huntsville (Jan. 6) and Athens State (Jan. 8).

Rifle may be ideal gift

At this time of the year individuals are scurrying about in an effort to come up with the ideal gift.

If your special person is a teenager who has developed an interest in hunting, you might be thinking of a hunting rifle or shotgun as an appropriate gift.

For the novice hunter it is imperative that he be trained in the fundamentals of firearm safety before he goes into the field. A starting point would be to have him enroll in a hunter safety education course.

The Game and Fish Division of the Conservation Department sponsors hunter safety education. To obtain the name of the course instructor in your county, contact the Game and Fish Division at 832-6304, or 64 North Union Street, Montgomery, AL 36130.

Some of the ways to do business with us are changing.

But we're still as close as your phone.

The telephone industry is changing—reorganizing. That means more options for you. And some changes in the way you do business with us. If you've done business with us lately, you may have gone to one of our retail outlets. Now, if you need help with phone service, call us first.

Call a South Central Bell service representative if you want to:

- order new phone service.
- change your existing service.
- disconnect your service.
- ask a question about your bill.
- exchange or return sets purchased or leased from South Central Bell. (We cannot exchange or take back sets purchased or leased from other suppliers.)

Call South Central Bell's repair service if you have trouble with your service or with a phone set that is leased from South Central Bell. (For service or repair of phone sets that you own—whether they came from South Central Bell or another supplier—you should follow the warranty instructions or other maintenance arrangement made at the time of purchase.)

You'll find the phone numbers for your service representative and repair service in the front of the South Central Bell phone book. When you call us, in many cases we'll be able to complete your business or solve your problem while you're on the phone. In other cases, we may offer to mail equipment or parts to you. Or you may be referred to a phone company service center to complete your transaction. If so, we'll tell you where the nearest one is and when it's open.

Some things won't change. During 1983 South Central Bell will still provide you with dependable local and long distance phone service. We'll continue to be responsible for phones that residence and business customers now lease from us. And we'll continue to lease telephones (and to sell some selected phones) as long as they're available from inventory. (With regulatory approval, we do plan to offer single-line residence and business customers the option of buying telephones that are now leased from us.)

There'll be more changes in the telephone industry in the coming year or so as South Central Bell and other Bell operating companies are separated from AT&T and reorganized into regional companies. This change in organization, to take place in 1984, will affect significantly how you get and use telecommunications services.

But no matter how things change, South Central Bell is committed to seeing that certain things remain the same. We'll still have good, dependable people and the same goal: providing you with the best, most advanced telephone service at reasonable rates.

We'll keep you informed. But in the meantime, if you have any questions about the changes in the industry or about how to do business with us now, call 1 800 555-5000, toll free, 10 a.m.-11 p.m., Central Time, Monday through Friday. Or write for a free brochure, "Let's Talk About Change."

Bond at $225,000

Rock thrower winds up behind bars

by David F. Moore

A Siluria man was arrested after allegedly hurling a rock through the front window of a Main Street lounge in Alabaster. His charges, however, are more serious than vandalism, and his bond is set at at $225,000.

James Lloyd Smith, 27, of Siluria is charged with the attempted burglary of the VFW lodge, the burglary of Okay Pawn Shop in Alabaster, and possession of a firearm after felony convictions.

Smith, who has previous convictions for burglaries and thefts dating back to 1980, was most recently arrested October 5, 1982 for a breakin at Pelham Tire.

According to circuit clerk of-fice files, Smith's $35,000 bond on that incident was reduced. On October 28, he was released on $20,000 bond to await court proceedings.

According to accounts from Alabaster Sgt. Larry Rollan, Smith's latest charges came about this way:

Last Wednesday night Alabaster police received an anonymous tip that someone would break into the VFW lounge on Main Street after closing that night.

Six Alabaster officers staked out the building shortly before it closed about 11:45.

Nearly an hour later a man walked around from the alley in back of Main Street and hurled a rock through the window facing U.S. 31.

"Freeze!" one of the officers yelled.

The man ran.
Rollan told the Reporter that
Lt. Leroy Davis fired two warning shots into the air. The man ducked between two buildings and threw a gun down on the ground.

Police found Smith between the two buildings and arrested him.

At the police station, they discovered that the 9mm automatic pistol found between the buildings matched the description of one of five guns stolen from Okay Pawn Shop in Alabaster. Smith was subsequently charged with that burglary, too.

The pawn shop burglary was discovered Sunday, December 5, when the owner came in to open for business. A backside window had been broken and a paneled wall knocked down. Stolen, were five handguns, numerous rings and a lady's watch, all valued at about $2,300.

Smith, who lives on Ball Park Road, is a former newspaper boy, painter, and grocery store CETA worker, according to copies of arrest reports.

Circuit court files show that Smith was arrested for second degree burglary, third degree burglary and third degree theft during a six-day period in July of 1980.

He served 162 days of a six-month sentence and was released under the "good time" law. He also served a year for burglary charges, a sentence that ended in March, 1982.

Smith was arrested in August, 1982 on burglary charges stemming from an incident at Bird Building Supply in Calera, according to arrest records.

He was in the county jail this week in lieu of $75,000 bond each on his three latest charges.

TES class teaches

How to be a better parent

"We've learned to be more positive in disciplining our children with grades and values."

Those were the words of a Thompson Elementary school child's mother, Monday, Dec. 6 after she participated in a Parenting Education program at the school.

Susan Martin was one of an estimated 180 parents who took advantage of the class taught by Gayle Robbins, reading and language arts resource teacher for Shelby County.

Because the federal government requests parent participation in remedial programs, materials were purchased with Chapter 1 funds to assist parents in becoming more effective with their children.

Robbins says that in such programs, it is important for the parents to be involved.

She said that the Parenting Education class involved hands on activities and role playing to assist parents in working with both their children and their teachers.

But the class held at Thompson Elementary was not limited to the parents of Chapter 1 students. The parents of all Thompson Elementary students were invited to attend.

Sponsors for the class were Le-moine Bramblett, Sharon Hamilton, Dorothy Prestridge and Jeanette Butler.

The nearly 180 parents were also shown film strips, got involved in discussions, asked questions, made use of books and participated in mystery quizzes.

Martin said she learned that, "Negative responses only compound problems. Children must get over the problem between them and us (the parents) before they can understand what is wrong."

However, the program did not teach parents to pander to their children.

Helen Housey said when children throw temper tantrums, she learned that giving in was not the answer.

She said, "Rather, you take the child to a corner (isolation) until the tantrum is over and then discuss the problem."

Janice Burt said she learned "to be consistent" in whatever actions are taken.

Martin said the thing she learned is to, "set limits; praise the child when he or she does something correctly; be firm but kind; and love the child, not the behavior."

She said she also learned, "It is important to be able to apologize when you (the parent) feel you were wrong."

Parenting course

Thompson Elementary parents learn how to better deal with their children in a Parenting Education program. Learning to be positive from Gayle Robbins (standing) are around the table, left to right, Helen Housey, Susan Martin, Sharon Boutwell, Helen Rardin, Angela Hammick, Sandra Fortenberry, and Janice Burt.

Eat more beef

In the service

Lt. Commander David Yeager of Pelham has been named executive officer of the ship 'Rainier.'

The Rainer, a part of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, carries a normal complement of 70 officers and crew. It conducts hydrographic survey operations in the Pacific. The surveys provide background for the nautical charges used in shipping and national defense needs.

Yeager and his family will live in Seattle, Wash.

Air Force Reserve Airman Annette Acton, daughter of Jeanette Osborne of Harpersville, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, after completing Air Force basic training.

She is a 1979 graduate of Vincent High School.

Airman Gregory W. Clark, son of Earnest H. and Joyce E. Clark of Maylene, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training.

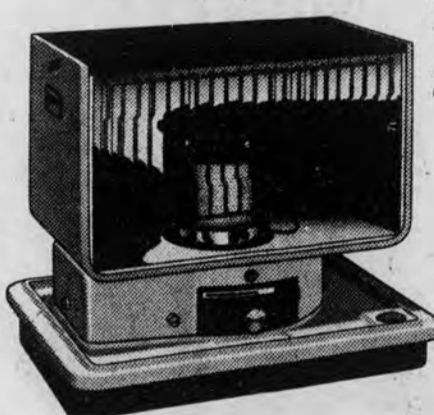

He is a 1982 graduate of Thompson High School.

Take time for joy of Christmas

THE COMING OF CHRISTMAS

It was a strange event. Only a few people seemed to know anything about it. Not that it was all that unexpected.

They just didn't realize that after nearly 750 years of waiting it had finally happened. After all, who could afford to sit around until that vague prophesy of Isaiah took place. These were busy times.

It wasn't every year that Caesar ordered a census and crowds jammed every available room in town, spilling over into barns and stables. So who has time to check the sky for a stray star? Who could hear a heavenly hallelujah from a band of serenading angels when customers shouted for food and drink? Not many. But a few did.

Simple shepherds heard the song, listened to the angel choir and hurried into Bethlehem to see this thing which had come to pass. And found it just as the heavenly host had said.

Some wise men from the east saw the star. They weren't too busy to lift their eyes, scan the skies and follow that stellar beacon 'til it led them to the cradle of the Christ-child.

Years later, two disciples of this Jesus of Nazareth, Matthew (a former collector of taxes for the Romans) and Luke (known to his friends as a physician) would gather the bits and pieces of history to record the strange and mysterious happenings of that unusual night in Bethlehem of Judea. Between the two of them we are told the story of God's Love come down in infant form, a baby boy born in a manger stall. And his name was Jesus.

There are times today when I fear we are in danger of falling prey to the same snare of busyness that trapped those inn-keepers of Bethlehem. We let ourselves become so involved with "things" that we are unable to catch a glimpse of a star at night or hear the joyous herald of angels echoing through the centuries of time bringing us the greatest of good news and the highest praise of joy known to the world:

"... for unto you is born this day in the city of David a savior, who is Christ the Lord."

Then surely God looked down and smiled as his angels sang their story of the birth of His Son, the Coming of Christmas:

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom He is pleased!"

So be it. Amen.

To each and every one

Splashes of color in the winter -- gleams of promise in the face of a child -- a mysterious, yet special gift: the staff of the Shelby County Reporter hopes these few symbols, and much more, combine to bring each and every one of our readers a very 'Merry Christmas!' Just as a few coats of paint and dedicated work are transforming the old courthouse into a vibrant addition to the quality of life in Shelby County, the Reporter also wishes you a prosperous New Year in the better days to come. Helping us bring you these tidings are students from Columbiana Middle School: (reading from 'M') Phillip Pilgreen, Lee Walton, Teresa White, Katie Brasher, Rachea Gould, (reading from 'C') Chris Crenshaw, Stacy Blankenship, Melonie Major, David Williams, Fred Helms, Ambrose Wood, Phillip Howell, Regina Brown and Cindy Blackerby. Retirements to stir courthouse shuffle

Probate Judge Thomas Snowden has announced some major personnel changes that will occur soon in the courthouse.

The Chief Clerk in the Probate office, Mrs. Clara Smith of Clanton, will be resigning, effective in mid-January, Snowden said this week. Mrs. Smith came to the probate office as chief clerk shortly after Snowden took office in 1977.

Mrs. Smith's sister, Lettie Powell, who has been working in the probate office for approximately the same length of time, is retiring at the end of this year, Snowden added.

Another major change will occur in mid-January when Mildred Ray, the Chief Clerk of the County Commission, will resign.

Snowden said that he has not decided on replacements for the positions. He said he may try to combine some jobs in the probate and commission offices and work out schedules to include serving a proposed branch office in north Shelby County.

The county computer will be taking the place of some workers, Snowden believes. By January 1, he hopes to have all the county's budget figures on the computer: both the income and the expense sides of the budget. It is a goal he has been striving for since he took office. The commission will be able to more accurately handle the county's finances if a monthly computer printout is available, that gives total expenditures and income by the month, he says.

But once all the figures are on the computer, the county will no longer need the services of consultant Gary Lester, and his position will be phased out. Other positions in the commission office will also be affected, he believes.

Snowden said no new employees will be needed in the computer office to handle the additional work.

Wood heating leaves UM money to burn

$1,000 a day--that's what University of Montevallo officials say a new wood-burning boiler is saving the University.

And with proration at 10 per cent, they say the savings are a key to the University's ability to pay a 7 per cent pay increase to faculty and staff this fiscal year.

"More than any other single factor," UM President Jim Vickrey said, the savings from the wood-burning boiler has Long wait

The float put together by the art club at Thompson Middle School waited three weeks to be in the Alabaster parade which took place Saturday. Rain had cancelled the event on two other occasions. Although there were a number of drop outs from the original entries, 31 units took part in Saturday's parade which was a half mile long. There were fire engines, antique cars, majorettes, beauty queens, a tank, and several floats in the parade down Highway 31.

SMC moves to buy Alabaster office

Shelby Medical Center officials hope to close out the purchase of Dr. Frank Abernathy's office building in January.

The report was made Thursday night during a brief board meeting following the group's annual Christmas banquet.

Hospital administrators said they had been working for six months on buying the Alabaster office and its contents. Finance director Gene Taylor would not divulge the price of the deal, but indicated it was close to being settled.

Board member Calvin Smith said the building would be made available for leasing to doctors interested in practicing in Shelby County and who could make referrals to SMC. Abernathy's office is located next to the hospital.

"We're trying to get doctors in as many parts of the county as we can," Smith said.

No further details were made available at the time.

Abernathy, a long-time general practitioner in Shelby County, is expected to retire.

In November, SMC purchased the Medical Arts Building at highway 119 and Salem Road in Montevallo. The price tag on that deal was $300,000.

The hospital is also moving to begin first phase construction on a medical arts building at 119 (Cahaba Valley Road) and U.S. 280.

Last summer SMC purchased 15 acres there for $570,000. Long range plans for the land include a second hospital, a wellness center and retirement condominiums.

Pelham sets hearing for Chandalar zoning

A public hearing has been set for a proposed change in zoning for land near the entrance to Chandalar South.

A change in zoning from R-3 (multi-family dwellings) to B-2 (general business) was proposed by Stuart Sims for property on Chandalar Drive, just off U.S. 31 in Pelham.

The change received a recommendation for approval during the December 8 meeting of the Pelham Planning and Zoning Board. The request now goes to the city council for a final vote.

The city council voted Monday night to hold a public hearing on the request Monday, January 17, during the regular its meeting.

A vote on the request is expected following the public hearing.

Miss Merry Christmas

Angie Horton was this year's Miss Merry Christmas at Shelby County High School. Her court consisted of (l-r): Cathy Jordan, 1st alternate; Jennifer Joiner, 2nd alternate; Camille McLeroy, 3rd alternate. Twenty seven girls in grades 9-12 were in the pageant.

NY manager visits Columbiana site

The manager of manufacturing of a New York firm considered a Columbiana location last Thursday for a new plant.

A meeting was arranged for him with local leaders by Boyd Robinson of the Metro Development Board and Virginia McKenzie, real estate agent.

Probate Judge Thomas Snowden, Columbiana Mayor Buck Falkner, county engineer Gary Ray, county attorney Frank Ellis and banker Karl Harrison met with the company manager to discuss using the Cheney-Bigelow building and an adjacent 10 acres of county land for the new industry.

The Cheney-Bigelow building is on property owned by National Standard.

The firm is engaged in production of materials for the pulpwood industry in New York State, and is seeking a southern site for a second manufacturing plant. The manager, who did not want the name of his company disclosed, said he is also considering sites in Georgia and Mississippi.

According to Snowden, he was very favorably impressed with the facilities available in Columbiana.

Santa announces Pelham tour

Santa Claus is coming to Pelham.

The Pelham Fire Department announces that Santa Claus will be riding a fire engine to various locations Christmas Eve.

However, Fire Chief W. A. Bryars notes that the two engine companies that will be transporting Santa must deviate from the schedule of the jolly old elf if emergency calls come in.

To help make this Christmas a more enjoyable one, the fire department hopes to bring Santa to children on this schedule:

North: 6 p.m. Chandalar and Wildwood; 7 p.m. Indian Hills; 7:30 p.m. Greenpark South; 8 p.m. Southgate; 8:15 p.m. Royal Oaks; 8:45 p.m. Valleydale Park.

South: 6 p.m. Deer Springs; 6:30 p.m. county road 361 and Hunters Glen; 6:45 p.m. King Valley area; 7 p.m. Sykes area; 7:15 p.m. Brookfield; 7:25 p.m. Oak Mountain subdivision; 7:45 Cahaba Valley subdivision; 8:15 Oak Ridge area; 8:30 p.m. Belle Vista; and 8:45 p.m. Lee Valley.

Montevallo youth killed hunting

A Montevallo High School student from Iran was the county's first hunting fatality of the year.

Reza Ebrahimi, who celebrated his 17th birthday Dec. 6, was killed Monday as he squirrel hunted with friends near the University of Montevallo lake.

Shelby County Sheriff's department investigator Richard Fox reported that Ebrahimi had shot a squirrel, knocking it out of a tree.

When it got up and started running toward him, Ebrahimi leaned over to grab it, just as one of his hunting companions fired, Fox said.

The shotgun pellets hit the Iranian youth in the neck and shoulder, apparently causing instant death.

Shelby County coroner Billy Thompson ruled the death accidental.

According to reports, Ebrahimi had been hunting for approximately an hour and a half when he was shot.

His hunting companions were reportedly two brothers who were school friends. Their names were not released.

Ebrahimi had been living with an older married brother since his arrival in Montevallo four years ago.

He was in the 10th grade at MHS, and said to be one of the best members of the school wrestling team.

The young man's sister, Simin, graduated from MHS and is now a student at the University of Montevallo.

Esmail, the brother with whom he lived, is also a UM student.

Ebrahimi is also survived by his mother, Johan Maleki Ebrahimi, who was visiting in Montevallo at the time of the accident, his father, Hosein A. Ebrahimi; sisters Pari, Shaheen and Shahla, all of Tehran.

A visitation time for friends of Ebrahimi will be Wednesday, from 6-9 p.m. at Hoffman-Rocko Funeral Home.

The funeral will be at the same location Thursday at 3 p.m. with burial in Montevallo Cemetery.

Fight ends in stabbing

A pool hall scuffle between two 19-year old Alabaster youths ended in a stabbing Thursday night. The defendant turned himself in 30 minutes after the stabbing, and about an hour later the victim died.

James L. Merchant was pronounced dead at 10:55 Thursday night in the Shelby Medical Center emergency room. He had been stabbed once in the chest.

Carl L. Thomas, who turned himself into Alabaster police about 10 p.m., was subsequently charged with murder and jailed in Columbiana under $35,000 bond.

According to Alabaster Sgt. Larry Rollan, the knifing occurred at 9:25 p.m. inside the J&M Mart game room at U.S. 31 and highway 11 (Simmerville Road). Rollan said a number of people were in the pool hall/game room at the time of the incident.

"According to witnesses, Merchant started slapping him (Thomas), and Thomas stabbed him one time in the chest with a Case pocketknife," Rollan told the Reporter. He said the knife had a 2 1/2 to 3 inch blade.

Both youths fled after the stabbing.

Rollan said Merchant ran about 100 yards up highway 11 before collapsing in the road. He was taken to SMC where he later died.

Thomas turned himself in at the Alabaster jail about 10 p.m.

ONE SOLITARY LIFE

Nearly two thousand years ago in an obscure village, a child was born of a peasant woman. He grew up in another village where He worked as a carpenter until He was thirty. Then for three years He became an itinerant preacher.

This Man never went to college or seminary. He never wrote a book. He never held a public office. He never had a family nor owned a home. He never put His foot inside a big city nor traveled even 200 miles from His birthplace. And though He never did any of the things that usually accompany greatness, throngs of people followed Him. He had no credentials but Himself.

While He was still young, the tide of public opinion turned against Him. His followers ran away. He was turned over to His enemies and went through the mockery of a trial. He was sentenced to death on a cross between two thieves. While He was dying, His executioners gambled for the only piece of property He had on earth — the simple coat He had worn. His body was laid in a borrowed grave provided by a compassionate friend.

But three days later THIS MAN AROSE FROM THE DEAD — living proof that He was, as He had claimed, the Savior whom God had sent, the Incarnate Son of God.

Nineteen centuries have come and gone and today the risen Lord Jesus Christ is the central figure of the human race. On our calendars His birth divides history into two eras. One day of every week is set aside in remembrance of Him. And our two most important holidays celebrate His birth and resurrection. On church steeples around the world His cross has become the symbol of victory over sin and death.

This one Man's life has furnished the theme for more songs, books, poems and paintings than any other person or event in history. Thousands of colleges, hospitals, orphanages and other institutions have been founded in honor of this One who gave His life for us.

All the armies that ever marched, all the navies that ever sailed, all the governments that ever sat, all the kings that ever reigned have not changed the course of history as much as this ONE SOLITARY LIFE.

Inverness club working on park

Lions make 'exceptional' gift

by David F. Moore

The Inverness Lions Club last week gave the Shelby County exceptional center $2,000 for Christmas. The money will go towards a special kitchen for 32 students who attend the center in Columbiana.

The Lions' next major gift is intended for the benefit of all of Shelby County -- a $100,000 county park the club plans to build on the grounds of Inverness Elementary.

"What it's all about is service," president Bill May told about 60 of the group's 96 Lions who attended a Friday morning breakfast meeting at Inverness County Club. "There's a talent in this room to move a mountain, and by-golly, fellows, I see it shaking."

Last year the club donated $1,200 to King's Ranch. This year a committee headed by Doug McCary studied suggested beneficiaries for the club's annual donation.

"If any of you guys get up with a downer in the morning, don't pop any pills," McCary suggested to the group. "Go to this (exceptional center) class and you'll come out thanking God you're alive."

"After what we saw there," McCary continued, "when their mommas and pappas are gone, these kids are going to the state unless someone teaches them these things."

What the money will help teach county students at the Columbiana center is independence through the ability to prepare simple meals for themselves, explained center principal Beverly Hall, who was introduced by McCary.

The $2,000 will be matched by funds the center's PTO raised through two bazaars, Hall said. The $4,000 total will build a kitchen especially designed for physically and emotionally handicapped children.

The kitchen was designed by Jerry Jackson, the wheelchair-bound former director of the Independent Living Center in Birmingham, in conjunction with education board member Thurston Sumners.

Hall said the center has 13 staff members and serves severely handicapped children, ages 6-21. It was started in 1977, she said, and has received strong support from school superintendent Charles Knowles.

"Our children are not exceptional in their handicaps," Hall told the group. "They're exceptional in their accomplishments. "For almost a year, we've been trying to raise money for this kitchen," she said. "Now you've made our Christmas."

After the meeting May gave the Reporter additional details on the planned county park.

It will be built on some five acres of land at the new elementary school now under construction on Valleydale Road near U.S. 280. The park will include a youth football/soccer field, picnic pavilions and a play area.

"It's our understanding there's not a county park, so we're trying to build it for the use of all the county," May said. "It's our goal to have it ready for the school opening in September. I think this group can do it."

So far, $33,000 has been pledged for the park, he said.

Additional funds will be raised through barbecues, a golf tournament, and the club's "Vegas Night" events, which are growing in popularity and demand. May said other area service groups will be asked to join in the venture, as well.

The Inverness Lions Club is seven years old, and meets at 7 p.m. the first and third Fridays of the month, at Inverness Country Club.

The Lions boast 1.3 million members in 35,000 clubs throughout the free countries of the world.

Besides McCary, other members on the Inverness Lions charities committee include: 1st vice president Lem Johns, Charles Eakin, Ray Franklin, Larry Grabowski, Bill Nordlund, Chip Powell, York Richardson and John Nichols.

Early gift

The Inverness Lions Club gave the center for exceptional children an early Christmas gift—a check for $2,000. Selection committee chairman Doug McCary (right) made the presentation to center principal Beverly Hall at the Lions' meeting last Friday. "We don't want her to go home empty handed," said club president Bill May (left).

Party time

Students in the Chapter I program at Helena Elementary School line up for refreshments after putting on a Christmas program at the school before the holidays. More than 80 youngsters in grades 1-6 participated in the event.

Helena sets fee

Helena residents will be charged $5 monthly for garbage pickup in the city. The fee, passed Monday night by the council, goes into effect in January, and will show up in bill form beginning in February.

City clerk Frances Parrish said the fee was necessary to counter rising costs of garbage pickup incurred when the landfill was moved from Helena to Columbiana, and to help pay maintenance on the truck.

The law establishing the fee allows exemptions for residents 65 and older, as well as permanently and totally disabled heads of households. Written applications are necessary for exemptions.

helped ease the effects of proration.

Vickrey added, though, that the financial stability of the University is being undermined by proration. "We can muddle through if we get back our appropriation this year," he said. "But we're running out of options very quickly."

In the first 47 days the central campus steam boiler has been in operation, an estimated $52,000 in utility bills has been saved, Vickrey added. The boiler provided heat for hot water and heat for campus buildings.

With state revenues not expected to increase, the University expects to seek the same legislative appropriation it has sought for the last three years—approximately $7.2 million. It has received a $6.5 million appropriation for the last three fiscal years.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

Things I want for Christmas: An old tobacco sack full of spee-jink marbles, little clay marbles no bigger than rabbit pills, that a boy could own if he was lucky and lose if he was unlucky. And a ring in the dirt the size of a table top, and boys around it, playing for the little clay marbles as if they were dollars. And one pair of eight year old legs to use for a whole day.

A new BB gun, so new it sparkles, and a box of shot, 500 to the box, and a stocking cap and a warm jacket. And a pair of ten year old legs to use for a whole day, hunting grass sparrows and jaybirds and larks and robins up one side of Mount Dixie and down the other.

A pair of new skates pretty enough to use on the paved walk in front of the courthouse, where boys and girls skated since there was no other pavement in town. And if there was just one skate, let me learn to skate on one, not knowing the difference, really. And a pair of twelve year old legs so I can skate all day.

A small shotgun not much larger than a rifle and a sage patch and a buddy who wanted to go. And a cotton-tail rabbit running away over a hill, so fast you could only watch, while the day ran away too, over the same hill. And a pair of fourteen year old legs to make it enjoyable.

A dance at Annie John Haynes' house or Mrs. Leeper's house up the street or Mrs. Kate Wallace's house further on, and songs like Margie and Who's Sorry Now and Three O'clock in the Morning. And wine red as polk salad berries and big talk and soft music. And a pair of sixteen year old legs so I can dance all night.

A honky-tonk just for a night and a few good friends, some pretty and some tolerable ugly, and Marie and Josephine and Goodnight Sweetheart. A record player stuck in a corner and a pocketfull of nickles and water that wasn't water anymore. And a pair of 30 year old legs so I can dance one more time until the sun runs me home.

A little wind blowing and a little snow falling, and everything so quiet you almost didn't believe it. And a lake with bluegills in it, and Amy catching a lot of 'em and Skillet catching a few. And two pair of sort o' old legs, good ones, so we can keep doing it over and over.

And for everybody I know, whatever they want most.

Scrambled Eggs

By Bert Seaman

I've never held a title like Queen of the Prom, Miss Snowflake, Fantasy Dream Girl or even Miss Woodchopper.

The latter title was the only one I was even in the running for, to tell the truth. And that took place back in my college days when I dated a forester.

But anyhow, I finally had my chance to be the queen of something Saturday. It didn't come about by public demand or anything like that. It happened because I was the only one who showed up to claim the title.

I didn't even have to get out in the cold in an evening gown with parts of my anatomy exposed as most of the queens and title holders have to do when they appear in parades.

If you're really wondering by now what in the world my title was - it's Queen of the Shelby County Reporter.

I'll admit, if any other staff member had showed up to ride on our float, no matter what their sex, they would have beat me out.

But since I was the only person available to represent our fine paper, I assumed my queenly throne atop the back seat of a 1960's vintage convertible.

My crown was a tobaggan and my queenly garments were a pair of slacks topped with several layers of sweaters.

It was quite an exhilarating experience, I must say.

There I was on my perch - I mean throne - following a fire truck whose siren wailed continuously - waving and smiling at the eager onlookers who lined the route.

And just like a beneficent queen, I threw handfuls of candy to the throngs, who acted as though they were pieces of gold.

There was just one problem with the throwing. Some of the goodies were extremely lightweight, and it took a mighty heave to keep them from fluttering down next to the car.

The next day, my arm felt as though I'd pitched a baseball game.

Another problem was the candy getting away from me inside the car.

It would fall on the floor and slip between the crack in the seat so I'd have to leave my throne occasionally to scoop up enough for a good toss.

Even though I know I'm not queenly material, I really did enjoy my brief reign as the Reporter's sovereign.

It was quite a heady feeling, and I even imagined I heard someone shouting "Long live the queen!"

Country's Christmas customs chronicled from the White House

The Christmas season is with us once more, and Nancy and I are very happy to extend our warmest greetings to all who celebrate at this thoughtful time of year.

The uniqueness of our great nation and the American people is seldom more obvious than during the yuletide holiday. We often marvel at the myriad customs which have been brought to our shores. As we are a blending of nations, so are we an amalgam of Christmas traditions, and Nancy and I have found it interesting to note the national origin of just a few.

The legendary feasts of the early Romans provided a model for many of the merry-making aspects of Christmas, especially the lighting of candles, lavish dining, and the giving of gifts. From our Teutonic heritage came the yule log and the wassail bowl, and caroling began in England.

The connection between St. Nicholas, the patron saint of children, and Christmas lore evolved with the Northern Europeans while it was the Dutch settlers in New Amsterdam who brought with them the notion of St. Nicholas as a giver of gifts. The Dutch also influenced St. Nick's lean look, creating that chubby, bearded fellow in a red suit who was characterized so beautifully in the famous "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

St. Nick, or Santa Claus, first rode atop a bounteous sleigh drawn by reindeer in a German immigrant's rendering of the jolly old elf visiting soldiers during the Civil War. Nativity scenes were developed in Italy, and though some controversy exists over the origin of Christmas trees, they seem to have been popularized in Germany. Decorations date back to ancient times when homes, public buildings, and temples were festooned on special occasions. From Spain and Old Mexico came the tradition of holiday plays, and the Moravians, carrying lighted candles and singing Christmas carols, would stage processions into a stable to recall the humble birth of the Christ child.

You and your families have your favorite traditions, too, just as we do, and somehow we seem an especially blessed people at this time of year -- not because of what we have but because of what we believe and are.

The spirit that pervades our traditions and our celebrations is one of tribute to our Heavenly Father and to the most magnificent present of all time -- His loving gift of an only begotten son to a world weary with confusion and strife.

As you ponder this Christmas season of 1982 with us, Nancy and I ask you to join in a special prayer -- a prayer for peace in our families, our communities, our nation, and the world. We pray that each of us may reach out to kin, colleague, friend, and foe in friendship. We pray, especially, that our hearts may turn to the teachings of Jesus Christ, the Prince of Peace, for He has shown us the way to what we so earnestly seek for our beloved planet earth.

May God bless and be with you through the holidays and always.

Oak Mountain till tilting indicated

Oak Mountain State Park: (in part)

At the request of the officials of the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, we expanded our audit procedures to cover some areas and procedures not covered at the other parks...

Our audit disclosed that there were major problems in several areas within the Park...The Farm manager seemed to think that as long as the Demonstration Farm ran smoothly he could work whenever he wanted to and that he was not required to work 40 hours a week. The Park Manager was under the impression that the Farm Manager was required to work 40 hours a week but the specific time when he worked those 40 hours was entirely up to the Farm Manager. The Division of State Parks had no policy concerning the Demonstration Farm Manager's work hours.

Another problem at the Demonstration Farm was the animals kept at the Farm. There was almost a total lack of accountability for these animals. It was the belief of the Farm Manager and the Park Manager that most of the animals did not belong to the State. In fact, a few of the animals did belong to the Farm Manager...

Since the state is paying for the feed and medical care of all animals kept at the Farm it would appear that any animals which are kept at the Demonstration Farm should and would belong to the State of Alabama.

An added problem in this area is the fact that on numerous occasions the Farm Manager and Park Manager transported animals to and from land owned by relatives of the Park Manager. There were allegations that the offspring of some of the animals transported to this land did not return to the Park when the original animals were returned. It is clear that a great potential for misuse of state property has existed at the Demonstration Farm in regard to the care, feeding and disposition of these animals. However, due to the inadequate documentation surrounding transactions involving these animals, it would be difficult, if not impossible, to prove any misuse which may or may not have occurred.

Another area where a problem exists concerns what appears to be a serious lack of internal control over cash transactions at the park...all transactions involving cash at Oak Mountain State Park had the potential to be mishandled due to the lack of internal control...

For example, the golf pro shop maintained a "cash fund" which apparently consisted of cash collections for miscellaneous services to the public and overages in daily operations. Not only was there no accounting for how cash was accumulated, there was no accounting for how the money was spent.

Problems also exist in the use of State equipment. For example, the Demonstration Farm Manager admitted using a State owned sod cutter and a State owned vehicle to obtain sod from land owned by the Park Manager's family. He stated that part of the sod was used at the Park and part was used at a house the Farm Manager owned. The Park Manager stated he had no knowledge of the sod being transported to the house.

Another example of problems with use of State resources concerns a backhoe starter purchased by the park. The Maintenance Supervisor bought a backhoe starter through the park which was apparently not placed on State equipment. No one at the park knew of the starter's whereabouts.

Recommendations:

It is recommended that:

The revenue records be maintained individually by fund.

Licenses and certificates be prenumbered and the numbers accounted for on a fiscal year basis...

All rental agreements be executed in writing.

Procedures for Department furnished lodging be uniformly applied...

Uniform policies and procedures be developed for maintaining and accounting for inventories of supplies, materials and resale items...

A system of establishing policy and procedures for the State Parks be developed and implemented...

Policies and procedures for the operation of the State Parks be adhered to.

Controls over the handling of cash be developed and/or adhered to.

Cash registers and other cash collection facilities be cleared and reconciled on a daily basis...

The Department of Conservation prepare a detailed job description of the Oak Mountain State Park Demonstration Farm Manager's responsibilities and working hours, and make the job description available to everyone involved.

Written policies be developed concerning the ownership, care, disposition, and use of the animals on the Demonstration Farm.

State owned equipment not be used for personal reasons.

Employees not prepare invoices for items purchased by the Department...

A system of internal controls be implemented to secure the cash receipt function at the Parks...

Under The Courthouse Dome

Shelby County police chiefs laid their cards on the table when they invited District Attorney Billy Hill to their monthly luncheon meeting Wednesday.

"We're not having any input in cases brought into circuit court," Calera Police Chief Harry Deal pointed out. "And we don't know how they're disposed of," he added.

Hill agreed that input from local law enforcement authorities was helpful in evaluating and making decisions on the handling of cases.

But he emphasized that the communication needed to be made early and in writing.

"We've always had an open door policy and open communication," Hill said, "but it hasn't been used."

As ideas were discussed back and forth, it was decided that it would be beneficial for police to furnish the DA's office with the defendant's record.

Hill said he would try to provide departments with an information sheet showing the disposition of cases.

There had been some talk at a previous meeting that charges were sometimes reduced through plea bargaining without the department that had made the case knowing about it.

Making the point that the basic position of his office on burglary cases is a jail sentence, Hill said, "The number of jail sentences we have is far above any circuit around us."

Discussion also revolved around the work of local departments in making a case. "We're only as good as the case you bring us," Hill noted.

But it was the observation of Montevallo Police Chief Allen

Needham, that the DA's office should point out any procedural errors that might be found.

"For example," he said, "We should be told what could have been done in obtaining evidence if it was excluded in a particular case."

Other subjects touched on during the meeting were the possibility of the Jefferson County based UNDO operation being dissolved, and the need for some protection against the suits which are brought against members of law enforcement agencies.

In the UNDO situation, there was talk of organizing a Shelby County unit with departments exchanging men for undercover work.

That subject will be explored further at next month's meeting.

Other guests at the December meeting were Circuit Court Judge Harold Walden and Bob O'Connor, an investigator in the district attorney's office.

Christmas past remembered...

from Congressman Bill Nichols

Last week, I stood in the darkness on the Elipse just south of the White House as President Reagan lit the National Christmas Tree. This annual event signals the Christmas season in your Nation's capital. My own thoughts, however, went back to another Christmas in another year in a faraway land which was more lonely than any Christmas I had ever experienced.

It was December, 1943, and the men in Battery C were stationed in quonset huts in Five Mile Town, Northern Ireland. It was a one-street town surrounded by rolling peat bogs, and the weather at this season of the year was cold and intermittent with light rain.

Christmas Day was at hand and all of us knew that in the months ahead our Unit would be fighting in France and Germany in support of the freedoms we all appreciate. For sheer appreciation of the meaning of home and family, no Christmas before or since compared to that lonely, despondent Christmas Day almost forty years ago.

The Army had gone to great efforts to ease the pain of not being able to be home, at Christmastime. There was the usual Christmas dinner in the Army mess hall complete with Christmas candies from back home and there was Christmas music... "Silent Night" and "O, Little Town of Bethlehem."

I distinctly remember that afternoon which was spent by the men of Battery C in writing letters home, reading or just sitting in the day room lost in the same kind of thoughts as those of my own.

There is nothing unusual about this story and a million others who served in that war could tell better ones of quiet celebrations in the front lines on Christmas Day across the world during the war years.

This Christmas thousands of American servicemen will be doing the jobs that Armed Forces must perform while the rest of the Country is on holiday.

In far away Lebanon, U.S. Marines are keeping the peace in that war-torn country. Other servicemen and women will be manning snow covered outposts along the East German border, guarding supply facilities in faraway South Korea, sailing ships on the high seas, flying patrols and caring for patients in military hospitals. These missions know no holiday, so at this special season of the year my thoughts will be with those American servicemen and women who serve this Country while those of us at home enjoy Christmas with our families.

The Alabama Scene: 'We told you so'

by Bob Ingram

It may be the season for merriment, but Atty. Gen. Charles Graddick might disagree. Graddick has been raked over the coals badly in recent days in the wake of an advisory opinion released by his office concerning salaries for a host of high-paid state officials.

It's a rather complex situation, but it boils down to this--during the current fiscal year there will be 27 paydays for state workers. The only other time this has happened since the state went on an every-other-Friday pay schedule, the state determined the bi-weekly salaries of officials on an annual salary by dividing 27 into their gross salaries. They got one more check during the year, but no more money. That seems only right.

However, Graddick's office has ruled that this year those people on annual salaries shall get the same amount each payday that they would get in a 26-payday year, but they will get an additional check. What it amounts to is a one-time bonus of about 4% of their annual pay. Graddick himself will benefit from his ruling -- his annual salary is $58,000, but he will in fact be paid $60,230 during the year.

Because so many state officials are on fixed annual salaries-- included are all constitutional officers, state judges, department heads and non-merit system employees -- Graddick's ruling will cost the state more than $1 million. It couldn't come at a worse time, what with the state general fund already in severe financial straits.

Odds and Ends -- Gov.-elect Wallace is beginning to make his Cabinet appointments. Henry Steagall, a top aide in previous administrations will return to the most important slot, State Finance Director. In another major appointment, Wallace named Greenville Mayor Red Etheridge as director of the Alabama Development Office...

Albert McDonald, who takes over as Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture & Industries in January, will announce shortly (perhaps before you read this) that his top aide will be one of his opponents in the Sept. 7 Democratic Primary, Cecil Davis of Auburn...

Nobody likes the guy who says "I told you so", but we can't resist -- a couple of weeks ago in this very same column we climbed out on a limb and made a double-barrelled prediction: Bear Bryant would retire, Ray Perkins would be named as his successor. For once, our crystal ball was clear.

Donate $1,125 to FOP drive

Riverchase students pitch in to help tots

by David F. Moore
The National Junior Honor Society at Riverchase Middle School collected $1,125 in donations from students for the FOP's Toys for Tots drive.

According to club sponsor Gloria Lester, the successful project not only overshot last year's collection of $800, but also topped this year's goal by $125.

And perhaps, Lester added, the school drive was even more successful from the standpoint of education.

"Doing the drive last year, helped this year," Lester said. "Some of the kids last year went out to the homes with FOP members and I think it was a kind of shock to them. This year they came back (from Pelham High) and told the kids what they saw."

Riverchase graduates who lent a hand with this year's drive were Eddie Higdon, Rick Wilkerson, Karen Gardner, Todd Smith, and Darla Cowart.

"Kids don't always see for themselves that others aren't able to run out after school and buy designer jeans and Atari's," she continued. Society members spent six days collecting homeroom donations from RMS's 850 students. "All the kids in school got involved," Lester said. "Many of them did without lunch to give."

Last Wednesday, armed with $1,125, the 17 honor society members went on an hour-long shopping spree at a Pelham discount store. Lester said they shopped for tot ages through 12-year olds, and learned about buying toys that would be safe.

It took an hour and half to check out the major purchase, Lester said. The toys -- which filled at least three patrol cars -- were presented to Shelby County FOP members during a school assembly Friday.

Toys for tots

Arson arrest follows fire

A north Shelby teenager arrested last week for the arson of a $185,000 Inverness house, was released Monday night on $30,000 bond.

Sheriff's investigator Sgt. John Pratt said Tuesday that a second arrest in connection with the house fire would "definitely" be made.

Two teenagers have been arrested for arson following a fire that gutted the $185,000 house under construction in Inverness. Investigators contend that the two teens not only notified neighbors of the early morning fire, but even helped firemen fight it.

Pratt arrested Richard Drake Acton, 19, of Caldwell Mill Road, last Friday afternoon. He was charged with second degree arson, and booked into the county jail.

The fire occurred Thursday, December 16, at a nearly complete house under construction in the Woodbury district of Inverness.

The North Shelby County Fire District received the alarm about 1:40 a.m. According to Chief Winston Boutwell, when firefighters and two trucks arrived on the scene about five minutes later, flames were already burning through the roof of the house.

Boutwell said the fire was under control within 15 minutes, but damage to the structure was "extensive." Firemen remained on the scene several hours fighting hot spots in ruins.

Two of the 20 firemen at the blaze received minor injuries. Charlie Warren had his eyes burned by sparks and Jack McDuff injured his leg when a floor collapsed underneath him.

According to Pratt, neighbors called the fire department after Acton and the second suspect, using false names, notified them of the fire. The two suspects also aided firemen when they arrived on the scene, Pratt said.

Both young men had been seen driving a VW in the area earlier that night, Pratt said.

After tracking down Acton's true name, Pratt summoned him to the NSCFD station Friday for questioning. Acton was arrested following the session, Pratt said.

Pratt said Acton told him he used a Bic lighter to start the fire.

Boutwell said the house was about 90% complete, and had already been sold. Workers had been painting and finishing trim inside the building the afternoon before the fire.

$4 1/2 million

Calera receives bids on sewer project

The City of Calera received apparent low bids totaling $4,361,265.50 for its sewer construction and repair project.

Bids were opened before a capacity crowd during the regular session of Calera City Council Monday night.

The project will be 75 percent funded by an Environmental Protection Agency grant which was awarded September 30 of this year.

The city will have to come up with 25 percent of the funding itself.

While bids were opened Monday night, they will not be officially awarded until the council holds its first meeting of the new year on January 3, 1983.

Apparent low bids were:

Contract 1, sewage treatment plant, Jones Environmental with a bid of $2,986,670.

Contract 2, interceptor sewers, Tucker Utilities with a bid of $739,462.50.

Contract 3A, internal rehabilitation, Tucker Utilities with a bid of $352,828.

Contract 3B, sewer replacement, Tucker Utilities with a bid of $282,305.

The construction and repair of Calera's sewerage system is the third step of its grant.

Other bids were submitted for the project by the following companies:

Sewerage treatment plant: Bush Builders, $3,390,000; Colbert Construction, $3,476,109; J & P Construction, $3,950,311; and Roland Pugh Construction, $4,025,310.60.

Interceptor sewers: Baird Construction, $886,500; Bama Utilities, $996,925.50; C. F. W. Construction, $1,122,400; Gordon Construction, $1,095,205; H. N. Donahoo, $858,097.50; Henderson Excavating, $758,074.75; APEL Machinery and Supply, $967,900; and McCombs Ditching, $997,858.75.

Internal rehabilitation: B. H. Craig Construction, $393,152; C. W. F. Construction, $596,680; McCullough & Associates, $399,115; Sharp Construction, $465,068; Utility Construction, $409,940; Sherman Plumbing & Heating, $439,837.40; Video Pipe Grouting Inc., $403,565.

Sewer replacement: H. N. Donahoo, $388,895; Henderson Excavating, $364,555.50; McCullough & Associates, $523,775.; Sharp Construction, $295,800; R & W Construction, $349,337.50; C. F. W. Construction, $606,650; and Baird Construction, $527,575.

In other action, the council agreed to close nine streets upon the request of Calera Northeast and Calera Northwest Incorporated.

The streets exist only on paper as they have never actually been open.

Streets to be closed are: Second Avenue between Eighth and Second Streets; Third Avenue between Fifth and Second Streets; Fourth Avenue between Fourth and Second Streets; Fifth Avenue between Fourth and Second Streets; Sixth Avenue between Fourth and Second Streets; Third Street between First and Seventh Avenues; Fourth Street between First and Fourth Avenues; Fifth Street between First and Third Avenues; and Sixth Street between First and Third Avenues.

The closing was approved because Calera Northeast and Calera Northwest Incorporated owns all of the land abutting these streets and signed a declaration requesting the action.

New officers

The six-year old Chelsea Volunteer Fire Department elected some new and some old officers Sunday morning. Kneeling are secretary Wayne Shirley and 2nd assistant chief Jack Lee. Standing

Parade trombones

The Pelham High band strikes up a tune in front of the reviewing stand during the 12th Annual Helena Christmas Parade. More than 30 groups, ranging from Shriners to local beauty winners, drew a good crowd and helped get the town into the swing of Christmas.

Christmas Eve family service

Christ the King Lutheran Church will have two Christmas Eve services.

The "Family Service of Scripture and Carols" will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the Candlelight Service with Holy Communion will begin at 11 p.m.

The Rev. Gary M. Schimmer will be officiating at both services.

The church is in Riverchase Parkway West at Highway 31.

Man asks to be locked up; found guilty in Alabaster court

"Trouble didn't come to him, he went to it," observed Alabaster municipal court judge Joel Watson before he sentenced a defendant Wednesday.

Bruce Patrick Freeman, who pled not guilty to the charge of public intoxication, had walked into the Alabaster police station and asked to be locked up, according to the testimony of the arresting officer, Sgt. Stanley Oliver.

Although Freeman was found guilty of the charge, no fine was imposed. Instead, the judge sentenced him to work two days for the city.

Others found guilty of the charge and fined $82 were: Ulius C. Alexander, John McDade, Veronica Powell, Wanda Scott Robertson, William Everett Malcomb was guilty of that charge and also of violating the state firearm's act which carries a $72 fine.

A public intoxication charge against James L. Smith was not pressed after it was reported that the defendant is in the Shelby County jail charged with the attempted burglary of the VFW lodge and the burglary of the Okay Pawn Shop, both in Alabaster, and the possession of a firearm after felony convictions.

Fines of $319 were imposed on the following defendants guilty of DUI: William Perry Hamner, Christopher Bartley Meeks, John Alonzo Weathers. Edith Hafner was fined $419 on one charge and sentenced to five weeks of civic work, with a second charge not pressed.

John Alan Devenney and Randy Max Fraser pled guilty to a reduced charge of aggravated speeding and were fined $119. The original charge was reckless driving.

A DUI charge on Wesley Coleman McCarty was reduced to reckless driving and he was fined $119.

Larry Elliott Nolen and James D. Woods were also fined $119 for reckless driving. A DUI charge against Woods was not pressed on a motion from the city.

The judge ordered a cash bond to be forfeited on Robert Steven Wyatt who was alias on a reckless driving charge.

George Bobby Mixon was found guilty of assault 3rd degree, put on probation for six months and ordered not to have any further contact with the complainant. A $72 fine for operating without a license was suspended but the judge ordered the confiscation of all alcoholic beverages.

Kenneth Michael Jackson was fined $39 for speeding; Freddie Lamar Joiner was fined $49 for no state drivers license.

Kenneth Michael Jackson was fined $39 for speeding; Freddie Lamar Joiner was fined $49 for no state drivers license.

Walter Louis Tannhill was fined $122 for carrying a concealed weapon.

Alias warrants were issued for: Violet E. Adams, Eugene Booker Jr., Willie Caffey, Tony Keith Carter, Randy Wayne Cox, Ronald Neal Kirby, Gerald T. McKendree Jr., Maxwell K. Matthews, Bennie Howe Peters, Daniel Wooley.

A second notice was sent to the following defendants who failed to appear: Scott Douglas Freeman, Jeffrey Wayne Gaiters, Willie Lee Harris, James J. Hartley, Peggy L. Littleton, Miriam Hunt Weldon, James Wade Whatley, Donald Joe Wilson.

MAKE YOUR MONEY COUNT

The Economic Recovery Act of 1981 profoundly changed the pattern of gift giving. The old law put a ceiling of $3000 on gifts that you might give to as many donees as you choose in any one year. Each gift qualified for the Federal Gift Tax Exclusion. Married couples in the past were entitled to treat a gift made by one as a gift made by both. This means that a couple could be excluded from paying a gift tax on as much as $6000 per gift. The new law raises the limit to $10,000 for single donors and $20,000 for split gifts. For gifts up to these limits, no gift tax return need be filed and no gift tax paid.

Most of us are not fortunate enough to be recipients of large sums of money from those wishing to utilize tax advantages. Therefore, it is necessary to play for the future. The future for yourself and your family can be secure if a savings plan is established early. We suggest you come in to the FIRST AMERICAN BANK, 3000 Hwy. 31 So., Pelham, and let us help you select the savings plan best suited to your needs. Tel. 663-4750. Hours: 8:30-6 Mon.-Fri., til noon Sat.

HANDY HINT:
There is no limit on the amount of the exclusion for gifts made to cover medical or educational expenses.

Circuit court hears cases

Three drug violators were sentenced to a total of 34 years in prison by Circuit Court Judge Harold Walden Monday.

Robert Weir was given 15 years on each of two counts of selling marijuana. Buddy Franklin was sentenced to two years on that charge and Ernest Norwood received two years for violating the Alabama uniform controlled substances act.

James Edward Graham Jr. got a two year prison term for theft of property 1st degree and a year and a day for burglary.

Roy Gene Whitman was sentenced to nine years 11 months for attempted kidnapping 1st degree; Ricky L. Watts received a year and a day sentence for burglary 3rd degree; Andy Hartage is to serve a year and a day for burglary 1st degree.

Robert E. Brasher's five year sentence for receiving stolen property was suspended. He will be on probation five years and will have to make restitution and pay costs.

The sentence of a year and a day imposed on Terry Wayne Graham for third degree burglary was suspended. Graham was put on probation for three years with the understanding he make restitution and pay costs.

Attention Home gets repairs

A retaining wall that wasn't put in properly at the Attention Home will be replaced by the city of Alabaster.

City fathers agreed at Monday night's meeting to pay for the replacement of the wall and a portion of the driveway that was damaged by recent flooding.

The recommendation to do the work was made by Councilman Cal McCune who said the cost of the project would be approximately $330.

The money, he said, will come out of gasoline tax which is designated for that type of work.

Reporting that the matter had been checked out with the League of Municipalities, McCune said that the city street crew and some volunteer labor would perform the task.

A written request from Attention Home Director Brenda Lee, which was read at the last meeting, had brought the situation to the council's attention.

Before starting on the project, McCune said he would prepare a drawing of how he intends the wall to look, and present it to the council.

Railroad ties that were donated for the original wall will be used in the new structure which will have a properly poured footing and anchor bolts to hold them in place.

What Does Jesus Teach About - Acceptance?

Acts 10:34-35

"In every nation he that feareth Him and worketh righteousness is acceptable to Him."

Jesus spoke of fear in Luke 12:4-5 "Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do. But I will warn you whom ye shall fear: Fear Him, who after he hath killed hath power to case into hell; yea, I say unto you, Fear Him."

This attitude of Godly reverence or Fear is seen in Noah in Heb. 11:7 "By faith Noah, being warned of God concerning things not seen as yet, moved with Godly fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house..."

Let Godly fear move you that you might be saved.

Miss Cardone weds in Spring Creek

MRS. TIMOTHY O'HARA
...the former D'Andrea Cardone

Miss D'Andrea Cardone and Mr. Timothy Patrick O'Hara were married at 7 p.m. on December 21 at Spring Creek Cumberland Presbyterian Church. A reception followed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cardone of Montevallo. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cardone of Elmira, New York, and Mrs. Clay Lucas of Montevallo.

Sandra Newsom of Calera served the bride as maid of honor. Other attendants were Stephanie Cowart of Calera, Claire Bonner of Roanoke, Anne Cardone of Montevallo and Ann Bailey of Birmingham.

The groom is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Henry O'Hara Jr. of Clearwater, Florida. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O'Hara of Palm Harbor, Fla. and Jeanette Normela of Reno, Nevada.

Scott O'Hara of Clearwater, served as best man. Other groomsmen were Vince Cardone, Danny Cardone and Clay Cardone, all of Montevallo and Mike O'Hara of Clearwater.

The groom is employed by Brown Moulding Company, and the bride is employed by South Central Bell.

Both are recent graduates of the University of Montevallo.

After a honeymoon trip to Gatlinburg, Tennessee, the couple will reside in Montevallo.

MRS. DONALD WALTON
...the former Connie Brown

Miss Brown says vows

The First Baptist Church of Columbiana was the setting December 11 for the 7 p.m. wedding of Miss Connie La Wanda Brown and Donald Wayne Walton. Rev. Tom Stoker officiated. A reception followed.

Frank and Martha Murphy provided the music.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Davis Jr. and the late William David Brown.

Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John D. Lewis of Columbiana and Mrs. Betty Parrish and the late Roy A. Davis of Florence.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Jackie Joiner was maid of honor. Other attendants were Patty Walton, Connie Miller and Lynn Nolen.

The flower girl was Rachel Hand, and the ring bearer was Josh Davis.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walton. His grandparents are Mrs. Mattie Walton and the late Walter D. Walton of Columbiana, Gladys Broomhall and the late John Broomhall of Oklahoma.

Mr. Walton served as his son's best man. Other groomsmen were Jeff Weis, Greg Walton and Mark Ray. Candelighters were Johnny Brown and Eric Walton. The couple resides in Wilton.

95 year old woman delights all

When the Atlanta Braves play ball, they can be sure that a 95 year old Montevallo woman will be tuned in.

Luda Gresky says she became a fan after she retired from teaching in 1955 and needed some interest to fill her spare time.

Giving guests a brief glimpse into the guest of honor's life during a birthday celebration Saturday, Coleen Colley noted that Gresky even knew the batting averages and other vital statistics of Braves' team members.

Colley was on the committee at University Baptist Church, where Gresky is a charter member, which planned the birthday luncheon.

She described the woman who was born on Christmas Eve, as a person who is "simple in style, but eloquent in spirit and knowledge."

Born in the Bibb County town of Blocton, Gresky attended the Mayberry school at Pea Ridge. She graduated from Alabama College for Women (now the University of Montevallo) in 1913.

An elementary school teacher for a total of 13 years, Gresky wound up her career at the Mayberry school.

She also taught at South Calera, Glen Carbon, Childersburg and Camp Branch.

Although the loss of vision has kept her from reading, which was a favorite pastime, Gresky now enjoys the written word by way of "listening books."

Colley noted that despite her failing sight, Gresky "sees so many things with perfect vision and her spirit and mental awareness continually bring delight and stimulation to all who know her."

Gresky's son Alan and his wife Jerry moved from Oak Ridge after his retirement and now live next door to her rural home.

He had spent 30 years as a chemist in the Chemical Technical Division of Oak Ridge National Laboratory and also authored several books.

Another son, Paul, was killed in a 1936 plane crash.

Gresky has three grandchildren - Paul Gresky, Ft. Collins, Co; Alane Mills, who lives in North Carolina and Mary Lou Mudge, of Dallas, Texas. She also has four great grandchildren.

Relatives who attended the birthday luncheon included nieces Bill Eddings, Georgia Edwards, Montevallo; Margaret Gregg, Brierfield; and Mary Stewart, Georgia.

Other family members at the occasion were second cousins Mrs. Ella Stonecypher, Miss Lavada Harper and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harper.

After supper, seasonal entertainment was provided.

Aunt Luda

Two year old Amanda Wyatt thinks about sampling her great great aunt's birthday cake. A luncheon to celebrate Luda Gresky's 95th birthday was held Saturday at University Baptist Church in Montevallo. Also pictured is Mrs. Gresky's great niece and Amanda's mom, Joyce Edwards Wyatt.

Montevallo couple receives early Christmas present

Whitney Alexis was an early Christmas present for her parents, Franz and Lolly (Seaman) Wenzel of Montevallo.

The nine pound baby girl was born Dec. 14 at Shelby Medical Center.

Grandparents are Mrs. Bert Seaman, Montevallo, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Seaman, Brierfield and Mr. and Mrs. Franz Wenzel, Bad Neuenahr, Germany.

The Progress Club held its annual Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Storey recently.

Club members and their families enjoyed a festive meal with all the trimmings.

Montevallo Presbyterian Church will celebrate Christmas with a traditional candlelight communion service, to be held at 7 p.m. on Christmas Eve.

Everyone is invited to come hear the reading of the Christmas story and join in singing favorite Christmas carols, according to pastor Thomas A. Cheatham.

The church is located at the corner of Shelby and Alabama Streets in Montevallo.

The Singles Center of Birmingham will sponsor a Christmas party on December 24 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Entertainment scheduled for the event will be Craig and Helen Cooper, who will conduct a sing-a-long type program.

The party will be held at the center - 1601 11th Ave. South.

All single persons are invited to attend including the divorced, widowed or never married.

Congratulations to Michael and Debra Hunt of Shelby, who are the parents of a new son.

Nathaniel David was born December 14 at Brookwood Hospital and weighed 6 lbs. 12 oz.

His two older brothers, Michael and Gabriel, welcomed him home.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H.B. Reeves Jr. of Shelby and Mr. and Mrs. K.M. Hunt of Kokomo, Indiana.

A 'Watch Night' service is scheduled for December 31 from 8 p.m. until midnight at Bethel Freewill Baptist Church in Pea Ridge.

The event is a project of the newly formed Pea Ridge Pastors Conference.

Several local quartets, duets and congregational singing are planned for the event. A short intermission featuring refreshments prepared by the ladies of the churches within the conference will be held.

Dwight Joiner, pastor of the Pea Ridge Assembly of God Church and Bob Litton, pastor of Mayberry Baptist Church will speak during the program.

All interested parties are urged to attend.

Mrs. Joe Odgers of Albany, Georgia was recently honored with a baby shower in Hoover.

Mr. Odgers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Odgers of Columbiana.

If your mother is at least 45 years old... and is active in the church and her community... and her youngest child is at least 15 years old... and you think she's pretty terrific, or if you know of a woman who fits that description, she could be this year's Shelby County Mother of the Year.

The Alabama Mothers Association is now looking for SC's mother of the year and if you would like to sponsor someone for this special honor, please contact Nina Kent at 663-7860 for information.

Shady Grove Baptist Church will hold a 'Watch night' service on December 31 beginning at 8 p.m.

The Gleaners will host the event.

Rev. Sherman Harper will be the first speaker, followed by a refreshment break. Then, Rev. Billy Burtram will speak.

Everyone is welcome to attend, according to Mike Hill, singing chairman.

The church is located on Hwy 280 east and Shelby County 41 north.

The Calera Garden Club held their December meeting at the home of Mrs. W.W. Godfrey. Mrs. B.D. Holcombe was co-hostess.

Mrs. Eddie Downs read the story of the birth of Jesus during the devotion time, followed by a prayer given by Mrs. Holcombe.

Mrs. P.A. Garrett, club president, presided over the business meeting. A field trip was discussed, and the club voted to send a food basket to a needy family for Christmas.

Ashley Farmer was 2 years old on December 17. On Saturday, Dec. 18 she celebrated her birthday with a 'Smurf party' with friends and relatives.

She is the daughter of Don and Minna Farmer of Calera.

Her grandmother, Anne Earwood of Fairfield attended the party. Other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Farmer of Mobile.

Christmas... it's finally here! A time to share in the experience of the birth of Christ.

A time to give gifts that let people know that they're special to you.

A time to 'pig-out' on turkey and dressing at Granny's or chocolate pudding at Mamos.

A time to catch up on all the Alabama-Auburn jokes with uncles and cousins, and mourn the resignation of 'Bear'.

A time to reminisce all the past Christmases and remember happy times and the 'good-old days' when all you got for Christmas was fruit, or candy, or maybe even an occasional 'bag of switches'.

Christmas, to me, is a time to share the gift of life and love. The two go hand in hand. But keep in mind that that feeling, the Christmas spirit I believe it's called, doesn't have to stop at Christmas.

Here's hoping that you and your family enjoy a very happy holiday season, and if you have any news of social interest please remember to call Iris at 669-2731 during office hours. Deadline: noon Monday.

Steve and Kathy Southerland of Montevallo are spending Christmas holidays with Steve's family at Sugar Mtn. Ski Lodge near Boone, N.C.

The women's auxiliary of the Shelby County Humane Society held their first Christmas cocktail party on December 18 at the Pelham home of auxiliary president, Dorothy Abele.

Forty-five people were in attendance at the affair. Special guests were Evelyn Stough, Don Goodman, Sylvia Worrell and Martha Parks.

The auxiliary meets the 2nd Wednesday of each month at the home of Mrs. Abele.

For membership information call 663-3706.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Meacham request the pleasure of your company at the reception of the 50th wedding anniversary of their parents, Saturday, January 1, 1983, from 1-5 p.m. at their parents' residence.

Airman Michael E. Northcutt, son of Betty Northcutt of Calera, left December 12 for basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

After basic training, Northcutt is scheduled for 8 more weeks of training at Keesler Air Force Base.

He is a 1981 graduate of Calera High School.

Sorority celebrates with parties and gifts

Epsilon Nu Sorority of Shelby County celebrated the holidays with several events. On December 8 members took a gift to Ruby Sexton at The Briarcliff Nursing Home. The sorority has adopted

Mrs. Sexton as their grandmother for their year long service project.

Children of the members were entertained on December 11 with a skating party followed by refreshments and gifts at the home of Skip and Betty Newman.

On December 13 the sorority members held a Christmas dinner at the home of Diane Robinson in Pelham and then adjourned to the home of Vail Crisson, the group's president, for dessert and a secret sister gift exchange.

Members and their husbands enjoyed a holiday dinner and gag gift exchange on December 18 at the home of Howard and Pam Furnas.

Xi Omicron has party

The Xi Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its couples Christmas party at the home of Andrea and John Calhoun on December 4.

The social committee, Cathy Beckett, Amanda Merriman and Clare Malcolm, prepared the buffet. A gift exchange rounded out the evening.

On December 7 chapter members met at the home of Gwen Dill for a turkey and trimmings dinner. Secret Sisters exchanged gifts. Amanda Merriman surprised everyone with a tree decoration. Linda and Charles Dixon will be hosts for the New Year's Eve party.

On November 22, Celia Blaul, Peggy DeBlanc, Clare Malcolm, and Amanda Merriman received their Exemplar degrees.

Christmas Eve communion

A candlelight communion service will be held Christmas Eve at the First Christian Church in north Shelby.

The service is open to all faiths and begins at 11 p.m. Several baptisms are also planned.

Dr. Allen Garner invites the public to attend this special service. The church is located on Valleydale Road near the entrance to Inverness.

Fire dues due Dec. 29

Time is ticking out not only on 1982, but also on about 1,200 north Shelby residents who haven't paid fire dues yet.

North Shelby County Fire District accountant Jim King told the Reporter Tuesday that some $125,000 in outstanding fire dues need to be collected by midnight, December 29. When the clock strikes 12 and the 30th rolls around, fire district residents who haven't paid their $100 dues, will then owe a $15 late fee.

Furthermore, according to law, the NSCFD automatically levies a lien on property that's not paid up within 90 days of the October 1 bill mailings.

Fox Haven burglary has $800 delayed effect

At first it looked like a basic burglary. Missing from the Helena home were a portable tv, stereo equipment, tools and $102 in cash.

Then the bank cards turned up missing.

Helena police Chief Ray Rollan said the Fox Haven residence of Charles Patterson Batchelor was burglarized sometime during the night of December 11.

It wasn't until later last week that Mrs. Batchelor realized that her two bank cards and the secret code that gives access to her accounts were apparently also taken during the burglary.

With her Right Card and William Teller, numerous small withdrawals were made from branches of First Alabama Bank and First National Bank of Birmingham.

Those withdrawals, Rollan said Tuesday, now total about $800. He has information that two males in their mid-20's are making the withdrawals.

Rollan and county investigators are following several leads on the case.

Helena cases disposed; four DUI cases heard

The Helena Court disposed of the following municipal cases during its December 14 session:

DUI: Billie Roger Vance, Texas, $269; also guilty of having no license, $72; not guilty on expired tag charge. Stephen Wayne Pilgreen, Fairfield, $269; not guilty on failure to dim charges. Timothy Ray Majors, Maylene, $269; not guilty of driving on wrong side of road charges. Terry Ray Rains, Adger, $519; not guilty on charges of reckless driving.

Carrying concealed weapon: Gary Hosey, Helena, $122.

Driving while suspended: Rufus Charles Murray, Alabaster, $122.

Criminal trespassing: Richard C. Blackmon, Maylene, $122.

Speeding: Benjamin Walter Hampton, Montevallo, 61 in 40 zone, $39.

Improper tag: Gerri Slatton Church, Helena, $23. Benjamin Gregg Tucker, Bessemer, expired tag, $23.

Wreath thief sentenced

Alabaster attorney John Medaris, who was sitting in for Montevallo's municipal court judge Eason Mitchell last week, fined Kathy Jo Sukut $37.50 for criminal mischief.

The defendant pled guilty to the charge which was reduced from theft 3rd degree. In addition to the fine, the judge ordered Sukut to reimburse the University of Montevallo $20 for repair of the Christmas wreath that had been removed from one of the entrance gates.

Disposition of cases on last week's Montevallo court docket was as follows: Clyde Earl Gardner was fined $327.50 for driving under the influence; Randy Edwards was fined $67.50 for public intoxication; Ricky Lilly was fined $67.50 for a switched tag.

An expired tag charge against James Alfred Bearden was not pressed after the defendant agreed to pay court costs of $27.50.

Alias warrants were issued for: Roy Samuel Todd, J.T. Atchison, Carol Nanette Cleveland. A warrant was also to be issued for Allen Wilson Naugher if he had not gone to the hospital as reported.

Cases were continued on: Phillip Wayne Campbell, Michael Edward Stone, Virginia Lynn Smith, Arthur Johnson, Major Gentle Harris Jr., Timmy Kitchens, James Edward Wallace, Randal P. Morrison.

An expired license charge was not pressed for Andrea Jill Ray.

MERRY MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR!

We have enjoyed searching out news stories this year to keep you up to date on events that happen in our county. We look forward to the new year, and want you to keep in touch with us.

We need news of your family... we need your views and concerns... we need your support. Together we can serve our total community better and make Shelby County an even better place to live.

We have much to be grateful for, even in these times of unrest and uncertainty. Often we forget to pause in the confusion of our daily lives and take time to reflect on just how much we really have. After all, we live in a country with one of the highest standards of living in the world. We have a government, which at times seems to be more of a hindrance than a help, still protects us and provides us with a great many luxuries we take for granted. Most important of all, we have our freedom. Freedom to speak our minds, to work at the job we want to work at, and perhaps most important of all, to worship and give thanks as we wish. We, too, are grateful for many things. Most important of all, we'd like to pause and thank our loyal and valuable friends for their continued patronage. From our hearts comes a profound, "Thank you."

Title trophy presented

Thompson celebrates ultimate achievement

by Fred Guarino

The ultimate accomplishment of 50 years of football was celebrated at Thompson High School, Friday.

Bubba Scott, executive director of the Alabama High School Athletic Association, officially recognized Thompson at the 1982 champions of 3A football.

Before making the trophy presentation in the school's gym,

Scott called football the most competitive of sports. He said, "Nothing else would have filled your stadium like the game with Oxford."

He told the Warrior football players, "You played a good team. The game was hard fought and sportsmanship prevailed."

"It is a tribute to Alabaster, mothers and fathers and the administration of this school."

Scott also credited coach Larry Simmons with being an outstanding Christian gentleman.

The championship trophy was received by Simmons and team captains Richard Brasher and Jeff Bentley.

Simmons said with a broad smile, "I hope we'll all be back here 50 years from now to celebrate something."

"A lot of things have gone on here today we will remember and which will mean a lot more to us 25 years from now than they do today."

Simmons commented that it was getting too late to hear him brag. He said of himself, "I didn't make a catch, throw a pass or make a single tackle."

But he praised his team for its defense and its balanced offense.

He recognized Richard Brasher for completing 52 percent of his passes; Demetrius Threatt for setting a school record of 29 touchdowns; and Luvell Bivins, Max Brown and Arthur Johnson for their contributions.

On hand to make Friday an even more special day for Thompson were members of the first 1932 football team.

Special guests included:

Hershel Hale and Mike Kent, Thompson School trustees; Bobby Harris, an avid supporter; Tim Gann, a former player; Ellie Glascox, assistant principal and coach; and Donald Lathem, number one fan.

Alabaster Mayor H. A. "Doc" Rubin presented Coach Simmons with a key to the city.

THS Principal Allen Fulton read a resolution from the Shelby County Commission honoring Thompson for its accomplishment.

Fulton then presented contractor Roy Martin with a check for $2,500, which was just half the cost of new stadium restrooms he constructed.

A graduate of THS, Martin had promised that he would cut the $5,000 cost in half if the team won the state crown.

The Rev. Terry Maynard, pastor of Elliottsville Cumberland Presbyterian Church recognized J. T. Greene as the first coach at Thompson.

The first coach was presented a special plaque for that distinction and a plaque listing all of the members of the 1932 team to be displayed at THS.

The Rev. Roy Griggs pastor Siluria Baptist Church gave the invocation.

Elson Hood led the alma mater.

Rev. Tom Hammons, pastor of Central United Methodist Church and chaplain corps coordinator gave the benediction.

A special reception was held for the 1932 players in the field house following the ceremony.

Strategy

Shelby County's Coach Don Piazza gives game strategy to his Wildcats. They were winners of the Calera Classic basketball tournament, Thursday night.

Simmons wins honor;
All County team named

As might be expected, Larry Simmons of Thompson is the 1982 High School Coach of the Year for Shelby County.

Also as might be expected, the Thompson Warriors, who won the state's 3A high school football championship for Simmons, received a lion's share of spots on the 1982 All County football roster.

The voting results for the honors were released to the Reporter, Wednesday, by Shelby County High School football coach Ricky Seale. Seale served this past season as president of the Shelby County Coaches Association.

County schools were allowed 22 votes each for players, which were cast by their head football coaches.

Leading all schools in the county, Thompson placed seven players on the All County squad and placed two players on the honorable mention team.

An indication of a bright future, Pelham led the honorable mention category with four underclassmen.

All Countians for Thompson are: seniors Demetrius Threatt, Jeff Bentley, Greg Snell, Richard Brasher, Buddy Cofer, Arthur Johnson, and junior Max Brown.

Honorable mentions for Thompson are John Steele, senior; and Luvell Bivins, junior.

Calera High School, which advanced to the semi finals of Class A state high school football playoffs, placed four players on the All County team.

The Eagles also placed two players on the honorable mention squad.

All Countians for Calera are:

Edward Wilson, Steve Beardin, James Blanchard, and Ronald Byrd.

Honorable mentions for Calera are Curtis Glass, and John Campbell. All are seniors.

Other county schools who placed players on the All County roster and honorable mention list are:

Chelsea, All County, seniors Tommy White, and Larry Cork. Honorable mentions for the Hornets are Keith Brasher, junior and Greg Conkle, senior.

Montevallo, All County, seniors J. J. Moore, Howard Gaddis, and Bobby Allen.

Honorable mentions for the Bulldogs are Mark Jones, senior; Clyde Dailes, junior; and Dwayne Jackson, junior.

Shelby County High School, All County, seniors Jason Head, and Ronald Benton; and Pat Wallace, junior.

Honorable mentions for the Wildcats are Jeff Jones, senior and Kenneth Jones, sophomore.

Vincent, All County, George Datcher, senior and Eddie Reynolds, junior.

Honorable mention for the Yellow Jackets is Johnny Isbell, senior.

Pelham, All County, seniors Danny Whitman, and Ray Higdon.

Honorable mentions for the Panthers are juniors Danny Turner, Gary Howard, and Ricky Hayes; and Jackie Johnson, sophomore.

The vote was taken upon the completion of the 1982 season which officially ended with Thompson's state crown victory over Oxford.

by Fred Guarino

The Shelby County Wildcats overcame poor free throw shooting to win the Calera Classic basketball tournament.

In defeating Jemison 42-36, the team became the first from Shelby County to win the 3 year-old tournament.

Wildcat Bruce Martin kept his team alive in last week's contest by scoring 15 points to Panther Tony Atchinson's 11. Both men tied for the tournament's Most Valuable Player honor.

The outstanding play of the Wildcats' Martin was critical to the game.

Both teams had trouble ringing the hoop from the floor and the Wildcats only hit seven of 16 free throws. Jemison, on the other hand, took every advantage of its free throw opportunities hitting six out of ten.

The championship match was a nip and tuck one from the very start.

Only one point separated the teams at the end of the first period. The Wildcats led eight to seven.

The first half came to a close with the contest knotted at 19-19.

The third stanza ended with the scored tied at 27-27. The Wildcats maintained the knot by hitting an amazing bucket at the buzzer.

Jemison protested the last second third period two points. But game officials ruled that the ball was free from the shooter before the last second ticked off the clock.

The fourth period proved to be of the heart attack kind with the Wildcats outscoring their opponents 15 to nine.

Shelby County took the lead in the last quarter 31-27 with 6:53 left to play.

The Wildcats continued to build their lead slowly, 35-30.

Jemison's Wayne Glazner hit both ends of a one and one to cut the lead to three points 35-32.

But Shelby County returned the favor when Bruce Martin hit a one and one to rebuild the five point distance 37-32.

Coach Don Piazza's team took a time out with 2:54 remaining to plan strategy that would ultimately prevent a Jemison comeback.

But Jemison would not die. With only 35 seconds remaining in the game, the Panthers had cut the lead to three points again, 39-36. A three point play and the game would be tied.

But Kevin Jones made a big free throw that upped Shelby County's lead to four points 40-36. And Jeff Jones hit a one and one with 11 seconds remaining to put the Wildcats' lead at 42-36.

That was enough for the win. Shelby County now adds its name to Maplesville and Jemison as winners of the Calera Classic.

County team wins title match

The Calera Classic basketball tournament jinx has been broken.

In its third year of existence, the tournament has finally been won by a Shelby County team. The event was previously won by Maplesville and Jemison.

The Shelby County Wildcats broke the curse, winning a closely contested, low scoring match over Jemison 42-36 in the tournament finale, Thursday night.

Montevallo out gunned West Blocton 67-56 for third place in a foul plagued contest the same evening. But that lopsided consolation game provided some heat in its latter moments for fans who showed up on a cold December night.

The tournament began Monday, December 13 with a field of eight teams featuring, Montevallo, Altamont, Shelby County, Briarwood, Chelsea, Jemison, West Blocton and Calera.

Montevallo versus Altamont was the opening attraction. The Bulldogs won that encounter 61-48 with J. J. Moore as the leading scorer with 20 points.

Steve Alby led Altamont with 17 points.

That same evening Shelby County edged a tenacious Briarwood team 49-45.

Bruce Martin led the Wildcats with 21 points while Peter Clemens led the Lions with 12.

Chelsea lost a close one to Jemison 44-49, December 13. Kent O'Shields led the Hornets with 14 points and Tony Atchinson led the Panthers with 21.

Also playing on the opening night, host team Calera lost a heart breaking 56-57 contest to West Blocton.

Greg Haynes, a freshman standout, led the Calera Eagles with 34 points. Robbie Miller led West Blocton with 21 points.

Tuesday, December 14, Shelby County edged Montevallo 39-37.

Taylor Blackwell led the Bulldogs with 12 points and Bruce Martin led the Wildcats with 15.

Jemison edged out West Blocton 55-48 the same night.

Ed Brown led West Blocton's squad with 16 points and Tony Atchinson led Jemison's Panthers with 24.

No games were played Wednesday night.

The tournament wound up action with Shelby County claiming the first place prize, Jemison second and Montevallo third, Thursday.

1932 Warriors celebrate 50th anniversary

Friday was a big day for Thompson High School football players.

Not only did the Warriors officially receive their state championship trophy for 3A football, but they met the Warriors of 1932.

Present for the occasion were: First coach J. T. Greene of Lanett; quarterback Joe Hodges of Pelham; halfback Don Busby of Pelham; center William A. Nolen of Alabaster;

End and guard, Harry C. Lacey of Maylene; left guard Hobart Wyatt of Alabaster; halfback George Bentley of Smyrna; Center, tackle and end W. A. Thomason of Alabaster; left guard William Sims of Birmingham; left end J. W. Hand of Midfield; tackle Carl Street of the Indian Springs area; and tackle William F. Kelley of Fairfield.

Other former players of the 1930's present were:

Guard Douglas M. Kent of Alabaster who played from 1933-36; center Tom Harper of Alabaster who played from 1933-34; tackle, right end, right half, and quarterback Fletcher Payne of Tarrant who played from 1933-35;

Back, R. E. Lee of Jemison who played from 1933-36; and back Steele Hodges of Wilsonville who played from 1933-35.

Nolen told the Reporter that there was no comparison between the 1932 and 82 squads. He said, "We were raised on peas and cornbread. Those boys are raised on steak and hamburger."

He indicated that the 1932 variety may have been tougher because he said, "We played hard but didn't get many hurt."

Joe Hodges commented that all of the players in his day played both ways (offense and defense).

Nolen added, "We had to walk home after school. Hobart Wyatt and I ran home after practice and we lived four miles away."

Greene, who coached that wild bunch said, "Boys are bigger now. We averaged 150 lbs. Today's high school football players are 220 lbs."

He echoed Nolan's comments about toughness saying, "Boys back then maybe were a little tougher because they lived a harder life."

"There weren't as many knee and joint injuries."

The 1932 coach attributed that to exercise and the fact that his team didn't have any way to ride.

But Greene did find one spot of common ground between his squad and that of 1982. "I see no difference in the dedication between this group and the boys I coached."

Greene coached at Thompson for three years before going to Snead Junior College.

He earned a masters degree in school administration and became superintendent of the Lanett school system.

He said that when he came to Thompson, it was a big experience for players to put on a uniform.

But, "After 50 years these young men have reached the ultimate goal of being champions."

Adding more reason for THS pride Friday, Greene said that the 1982 3A championship team was better than the 1A and 2A champions and probably better than the 4A champions.

He said that this year's squad had the power to react to situations with judgment, talent and eagerness.

First coach

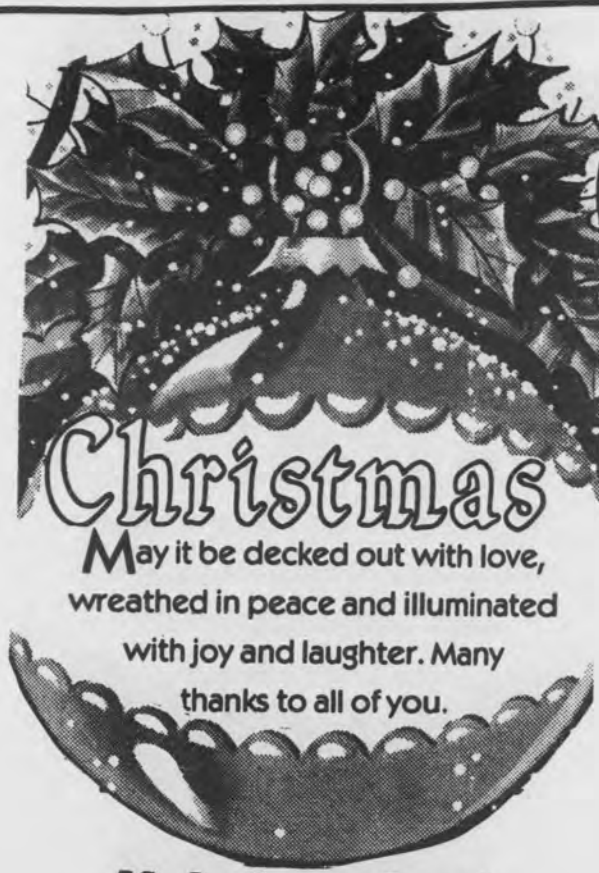

Thompson's 1932 Coach J.T. Greene receives special recognition from the Rev. Terry Maynard. The first coach was honored when Thompson received its 3A state championship trophy, Friday.

Second

The Jemison Panthers finished in second place behind Shelby County in the Calera Classic basketball tournament, Thursday. Front (l-r) are Brent Clark, Tony Atchinson, Wayne Glazner and

Sports editorial

Bryant deserves appreciation

by Fred Guarino

At approximately 10 p.m. Monday, Dec. 13, it was announced that "Bear" Bryant would step down as head football coach of the University of Alabama.

As sports editor of the Reporter (though we do not normally cover college football) I could not let such an event pass by without comment.

Just seeing the name, Paul "Bear" Bryant, in print brings forth thoughts of national football championships in my mind.

He was and is the winnest coach in college history.

I see smiling cheerleaders, thousands of people waving red and white shakers and the Crimson Tide, all brought together by the "Bear."

He has become the national symbol of what college football is all about.

Tuesday morning, as I drove to work, radio talk shows and sports news were full of conversation about Bryant's resignation.

When I dropped in on a couple of friends in Pelham for a cup of coffee, I found them (Auburn fans) making their own commentaries on the subject.

A 1976 graduate of the University of Alabama and a Bama fan since I was old enough to recognize the names Alabama and Auburn, I have always personally admired and respected "Bear" Bryant.

I interviewed the man once while I was a writer for the University of Alabama campus paper.

The assignment was simply to get a story on a fund raising event in which the "Bear" was participating to help people in need.

I was impressed by the physical size of the man and the presence he displayed as college students gave donations to have their photographs made with him.

I was also impressed by the humbleness he showed. It was real... I could feel it.

But I was even more impressed when I learned that the story I was doing could in no way hold mention of all the great things "Bear" had done to help people.

The list of charities he helped was, and I am sure still will be, unbelievable.

I will not attempt to give a history of the "Bear's" football career. Others will do that until the man is dead and buried.

I will not try to recount all the bowl games he appeared in, other than to note his first was, and his last at Alabama will be, the Liberty Bowl.

It's poetic justice I suppose.

But I will say that to me, Paul "Bear" Bryant has been a shining symbol for the South.

When things were not going so well, at least we had the "Bear" to look to.

He was our General Robert E. Lee making the South a winner in the eyes of the nation...at least on the football field.

Over the years, Bryant has shaped the lives of thousands of players, some of whom I have met and one of whom is my cousin, Johnny Musso.

He gained the respect of millions of sports fans from Alabama to New York and to the far west.

Ray Perkins of the New York Giants will take the "Bear's" place on the Alabama sidelines in future years. But neither Perkins nor any other coach will take Bryant's place in history.

Like the late Vince Lombardi, Bryant is a one of a kind man.

I simply want to say that I am proud to have met Bryant and I am proud to have followed his career. He made me glad to be from Alabama.

Whatever the future holds for the University of Alabama in sports, I am happy that "Bear" Bryant from Arkansas was a part of it.

The Bryant years will never be forgotten.

Thank you "Bear" Bryant for everything... from me to you.

All tournament players named

The 1982 Calera Classic basketball tournament saw outstanding play from eight teams.

The performances turned in made selection of a Most Valuable Player so difficult that two youths tied for the honor.

For tournament champion Shelby County High School, the honor was won by Bruce Martin.

But Martin had to share that recognition with the second place Jemison team's Tony Atchinson.

Other players selected to the All Tournament squad were:

Peter Clemens of Briarwood, Ed Brown of West Blocton, Wayne Glazner of Jemison, Kenneth Jones of Shelby County, Kent O'Sheilds of Chelsea; Taylor Blackwell of Montevallo, J. J. Moore of Montevallo, Robby Mills of West Blocton and Greg Haynes of Calera.

Montevallo takes third place

Bulldogs win foul filled game

The Montevallo Bulldogs walloped West Blocton, Thursday 67-56 to take third place in the Calera Classic basketball tournament.

But while the Bulldogs never trailed in the contest, it seemed the consolation game would go on forever.

A total of 54 fouls were called which allowed Montevallo 28 free throws and West Blocton 26.

The Bulldogs made 17 points at the line and West Blocton made 22.

Included in the free throws for Montevallo was a technical foul called on West Blocton when a disgruntled player bounded a basketball off downed Bulldog Rick Dobson's chest.

The result was a near fight which brought fans to life.

Leading Montevallo in the win was J. J. Moore with 16 points.

The West Blocton Tigers were led by Robby Mills who made 13 points.

The Bulldogs led 16-12 at the end of the first period and built that lead to 13 points, 36-23 at the half.

The Dogs continued to rain on West Blocton 52-35 at the end of the third period and ended the game with 67-56 lead.

That was good enough to earn the third place trophy.

Third

The Montevallo Bulldogs claimed third place in the Calera Classic basketball tournament, Thursday. Team members are: Mark Jones, Leslie Rutledge, Nikita Bolling, Mike Grayson, Alfred Green, Tyrone Bell, Jeff Gentry, Taylor Blackwell, Keith Moore, J.J. Moore, Carl Rutledge and Rick Dobson.

Trapped

Montevallo defenders surround West Blocton's Ed Brown. West Blocton had trouble breaking Montevallo's pressure defense all night in the Calera Classic basketball tournament, Thursday.

Shelby Classic scheduled

The Shelby Holiday Classic basketball tournament will be held at Shelby Academy December 27, 28 and 30.

Six teams will participate including Bessemer Faith, Coosa Valley, Berney Points, Southern and Meadowview.

The tournament will begin at 7 p.m. each night with two games.

You can trap and kill but you can't hunt otter

Letter to the Editor:

I would like to respond to the article, "Trapping is way to earn hard cash," in the Thursday, Dec. 16 edition of your paper.

At the very least it was misleading, and several points could be called prime examples of irresponsible journalism.

An unsuspecting public, theoretically, could, acting on information given in your article, be subject to stiff penalties for violation(s) of state game laws and also make needless trips to Montgomery to have their otters and bobcats tagged.

According to regulations set forth by the Commissioner of the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, otters may not be hunted with a weapon.

They are furbearers and may only be trapped. Dispatching legally trapped animals with a .22 calibre rimfire is permitted.

On the other hand, the bobcat, a fur bearer, is also classified as a game animal and may be hunted, subject to several restrictions (check regulations).

In reference to tagging these predators: Our local Conservation Enforcement Officers, Doyle Wood and Willie Morris can do this expediently on a county level. They will affix a tag to the pelt which will then enable the trapper to sell or otherwise dispose of the hide.

Note: Most reputable fur buyers will refuse furs from furbearers which have been taken or shipped in violation of state or federal law.

While you were correct in stating that otter and bobcat are indigenous to Shelby County both are fairly scarce, comparatively speaking.

Bobcats are not abundant anywhere and a good otter population is one otter per 20-25 square miles, as opposed to an average red fox population of 5 to 7 foxes per square mile.

Yours truly,
Steve Strouff
P.O. Box 71
Wilsonville, AL

Editor's response:

Wow! You really put it on us, Mr. Strouff.

First let me say that story was inspired by a news release from the Game and Fish Division of the State Department of Conservation.

But before writing it, we telephoned the department, and talked with Sam Spencer, assistant director.

In re-checking this week after receiving your letter, this is what we found:

Spencer checked the fine print and said that apparently you are right on the fact that otter can only be trapped, while bobcats can be both hunted and trapped.

But he agreed with local retired Captain Ed Lightsey of the Game and Fish Division that enforcement of that regulation would be very difficult. As you state, animals trapped may be legally killed by shooting them with a .22 calibre rimfire shell.

It would be up to the state to prove whether the animal was actually hunted with a gun or shot after it was trapped. This kind of proof would be very difficult to obtain without a witness.

On the subject of tagging the pelts, Lightsey said local officers usually suggest hunters go to Montgomery. In any case, our report suggested contacting our local officers first.

We appreciate your interest and your pointing out the differences between furbearers and game animals. The hunters and trappers of Shelby County need all the help they can get in figuring out the complicated laws governing this subject. (Not to mention newspaper reporters.)

Make ornaments for the family tree

The tradition of decorating trees for Christmas has come down to us from the farmhouses of Europe where people made their own ornaments, using simple materials like straw and wood.

Today, Americans have kept up and enlarged the tradition. In many homes, making tree decorations is a family project. Each year, the collection grows, so that the Christmas tree becomes almost a family tree of memories.

Again, simple materials are the start. Shapes cut from cardboard and glued back-to-back for strength can be covered in any number of decorative ways.

Shapes of wreaths, stars, canes, stockings, etc., can be covered with calico or gift wrap scraps, and decorated with leftover trims. Or they can be coated with glue, then decorated with colored yarns.

One way to develop a family collection is to add a new shape each year with some special family meaning — a cat for your favorite pet — a house if you've just moved, or an alphabet letter to celebrate the achievement of the family's star athlete. Or, keep to the basic shapes, but each year cover them with different materials and colors.

Merry Christmas
May the warmth and wonder of this festive season fill your homes with love. Have a simply wonderful holiday.

UM graduates told 'Be positive'

Today's college graduates go into an imperfect world that previous generations have helped make or, at least, failed to improve.

Dr. Howard Gundy, chancellor of the State Department of Postsecondary Education, told this to graduates during the commencement exercises for the University of Montevallo Dec. 18.

"As I look toward the future with those of you who are receiving your degrees today, I would not suggest that you be anything," Gundy said. "I would suggest that you try to be positive, try to be of good humor, try to be optimistic."

"Because it seems to me that there is a great deal of need for optimistically oriented people."

Gundy offered some suggestions for the young graduates as they begin pursuing professional careers:

--Try to be tolerant of the imperfect society;

--Try to be willing to pitch in and try no matter what the odds;

--Try to have a sense of humor and a capacity to be somewhat amused by your own shortcomings;

--Try to be adaptive to change in a rapidly changing environment, some of which you may have some control over and some of which you may not;

--And try to have rewarding lives as well as rewarding careers.

Gundy, who has been active in Alabama higher education for the past 16 years, was presented the President's Award for Distinguished Public Service by Dr. Jim Vickery, president of the University of Montevallo. The award is presented each December to an outstanding state leader.

Bachelor and master's degrees were presented to approximately 135 students during the commencement exercises.

Shelby County residents who received degrees are:

Alabaster: Laverne R. Holsombeck, Jerry Milton Jones, Susan Kelly Morris and Teresa L. Todhunter.

North Shelby: Susan Diane Davis.

Calera: Cathy Adams Curtis, Mary Kay Douglas, Terry M. Killingsworth and George Ellis Spencer.

Columbiana: Celia Gail Anderson, Richard Gordon Crosby and Ava Jan Nicholson.

Helena: Lori Lea Lovelady.

Montevallo: Timothy Wayne Beiro, Bruce Leland Bryant, D'Andrea Cardone, Jennifer Jane Heyward, Connie Walton Miller, Lisa J. Snowden and Keith Carrier Cullen.

Pelham: Kathleen E. Kane and Toni Rae Redding.

Vincent: Rhonda Karen Davis.

Congratulating new graduate Susan Davis of Pelham are University of Montevallo College of Education Dean Bill Fancher and her family. From left, back, are her brother Scott Davis, her mother Annie Davis, and her father James Davis.

In front is another brother, Jamie Davis. Miss Davis graduated with a bachelor of science degree during UM's fall commencement exercises. Her father is on the UM staff.

German tradition continues in America

One of our best loved Christmas traditions started in Germany in the 16th century. Martin Luther, legend tells us, placed lighted candles on the branches of a fir tree. From that simple beginning, tree decorations expanded to include multi-colored paper roses, apple wafers, gold foil and sweets.

German immigrants brought the Christmas tree custom with them to America. A Pennsylvania man's diary dated 1821 carries the first known mention of a Christmas tree in America.

For years, people paid admission to see decorated trees in stores and churches. The trees were festooned with cranberries, cookies, cotton, eggshells, figs, gas jets, lemons, nuts, paintings, plums, popcorn and toys.

Contemporary Christmas tree decoration takes many forms. There are city chic all one color scheme trees, trees decorated with gilded paper fans and trees that twinkle with hundreds of white lights.

In recent years, there's been a return to a more traditional look. Victorian lace, country American and quilted gingham ornaments are favorite themes along with the perennially popular popcorn and cranberry garlands.

Busy hostesses are taking the "tree" concept to create a new kind of Christmas tradition. Edible mini trees, ranging from cookie trees to cranberry popcorn trees, are an original way to decorate a holiday table and feed your guests dessert easily and conveniently.

CRANBERRY POPCORN TREES

Butter or margarine

1 cup sugar

1/2 cup cranberry apple drink

1/2 cup light corn syrup

12 cups popped corn

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1/4 teaspoon almond extract

About 1/2 cup fresh cranberries

Butter sides of a heavy, medium saucepan.

In it mix sugar, cranberry apple drink and corn syrup.

Cook over medium heat until boiling, stirring constantly.

Continue to cook without stirring to the hardball stage (266°F.).

Meanwhile, place popped corn in a buttered large bowl or pot; place in a 250°F. oven to warm popped corn.

When syrup reaches temperature, add butter and extract; stir until just mixed.

Slowly pour syrup evenly over popped corn, stirring just to mix well.

Butter hands lightly and shape into cones.

Press cranberries into trees to decorate. Cool.

To store, wrap individually in clear plastic wrap.

Makes 8 individual trees (about 3 1/2 inches high) or three 7-inch trees for center of table.

A Washington Irving Christmas: dazzling celebration of the season

Few writers have been more enamored of the pleasures of the Christmas season than Washington Irving, whose fascination with old lore and traditions led him to create such fables as "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" and "Rip van Winkle."

Enchanted by the ancient customs faithfully followed by a family with whom he stayed during his sojourn in England in 1819, Irving annually observed the time-honored Christmas traditions that were so dear to his heart at his own home, Sunnyside, in Tarrytown, New York.

As early as 1809, Irving waxed poetic on the subject of St. Nicholas, the forerunner of the Santa Claus we know and love today.

In Dierdrich Knickerbocker's History of New York, Irving wrote: "The good St. Nicholas would often make his appearance riding jollily among the tree tops, or over the roofs of houses, now and then drawing forth magnificent presents from his breeches pockets, and dropping them down the chimneys." A forerunner of Clement Moore's famous "Visit from St. Nicholas," if there ever was one!

Christmas, to Irving, meant all the homespun pleasures of good companionship, hospitality and good cheer.

"It is, indeed," Irving wrote in Old Christmas, the book of essays in which he celebrated his English Christmas, "The season of regenerated feeling — the season for kindling, not merely the fire of hospitality in the hall, but the genial flame of charity in the heart."

In a letter to his sister, Sarah Van Wart, Irving vividly describes one of the pleasures of the season.

"I know of nothing more exhilarating than the first sleigh rides; skimming over the sparkling snow, the air so pure and bracing, the sunshine so splendid; the very horse seems to share your animation and delight, and dash forward merrily to the jingling of the sleigh bells."

The buoyancy of the description befits a boy of seven or 17, not (as Irving then was) a man of 57.

To his niece, Sarah Storrow, Irving described Sunnyside, ready for the Christmas festivities, as, "dressed in evergreens," as it was each year, as custom (and Irving was a staunch observer of custom) dictated.

In addition to evergreen garlands, wreaths and sprays, Sunnyside boasted its share of holly, and a wreath hung on the front door in welcome.

Mistletoe dangled over various doorways, reminiscent of that which Irving remembered from his English Christmas: "with its white berries, hung up, to the imminent peril of all the pretty housemaids."

In Irving's footnotes to Old Christmas, he explains the way the mistletoe tradition operated. According to Irving, "The young men have the privilege of kissing the girls under it, plucking each time a berry from the bush. When the berries are all plucked, the privilege ceases."

Irving faithfully observed the custom of gift-giving at Christmas. Irving Van Wart, a visitor to Sunnyside, recalled Christmas morn in his journal: "This morning when we woke we lit our gas and then opened our stockings."

Irving's dining table, the center of much of the merriment, was traditionally adorned by a lustrous red satin ribbon which encircled it, tied into four large bows, one at each corner. The Christmas dinner which would be enjoyed at it, often included roast goose and pickled oysters.

The menu for Christmas Dinner, 1852, encompassed Macaroni Soup, Baked Ham, Turkey with Oyster Soup, Scalloped Oysters, Parsnips, Carrots, Boiled Turnips, Mince Pie, Rice and Plum Pudding, and concluded with coffee, fruit and nuts.

It was as elaborate, if not as unusual as the meal Irving associated with his English Christmas, which began with, "an enormous pig's head, decorated with rosemary, with a lemon in its mouth, which was placed with great formality at the head of the table."

and encompassed such delicacies as mock-peacock pie (made from pheasant), "magnificently . . . decorated with peacock's feathers, in imitation of the tail of that bird."

The English Christmas dinner, which Irving remembered all his life, concluded with the ceremony of the wassail bowl, whose contents Irving described as, "Being composed of the richest and raciest wines, highly spiced and sweetened with roasted apples bobbing about the surface."

As everyone drank from the one bowl, which was passed around the table, it was the perfect beverage with which to toast Merry Christmas and enjoy the feeling of togetherness which the Christmas season instills.

BLESSED NIGHT

Let the light of the radiant Christmas Star cast its glow upon you and those you love.

Apples, raises top 1982 school scene

by Bert Seaman

Thompson High School's Assistant Principal Ellie Glasscox adopted an apple for his campaign symbol and went to work early in May to win the top education post in the county.

After a September run-off with Valley Principal Dr. Norma Rogers, the Thompson administrator and coach achieved his goal.

Glasscox will become Superintendent of Education in July when Charles Knowles' term expires.

Board chairman Barbara Whitman and board member Paul Summers both defeated challengers for their seats.

Teachers and administrators got their long awaited salary raises in June when the board gave their approval to the increase which will amount to more than $400,000.

The recommendation for the pay raise was made by a committee of teachers and administrators headed by Deputy Superintendent of Education Vern Davis. It also included a package of additional fringe benefits which includes pay for accumulated sick leave when the employee retires.

However, members of a PAC committee, formed this year to improve the educational system and to give teachers more voice in the political process, objected to an $8,000 increase in the superintendent's expense allowance.

A state policy regarding accreditation gave them no choice in the matter, the board contended.

Since Knowles was not the highest paid employee in the county school system as the policy requires, adding to his expense allowance was the only way to correct the situation.

The board wasn't able to increase Knowles' salary because state law prohibits an elected official from getting a pay raise during his term of office.

The board reached out a helping hand during the summer to help students who are potential juvenile delinquents.

With the support of the superintendent, the board approved the payment of the salaries of two teachers and an aide to be used in the DAY program (developing Alabama youth).

Thirty students are now enrolled in the program which has a center in Siluria where academic instruction and counseling are given.

A problem still exists, however, with children at the lower end of the educational ladder.

A North Shelby County

mother whose son was not chosen in the kindergarten lottery filed a suit in November to have the system declared unconstitutional.

Later she and other mothers met with newly elected legislators to voice their concern over the situation.

Funding only allows 300 children to attend the full day full year public kindergarten program, which means that 700 or more children are left out.

Everyone did get a chance however, to say how they thought the school board should spend money for the school system.

But there was not a great deal of input into the budget hearings which were held in July.

The budget which the board adopted amounted to $25,713,352.

Every school will have to pinch pennies, Knowles said, due to the 10 percent cutback in state funding, which was ordered by Governor Fob James at the beginning of the school year.

As 1982 draws to a close, parents in North Shelby County continue to watch the progress on the county's newest school in Inverness.

The completion of the $2.5 million school, slated for the fall of 1983, is eagerly awaited so that some of the overcrowding can be alleviated in that end of the county.

Thefts, burglaries may drop, but crime is pushing $1 million

by David F. Moore

Robberies and burglaries decreased in 1982 from the previous year. But ranging from pick-pockets and plundered Pac-Man games, to stolen sports cars, jewelry and even the theft of $4,000 worth of cattle sperm in Wilsonville, crime this year in Shelby County is expected to total out to a million-dollar-plus business.

Murders, assaults, and possibly rapes, appear to be on the increase around the county.

Homicide: At least eight murders will show up on ACJIC's final total for 1982.

Two murders occurred in Alabaster and two in Montevallo. Of the three murder investigations filed through the sheriff's department, at least two occurred in Vincent.

Three murders took place in 1981, all of them in Alabaster. Although Alabaster has a 33% decrease in homicides, the overall county experienced a 166% increase.

Rape: Eight rapes were reported in Shelby County in 1981.

Through October, '82, five rapes were reported to the sheriff's department, and one to Pelham police. A UM coed raped in Montevallo in November, brings the preliminary total for the year to seven.

Robberies: Robbery is considered a crime of violence because a weapon is used, therefore greatly increasing the risk of injury or death. Over all, so far this year, robberies are down.

However, in Alabaster, robberies increased from 12 to 15. In Helena and Wilsonville, they increased from zero to one, each.

Elsewhere, robbery rates dropped from '81 to '82: sheriff's department, 11 to five; Pelham, six to zero; Calera, three to one;

Columbiana and Vincent, one to zero.

Assaults: Over all, assaults are currently up 33.6% -- an increase from 104 to 139.

Alabaster increased from 28 to 44. Calera is up from one to 12, Statistics draw crime picture

NOTE---The Alabama Criminal Justice Information Center (ACJIC) in Montgomery compiles computerized crime statistics from across the state. Crime reports are submitted by participating police agencies, and ACJIC categorizes them according to the FBI's seven-part breakdown: homicide, rape, robbery, assault, burglary, theft, and theft of motor vehicles.

ACJIC will not have 1982 figures totaled until March, however. Furthermore, of the 12 law enforcement agencies in Shelby County, four of them -- Wilsonville, Harpersville, Vincent and Calera -- did not submit monthly reports to Montgomery in 1982.

Using a combination of ACJIC information, and crime statistics provided by the chiefs and ranking officers of several departments, the Reporter was able to derive a preliminary picture of crime in Shelby County during the year past.

Crime figures through at least mid-December were provided by the police departments at Wilsonville, Harpersville, Vincent, Calera, Montevallo, University of Montevallo, Wilton, and Alabaster. Computer readouts for Helena, Pelham, Columbiana and the sheriff's department, were taken from the latest ACJIC readouts, current through October.

Montevallo from two to nine, Columbiana from one to four. Pelham increased from 23 to 24, and UM increased from zero to one.

With two months to add, the sheriff's department (which often originates cases that occur inside cities) remains the same at 41. Helena remains the same at four. Assault investigations initiated by Vincent police are down from four to zero.

Burglaries: So far, 331 burglaries have been reported in Shelby County this year -- down from 498 in 1981.

Burglaries reported to the sheriff's office alone dropped from 292 to 169 (in ten months). In Vincent they dropped from 56 to 43. Columbiana decreased from 21 to 14, Calera went from 31 to 10 cases, and Pelham dropped from 56 to 43.

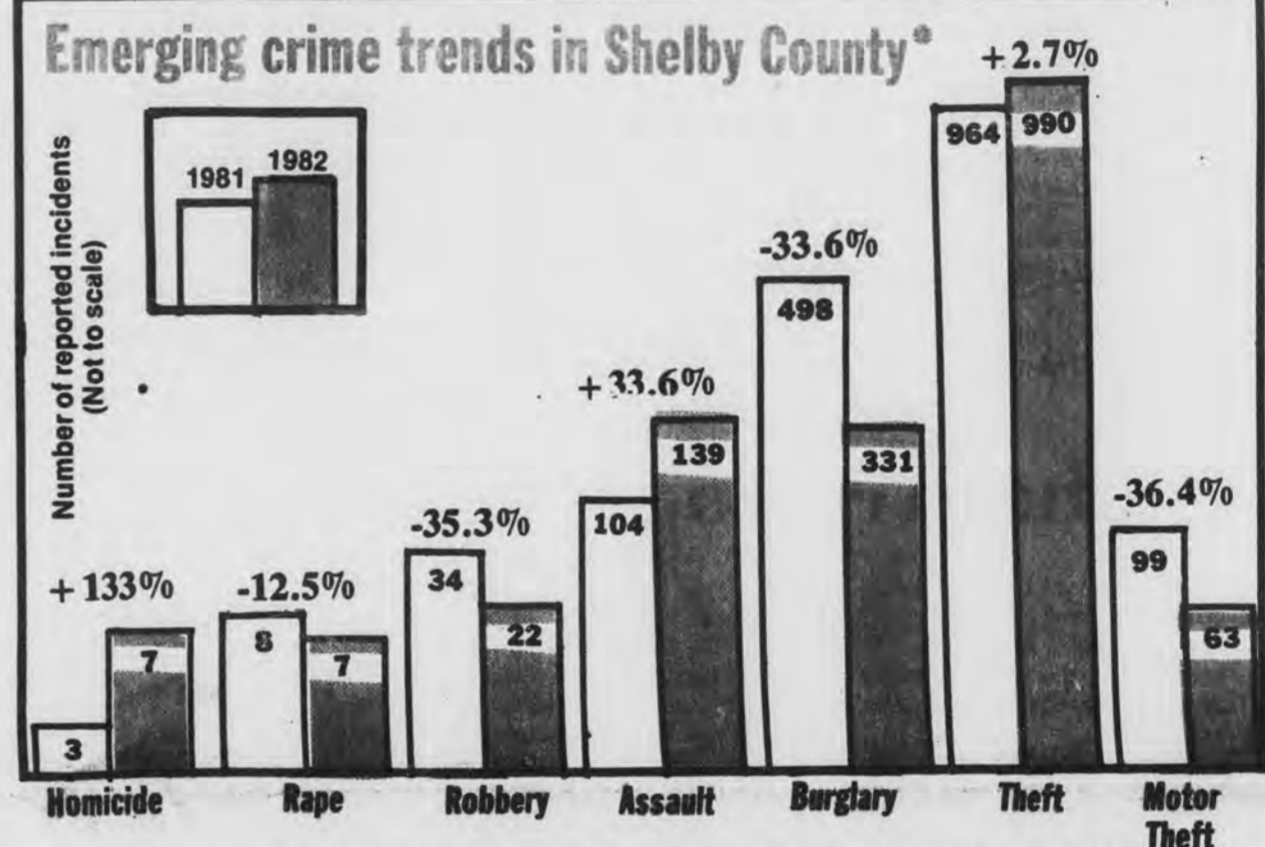

Helena, with 11 burglaries so far, will go over the 12 reported there last year. Alabaster increased from 34 to 37, Harpersville from zero to two, Montevallo from 18 to 20, UM from one to three, and Wilsonville from four to five.

Thefts: Thefts, which differ from burglaries in that no building or car is illegally entered, is the most common crime listed in the Shelby County statistics.

In 1981, 964 thefts were reported. So far, 990 have been reported this year. (Some of this increase appears to be the results of more detailed files at some enforcement agencies where reports now include stolen amounts small as $2.)

With two months to go, sheriff investigations of thefts are down from 413 to 358, Pelham is down from 195 to 189, Columbiana is down from 41 to 18, Helena is down from 22 to 16. On the year, Vincent is down from 16 to 12,

*Statistics have been compiled by the Shelby County Reporter from information provided by the Alabama Criminal Justice Information Center, Shelby County Sheriff's Department, the ten municipal police departments in the county, and UM campus police. Crime figures for 1982 will increase somewhat when the ACJIC releases its fourth quarter totals for the sheriff's department and Columbiana, Helena and Pelham police departments. All other tabulations were made through at least mid-December.

1982: Taking a farewell spin around political circles

The more Shelby County politics changes, the more it remains the same.

The usual frantic atmosphere dominated 1982 here as political promises were made and broken, dire consequences predicted and forgotten, laws declared unconstitutional and reenacted, and county officeholders pointed with pride and viewed with alarm while their constituents criticized and reelected them.

When the sound and fury of the past twelve months finally died down, though, it was unclear just what it all signified.

Cities and neighborhoods monopolized the political headlines early in the year with annexation and zoning hassles.

Alabaster wound up annexing some 12 square miles via a May 17 election, while Calera's two annexation efforts came to naught.

A number of "burning local issues" were resolved when voters okayed the Cahaba Valley and Dogwood fire districts, and a dues change for North Shelby.

The state supreme court threw out the county's zoning law in May, placing Beat 12 in a frenzy. The statute was quickly repassed by the state legislature and a local referendum as the controversy faded from the political scene back into the legal scene.

That crisis past, attention turned to county wide issues as the three elections of September 7 (primary), September 28 (runoff) and November 2 (general) approached.

The property tax appraisal had delays and mistakes again this year with some effect on the county treasury but none at the polls.

Tax collector Fay Quick resigned after years of trying to get better office space, and was replaced by Annette Skinner.

Attempted economizing on a painting contract was the apparent cause of a public uproar when the courthouse domes were colored brown rather than copper during a summer refurbishing job.

The person responsible for the snafu covered his tracks better than the domes, and was never identified.

Redoing some of the trim work sufficed to mollify the public (the previous silver paint was not a decorator's dream either) and the political storm evaporated before the elections.

Probate Judge Tommy Snowden turned back three challengers to gain a second six year term. Former sheriff Red Walker made it into a runoff, but then withdrew.

Superintendent of Education Charles Knowles gave office workers a spring raise, offending teachers and leading to the election of Ellie Glasscox to replace him next year. Valley School Principal Norma Rogers placed second in that race.

Leon Archer defeated incumbent Alpha Lowe for a county commission seat in the only other race to see a major incumbent turned out by the voters.

County Commissioner Harold Davenport was reelected over Charles Seales.

Circuit judge Robert Armstrong turned his appointment into a full term over the opposition of Eason Mitchell and Wayne Causey in a rare judicial race of interest mainly to lawyers.

The board of registrars purged some 14,000 voters from the rolls in February, then put about 5,000 back to wind up the year with approximately 30,000 registered county voters.

Some criticism of campaigning during registration and registering voters at unusual places and times was heard, but with no apparent result.

Republicans made a hard charge at the ballot box for the general election, causing a record 20,000 voter turnout and carrying the county for Emory Folmar (governor), Spencer Bachus (senate) and Don Murphy (representative).

Veteran ticket-splitters, Shelby Countians put Democrats Buddy Glasgow (sheriff), Kyle Lansford (circuit clerk) and Sonny Moore (representative) back in with large margins over GOP challengers. The school board also remained Democratic.

Of the four major candidates for governor this year, Shelby County backed three. Joe McCorquodale, George McMillan, and Emory Folmar each won an election here.

However, it was George Wallace who won the office, and that fact may well turn out to overshadow anything else that happened here in 1982.

As the year drew to a close, the dimming election afterglow was punctuated by the appointment of Democrat John Ames to replace Don Murphy, the GOP winner of the District 49 representative election over Tom Stubbs.

While 1982 struts and frets its final hours on the stage, the balance sheet reads like it did a year ago: the hospital is intermittently controversial; the property tax needs revision; no action yet on promises to put a courthouse in north Shelby County; in the courthouse office space is short, and domes are, a strange color;

County Commissioner Alpha Lowe congratulates longtime highway department employees Billy Highway department workers' years of service honored

by Bert Seaman

"You have set an example for the other members of this department," Shelby County Highway Director Gary Ray told three veteran employees.

Ray commended the dedication of the three men during the awarding of service certificates at the highway department shop last week.

He pointed out that the years of service that Billy Farmer, James "Romance" Warren and J.D. Davis had put in with the department added up to 85.

"In fact," Ray noted, "I was only a few days old when two of these men came to work here."

Farmer, who is a superintendent, and Warren, a member of the robot crew, have been with the department 30 years.

Davis, a patrol foreman, has worked for the department 25 years.

Referring to the County Commission, Ray said, "I'm thankful for the type of leadership we've had in this county."

He mentioned the fact that other counties have had to lay off employees to stay within the budget.

Alpha Lowe and Jake Morris represented the commission at the event and helped Ray hand out the award certificates.

Men receiving 20 year awards were: Charles Payne, Ed Langley; 15 years - O.L. Thomas; 10 years - Otis Moore, Henry Bullard, Ricky Mitchell, Marvin Mizzell.

Five year awards went to: Jack Ingram, James Green, Darrell Farmer, David Perryman, Gary Perryman.

Oak Mt. makes change

by David F. Moore

There have been changes at Oak Mountain State Park in the past year.

As park manager Phil Easterwood noted, the changes were made before the recent publication of an audit of the Alabama Department of Conservation. The audit recommended numerous changes in Oak Mountain's accounting and management procedures.

Easterwood was not manager at Oak Mountain during the period covered by the audit. He replaced former manager John Meredith about 13 months ago.

"In the course of the year we've changed according to the recommendations," Easterwood told the Reporter this week. "But the changes weren't made in light of the audit. The things that were done, were done to improve our recreational offerings and the overall operation of the park."

"I think things are much different now. I would welcome an audit here anytime," he continued.

Park figures for the fiscal year ending September 30 show that 257,000 people visited the park. Gross receipts from all Oak Mountain facilities for the 1981-82 fiscal year total $973,000.

"We're not just profit motivated. The true measure of the success of this year is in what the public gained in areas of new services," Easterwood said. "What is there to do at Oak Mountain? We're providing the public with more varied activities."

Topping the list of attractions added to the park last year is the BMX (bicycle moto-cross) race track. Eleven races were scheduled through the spring and summer, including a nationals race which brought in hundreds of bikers and their parents from many areas of the country.

Other additions Easterwood mentioned are: an enlarged arena at the riding school stables; increased population of demonstration farm animals; the equipping of a full line tackle shop at the fishing lake; improved rescue communications with cooperation from SCARES (Shelby County Amateur Radio Emergency Service); improved fire fighting training and capabilities; organized trail tours and slide programs; and pony rides for children in the camp grounds.

"We're maintaining progress in light of budget cuts," Easterwood said. "As far as evaluating the year, I think the citizens of Shelby County received quality service from our employees."

County crime wrap up

and Wilsonville is down from 10 to two.

In 1981, one theft was all the crime reported from Wilton to ACJIC. Chief 'Pappy' Page reported no property thefts this year. In fact, a single stolen truck was the only crime reported there in 1982.

On the other hand, Alabaster showed an increase in thefts from 187 to 221. Montevallo increased from 47 to 82, while Calera increased from 31 to 36. UM increased from one to 55, and Harpersville from zero to one.

Theft of motor vehicles: Theft of motor vehicles is showing an over all drop in cases from 99 to 63 -- a 36.4% decrease.

Calera dropped from eight to four, Columbiana from two to one, Harpersville from three to zero, Montevallo from eight to one, Pelham from 23 to 11, and Vincent from two to zero.

Vehicle thefts to the sheriff's department dropped from 42 to 32.

In Alabaster, thefts of motor vehicles increased from 11 to 13.

The price tag: To date, 1,406 thefts, burglaries and robberies have been reported by ACJIC and Shelby County law officers. Price tags -- that is, monetary values of the stolen goods -- are immediately available for 1,002 of these crimes, and they add up to $689,045.77.

At an average loss to victims of $687.67 per crime, the total for 1,406 crimes listed so far is an estimated $966,864.02. That figure will climb as ACJIC tabulates the final two months of reports from the sheriff's department, Pelham, and Helena.

Pelham car operation ended

A Pelham paint shop has been offering to make a customer's car look like new. According to Pelham police, the shop has been offering a similar service for stolen vehicles.

Boyd Sutherland, 50, owner of Budget Paint & Body Shop on U.S. 31, was arrested December 21 on three counts of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property. His bond was set originally at $180,000.

Sutherland was released Tuesday, December 28, on a $30,000 bond, following a preliminary hearing before Judge Patti Smith.

Pelham detective Lt. Tommy Thomas told the Reporter that Sutherland possibly faces additional charges by Birmingham police, and that other suspects may also be arrested in connection with the case.

So far, Thomas said about $14,000 worth of merchandise has been recovered through Sutherland's alleged operation.

According to police reports Sutherland moved his business a month ago from Finley Avenue in Birmingham to the former site of Econo Paint and Body Shop in Pelham.

Operating on a tip, Thomas and detective Sgt. Donnie Guyer on December 20 recovered a newly painted 1977 Cutlass that Sutherland had apparently loaned to a legitimate customer.

The next day they discovered a 1979 Grand Prix in Sutherland's shop that was being re-keyed and prepped for painting. At another location they recovered an air compressor and water tank Sutherland had allegedly taken from the building he had rented in Birmingham.

Sutherland was in Haleyville when the goods were discovered. A warrant was issued for his arrest and authorities there picked him up the same night, Thomas said.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly "Good Morning" column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

Here's just time to say Thank You. I think of all the spots on this earth, this just has to be about the nicest place of all.

We figured it would be harder this year, that more money would be needed. And, too, so many folks who used to give would have to get now, unemployment what it is.

But I started out anyhow, the same as always. And today, about ten days later, we have $3200.00 for next year.

And we had enough for this year, the ladies bought early, it was all packed and ready, and nobody was left out. Ol' Santa found every little boy and girl, and that's what it's all about.

There were those marvelous kids at Shelby County High School, and folks up and down every street, and lawyers and merchants and folks in big business out on the edge of town. And everybody giving a little more, and not minding it, not a single one. There were doctors and nurses and clerks and bankers, all of 'em giving, because all of 'em cared.

And that little Christmas tree at the Breakfast House on the by-pass, and folks giving, until the tree was loaded down.

That's just the way it was. The way it is every year on this tiny part of our big world. Because we care, all of us; and because we know that this is the way Christmas was supposed to be.

I'll see you next year, a little after Thanksgiving, and we'll do it all over again. Because we are determined, in our fashion, that Santa will come to see every boy and girl in the area.

There were a lot of us who helped, and so many of you who gave, and a lot of little folks will be happy because of it.

We call it the Columbiana Christmas Fund. Maybe it's the nicest thing we do. Maybe it is.

Money tree

Debbie Perry and Muriel Lucas remove $90 from the Christmas tree at the Breakfast House which went for needy children in Columbiana. The United Methodist Church sponsors the project.

Scrambled Eggs

By Bert Seaman

This year, Santa Claus and I almost came down the chimney at the same time.

Even though I vow every year to start my Christmas shopping earlier, I always seem to wind up doing it at the last minute.

But if misery loves company, I guess I was happy because the stores were crowded on Christmas eve.

However, the crowd thinned out considerably around 5:45 p.m. So I had 15 minutes before the stores closed in which to make my last minute selections without any pushing and shoving.

Actually, it wasn't all that bad.

I'm not saying there weren't a bunch of folks out there, but everyone was pretty congenial.

In one of the toy stores I visited, the crowd was three deep in most aisles. But those who wanted to peer at items high on the shelves on the right side of the aisle, flattened themselves on the opposite side of the aisle and vice versa.

You could make your way down most of the aisles fairly easily by staying in the center lane.

One exception was the stuffed animal aisle. There the main problem was climbing over the animals which covered the floor as well as the shelves.

I guess my biggest problem was finding a bathrobe and slippers for my oldest granddaughter.

That doesn't seem as though it would be hard to do - until you try that is.

There were very few of either in her size, and the ones I found I didn't like.

I finally saw one that I thought might do, but I wanted to look further.

At the other end of the mall, there was another one that looked like it might fill the bill except the sleeves weren't full length and I wasn't sure if the slippers were a good match.

So with 15 minutes until closing, I raced the length of the mall back to the store with the first robe.

But to my horror, the slippers there, which I hadn't looked at before, were absolute disasters.

Now it was a real race with the clock. My little darling had to have her bathrobe and slippers the next morning, so I beat it back to the other store.

And I made it - just under the wire.

I vow this isn't going to happen again. Next year I'm going to get an early start on my Christmas shopping.

Somehow, that statement has a familiar ring to it. I wonder where I've heard it before?

Under The Courthouse Dome

by Fred Guarino

The past year, 1982, was one that will long be remembered by followers of this county's governing body.

The courthouse domes received a new "chocolate" look that led to outrage.

Tommy Snowden was re-elected as probate judge in an election that witnessed the return of former sheriff "Red" Walker to politics.

And there was much more.

The year began with the commission being put on the spot concerning the depositing of county funds.

The body voted 3-1 to stay with the First National Bank of Columbiana in spite of a request from Shelby Bank to handle some of the money at its Columbiana branch.

Commissioner Don Murphy dissented.

Residents of Westover convinced the commission with mass support to deny a liquor license to Country Cupboard, Inc.

The group was led by the Rev. Boyce Trott of Mt. Zion Church and was supported by several other churches and a petition signed by 700 persons.

Doris Turner, chairman of the county board of registrars asked for more space to register voters.

Conversion of space in the former county jail was discussed and the commission later created two spacious rooms there for the registrars' use.

But the problem of office space was one that resurfaced again and again.

An old proposal of building a separate building for agricultural agencies was revived, and another group proposed having the county lease the former Strickland Chevrolet building in Columbiana for those agencies. Budget tightness, however, prevented either step from being taken.

Commissioner Don Murphy suggested that offices which did not need to be in the courthouse find space elsewhere with county help.

Employees of Shelby County received a pay raise when a revised budget was approved for the last six months of the fiscal year.

The eight percent increase however did not apply to the sheriff's department since they received even higher increases through their tie to state troopers' salaries.

Some members of the county commission felt the sheriff pulled an underhanded trick on them.

The commission worked an additional $5,000 per year expense allowance into the revised budget for the sheriff. But he did not tell them that he was seeking a big increase in salary through the state legislature.

County GOP chairman David Bradley kicked up a storm when he presented a map to county commissioners proposing a redrawing of commission district lines.

The new lines would have put 25 percent of the county population in each district.

Don Murphy moved that the plan be adopted, but received no second for his motion. He then moved that the matter be tabled until a later time and that move was passed with Commissioner Alpha Lowe voting, "no".

The county GOP later decided to let the state legislature handle the situation. The deadline for the county to redistrict itself was March of 1982.

Commissioners took steps to improve the voting place for residents of Beat 7, Box 3.

Those voters had to vote in the Siluria fire station which was the most crowded polling spot in the entire county.

The county commission declared that it would continue to prosecute those who litter in unauthorized places.

The commission was given 30 days to clear up a problem at the Westover landfill. The state health department reported that the garbage was not being covered each day.

The sheriff's department was granted authority to move its office from the North Shelby Fire District Headquarters to the old location of the First National Bank of Columbiana at the intersection of Alabama Highway 119 and U.S. 280.

A request for a liquor license to reopen the building formerly known as "Lib's" on Highway 25 near Calera was turned down several times during the year.

A matter concerning the legal status of four sheriff's office employees was turned over to the county attorney for settlement.

A rock concert planned near Calera drew strong resistance from area residents.

That led to two resolutions by the county commission.

One was for the county attorney to seek a restraining order and the other was to send a letter of opposition to promoters of the event.

The concert was later held.

The unending desire for pavement of Lokey Ferry Road near Wilsonville was expressed again in 1982. But again residents found the commission unwilling to make promises. Budget was again the reason.

Attorneys from Bibb and Shelby County and Burgess Mining and Construction Company were called upon to settle a dispute over a closed road.

The road was reportedly used in the past by residents of Marvel in Bibb County and Boighton in Shelby County in the past.

Funds were withheld from the Forestry Commission as the result of problems reported by landowners.

Those funds were not reinstated until a new man was hired for Shelby County and an inventory of equipment used in the county was provided to the commission.

Beat 12's long standing zoning regulations were thrown out when the Supreme Court invalidated the 1965 law which set up the zoning body. This led to immediate action by residents of the beat, who advertised a proposed bill that would meet legal requirements.

They were lucky that a special session of the legislature had been called, and they succeeded in getting the new law passed by both houses, just before the beat would have reverted to 'unzoned' status.

Political watchers in Shelby County were given a surprise when former sheriff Red Walker threw his hat into the race for probate judge.

Incumbent Tommy Snowden found his hands full but was later successful in defeating Walker as well as R. E. Hamilton and Don Hughes who also sought to take his commission chairmanship away from him.

Walker gave Snowden a smooth ride back to his position at the top county official when he declined his opportunity to battle the incumbent in a runoff election.

Two term commissioner J. Alpha Lowe waged a strong battle with Leon Archer to hold his District 4 seat but was defeated in a runoff.

Also hoping to fill that post was Robert LaVaughn Parker.

Harold Davenport was successful in his re-election bid to the County Commission District 2 seat over Charles Seales.

Elections in the fall gave approval to commission chairman and probate judge Tommy Snowden to continue in office for a second term.

Commissioner Harold Davenport also won a second term for the district 2 seat.

Two-term commissioner J. Alpha Lowe, however, was defeated in a runoff, and his district 3 seat will be taken over in late January by Leon Archer.

Commissioner Don Murphy, whose term still had two years to run, decided to enter the race for state representative from the new district 49. He won the office, and resigned from his commission post in early November.

Shelby Countians hit the roof when a brown color applied to all of the courthouse domes.

The courthouse paint contract was awarded to Austin Henley. But Henley said that he did not choose the color.

Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden also denied knowledge of who picked the "chocolate" brown.

He later said that he told the contractor to paint the domes a "bronze or copper" color.

In an effort to soothe the county unrest over the brown painting of the domes, a committee was appointed to come up with a solution.

The committee suggested leaving only the five domes brown, and painting all the trim and supporting sections in ivory. The commission however, split the suggestion and repainted only the trim.

The Tennco Company received a go ahead to take down a hill of gob (coal mine waste) in Dogwood.

The company now processes that waste into coal which can be used.

By ruling of state attorney general Charles Graddick, commissioners learned that a legislative bill which increased the sheriff's pay to $36,298.60 became effective April 15.

In another ruling, the body learned that the North Shelby Fire and Emergency Medical District has the authority to apportion service charges among all residents of the district.

The county commission found itself in for a rude awakening in October.

It was discovered that the revenues for the 1982-83 fiscal year would only increase about $549,000. Tax Assessor Bobbie Reynolds had reportedly predicted an increase of about $2 million.

As a result the budget approved was basically the same budget as that approved the year before.

The commission agreed, with the exception of J. Alpha Lowe, to work up plans for a courthouse branch office in north Shelby County.

Shelby County sheriff's deputies angered the county commission when they did not agree to take a voluntary cut in hours as state troopers did.

The request was made on behalf of the county by its attorney, who said the county could not afford an 11 percent pay raise for the deputies that the state granted state employees.

The deputies said that they would wait until the first of the year before making any voluntary reduction in hours.

They assured the commission that the problem would be resolved but did not mention cutbacks.

Commissioner Don Murphy said he got the distinct feeling the deputies based their decision on the fact the state is on proration.

He said, "They expect the county to go on proration, which would affect all departments."

The county commission approved its own pay raise Monday, December 21.

By passage of a resolution concurring with two state laws, the salary of the commission chairman was increased $4,000 per year and the salary of commission members was increased $2,400 per year.

A Democrat, John W. Ames of Helena was appointed by Governor Fob James to replace Republican Don Murphy on the Shelby County Commission, and he started serving at once.

The Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

It may be the season to be jolly, but jolly is not what Charlie Graddick, that is, the Alabama Attorney General. He has taken his lumps.

It all started when Graddick's office issued an advisory opinion regarding the unique fact that there will be 27 paydays during the current fiscal year. He ruled that some state officials who are on a fixed annual salary would be issued paychecks as if there were only 26 paydays...but...that they would get 27 paychecks. What it amounts to is that all 450 of the officials will get a bonus equal to about four per cent of their annual salary. Graddick is one of the 450. His fixed annual salary is $58,000...but he will be paid $60,300 during the year.

The press howled in protest at the ruling, and perhaps 50 state officials affected by the ruling...including Secretary of State Don Seigelman...requested that they not get the extra check. Seigelman, never one to miss an opportunity, issued a stern statement calling the extra paycheck not only immoral but illegal.

Still others called on Graddick to publicly declare that he too would refuse the extra paycheck. Despite the fact that it was Christmastime...despite the contention that it is better to give than receive...General Graddick made no response to the suggestion. Apparently he will take his extra money, hopeful that the taxpayers will forget it before he asks them for another job.

The total cost to the state as a result of the ruling: An estimated $1 million.

There's more to story

Letter to the Editor:

Read David Moore's story about Vandiver in the Dec. 2 issue.

Very nice, except, you should have included some older people in your interviews.

For instance, Mrs. Myrtle Stracner (Marjorie Brasher's mother) former postmistress, who is 82 years old -- well-liked and respected by everyone.

There would have been no post office for Marjorie and Marion to save in 1976, if Mrs. Myrtle and I had not carried our pleas to the postal authorities in Washington through our Congressman, Armistead I. Selden.

The date for closing was posted as the last day of May 1958. Through all our efforts, it was stopped.

Also, I have lived here since August 1952. Taught school in our school for 17 years. During that time with the help of our PTA and the Shelby County School authorities, many improvements were made in Vandiver school.

It was blocked up, gas heat installed, inside bathrooms and outside lighting.

This showed our pride in our community, our willingness to help each other, etc.

In the course of this time, I also wrote a column for your paper for many years - each and every week.

You spoke of good neighbors; Gene and Lilla McDonald are good examples of this. They would give the clothes off their backs to help anyone.

Also, you spoke of Volunteer fire fighters; my son, Wayne Brasher, attended 3 different schools to learn how to fight fires and to give first aid to the injured. He, Clifford Brasher and Dorman Lynn are the best prepared fire fighters at Vandiver.

Some of the main ones have attended no classes.

Yes, we are proud to be a part of Vandiver.

But as Mocking Bird (Elmer Falkner) said, "We, also, like to think of Vandiver as a place of equality - community spirit, no Big I and little you.

Thanks for listening.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Gladys Brasher

Writer's response -- Had time, space and story structure allowed, I would have talked to everyone in Vandiver. As it turned out, I didn't even get a chance to mention the Gymno-Vita nudist colony there, nor the fact that I have a cat named Vandiver (and one named Chelsea). Thanks for reading, anyway. DFM

Shelby depot lives again with parties

by Bert Seaman

The Ken Moore's "Little House," was once the freight room of the Shelby Depot.

And after it was reconstructed in the yard of the Moore's home on Timothy Street in Columbiana, the old depot turned out to be a good place to have parties.

Last year, the Moore's hosted both a Christmas and New Year's Eve party in the 21x31 foot building.

This year a family Christmas get-together was held in the former depot freight room, which has moved to still another location.

After the Moore's decided to build a new home on County Road 5, they moved into a trailer on the property and the "Little House" was transported to the site on a lowboy trailer.

When he first purchased the freight room in November, 1979, Moore had visions of using it as a workshop.

However, the rebuilt structure seemed too large for that purpose so it evolved into an oversize family room.

But Moore says he's planning to attach a workshop onto the rear of the building, using lumber from the old Columbiana depot which he acquired this year.

Sixty percent of the lumber used to build the "Little House" came from the old freight room which was constructed as part of the Shelby depot in 1909.

At that time, Moore reported, the structure contained a ticket agent's office, a room for trainmen, two waiting rooms and the freight room.

The major portion of the depot, including a section of the freight room, was retired in 1954, Moore said, and what remained was used for a time as an office.

Congressman Richard Shelby purchased the building, thinking it might have some family history connected with it, Moore related.

But the congressman never followed through with the project and sold the structure to Moore for $1,250.

With the help of friends and relatives, Moore began dismantling the structure in November of that year.

He began reconstructing the building in Columbiana in December and completed the project in the fall of 1981.

An upstairs balcony was added as a playroom for his children.

The building is heated by a Franklin fireplace, and Moore and his wife Brenda, have gathered other interesting items to use as furnishings.

A kitchen cabinet and wood burning cook stove from the 1930's had both belonged to Mrs. Moore's grandmother, Ola Pate.

A collection of old tools have been placed on the wall behind the Franklin fireplace, and a large wicker settee and refinished church pew provide plenty of seating.

The century-old handmade bricks used to make doorsteps for the building, came from an old Shelby home which had burned.

Fireplug marked

David Kernea (r) stencils a number on a fire hydrant in Indian Valley as part of his Eagle Scout project. Neal DePiano and several other members of Troop 5 are working with Kernea.

Scout troop 5 Eagles aid North Shelby FD

The Eagle Scout project of a North Shelby County Boy Scout will speed up the location of fire hydrants in Indian Valley and Valdaewood.

David Kernea and several members of Troop 5 are stenciling numbers on the hydrants and placing reflectors in the road opposite them.

Giving directions by hydrant number rather than by street location should help firefighters reach the scene quicker, Kernea explained.

He said that the numbering system should also help the North Shelby Fire District's record keeping system.

There are a total of 25 hydrants in the two subdivisions.

The way Kernea got the idea for his Eagle project came about through his work with the Explorer post sponsored by the North Shelby Fire District.

Two other Scouts who are members of both organizations have also elected Eagle projects relating to the fire district.

Billy Curtis is building a sign for the fire station, Neal DePiano is updating a map of the district.

Pins in candy cause brief flurry in Pelham

A Pelham woman reported Christmas Day that her son found several straight pins inside a locally purchased candy cane. But since that time, no further reports of pinned candy have surfaced.

According to Pelham detective Capt. Allen Wade, two other candy canes purchased by the woman at the same store were subsequently X-rayed. No pins were detected.

With the help of personnel from the grocery store, where the candy was bought, 22 peppermint sticks of the same brand were confiscated, Wade said. Again, no pins were detected, when all the candy was X-rayed Monday at Shelby Medical Center.

"There's not much we can do from here," Wade said. "I think the public is aware of the reports and we'll just have to wait and see if anyone else finds any (pins)."

Wade said the pins were allegedly discovered in a five-ounce stick of peppermint that was about three-fourths of an inch in diameter. The candy was manufactured in Alabama, he said.

According to reports, the woman's son ate about half the stick before he found the pins. Wade said the boy was not injured.

Vincent writer publishes career guide

If you'd like a career in one of the fastest growing fields of this decade, choose health care.

That's the advice of a freelance writer from Vincent whose book on the "90 Most Promising Careers for the 80s" is now on the market.

Anita Gates, who now makes her home in New York City, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Gates and a 1965 graduate of Vincent High School.

A journalism major at the University of Alabama, she worked for a short period in Birmingham after graduation. But she decided New York was the place she wanted to be.

Her first position there was with AT&T. However, she switched jobs when she saw a classified ad in the New York Times for a position at Clairol.

And her book evolved from a pamphlet she wrote for the company. It came about, she said, through her work with the committee which selects women over 30 for the scholarships the company offers.

Most of them, Gates explained, were interested in careers as elementary school teachers. But the opportunities in that field just weren't there, she added.

Her book, which was published in November, differs in a number of ways from others on the subject, the author said.

Although some careers sound interesting, she pointed out, a person sometimes isn't aware of what they'll actually be doing day in and day out.

In her book, Gates gives the reader an inside look at each career she lists through interviews with experts in those fields.

ANITA GATES

She also lists average salaries, tells what education is required and the geographic locations where the various jobs can be found.

One piece of advice the author stresses, is to "double up" on areas which are expected to grow.

An example she gives is to be knowledgeable in two promising fields such as personnel and insurance. In that way, she explains, a person may work in the personnel department of an insurance company.

When it comes to a career in the computer field, Gates sees the best use for education in that area being used in the field of one's choice rather than being a specialty in itself.

In her freelance work, Gates uses her experience at Clairol to write articles for magazines such as "Mademoiselle," "Harper's Bazaar," "Seventeen," and "Redbook's Be Beautiful."

She has also written for "Weight Watchers Magazine," "American Baby," "Collector Editions Quarterly" and "Frequent Flyer."

Assignments for the latter magazine, which air travelers subscribe to, has enabled her to travel around the world.

But Gates confides one of the places she has come to appreciate the most as the result of her extensive travel, is her home in Vincent.

"I get home about twice a year," she related during a visit with her parents over the Christmas holidays.

That visit ends today (Thursday). But the Vincent author will be on the go again next month.

She told the Reporter that a magazine assignment will take her to Italy, where she'll celebrate her birthday.

MAKE YOUR MONEY COUNT

Ever since 1977, when the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) ruled it legal, it has been possible to own your own phone. Although owning your own phone can offer long-term savings, fewer than 5% of those who have phones actually own them. Phone companies lease their phones for monthly rental fees that add up to $20 to $40 per year. By owning your own phone, you can save this expense and the phone will pay for itself in 2 to 3 years. Be sure that the phone you buy has an FCC sticker on it. Check warranty periods and maintenance agreements.

There are many more savings methods available. One of the easiest and most rewarding to take advantage of can be attained by a visit to the FIRST AMERICAN BANK, 3000 Hwy. 31 So., Pelham. We offer a number of savings plans including corporate savings accounts. In addition, we have various loans available for qualified individuals. So come to FIRST AMERICAN BANK where we try to help you get more for your money. Tel. 663-4750. Hours: 8:30-6 Mon.-Fri., til noon Sat.

SAVINGS TIP:
Be certain, when buying a telephone, that you can buy the whole telephone, not just the designer casing.

Dr. Abernathy won't retire

An article in the December 23 issue of the Reporter incorrectly stated that Dr. Frank Abernathy is expected to retire sometime after he sells his Alabaster office building to Shelby Medical Center.

"I have no intentions of retiring," Abernathy said this week. "I'm only 48. And there are many people in Shelby County I'm very fond of, and I would never desert them."

Abernathy said he has not yet decided whether he will continue to practice in his present office building, or move to another local site. "But I will continue to practice medicine in Shelby County and in Alabaster," he said.

The sale of his office building is expected to be closed in the next two weeks," Abernathy said.

Song service ushers in 1983

A 'Watch Night' service will begin at 8 p.m. on New Year's Eve at Bethel Freewill Baptist Church, located on Hwy 10 in Pea Ridge.

A musical evening is planned featuring local quartets, duets, and congregational singing. An intermission for refreshments prepared by the ladies of the churches within the conference will be held.

Dwight Joiner, pastor of the Pea Ridge Assembly of God Church and Bob Litton, pastor of Mayberry Baptist Church will speak during the program.

The event is sponsored by the Pea Ridge Pastors Conference.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Dobson to wed

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Dobson, request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Monetta, to Lee H. Turner on Saturday, January 1, 1983 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the Montevallo First Baptist Church.

A reception will follow.

ASHLEY WEATHERS

Ashley Brook Weathers celebrated her first birthday December 28 with a party on Saturday with family and friends.

She is the daughter of Mike and Jenny Weathers of Pelham.

Her grandparents are Mrs. Frances Crumley of Pelham, and John Crumley of Helena, and Mr. and Mrs. Durl Weathers of Alabaster.

News from all around Shelby County

by Iris F. Smitherman

Tierra Tavarish Cathey will celebrate his 1st birthday today with relatives and friends in Montevallo.

He is the son of Sybile Cathey and Anthony Booker. His grandparents are Lester and Ruether Cathey of Montevallo, and Eugene and Nellie Booker of Alabaster. His god-mother, Laura Cottingham will also help him celebrate.

The birthday boy's great-grandfather, Walter Cottingham will also be celebrating his birthday on Dec. 30 with his children. They are: Maggie Nixon of Birmingham, Carrie Webb of Mass., Ruether Cathey of Montevallo, Andrea Cooper, Clifford and Ronnie Cottingham, all of West Blocton and Walter Cottingham Jr. of Montevallo.

Birdie Harris and Jimmy Harris, and Joe B. Fancher and Edwin Fancher, spent Christmas Day in Birmingham with the Ralph Gentry family.

Goodhope Methodist Church will hold its annual New Year's Eve singing on Friday night beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Several quartets will be performing, and there will be a short intermission for refreshments.

Milton Ruston, chairman, 'invites everyone to attend and help make this the biggest New Year's Eve singing in the history of the church.'

Put on your dancin' shoes and join in the New Year's Eve dance to be held at the Camp Branch Saginaw Civic Center Friday night beginning at 8 p.m..

Music will be provided by Calvin Hatcher and band. Roy Holcombe will serve as square dance caller.

Everyone is invited.

Approximately 100 people attended the Christmas party held by the Pea Ridge Senior Citizens last week.

Guests came from as far away as Texas, as well as Bessemer, Birmingham, and surrounding Shelby County areas.

A program was given, gifts were exchanged and a seasonal lunch was served.

Happy birthday to Phillip Harper of Rt. 4, Montevallo, on New Year's Day.

Prospect Baptist Church No. 2 has scheduled a New Year's Eve service beginning at 7 p.m. Friday night.

There will be a break in the service at approximately 9:30 for refreshments.

Rev. Wayne Horton, pastor, invites the public to worship with the congregation, and enjoy the evening.

Allison Ramon of Pelham was doing some last minute shopping on December 22 at a Pelham food store, and somehow through the hustle and bustle of the crowd she lost $50. This money was to be used to buy her school books.

Ramon could have easily given up hope of finding the money, but thanks to Ruby Jenkins of Alabaster who helped recover the money, she didn't have to.

"Every Christmas season we see kindness stories on tv and in the papers, but this year I learned first-hand the true meaning of Christmas and the kindness of people like Mrs. Jenkins," Ramon stated. "I thank her very much."

A New Year's Eve 'All Gospel' service featuring the Cavaliers, the Gene Lowery Quartet, the Waylighters, and the Singing Finleys, will begin at 7:30 p.m. on December 31 at the Indian Ford Lodge.

A $3 donation will be asked at the door.

The lodge is located on South Shades Crest Road.

The Excelsiors Social and Civic Club held its annual Christmas party recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hammett Lilly of Montevallo.

The program 'Love is caring, understanding, patience and sharing' preceded a buffet dinner.

Special guests attending were: Louise Thomas, Lillian Shultz of Columbiana, Debra Lilly of Birmingham and Leona White of Montevallo.

Club members in attendance were: Mildred White, president, Essie Leach, Vadia Lilly, Lernetta Smelly, Jessie Goldsmith, Leila White, Elizabeth Jones, Mamie White, Onnie D. Fluker, Paulene Nixon, Mary A. Kelly and Lula S. Redic, reporter.

It's New Year resolution time again. Yes, it's that time to announce to everyone that you're going to get up early and be at work on time during the coming year... or that you're going to stop smoking or drinking after Friday night's party...

Whatever your resolution... and no matter how long you stick to it, I hope that you'll make this the biggest and best year ever.

What Does Jesus Teach About - Acceptance?

Acts 10:34-35

"In every nation he that feareth Him, and worketh righteousness, is acceptable to Him."

Working righteousness is dependant upon a knowledge of God's word. Note in Rom 10:3 "For being ignorant of God's righteousness, and seeking to establish their own, they did not subject themselves to the righteousness of God."

"Works of righteousness" are not what man does because of what man thinks, but what man does because of what God commands. If this is not the case then our work is in VAIN, as Jesus says in Matt. 15:8-9. "This people honoreth me with their lips; But their heart is far from me. But in VAIN do they worship me. Teaching as their doctrines the precepts of men."

WHAT DO THEY TEACH WHERE YOU WORSHIP???

MR. & MRS. BEN TATE

Couple celebrates golden anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tate, who were married on December 21, 1932, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on December 12 with an open house at their home.

The celebration was hosted by their children: Mary Walton, Vergie Washington and Brenda Presley. The couple have 11 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

Sheriff's daily blotter

Details still remain sketchy following an alleged robbery and assault in north Shelby County on December 18.

The incident involved a female clerk working at the U-Totem at county highways 29 and 17 (Caldwell Mill and Valleydale Roads), and was reported to the sheriff's department about 2 a.m. that Saturday.

Six thefts and one burglary are also listed on the sheriff's daily blotter report for December 17-20. The burglary occurred at a Rt. 1, Harpersville residence, and various items were taken.

The reported thefts included: a boat, motor and trailer from Crestwood Trailer Park in Montevallo; a 1975 Ford pickup from an Overhill Road residence in Montevallo; a utility trailer from a Rt. 1, Sterrett residence; a generator and tools from Hargis Retreat; tools from an out-building in Shelby; tools belonging to Horton Welding & Gear Co. from an Alabama Power mine in Maylene.

A Maylene man reported that someone started a fire on U.S. Steel Property near his house on December 20. The report was turned over to sheriff's investigators.

No arrests were made, but deputies were busy during the four-day period with the following reports: a Harpersville woman reported that her husband shot at her, but signed no warrants; a Shelby man was stabbed, but signed no warrant against his assailant; two women in Shelby got into a family argument; someone shot into a Rt. 1, Shelby home. (See related story on "domestic calls" on page B-5.)

No information was available on one "confidential entry" listed on the blotter for 6:30 p.m., December 17.

Anderson sisters win beauty contests

Two Calera sisters were chosen as winners in the school's beauty pageant held earlier this month.

In the Junior Miss Christmas Carol contest, 12 year old Amy Anderson was selected to wear the crown.

When a different set of judges made their decision on who would be Miss Christmas Carol for the high school, it turned out to be Amy's 15 year old sister Tami.

The 7th and 9th grade sisters won their titles on the basis of poise, personality and appearance.

They are the daughters of Mrs. Eleanor Lucas.

Abundant Life class starts year off right

The Abundant Life class in north Shelby wants to help get 1983 off to a good start. To do so, Rev. William B. Todd said a positive-minded speaker will give a special program on January 2.

The speaker is Dr. Charles R. Warth, president of the Advance Foundation and a chiropractor in Birmingham. Todd said Warth's message will help those who hear it, develop a positive spiritual attitude for the upcoming year.

The class meets regularly at 3 p.m., Sundays, in the fellowship hall of the New Hope Cumberland Presbyterian Church on Cahaba Valley Road (Highway 119). Todd, who usually teaches the class, invites everyone who comes to bring a friend.

Retirees should apply early for Social Security benefits

William Evans, district manager for Social Security, advises individuals who are retiring to apply three weeks in advance.

"By doing that," he told the Reporter, "a check will be ready as soon as the person is eligible."

A Social Security representative is in Columbiana at the Community Services building on Tuesday from 9 a.m. on.

Claims may be filed and address changes reported.

PROJECT SHARE-HELP FOR THOSE WHO REALLY NEED IT.

Show you care by helping with SHARE. Mark an "X" on your electric bill and say:

This winter many families and individuals will face energy-related crises or emergencies without assistance. The main wage earner in many of those families is elderly, disabled or medically impaired.

By taking a few minutes this month to mark an "X" on your power bill, you can join other Alabamians in helping those less fortunate than you.

Project SHARE can provide that help—with your help. SHARE means "Service to Help Alabamians with Relief on Energy." It's a new way to help meet emergency energy needs for the elderly, disabled and those on low fixed income.

The American Red Cross and Alabama Power are working together to make Project SHARE work.

By your donation Red Cross will pay an energy bill one time during a heating or cooling season to those who qualify for emergency assistance. To SHARE with others, put an "X" on the "Yes, I'll share $1.00" line at the top of your next electric bill. Starting the following month, $1.00 will be added to your bill, listed as your Project SHARE donation. It's tax deductible and can be canceled at any time.

Project SHARE

Every dollar you donate will be sent to the Red Cross for distribution. No salaries or administrative costs will be paid out of your donation.

This month's Alabama Power bill has more information on Project SHARE. Please look it over. And please, share.

UM Falcons climb to NAIA top twenty

The University of Montevallo Falcons basketball team has cracked the NAIA Top Twenty for the first time in the school's history. The recent coaches poll placed UM number 14. The Falcons, with a 9-1 record, received 108 points and one first place point in the poll.

Coach Bill Elder's cagers are off to the best start in the school's history. They have established a new record for consecutive victories with nine in a row. That includes first place finishes in the UM-Lion's Club Tip-Off Tournament and the University of North Alabama Classic. Among the prey that have fallen victim to the Falcons this year include Gulf South Conference powers North Alabama (55-53) and Livingston twice (83-81 and 67-53).

"The key to the season so far has been our inside play," commented coach Elder. "We did not have much point production or rebounding coming back in the middle so we felt our success would depend on the development of our inside men."

It has been the play of the inside men that has gotten the Falcons off to a flying start. Montevallo has outrebounded its opponents 39.6 to 34.4 per game and outscored them 73.1 to 62.8 per game.

The big men in the middle for the Falcons have been senior Emory Wells averaging 7.8 rebounds per game, senior Clint Stewart 7.0, and junior Richard Dorsey averaging 5.0 boards per game.

Leading the Falcon attack are 6-5 junior Anthony Claude averaging 16.1 points per game, 6-3 senior Joe Hall 14.8, Wells 10.2 and Stewart 9.8.

"Going into the season we felt that our strong point would be our guards," said Elder. "Claude is scoring like we knew he could and Hall is coming around after a slow start. Alonzo Williams is running the attack with confidence and that carries over to the other players."

The bench strength that is so vital to the success of any team has come in the form of Dorsey, King, and 6-1 freshman Steve Swain from Childersburg.

Dorsey and King have given the Falcons added rebounding and scoring from the bench while Swain has come in and run the attack like no freshman has since NAIA All-American Wiley Tucker.

The Falcons return to the hardwood January 3rd at Georgia Southwestern and then travel to Alabama-Huntsville (Jan. 6) and Athens State (Jan. 8) for two key conference games before returning home to play Miles (Jan. 12).

Championships come to county in 1982

Shelby County proved to be a sports fans delight in 1982.

There were championships... not just by one team but by many. And there was both good and bad news.

One of the good things that happened was a decision by coaches that the county basketball tournament would establish brackets based on team records.

One good or bad thing that occurred, depends upon how you view it.

A rule was made that only schools accredited by the State Department of Education can play in the Alabama High School Athletic Association.

The rule took effect this June and eliminated Briarwood from competition.

Shelby Academy's Allen Terrell was named All State by the Alabama Private School Association.

Montevallo dropped the remainder of its wrestling schedule due to the lack of enough participants. But the school decided that it would participate in tournaments.

The Triple E Barn on county 12 was selected by the Alabama Horseman's Association as the high point barn in the state.

Thompson edged out Vincent to claim the junior high county basketball championship.

Montevallo's Lady Bulldogs won the county basketball championship with a perfect 15-0 season mark.

After several years and heart-breaking losses, Pelham High School won the county's basketball championship.

Thompson enjoyed a measure of glory in the county basketball tournament by adding B team honors to that of its junior varsity squad.

The Shelby Academy Raiders took third place in the Coosa Valley Invitational basketball tournament.

Coosa Valley Academy took the District VII Junior High Championship in basketball.

"Number One Again!" that was the chant around Vincent High School after the girls track team won the state indoor track meet championship.

Vincent took the A-2A class with a total of 65 points over Calhoun. The win brought the top trophy back to Vincent after an absence of three years.

It was announced that the University of Montevallo would host the Dizzy Dean Senior Baseball State Tournament and the Dizzy Dean World Series.

Shelby Academy finished second in the District VII basketball tournament.

Montevallo's Jeff Chism reached the semi-finals of the state wrestling sectionals.

The Coosa Valley Academy Lady Rebels reached the state playoffs in basketball but fell in the first round.

For the third straight year, the University of Montevallo team was champion of the UM Spring Baseball Classic.

But the Falcons had to share the honor with Illinois Benedictine College.

The Athletic Booster Club of Chelsea High School purchased a hydrogym for the school. It was very useful to the school's weight lifting program.

Childersburg guard Steve Swain became the first player to sign a basketball scholarship with the University of Montevallo for the 1982-83 season.

Roy Nichols, a champion long distance hitter with a nine iron, won the hearts of Shelby Countians.

He hit golfballs walking all the way from Mobile to Birmingham to raise money for basic cancer research at UAB's Comprehensive Cancer Center.

The trek officially ended on Riverchase Country Club's ninth green.

For the fourth straight year Jacksonville State University won the University of Montevallo-Pine Harbor Invitational Golf Tournament.

The Falcons placed eighth.

Donna Oden of Thompson High School signed a letter of intent to play volleyball for Jacksonville State University.

A lead story in sports and hard news in Shelby County was:

"Blacks will not be playing softball at Camp Branch this season. Discrimination practices have eliminated that minority group from the roster of all teams in the league.

"Representatives of both the Elastic Corporation in Columbiana and Shelby Medical Center were told that blacks could not play for their teams, if they wished to join the Camp Branch Softball Association."

The two teams were later offered a chance to play in the association but turned the offer down.

Bo Grimes and his partner Paul Martin won a bass tournament at LaCoosa Marina which was so close digital scales decided the winner.

UM golfers won the Point Mallard Invitational Golf Tournament.

Mike Knight of Pelham killed two trukeys with one shot.

Dave Ellison captured match play honors and Jim McQueen carded a 79 to win medalist honors in the second annual Falcon Club Classic golf tournament.

Thompson High School ran away with the county boys' varsity track title.

Vincent won the county girls' track title for the sixth straight year.

Briarwood and Montevallo claimed junior high county championships in track.

In state competition:

Vincent took second place in the girls' varsity meet; Montevallo placed third in the junior high girls' and Briarwood placed fourth in the boys' and fifth in the girls' junior high meet.

Vincent was the only county school to advance to state baseball playoffs.

The University of Montevallo represented NAIA District 27 in the NAIA National Golf Tournament. The Falcons finished 19th.

Montevallo High School's Bulldogs outluffed everyone to win the county weight lifting championship.

Shelby County High School outnetted all comers to win the county tennis title.

The Montevallo Falcons ended their baseball season with a 35-21 record.

A Shelby County based men's tennis team won the state title. The team played in the United States Tennis Association league.

The Thompson Warriors won the county baseball championship.

Montevallo Police Chief Allen Needham won ribbons in every racking horse class he entered at the Shelby Academy Horse Show.

Two Shelby County athletes were chosen to play in the state East West All Star baseball game. They were Bobby Greenwalt of SCHS and Paul Kendrick of Chelsea.

A fight which erupted between an Alabaster Little League Coach and an umpire ended in boycotts and dismissals.

Gene Glasgow was dismissed as the coach of the Rascals. Jerry Reed said that the Alabaster Umpires' Association would not call games at any of the parks for the rest of the year.

However members of the Alabaster Association volunteered to help the league by calling games on their own.

Tom Owen of Chelsea won the Southern Open Bench Press Championship in Birmingham.

David Minshew of Wilton captured medalist honors in the Montevallo Falcon Club Open Golf Tournament.

Football was drawing much closer and in July it was announced that Billy Tohill would be the new head football coach at Pelham.

Thompson's Rick Long was selected to play in the annual All Star football game for July 30.

The Alabaster 7 and 8 year-old Farm League All Stars won the District 3 Dixie Youth League championship.

Alabaster T-ballers won a six team tournament in Pleasant Grove.

Shelby County Babe Ruth All Stars won the district title. The 15 year-old Babe Ruth team finished third in the state.

The Central Shelby 9 and under girls softball team won the District III tournament in Alabaster.

Alabaster's 11 year old All Star team won the North Highland post season tournament.

Alabaster Major League All Stars won the District 3 championship.

Shelby County's only entrant in the Third Annual Police Olympics, Deputy Larry Doss of Columbiana, captured a silver medal in weightlifting.

Football hit Shelby County hard in 1982 with two teams taking state championships and a third reaching the semi finals of state playoffs.

The Briarwood Lions were the first to take top honors by defeating Cathedral 19-8 at home.

The state title was the second for the Lions.

The Thompson Warriors won the state 3A Championship by defeating Oxford 14-11 at home.

The title was the first for Thompson after 50 years of football at that school.

The win against Oxford also marked the close of a perfect 14-0 season and the accomplishment earned THS Coach Larry Simmons Shelby County Coach of the Year recognition.

Calera fell to Sweetwater 14-7 in the semifinals of state playoffs.

But the Eagles won Area 8 and Region 4 title honors before bowing out of action.

While the Chelsea Hornets did not win any football title, they broke a 17 straight game losing streak in 1982 by winning three games.

The 85 pound Pelham Panthers had much to make noise about in football too. They won Super Bowl IV 14-8 over the Center Point Bears and capped a 10-0 season.

Basketball rolled back onto the scene before 1982 got away.

The Shelby County Wildcats won the Calera Classic basketball tournament and the Chelsea Hornets won their first basketball tournament ever in Fayetteville.

The University of Montevallo's basketball team advanced to 14th place in NAIA ranking in the nation.

IRS outlines tax strategies

Submitted by Internal Revenue Service
The Internal Revenue Service wants taxpayers to realize that, while there are no discounts on taxes, there are legal ways to cut down on taxes. The secret is planning and not just at tax time, but all year long.

Here are some of the times you can select and economize. The instances are only to give you an awareness that a tax break may exist for you. For specifics on if, when, and how, send for the appropriate IRS publications.

You want to sell your house. If you are age 55 or over and meet certain requirements, you will be able to exclude all or part of the capital gains you plan to make on the sale. (Pub. 523)

Your income this year is far greater than it was in the past. If you have a marked increase in the money you must pay tax on, maybe income averaging will save on your taxes. In effect, by using this method, you will be dividing your income over the four years prior to the windfall year. Income averaging can be used as often as it helps. If you get promoted each year, or your spouse returns to work, or you win the lottery, for example, try to income average. You can benefit from the time you spend. (Pub. 506)

You want to go to work, but there's no one to mind the children. If you pay to have your children or disabled dependent cared for so you can work, you might be entitled to a credit against your taxes. A credit is a direct deduction from the amount of taxes you owe, and can be a real savings. To be eligible, you must meet certain requirements, or course. (Pub. 503)

You plan to divorce your spouse, but haven't settled on any financial arrangements. Under certain circumstances, you can deduct periodic payments to a spouse as alimony, but you cannot deduct a lump-sum payment. The alimony, if deducted by one spouse, is taxable to the spouse receiving it. (Pub. 504)

You are single, and a relative lived with you all year. If you are single and maintain a household for yourself and a family member or relative, you may be able to file as Head of Household—a less expensive filing status than Single. (See the instructions that come with your tax package for details.)

You own some stock and are thinking about selling it. If you make a profit on the stock, you must report that as income and be taxed accordingly. If you have a loss, you can use the loss to off-set other income. If you've held the stock for a year or less, the rules are different from what they are when you hold the stock for longer periods. Generally, the rules that apply to stock will also apply to other property held for personal use. (pub. 544)

You've just heard about a marvelous tax shelter which promises to reduce your taxes a great deal. There are legitimate tax shelters which will, in effect, provide tax deductions. Generally, they benefit high income taxpayers, require large amounts of capital and carry with them financial risk. IRS has no particular publication on this subject, but warns that a tax shelter is not always a legal way to reduce taxes. Beware of a scheme that sounds too good to be true.

You realize now that there were tax breaks to which you were entitled in past years, but you didn't know it then. You can file an amended return, 1040X, and change items on that return for any of the last three years—three years from the date you filed your original return or within two years from the last time you paid your tax, whichever is later.

For any of these publications, call 1-800-241-3860.

Pelham court hears 27 cases

The session of Dec. 21 in Pelham municipal court saw 19 cases continued and eight cases not proessed.

Two cases were not proessed with court costs charged. They were against Julian Frederick Brock and Stephen Allen Perry, both for driving while suspended.

Cases heard were: Bufford Allen Crumpton who pled guilty to reckless driving and who was given until January 18 to pay his fine.

A driving under the influence of intoxicants (DUI) charge against Louis B. Davidson was not proessed but a fine of $35 plus court costs was imposed for driving on the wrong side of the road.

A speeding charge against James Lowell Entekin was dismissed but he was charged costs of court.

Gary Lane Hudson pled guilty to driving under the influence of intoxicants (DUI). He was fined $300 plus court costs and sent to driving school. The case will be continued until January 18.

Charles Thomas Madden also pled guilty to DUI. He was fined $300 plus court costs and sent to DUI school.

An attempting to elude charge was not proessed for Calvin Joe Peters after he pled guilty to speeding.

Teresa Henley pled guilty to DUI. She was fined $300 plus court costs and is to attend DUI school in Iowa where she will be living.

Irving Freeman Clay pled guilty to resisting arrest and was fined $60 plus court costs.

A third degree theft of property charge against Darlene B. Edwards was reduced to malicious mischief. She was fined $50 plus court costs and given until February 15 to pay.

The case of Martha V. Humphrey for third degree theft of property was continued until May 15. At that time a plea of guilty will be accepted and a fine levied.

Three cases involving the alleged issuing of worthless checks by Eileen Bryant Melton were continued until February 1 so that she might pay restitution.

At that time the court will decide what action if any should be taken against Melton.

Robert Hugh Reynolds pled guilty to violation of an ordinance concerning the keeping of animals. His fine was suspended with Judge Robert Esdale saying, "We are giving you one free bite."

A case concerning third degree theft of property for Gail B. Shiffbauer was continued for six months with probation.

Robert J. Rhodes will be held in jail on a charge of issuing worthless checks while his case is continued.

Some of the ways to do business with us are changing.

But we're still as close as your phone.

The telephone industry is changing—reorganizing. That means more options for you. And some changes in the way you do business with us. If you've done business with us lately, you may have gone to one of our retail outlets. Now, if you need help with phone service, call us first.

Call a South Central Bell service representative if you want to:

- order new phone service.
- change your existing service.
- disconnect your service.
- ask a question about your bill.
- exchange or return sets purchased or leased from South Central Bell. (We cannot exchange or take back sets purchased or leased from other suppliers.)

Call South Central Bell's repair service if you have trouble with your service or with a phone set that is leased from South Central Bell. (For service or repair of phone sets that you own—whether they came from South Central Bell or another supplier—you should follow the warranty instructions or other maintenance arrangement made at the time of purchase.)

You'll find the phone numbers for your service representative and repair service in the front of the South Central Bell phone book. When you call us, in many cases we'll be able to complete your business or solve your problem while you're on the phone. In other cases, we may offer to mail equipment or parts to you. Or you may be referred to a phone company service center to complete your transaction. If so, we'll tell you where the nearest one is and when it's open.

Some things won't change. During 1983 South Central Bell will still provide you with dependable local and long distance phone service. We'll continue to be responsible for phones that residence and business customers now lease from us. And we'll continue to lease telephones (and to sell some selected phones) as long as they're available from inventory. (With regulatory approval, we do plan to offer single-line residence and business customers the option of buying telephones that are now leased from us.)

There'll be more changes in the telephone industry in the coming year or so as South Central Bell and other Bell operating companies are separated from AT&T and reorganized into regional companies. This change in organization, to take place in 1984, will affect significantly how you get and use telecommunications services.

But no matter how things change, South Central Bell is committed to seeing that certain things remain the same. We'll still have good, dependable people and the same goal: providing you with the best, most advanced telephone service at reasonable rates.

We'll keep you informed. But in the meantime, if you have any questions about the changes in the industry or about how to do business with us now, call 1 800 555-5000, toll free, 10 a.m.-11 p.m., Central Time, Monday through Friday. Or write for a free brochure, "Let's Talk About Change."

Let's Talk.

☐ Please send me your free booklet: LET'S TALK ABOUT CHANGE.
☐ Please have someone call me with information on:

Lenzing shakes bag business

by Fred Guarino

Japan shook up the electronics and automotive business by storm with small fuel efficient cars and robot manufacturing.

Today, an Austrian based company called Lenzing Corporation is planning to do the same thing in the plastic bag and plastic wrapping business.

Its foothold is being made strong in Riverchase.

Earlier this year, the company which manufactures automatic equipment that makes woven plastic bags and wrapping material, opened a distribution center in Riverchase.

This equipment is expected to shake the bag and bale wrap business because it circularly weaves plastic tapes into a bag that won't split under any normal drop test conditions required by law.

If you tear a hole in one of these bags containing up to 100 pounds of a substance, all you have to do is rub and the tear disappears like magic.

Unlike traditional burlap the bags won't rot and they do not have to be sewn by people. They are made by automatic machine.

American made blown plastic bags are cheaper, but they don't have the strength and cannot replace burlap.

The circularly woven plastic also cannot be infested by insects.

Making use of this Lenzing Corporation equipment is Allied Flexible Products of Helena.

That company uses the equipment to make woven bags to contain explosives.

The use of the equipment in Helena was a major reason Lenzing situated its first American location in Shelby County.

But why shake the bag business?

According to Eric Hartmann, executive vice president of Lenzing, the bag industry in the United States is still using technology which dates back to the 1920's.

There is nothing else made like it.

Lenzing recently sold an automatic plant to make its bags for shipment to Mexico. That plant will be located in Texas and will produce 30 million woven plastic bags a year.

Hartmann said, "We are creating a bit of havoc in the industry. People are becoming aware of the fact the twentieth century has arrived."

Assisting Lenzing in selling its equipment is Allied Flexible Products. The Helena company uses Lenzing equipment and allows the Austrian firm to demonstrate its wares at their location.

But Lenzing is not satisfied with distributing their product just to the United States, Canada and South America.

Lenzing wants to start assembling its equipment in Riverchase.

According to Hartmann, the company has options on several lots for an assembly plant in Riverchase.

But the going will be slow over the next two or three years.

The company is only beginning to apply American made gear boxes and electronics to its machines in Riverchase.

At a future date, the company wants to start assembling nearly complete machines.

Hartmann said the company's idea is to design machines for adaptation to American standards in Riverchase and assemble the machines there.

The reason? American electric power supplies differ from those in Europe in such a way that machines made for America in Europe cannot be properly tested.

But he said his company will not do everything itself.

He pointed out that the company will design the equipment at Riverchase and hire small local shops to make the parts. The parts will then be assembled.

"Business is a marriage. It is time one has to realize it's a 'for better or worse relationship'... A corporation makes an investment in its personnel. It can't just put people on the street."

About automation? He said, "If we don't do it, the Japanese will."

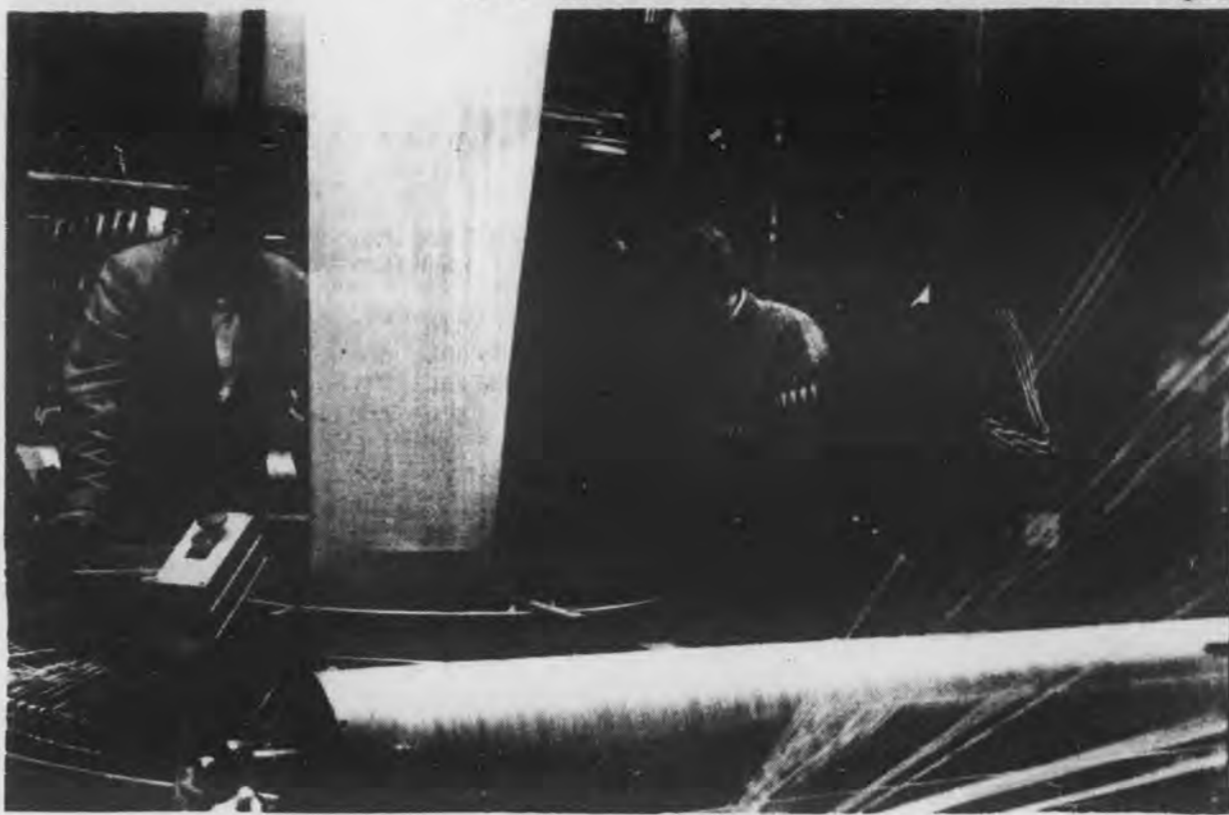

He stated that by using local shops to make parts for his machines, Lenzing will be helping other small businesses to have work.

Eventually Lenzing will be designing and assembling 95 percent of the equipment it sells in the U.S. in Riverchase.

The beginning, putting electronics and gear boxes on the equipment, will start in January.

Over the next three years 25 percent, then 60 percent and finally 95 percent of the equipment will be made here.

Hartmann discourages applications for work at Lenzing, however, because the assembly plant is still a distant project.

Speedway lengthens pit areas

In the interest of convenience and efficiency, Alabama International Motor Speedway pit areas will be increased.

"We will be lengthening each pit area by ten feet, from 20 to 30 feet," said general manager Don Naman. "This will provide much better working conditions. In the past, we have made improvements for the drivers, the fans, the media, the scorers and the drivers' families. We felt it was time to do something for the pit crews."

The reaction of the crew chiefs was very positive, as might be expected.

"That's great. I sure wish they had been longer this past year. We might have the lead in the Winston Cup point standings right now if they had been," declared DiGard/Gatorade crew chief Gary Nelson, whose driver is Bobby Allison.

"We ran into Bill Elliott in the pits in the Winston 500 and lost a bumper, and that may very well have cost us the race. In August, Bobby overshot his pit, and in our haste to get him serviced, we didn't get enough gas in the car. He was running with the leaders until he ran out of gas with one lap to go. That, alone, could have meant six or seven positions higher, maybe even ten."

"That will be a big plus," said Waddell Wilson, crew chief for Ranier Racing. "All of the top qualifiers would get the pits next to an opening so they'd have a clear shot either in front or in the back, and they would have an advantage. This way, it will be fair for everyone."

"Thank Goodness! I sure am glad to hear that," said Leonard Wood, head of the Wood Brothers team that has traditionally been one of the top pit crews in racing. "It will give a little breathing room to the guys changing the outside tires. The pits at Talladega are so crowded that whenever the guy in front of you would come into his pit, he would almost pinch your outside tirechangers against the car because the angle was so tough. This will help a lot, and also make them a lot safer."

All of the crew chiefs agreed it would help drivers locate their pits more easily, because it wouldn't be so congested.

Patience is key word for police in responding to domestic calls

by David F. Moore

Family violence, custody fights, neighborhood feuds — law officers tag them domestic calls. They're time consuming, often sad, and they're potentially the most dangerous call an officer can answer.

Furthermore, even though domestic calls come in abundance year round, it's during the supposed sparkle and joy of the Christmas season that they're most common.

Lawmen say unemployment and the economy could further increase the number of domestic calls expected this Christmas. But in the same breath they figuratively knock on wood and note that last year's expected seasonal increase never materialized.

Even without a "Christmas rush," Shelby County deputy Sgt. Wayne Watts estimates that lawmen spend half their patrol time answering domestic calls.

Sheer numbers alone greatly increase the chance of danger in responding to domestic calls. Add to that the probability of heated passions, the likelihood of one or more people being drunk, and a lawman has an explosive situation just waiting for a touch of fire.

"The officer's attitude is very important," says Watts. "If you go into a situation like this thinking you're going to have to fight someone, nine times out of ten, you will."

To prevent an explosion of violence, Watts, who has ten years experience as well as crisis intervention and other types of domestic training, says law officers try to follow three basic rules:

- Never take sides
- Approach cautiously
- Remain calm

To help keep his cool, Watts says he whistles while driving to the scene of a family fight.

"Some people don't want anything but a little attention," Watts continues. "If you listen to them, and if you talk to them and they'll listen to you, you won't usually have to be physical."

But sometimes, nothing helps. Sometimes the situation explodes anyway.

It's not uncommon for officers to find themselves ducking from flying plates, facing an open blade, or even a cocked gun. Then there's kicking, biting and clawing, too.

Therefore, deputies never answer domestic calls unless they have a backup unit with them, or en route. On weekends, when problems come more frequently, reserve deputies ride with the regulars.

Although there have been several incidents where triggers were pulled on loaded guns that didn't — for one reason or another — fire, Watts says no officer on a domestic call in Shelby County has been killed in years.

According to Watts, taking legal custody of a child from a parent after a divorce ruling is, physically and emotionally, the toughest of all domestic calls.

"The child's crying and doesn't know me from any other stranger," Watts explains. "The parent's mad, maybe crying, too, and they say 'You SOB, you're taking my child...'"

"I've had everything in the house thrown at me," Watts continues. "On custody calls, we sometimes take three deputies."

Another potentially dangerous domestic situation involves picking up a person for mental examination or commitment.

One recent call involved a boy chasing his mother with an axe and a gun. When Watts arrived, the boy had passed out on the sofa. Watts handcuffed him first — then woke him.

On many domestic calls,

"Sometimes the people just get drunk and crazy," Watts says. "When they're straight, they're real nice folks."

Contrary to popular belief, domestic calls are by no means limited to lower income classes.

"It's not restricted at all," Watts says. "We get 'upper classes,' too, and they can be real doozies."

Economic pressures boil at the root of most domestic fights. These pressures can be further kindled by the inability to Christmas shop, Watts explains.

"A man (or woman) with nothing to lose, who's down and out but still has pride, is dangerous," he says. "They can't buy their kids something, or their wife. So the old man starts drinking. He has to take his aggressions out on the world, or something, so he starts swinging."

But unless an officer witnesses an attack, or the victim swears out a warrant (which many refuse to do), an arrest can't usually be made.

"About all we can really do is calm things down the best we can, and suggest legal procedures and counseling services available to them," Watts says. "A lot of times, once problems get started, we go back, and back, and back again to the same family."

"It's a never ending problem officers have to contend with," he says. "If you can't handle it, you don't need to be in this kind of job."

Wilton history book appears

Tommie Mowery Harrison has done it again. She has written a book about another Shelby County community.

This time it's Wilton, where she grew up.

Entitled, "Wilton - Sketches of the Past" the book is a collection of historical anecdotes related by people who have lived in Wilton for a long time. Mrs. Harrison has searched far and wide for authentic materials to make this book an accurate portrayal.

In the introduction to the book she says, "having lived much of my life in Wilton, I experienced a sense of community -- the neighborliness, the dedication to work, and the enjoyment of simple pleasures. Because Wilton has given me a 'sense of place,' I have attempted to survey some of its history. It is not intended to be a comprehensive study, rather, a beginning. A major portion of the research has been derived from primary source materials, including old letters, diaries, manuscripts, and oral histories. Sources of information, both primary and secondary, have been limited somewhat by the nature of the town; however, an honest effort has been made to report some of Wilton's history."

The section that will probably hold the widest appeal is that on railroad life. The railroad played the biggest part in the development and economic life of Wilton, employing at one time "almost all the male residents with the exception of store owners and clerks."

Mrs. Harrison has laced the section with interview and reminiscences of many former railroad workers and their families.

In addition to a section on early history of the area and economic growth, she has sections on the schools, social history, churches and government.

The book makes liberal use of photos, many of them taken by the eminent photographer Robert Adams, a native of Wilton, who is quoted in the book, "It was a great place for an overalled, barefoot boy to grow up."

The author has been a teacher at Thompson Schools for several years, where she has encouraged her students to delve into the history of their communities, and write about it.

In compiling this history of Wilton, she has shown them a prize example of how to go about it.

The book is one that every Shelby Countian would enjoy reading, because it brings to life the past on which the present was built. Wilton's influence as a rail center in Shelby County reached throughout the county, and this book is an important link to the larger history of the county.

It was printed in the county, too, at Times Printing Company in Montevallo. Copies are available at Times and at Wilton City Hall.

Underground housing cures home-owner headaches

Underground housing can reduce many "home-owner headaches" according to Oklahoma State University Professor Lester L. Boyer.

For the past four years Boyers has researched earth-sheltered housing.

One major finding nationwide is that these shelters decrease utility bills by 50%. Exterior maintenance is also reduced. The houses are termite and rot proof and are insulated from noise and air pollution; roofs don't need replacement; pipes don't freeze; fire risk is small.

Boyer has written "Living Underground," a brochure which answers the most commonly asked questions about earth-sheltered housing such as "Don't underground structures cost a lot more to build?" and "How deep should you put an underground dwelling?" The brochure also contains other information.

Pelham sewer system anticipates expansion

by David F. Moore

"We're in the sewer business now," says Pelham Mayor Burk Dunaway.

The city opened its 100,000-gallon sewage treatment plant to business last month with little or no fanfare.

To date, customers aren't exactly bowling down city hall doors for sewer hookups. In fact, only two businesses and four residents are currently served by the system.

Dunaway, however, is unfazed. He insists that the facility is a crucial step toward future development in Pelham.

"As far as the development of Pelham, this is the second most important project we've ever undertaken," Dunaway says. (The city's 14-year old water system -- without which there would be no sewer, nor much of anything else in Pelham -- tops Dunaway's list of development projects.)

The city is betting over a million dollars that the new sewer system will add an ace to its hand when firms look at Pelham as a potential business location.

Considering that the two businesses currently on the system are Wal Mart and K mart, the city's bet may pay off handsomely. Pelham projects $150,000 in 1983 tax revenues from those two new businesses alone.

To connect with the system costs residents $1,000 and businesses $2,000. There is no per-foot assessment fees like some systems charge, Dunaway points out, and hookup to the system is not mandatory.

Monthly residential costs run 75% of a family's water bill. For businesses, sewer costs run 125% of the water bill.

The $1.75 million system is being financed through a 9%, five-year bond issue. Those bonds will be retired in another three and a half years.

"We financed it ourselves, and it'll be paid for in full in three and half years," Dunaway says. "All we ever hoped is for the system to pay for its own operation and maintenance. Indirectly, though, it'll more than pay for itself by bringing in new business."

"Wal Mart wouldn't be here if the sewer system wasn't," Dunaway contends. "And Pelham would have probably gotten some of Alabaster's restaurants if we had the sewer at the time."

Pelham's most recent restaurant, Shoney's, would have had to locate elsewhere if a private sewer line from Chandalal hadn't been made available to it, Dunaway says. Ironically, although only four homes are now hooked to the city's system, more Pelham citizens are served by sewers than in any other Shelby County city, Dunaway estimates.

The reason is that a number of private sewer systems have, over the years, been built inside the city. According to Dunaway, parts of Chandalal South, parts of Cahaba Valley Estates, and three major trailer parks -- Greenpark South, South Gate Estates and Belle Vista -- are all on private sewer systems.

Furthermore, SEPCO, Moore-Handley and Bethea/National are also on private sewer lines, Dunaway says, indicating that it's about time the city got in on the act, too.

Although it's finally in the sewer business, Pelham's system is by no means complete, nor is it available to all its businesses and residents.

Lines run along both sides of U.S. 31 only from K mart, south to highway 52. From 52 on to the Pelham/Alabaster line, the sewer serves only the Wal Mart side of 31.

Dunaway says the two discount department stores and few residents already on the system are barely enough to keep the treatment plant going. "But if everyone that could get on it now, did get on it, we'd be operating at capacity," he says.

Expansion of the system is just a matter of time, Dunaway says. For starters, there's plenty of room for another 100,000-gallon activated sludge treatment facility on the city's 12-acre sewer site in Industrial Park.

Extension of the sewer lines will be dictated by development demands. One direction could be towards the I-65/52 interchange -- a rumored site for a motel. Also Dunaway says the proposed water park on highway 33 could one day draw sewer lines in that direction.

Lines could also be added for the other side of 31 south of 52, and extended north on 31, toward Pelham Mart and Riverchase.

All Dunaway is waiting for is the end of the recession and the predicted return of heavy growth to Shelby County.

"We have the best system you can have, so it can't be upgraded," says the mayor. "But it can certainly be expanded. And I think it'll be continuously expanded and it's going to grow on its own."

"We've got plenty of land to handle our sewer needs for many, many years," Dunaway says. "We're in the sewer business now."

Sewer treatment

For six years, Mayor Burk Dunaway has been working towards a sewer system for Pelham. The problem of money was finally overcome a year and a half ago, and last month the 100,000 gallon system went into operation. Dunaway hopes the system will be a drawing card for future developments such as department stores, restaurants and motels. (Photo by David F. Moore)
